Two years ago there were those, met with us, who could scarcely walk up the aisles, owing to the claim of decline but who are now with us in good health. You will remember, with gratitude, the case of a young man, who, a year ago was supposed to be dying with blood-poisoning, through being compelled to submit to being vaccinated, and who is now in good health, through Christian Science treatment. During these two years, severe forms of inflammatory rheumatism, St. Vitis' Dance, inflamation of the bowels, rupture, pneumonia, croup, severe sprains, and other cases I could mention, all of which have been perfectly healed through Divine Love. It is a further matter of thanks—giving to remember that in the two years there has not been one death to report, either in the church or Sunday School. And, furthermore, we have had in our midst smallpox, typhoid and scarlet fever, and other so-called contagious diseases, against which our membership has been protected, proving the truth of the 91st Psalm, "that no plague shall come nigh the dwelling of those who dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High." Then again from a financial standpoint, during the past year, our expenses have been a great deal heavier than the previous year yet as you see by the report of the auditors that all bills have been paid and a cash balance on hand. And as far as we can judge, our individual members are in a more prosperous condition than they were two years ago.

Altogether, I think we are all satisfied that Christian Science is all that it claims, the way of salvation from sin, sickness and all that is not of God.

But, Brethren, while this is the record of the past, let us ever remember that our text-book says, "Every day makes its demands upon us for higher proofs, rather than professions of Christian power." These proofs consist solely in the destruction of sin, sickness and death, by the power of Spirit, as Jesus destroyed them. This is an element of progress, and progress is the law of God, whose law demands of us only what we can certainly fulfil," found on page 233, lines 1-7 of the 268th edition of Science and Health. Let us ever keep in the sacred chambers of thought that our present human leader, Mary Baker Eddy, ever teaches that Jesus Christ is the great example and exemplar, and to follow her just so far as she follows Christ.

While she thus teaches and strives to lead our thought to the one God, we cannot help loving and respecting her for her Christlikeness, and for what she has done and is still going for mankind in her many years of toil and labour, and as she says of herself that she is to-day still a willing disciple at the heavenly gate, waiting for the mind of Christ of "Preface" of "Science and Health."

In conclusion let me remind you of the first, second and sixth tenets of our church, as they are in Science and Health, page 497 of the 268th edition of one thousand copies.

1. 1. As adherents of Truth we take the inspired Word of the Bible, as our sufficient guide to eternal life.

2. We acknowledge and adore one supreme and infinite God; we acknowledge one Christ—His Son Christ Jesus, the Holy Ghost, or the Divine Comforter, and man, His Divine image and likeness.

6. We solemnly promise to strive, watch and pray for that mind to be in us which was also in Christ Jesus; to love one another; and to be meek, merciful, just and pure.

May the prayer of this church ever be that of Mrs. Eddy, in the last verse of her hymn 168, in our church hymnal:

My prayer, some daily good to do
To Thine, for Thee,
An offering pure of Love, whereto
God leadeth me.

THE PINES.

By Charles Mair.

"O heard ye the pines in their solitude sigh,
When the winds were awakened and night was nigh?
When the elms breathed out a sorrowful tale,
Which was wafted away on the wings of the gale;

"When the aspen leaf whispered a legend dread,
And the willows waved darkly over the dead;
And the poplar shone with a silvery gleam,
And trembled like one in a troublesome dream;

"And the cypresses murmured of grief and woe,
And the linden waved solemnly to and fro,
And the sumach seemed wrapt in a golden mist,
And the soft maple blushed where the frost had kissed;

"And the spectral birch stood alone in the gloom,
Like an unquiet spirit upriat from the tomb;
And the cedar outstretched its lone arms to the earth,
To feed with sweet moisture the place of its birth;

"And the hemlock, uplifted above the crowd,
Drunk deeply of mist at the brink of a cloud;
And the balsams, with curtains of shaggy green,
Like tents in the distance were dimly seen.

"I heard the pines in their solitude crying,
When the winds were awakened, and day was dying:
And fiercer the storm grew, and darker its pall,
But the voice of the pines was louder than all—

Song of the Pines.

"We stand all aloof, for the giant strength
Craveth naught from lesser powers;
'Tis the shrub that loveth the fertile ground,
But the sturdy rock is ours!
We tower aloft where the hunters lag
By the weary mountain side,
By the jagged cliff, by the grimmest crag,
And the chasms yawning wide.

"We commune with the stars through the paley night,
For we love to talk with them;
The wind is our harp, and the marvelous light
Of the moon our diadem.
And when lovers are breathing their thousand vows,
With their hearts and cheeks aglow,
We chant a love strain amid our boughs,
Of a thousand years ago!

"Sublime in our solitude, changeless, vast,
While men build, work and save,
We mock—for their years glide away to the past,
And we grimly look on their grave.
Our voice is eternal, our song sublime,
For its theme is the days of yore—
Back thousands of years of misty time,
When we first grew old and hoar."

Puzzled the Professors.

An amusing joke was practiced upon the examiners at Cambridge, says a London paper. It had been said that the examination in mathematics had been becoming far too difficult, and very real complaints had arisen from tutors. To the astonishment of the university, all the eighteen or so solutions appeared on the day before the examination in the Granta, "worked out, we believe, by our office boy." How the miracle was performed remained a secret until it had been sufficiently wondered at. The editor of the Granta had secured the services of a number of recent senior wranglers, who in privacy had deliberately set to work to master the problems which the university dons had been concocting for months past. The task had to be accomplished within twenty-four hours, and the printers were up all night setting the solutions in type. Naturally the Granta sold by the thousand that week.

How He Got It.

A good story is told about a former member of the Missouri legislature. Before his election he was chronically "broke." When he returned from Jefferson City, he exhibited $500 in good, crisp greenbacks. Some of his friends "jollied" him about his prosperity.

"You didn't have a cent when you went to the legislature, did you, Jones?" said one of them.

"Not a blamed cent," said Jones.

"As a matter of fact I lent you half your railroad fare, didn't I?"

"I believe you did."

"Well, you were down in Jefferson City about forty days. You got $5 a day. Now, what the gang wants to know is how you managed to save $500 out of a total income of $200."

"Come closer," whispered Jones, "and I'll tell you how I did it. I had my washing done at home."

Remarkable Luck.

In Gold Hill, Nev., in 1877, one of the mining bosses—Tole by name—had trouble with some of the laborers in his mine. One night three of them attacked him in a barroom. Two of them pinned him down, while a third stood over him with a revolver. The muzzle almost touched his stomach. Once, twice, thrice, a fourth and a fifth time the weapon snapped. Tole closed his eyes. Each moment he expected to be his last. The disgusted ruffian threw his disappointing weapon on the floor, with an oath, and, joined by his aids, left the place. Tole wiped the cold sweat from his brow, mechanically picked up the discarded weapon, went to the door and fired off every charge, remarking that it was just his luck.

Monkey Brand Soap cleans kitchen utensils, steel, iron and tinware, knives and forks, and all kinds of cutlery.

The Real Condition.

The teacher of grammar and rhetoric wrote a sentence on the blackboard and then called upon William.

"John can ride the horse if he wants to," read the teacher. "Rewrite the sentence in another form."

William surveyed it dubiously for a moment; then a dash of inspiration showed him his path.

"John can ride the horse if the horse wants him to," he wrote.

Not Forgotten.

Dr. Man Salters—And so you still remember that lecture I delivered in your town fifteen years ago. Well, I'm very glad indeed to meet you.

Hi Titefist—Yep. I paid a dollar for two tickets to that show and didn't git to use 'em. I didn't know but as how you mout take 'em off my hands. Here they be.

A Bargain Counter Husband.

"I don't think it's a nice thing to say of Mrs. Odsent that she got her husband at a bargain counter.

"Oh, but it's true. He was the young man that saved her life in a crush at a glove sale at Spotcash's one day."

Modern Medicine.

Cod-liver oil is good. Purified petroleum is better. Angier's Emulsion is made of odorless and tasteless petroleum, glycerine and hypophosphites. It does all,—and more,—than cod-liver oil and similar preparations. It is pleasant to take, and agreeable to the stomach. 10a

What Bank Officials Have to Say About Change Made.

WHY DID MR. GAMEY DO IT?

He Said He Found the Missing One in His Glove.

BUT IT WAS NOT THE ORIGINAL

Evidence About His Visit to Buffalo Shut Out—The Cases of Alleged Contempt of Court—Objections Based on Want of Jurisdiction Overruled—Evidence of the Campaign.

Toronto, April 29.—The Gamey Commission resumed yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The alleged contempt of court on the part of The Mail and Empire and of The World first engaged the attention of the Commission.

Mr. Johnston said that neither he nor his colleague were prosecutors in the matter, but thought that their duty was ended when they called the attention of the Commission by Mr. McEvoy's affidavit to the mattor.

Mr. J. B. Clarke, K. C., appeared for Mr. W. J. Douglas of The Mail and Empire. To the Chancellor's question "Are you ready to go on?" Clarke replied:

I am not ready to go on this morning. I asked your Lordships to allow the motion to stand until to-morrow, but reserving to me the preliminary objection that your Lordships have no jurisdiction to hear this motion.

The Chancellor's Remarks.

The Chancellor—I do not know what has been done in carrying out the order made by us, but we have been guided in this matter by the well defined practice which has been laid down in the Parnell Commission which is entirely analogous to this enquiry. The court there rigorously abstained from referring to anything in connection with the newspapers except it were brought before the commission by the affidavit of some person who was acquainted with the facts and who laid the information before the court, and no attention was paid to anything the newspapers had to say unless some application was made and the date and the particular paper verified before the court, inviting the court's attention. That was one in this case, and we directed notice to be given to the editors to show cause. It appeared to us that there were points on which there was a plain infringement with regard to the proceedings of this court. We do not intend to criticize what the newspapers have done. It is a matter for the good sense of the persons who write these articles, or their ill sense, or their spite. But there are certain things that cannot be permitted by this tribunal or any court if it is to have common respect. Contempt is not, perhaps, the correct expression; it is the interfering with the jurisdiction of the court. It is for the court to determine whether or not Mr. Gamey has been bribed, and when newspapers on the face of them claim to say that Mr. Gamey was bribed they pre-judge the case. What is the use of our going on and making further enquiries?

Invasion of Court's Right.

There is another matter in which it clearly appears to us there was an invasion of the rights of this court. There were certain investigations conducted here with closed doors—it was not done in camera, as we might have done—and Mr. Ritchie while making certain examinations found entries which he thought might lead to some result; but he was careful to say when Mr. Riddell made objections to the account of private parties being heard, Mr. Ritchie said he had purposely abstained from making anything public, and thus it was never intended to be disclosed or to be evidence unless it turned out it was relevant to the investigation. It turned out it was a private corporation, and in such a case the privileges which the bank claimed were violated, and the protection which the court gave for private information to be obtained in this way, without being divulged to the public, was violated.

Reason For the Order.

As for all the rest of it, there is a great deal of comment, and we are not going to criticize as to where the limits are; but those two violations seemed to be beyond the limit, and that is the reason the order was given.

Mr. Riddell—The only thing that appears is on page 1,452 of the evidence.

Mr. Clarke—That $3,000 was also referred to in the evidence.

The Chancellor—Yes; but the names were not given in connection with this transaction. Mr. Ritchie will bear me out in saying that this was a matter of private investigation; we took no notes, and the reporter was directed not to take down certain things, and it was all conducted with a view to discovering anything relevant without violating the privacy of these accounts.

However, you can take your course in the matter. We have just indicated the points on which we think there has been a violation, and the motion may stand over. There is no reference to any particular newspapers; we are dealing with any cases of the kind that may be brought before us on either side.

Mr. Clarke—We will bring our case before you on affidavit to-morrow.

Line to Be Followed.

Chief Justice Falconbridge—We are not prejudging the case; we are outlining for your benefit the line that will be followed.

Mr. Johnston said that he had refused to be interviewed by newspapers about the case, and he denied the correctness of one report attributing to him the conviction of the guilt of Mr. Gamey.

World's Case Enlarged.

Mr. Riddell—There is also the application made to your Lordships in connection with the article appearing in The World newspaper.

Mr. Baird appeared as counsel for The World newspaper, and stated to their Lordships that he is not ready to go on.

Mr. W. F. Maclean appeared on his own behalf, in regard to the charge against him personally, and said he was not ready now, and had to be back in Ottawa to-morrow, but would be back from Ottawa to-morrow night and ready the following day—Thursday.

Howarth, Bank Teller, Recalled.

F. Roland Howarth re-called. Examined by Mr. Johnston.

Mr. Johnston—I asked the manager of the bank to let me have two or three slips, immediately after this slip, of the 10th or 11th of September. I do not desire the particulars of these slips now put in to be made public. Q.—Are those deposit slips that passed through your hands, Mr. Howarth?

Chancellor Boyd—Are those genuine slips?

Mr. Johnston—Yes, my Lord.

The Chancellor—Just to show how it is done?

Mr. Johnston—Yes, my Lord.

Witness—Yes, they are.

Mr. Johnston—Q.—Now these three slips which I produce, and which will be marked as one exhibit, Exhibit 69, were made in the regular course of business on the 20th of September, the 11th of November, and the 29th of November? A.—They were.

Q.—And the writing of the initial "H" is yours? A.—Yes.

Q.—And the long stroke is whose? A.—The accountant's.

Q.—Will you show where the file mark of these slips is? Witness indicates the file marks.

Q.—And these slips are in the same condition as they were the day they were put in? A.—Yes.

Mr. Johnston—I put this in, too, my Lord, to show your Lordships the file mark. It is a little wire punched through the centre.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie.

Q.—Who selected these three deposit slips, Exhibit 69? A.—I don't know, sir.

Q.—You did not select them from the bank? A.—I did not.

Mr. Johnston — I asked the manager to produce them.

Mr. Ritchie—Q.—I see they are different dates; they are not slips about the same date as the 11th of September? A.—No.

Q.—One is September 20th, one November 11th, and one November 29th? A.—Yes.

Mr. Johnston—These are what he gave me. I will call the manager, if you like, and have him here.

Examines Exhibit 66.

Mr. Ritchie—Q.—I show you the deposit slip, Exhibit 66. Where are there any initials on that; just look at it through the light? A.—(Holding the deposit slip up to the light) —There are some marks on there.

Q.—Could anyone say that they were initials? A.—Well, I would not swear that they were initials.

Q.—And the blue pencil mark that you see there?

Chancellor Boyd—Exhibit 66 is the one that is said not to be a bank voucher.

Mr. Ritchie—Yes, my Lord, So that all you can say there is that there is a blue pencil mark? A.—Yes, and some other marks.

Q.—And these are all inside the line where the figures 900 are? A.—Yes.

Q.—That is where the amount of money is filled in by the customer? A.—Yes.

Q.—Now, in the three slips that you produce your initials are not in the same place at all? A.—No, sir.

Q.—They are on the left considerably? A.—Umm.

Q.—In every case. Is that your universal rule to put them there? A.—Yes.

Mr. Ritchie—Q.—Would you ever take that exhibit 66 as being one of the slips that had gone through your hands? A.—No.

Q.—Nothing to indicate it? A.—No.

Q.—Now look at Exhibit 67; do the same remarks as you have made in regard to Exhibit 66 apply to Exhibit 67? A.—No, sir.

Identifies It as "H," and Like His.

Q.—What difference is there? A.—The initial is in a different place.

Q.—Will you swear that is an initial? A.—Yes, I will.

Q.—What initial is it? A.—"H."

Q.—You swear to that? A.—I do.

Mrs. Tupman, a prominent lady of Richmond, Va., a great sufferer with woman's troubles, tells how she was cured.

"For some years I suffered with backache, severe bearing-down pains, leucorrhœa, and falling of the womb. I tried many remedies, but nothing gave any positive relief.

"I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in June, 1901. When I had taken the first half bottle, I felt a vast improvement, and have now taken ten bottles with the result that I feel like a new woman. When I commenced taking the Vegetable Compound I felt all worn out and was fast approaching complete nervous collapse. I weighed only 98 pounds. Now I weigh 109½ pounds and am improving every day. I gladly testify to the benefits received."—Mrs. R. C. TUPMAN, 423 West 30th St., Richmond, Va.—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

When a medicine has been successful in more than a million cases, is it justice to yourself to say, without trying it, "I do not believe it would help me?"

Surely you cannot wish to remain weak and sick.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women. Perhaps she has just the knowledge that will help your case—try her to-day—it costs nothing.

CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE OF THE EMPIRE.

The Fifth Congress to be Held in Montreal on August 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th.

Mr. T. Q. Quartermain, Secretary of the Peterborough Board of Trade, has received the following communication:—

Among the events of the present year in the world of trade and commerce ,none will be of greater importance than the meeting of the Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, to be held in Montreal during August. Once in every three years the leading representatives of the business world, from all parts of Great Britain and her self-governing colonies, gather to discuss the great commercial, industrial and economic questions of the day. Their deliberations are followed with interest throughout the entire Empire. Their conclusions shape the policy of our times. Never before has this convention been held outside of Great Britain, and Canada, in securing the honour of entertaining it, has won a great privilege and obtained a grand opportunity.

The idea of coming out to Canada to attend this meeting is, from present advices, proving immensely popular in British commercial circles. Already upwards of a hundred British Chambers of Commerce, in import and commercial centres, have signified their intention of sending delegates. The Montreal Board of Trade is in communication with similar bodies everywhere throughout the Dominion, in order that the delegates, after the convention, may have ample opportunity of visiting every part of Canada; and the railway and steamboat companies realizing the importance of the gathering, are generously co-operating to this end. It is proposed first to conduct the visitors for a week's trip over fertile Ontario, which will, towards the end of August, be at its best. The Toronto Exposition will next receive a visit. Then the grain fields of Manitoba, where, in the first week of September, harvesting will be at its height, the ranches of Alberta, the forest wealth, the fisheries and the mines of British Columbia will next be seen. Returning the visitors will tour Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, visiting our chief manufacturing centres and the Atlantic ports.

The aid of the National Government has been invoked that every facility may be provided to place all that is most interesting throughout Canada before these distinguished visitors. Local boards of trade at points visited will co-operate in the luncheons and other hospitalities. Literature, giving full particulars regarding Canada as a field for profitable investment, is being prepared for distribution among the delegates.

It is impossible to estimate the value of this visit. What it will mean for Canada to have among the members of each Chamber of Commerce in every city throughout the empire, one or more influential persons who may be competent to speak from personal experience of her resources and of her possibilities, cannot be over-estimated.

It behooves Canadians everywhere to give the visitors a most royal welcome.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining eleven pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

DRESSMAKER'S CASE IN DIVISION COURT.

A Lady Who Required to be Fitted Five Times.

A Very Interesting Law Suit—The Defendant's Story—A Close Fit.

Toronto Star.

Thursday was a field day for women in the Division Court, when a dressmaker sued a milliner for $40, for the price of a dress.

Mrs. Rae, manager of the ladies' fitting department of Rae's dressmaking establishment, Yonge street, said Miss Kennedy, the head of the millinery department in Smith, White and Runson's wholesale establishment, gave her an order for a silk dress, to be composed of skirt, waist and drop skirt, at the price of $40.

"Miss Kenedy selected the material and left the style to me," said the plaintiff. "I submitted the trimming to her in time. The gown was ordered on February 4th, to be had in time for the millinery opening on March 2nd. I delivered it on February 28th, and now she refuses to take the dress.",

A BEAUTIFUL FIT.

"Did the gown fit?" was asked.

"I fitted her five times, although most people only require four fits. It was a beautiful piece of work, and Miss Kennedy wanted it put in the window, but I told her it could only remain there one day, as there was an actress' dress which had to be put out for show."

"You should turn out a pretty good gown in five sittings?" suggested a lawyer.

"I did turn out a good fit," said th dress maker. "I made her a gown fifteen years ago in Hamilton, and she said it was so perfect she wanted another."

"I suppose millinery day is dress parade," suggested the judge.

"Do you remember the sleeve coming out at the last fitting, when Miss when Miss Kennedy raised her arm?" asked the defendat's lawyer.

"I was only basted," answered the witness warmly.

"Was the gown not too tight?"

"The gown is a tight fit back; that is the fashion."

"We should get a jury of ladies to 'try this case," said Judge Morson.

THE DEFENDANT'S STORY.

Miss Kennedy said the gown was not completed when sent to her. She required it for the millinery opening, but although it was sent her it did not fit, and the trimming was not on the front. The waist and skirt did not meet. The sleeves were too tight and two inches too short."

"The bill of particulars here is larger than in the Gamey case," remarked the judge.

"Did your raise your arm?" was asked.

"I couldn't; it was so tight."

"Didn't you say at the last fitting the dress had an 'elegant back'?" ask the plaintiff's lawyer.

"I said if the back was as good as the face it would be elegant," answered Miss Kennedy, "but that was not at the last fitting."

WHAT A FRIEND THOUGHT.

"What did your friend who saw you try it on the first time think of it?" asked his Honour.

"She said if my face looked as well as my back I would have been married long ago," answered the witness.

"Perhaps your Honour would like to see the gown on the lady?" suggested a lawyer.

"I would not object," admitted Judge Morson.

Miss O'Neill, a friend of Miss Kennedy, was present when the order was given for a black gown, and heard Mrs. Rae say if the dress did not fit she need not take it.

"The law says that," said his Honour. "Was the dressing all right?"

"Trimming," corrected the defendant's legal man.

Miss O'Neil had not been present at the later fittings, but gave it as her opinion that the "whole thing was ugly."

Miss Cardinal, a friend of Miss Kennedy, who was present at a fitting, did not like the fit. She gave it as her opinion that Mrs. Rae was an awful talker.

IT NEEDED A GIRDLE.

Mrs. Lord, with whom Miss Kennedy resides, said when the gown was tried on after coming from the dressmaker's there were two inches between the skirt and waist.

"It was not an Eton jacket?" asked his Honour.

"The shoulders were too loose," said the witness.

"They may have wanted to give the broad back effect," said the judge.

"The men in the house laughed at the dress," said Mrs. Lord.

The young ladies who did the work on the dress were next called, and testified to the high class of the work and fitting.

"You would not like to say your own work was anything but high class?" asked Judge Morson of one witness.

At the conclusion of the evidence Ahis Honour decided to adjourn the case to his chambers, and in the meantime the dress is to be tried on before a disinterested dressmaker, who will be called to give expert testimony at the next hearing. The case turns on the question whether the gown fitted when sent home by the maker. If it does not, Miss Kennedy need not pay for it.

CHURCH AND BENCH FOR SUNDAY BALL.

Decision of Judge Deuel of New York Widely Endorsed.

Police Will not Molest Those who Play Without Causing a Disturbance.

(New York World.)

This will be the first Sunday in the history of New York City when the playing of baseball by amateurs can proceed without danger of molestation by the police. On the strength of the decision rendered by City Magistrate John M. Deuel on Friday, the police to-day will make no arrests for baseball playing unless it becomes a decided nuisance.

If any arrests are made the offenders will not be held unless witnesses other than the police testify that there was a bona fide disturbance of the public peace. The testimony of those who go hunting for violations of the law will not be accepted.

Judge Deuel's decision found very general approval yesterday. The Magistrates themselves accepted it, and it will serve as a precedent for future cases, unless it is appealed to a higher court and reversed. Judge Deuel said last night that he had been amazed at the widespread interest in the matter.

LAW HOARY WITH AGE.

"It is good time that we should come to recognize facts and sense in such matters as this," said Judge Deuel. "When the law under which arrests for Sunday baseball are made was enacted, even travelling on Sunday was proscribed, fishing was made a crime, and all amusements that today pass unnoticed, were prohibited. Baseball itself was not mentioned, because the game had not been invented when the law was passed.

"Now, the higher courts have ruled that this law prohibiting fishing shall not apply unless there is a disturbance of the peace. There is no reason than why a similar rule should not be made in regard to Sunday baseball. A vast number of boys and men have to work every week day. Why then, shouldn't they have the right to play ball on Sunday if I have the right to play golf? If there is a disturbance, it is, of course, a different matter.

"Anticipating that complaints might be made to the police I have investigated the question of what should constitute a disturbance. The testimony of policemen must not be taken, and any citizen making a complaint must come to the court and be cross-examined. Those people must have been really disturbed, and those on the lookout for being disturbed will not receive much attention."

Police Commissioner Greene re-received a copy of the decision yesterday, and will examine it very closely, and probably get an opinion from the Corporation Council before a formal order is issued.

CHURCHMEN INDORSE DECISION.

Even churchmen, especially of the Roman Catholic denomination indorsed the decision. Those in charge of the Catholic Protectory and Manhattan College have expressed their hope that such a decision would be rendered by Judge Deuel, and the members of both these institutions were elated yesterday over the outcome of the controversy.

Of the Episcopal clergy the Rev. Dr. William S. Rainsford, rector of St. George's Church, strongly supports the Magistrate's decision. He said yesterday:

"I have been and am in favour of permitting the playing of baseball in open spaces in New York City on Sundays. I am opposed to professional games on Sunday. Our city boys want all the open air and exercise they can get. One of the surest ways to stop drinking and loafing on Sundays is to encourage boys and men to play games. Church people opposing Sunday games in New York make, I think, a grave mistake. The Lord commended the man who led his ox to water on the Sabbath. Boys want exercise as much as cattle want water."

The Rev. Father Cullen, Director of the Social Settlement of the Paulist Fathers, at Tenth avenue and Fifty-ninth street, made this comment:—

"I am glad personally at Magistrate Deuel's decision, and I think that for young men and boys who work daily it can mean no harm."

The Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, however, was not so cheerful over the decision. He would not comment directly upon the case in question, but when the case and decision were quoted to him, he made this reply:

DR. PARKHURST'S VIEWS.

"The function of a Magistrate is to sit in judgment upon criminals, not to sit in judgment upon laws. There is neither so arrant or so arrogant a law-breaker as the Judge who plays the role of legislator and fractures the statutes he has sworn to enforce."

A TRUE STORY.

How a Young Wife Regained Her Health and Beauty.

W. E. Birch, Afton, Va., an extensive fruit grower of that place, writes the following letter to the Peruna Medicine Co., of Columbus, Ohio. We print the letter in full:

Afton, Va., June 4, 1900.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:

Gentlemen—"The country is so flooded with patent medicines of every kind that are worthless and a humbug, that I for one, am glad to be able to say I have found one that is everything and more than is claimed for it.

"My wife was very much run down and out of sorts in every way. She had a pelvis disorder which left her very weak, nervous and no appetite at all.

"One day I happened to be at my father's store, S. A. Birch, Coresville, Alb county, Va., and noticed your medicine he had there for sale.

"I thought it might help my wife, so I brought a bottle of it home and within a week she commenced to eat and now she is hungry all the time and not half the medicine has been taken. We both agree that it beats any medicine to bring on an appetite and to put the nerves in good shape that we have ever had anything to do with. We had our family doctor to give her medicine and he did all he could, but she did not improve the least. She has consumption in her family and she was in such bad shape; so run down, nervous, weak, and could not eat, that I had begun to get very uneasy, but your medicine made an entirely new woman of her. I believe she eats and feels better now than she has for years.

"I have not the slightest doubt but that your medicine has saved her from a long spell of sickness, if nothing more. All my family had begun to get uneasy, but, of course, she did not know it and I have only just told her of it since she has improved so much. I had no idea it would do half what it has and don't think there is another medicine made that will begin to compare with it."—W. E. Birch, Fruit Grower, Afton, Alb county, Va.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto * * The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

THE DEPOSIT SLIPS.

Q.—Is it like your "H"? A.—Yes.

Q.—That is Exhibit 67, my Lord. Is it in the same place that you put your initials in upon the general slips? A.—Sometimes.

Q.—Is that to the left of that line? A.—It is nearly to the left.

Q.—Isn't it just on the line—on both sides of the line? A.—It is on the left hand side of the line.

Q.—Is it on the right hand side of the line also? A.—Part of it is.

Q.—And you tell us your invariable rule was to put your initials wholly on the left; is that right? A.—I generally do.

Q.—Do you undertake to tell their Lordships that this mark or Exhibit 67 is the same as the initial on Exhibit 69? A.—Similar.

Q.—There is a well defined "H" on each one of the three slips comprising Exhibit 69, isn't there? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you say that is a well defined "H" on Exhibit 67? A.—No, it is not a very good "H."

Q.—Will you pledge your oath it is an "H" at all? A.—I sometimes make an "H" like that.

Q.—Will you swear that is an "H" at all, now trace any lines composing an "H" there; it might be an "N," might it not? A.—I don't know.

Q.—It might be a "U?" A.—No, I don't think so.

Q.—It might be a "W?" A.—Not very well.

Q.—Just as like a "W" as like an "H?" A.—I don't think so.

Q.—If you have a strong imagination? A.—I don't think so.

Exhibit 67 Again.

Q.—Let us look for a moment at exhibit No. "67" again. Look at that—would you say that this is a copy of a slip that had passed through your hands in the ordinary course of business? A.—No, sir.

Q.—You would say that without a moment's hesitation? A.—Yes.

Q.—In the first place, there is no total there? A.—No, sir.

Q.—In addition to that there is no ledger folio? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And no puncture of a file? A.—No, sir.

Q.—So you would clearly reject it without a moment's hesitation as being something that had not passed through your bank? A.—It has been on file here but——

Q.—It didn't go through the bank file? A.—No, sir.

Q.—So you would know it was not a genuine deposit slip? A.—Yes.

Q.—You would know that? A.—Yes.

Had No Recollection.

Q.—Now, you said that Mr. Crossin made that deposit? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—How do you know—have you any independent recollection of the fact? A.—Well, I checked——

Q.—Have you an independent recollection of the fact? A.—I have not.

Q.—Have you no recollection about Mr. Crossin going in to make that deposit at all? A.—No.

Q.—And you cannot tell the denomination of the bills that were deposited? A.—Only by the slip.

Q.—And you cannot apart from the slip? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And you could not tell if you had not seen the slip whether they were $1 bills or $100 bills? A.—No, sir.

First Time He Saw It.

Q.—When did you first look up this slip representing the deposit of $900? A.—On Saturday, the 18th April.

Q.—And you say in the morning Mr. Gamey came there and asked to see a particular deposit slip? A.—He did.

Witness, continuing, said it was the first time that he saw Mr. Gamey, and that he hesitated about giving out the slip, as he did not want to take the responsibility of handing it out. He did not know if there was any responsibility in allowing a customer of the bank to see a deposit slip of his own, and he had been asked to show deposit slips before but never hesitated about doing so before this time. He hesitated this time because it might be an important slip and called forth in evidence. He did not know Mr. Crossin or Mr. Gamey's writing, but Mr. Crossin always made the deposits. He would not swear Mr. Gamey never made a deposit. He looked at this particular slip because he was curious. The object of initialing a deposit slip was to show that the amount is correct, and where there is no total the initial would not be put on it. He did not know on what bank the bills were on.

To Mr. Johnston he said he generally put his initials to the left of the slip. He could not say that any letter was intended to be represented by the strokes on exhibit 66.

Might Have Taken It.

Mr. James Brown, accountant, said his attention was called by the teller to this slip, with the denomination changed from hundreds to others and not added up and with the ledger keeper's folio missing.

Q.—When you looked into it, it is not all right? A.—If Mr. Gamey had happened to hand it back to me instead of giving it back to the teller there would have been danger of my having taken it as the original.

Mr. Blake—Don't depreciate your own intelligence.

Mr. Johnston—No, but with two or three lawyers and two or three bank men we discover that it is not the correct slip.

The messenger, Mr. Barton, was sent out and returned with Messrs. Crossin and Gamey. Mr. Gamey said: "He said he must be mistaken; that is the slip I got from the teller." Mr. Brown replied that it was not, and Mr. Gamey persisted that it was. Finally Mr. Gamey said it must have been lost. Mr. Howarth went to the factory with Mr. Gamey, but failed to find it. Mr. Gamey came back in the afternoon, and, producing a slip, said that he had found the missing one, which had slipped into his glove.

Gamey Wanted It Back.

He asked to have back the one he left in the morning. The witness replied that it had left his possession. Mr. Gamey asked him to get it and send it to Mr. McPherson's office. Mr. Gamey returned a fourth time with Mr. J. M. Might, and said it would be all right to send it to Mr. McPherson's office. At first he took the second substitute handed in as the original.

The cross-examination with regard to these substitute slips was directed to show that they were not copies of the original, because one was not added up, and neither had the ledger folio or the file mark. In two seconds, said the witness, a bank official could see that they were not genuine slips, and that no such slip could go through the bank. It was not a copy of a genuine slip, as it was incomplete.

A Faint Initial.

Q.—There is no initial there on that, is there? A.—It is very faint.

Q.—Will you swear there is an initial there? A.—Yes.

Q.—What initial is it? The last witness could not tell? A.—There is a mark there that looks like an "H," rather.

Q.—Would you pledge your oath it is an H? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Nobody could? A.—No.

Q.—Do you think anybody could? A.—I don't think so.

By Mr. Johnston—As a banker can you say whether that is an initial or not?

The Chancellor—I don't think it is at all important for us, sitting here in this enquiry. We are not in a criminal pursuit on this line at all events.

Bank Messenger Called.

Mr. A. W. Barton, messenger, who was sent to the Crossin factory after Mr. Gamey, said he asked for the slip he took away from the Ontario Bank. He said he had the one Gamey left and would exchange. Gamey said the one with the four denominations was the one he got out of the bank and also put back. He replied that it was not. He also testified that Mr. Gamey had apologized for the trouble that he caused.

To Mr. Ritchie he said Gamey seemed surprised and immediately began a search for the slip. Mr. Crossin said Exhibit 67 was in his handwriting, which he thought was strange. He then took Exhibit 67 back to the bank and handed it to Mr. Howarth. He didn't know anything about Exhibit 67.

The Bank's Solicitor.

Mr. Walter Barwick, K.C., counsel for the bank, said that when the circumstances were explained to him he informed Mr. McPherson what Mr. Gamey had done, and asked Mr. McPherson to get the slip back. Later in the day when he learned further details he informed Mr. Johnston. He did not think at all that Mr. McPherson had the slip, but he communicated with him as Mr. Gamey's solicitor. Mr. Barwick also testified that the books of the bank had been refused for examination to both sides.

Where Is Mr. Gamey Now.

Mr. Johnston—I propose to put a witness in to show that on Tuesday afterwards Mr. Gamey was in Buffalo.

The Chancellor—I don't see what that has to do with it.

Mr. Johnston—I don't want to call evidence to prove it if your Lordships do not think it is relevant.

Chancellor Boyd—You might call evidence to show where he is to-day, as far as that is concerned.

Mr. Johnston—That might be difficult. I don't know where he is to-day.

Mr. Blake—We are not making any objections.

The Chancellor—If you wish to have the evidence, Mr. Blake, I do not object.

Mr. Blake—I am not saying that, my Lord.

The Chancellor—We do not want to have an immense amount of matter on the record; we have enough of it now.

Mr. Johnston does not press the point.

A Manitoulin Campaign.

Neil Macdougall sworn. Examined by Mr. Riddell.

Q.—Where do you live? A.—Providence Bay, in Manitoulin Island.

Q.—At the time of the last general election what was your business? A.—I was working in the lumber woods taking out timber.

Q.—At that time were you living in Providence Bay? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you know Mr. Gamey? A.—Yes.

Q.—Were you are the meeting that Mr. Gamey held? A.—Yes.

Q.—Where was that meeting held? A.—In the school house in Providence Bay.

Q.—How long was that before the general election took place? A.—It was some time in May.

Q.—Did you hear Mr. Gamey's speech? A.—Yes.

Mr. Blake—I submit that this cannot possibly be evidence.

The Chancellor—Why not?

Mr. Blake—It is as to certain utterances.

The Chancellor—He was asked whether he did not pose as an Independent.

Mr. Blake—And as Mr. Grant, the solicitor of the Liberal Association says—

Returned as an Independent.

The Chancellor—You called Mr. Grant, and he says he is returned on the lists as that. That does not throw any light on what his attitude was during the campaign. I think this is relevant to show his position.

Mr. Riddell—Q.—Were you present at the meeting? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you hear his speech? A.—Yes.

Q.—To whom did he appeal for support? A.—Well, he appealed to the people.

Q.—Conservatives? A.—Yes.

The Chancellor—Just ask him what he said.

Mr. Riddell—Q.—What did he say that you remember? A.—He said that it didn't matter what Government was returned that he would support them on any good measure that was brought up for the benefit of his constituency.

Q.—Did he say anything else that you remember? A.—Well, he got talking about this pulp wood concession.

Q.—Did he mention Mr. Campbell's name?

Mr. Blake—I don't think there should be any suggestions, my Lord. The Chancellor assents.

Not Going With Tied Hands.

Mr. Riddell—Q.—Can you tell us what he said? A.—He said that he was not going there with his hands tied behind his back, the same as A. F. Campbell had done for four years.

Q.—What else did he say? A.—Well, I can't exactly tell you the words.

Q.—Who was A. F. Campbell? A.—He was member for Algoma for four years. A Conservative in Opposition in the Ontario House.

Mr. Riddell—Q.—Do you recall anything else that he said at the meeting which bears upon this enquiry? A.—Well, no more than he got about forty Liberal votes.

The Chancellor—Through what? A.—Through the way that he spoke at the meeting.

Mr. Blake Objects.

Q.—Did you see him then after the meeting? A.—Yes.

Mr. Blake—How can this witness possibly know these facts that he is pretending to depose to. He said that he got 40 Liberal votes.

The Chancellar—He cannot know about the votes.

Mr. Blake—That is what I am objecting to.

Chief Justice Falconbridge—It is, of course, hearsay.

Mr. Riddell—Q.—How do you judge that——

Mr. Blake—It is not a question of judging.

Mr. Riddell—I have a right to ask that.

The Chancellor—He had a conversation.

Mr. Blake—That is hearsay evidence.

Mr. Riddell—That is not the——

Mr. Blake—I object to it. I suppose there is nothing that is more uncertain.

Got 40 Liberal Votes.

The Chancellor—He says he got 40 Liberal votes, that is his evidence now. You can get what he knows of his own knowledge.

After the meeting he saw Mr. Gam-

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

The Sugar Factory

Mr. Bartlett, local Superintendent of construction for the Peterborough Sugar Company, has made a complete survey of the Howden lot and has forwarded it to Detroit for the guidance of the Chief Engineer of the National Construction Company, who is preparing the plans for the new building. It is expected the plans, which had of course to be adopted to the position of the lot, will be here in a few days, when building operations will be commenced in real earnest.

A CITY LEAGUE WAS ORGANIZED.

Baseball Enthusiasts Gathered at Oriental.

Four Teams Have Entered the Series —Officers Elected.

The meeting called to organize a baseball league in town was largely attended last night at the Oriental Hotel, and from all appearances baseball will boom this season in Peterborough. Four clubs were represented at the meeting. Excelsiors,—J. Flaherty and J. Pilling; Shamrocks,—W. DeRussia and F. Craig; Pullmans,—D. McCabe; Auburns,—E. Renton, W. Hartley, C. Graham. Messrs. Sheridan, Wright, Waram, Doris, Belleghem, Kenner and Moore were present. Mr. Hartley occupied the chair and after some discussion it was decided to call the league the "Peterborough Amateur Baseball League". It is the idea of the league to conduct everything on a purely amateur basis and make the game popular in the town. The clubs will each pay a $5.00 membership fee and the league will have charge of all games. A schedule of twelve games for each club was ordered to be drawn up by the executive committee and the games will be played on Saturdays or perhaps holidays. All of the clubs are required to sign players and certificates will be issued by the Secretary and President of the league.

The Harold A. Wilson Co., of Toronto, have offered to donate a handsome pennant to the winners of the series with the name of the club on it. Mr. C. W. Helliwell, of the Metropole, was present and offered a handsome silver cup to be presented to the winners at the end of the season, both offers were received with great enthusiasm. The league decided to use the Garratt ball as the official ball..

The following officers were elected:—President, James Schneider; Vice-Pres., Fred. Clarke; Sec.-Treas., E. Desautel; Executive Committee, J. Pilling, (Excelsiors), D. McCabe, (Pullmans). Fred. DeRussia, (Shamrocks) and W. Hartley, (Auburns) and Pres., Vice and Secretary.

The selection of grounds, umpires and drawing up of a schedule and constitution was left to the Executive.

The meeting decided to use the National League rules with the new foul strike rule cut out.

Every player must be signed by his team and a certificate issued and signed by the President and Secretary of the League.

Any player signed by any of the clubs must be a bona fide resident of the town of Peterborough, and the Executive shall have power to deal with the cases of any players who come into town after the first of May.

With the four teams in the league double headers can be played every Saturday and some fast baseball will be put up.

The Excelsiors have been playing together for a couple of years, the Auburns have been together for a long time and the Shamrocks are young but fast, whilst the Pullmans under D. McCabe's guidance ought to make things warm.

Baby's Parade Days !

Such weather for the babies' outing! The processions from Babyland these days are sure signs of summer. We miss our guess if the largest number of pretty perambulators on the street did not come from the Peterborough Bookstore. Those winning styles you see, with the distinguished dash and go, come from our livery of baby rigs. We're showing a special shipment this week, and they're all beauties. Whether you buy a strong, neat little baby carriage or the handsomest cab in the house, you'll be pleased with your bargain. Go-carts, too, and as low as $1.85. Various other wheeled rigs and run-abouts for children. A. H. Stratton & Co.

TOMMY ATKINS WAS OUT ON PARADE.

The 57th had First March-out of the Season.

Large Crowd Witnessed the Parade— Non-coms' Examinations.

The first march-out of the season of the 57th Regiment took place last night, both Regimental Bands being in attendance. After the roll had been called the battalion formed up and marched out of the drill shed. The Regiment marched from the drill shed down George street to Charlotte street, west to Aylmer street, north to Hunter street, east to Water street, then north to Brock street, and along Brock street to the drill shed.

* * *

Company Captains then marched their commands out on the green, where they went through company drill, while the class qualifying for non-commissioned officers rank, underwent their examination in the drill shed.

* * *

The route had been published, and the night was a superb one for the event. It was only natural, under these conditions that the streets were thronged with crowds of patriotic citizens, who hustled each other in an attempt to get as good a view of the march past as possible. All along George street the crowd was three, four and in some places, five deep, all of whom craned their necks to catch a glimpse of their own particular friends, amongst the 228 men on parade.

* * *

The companies marched down George street, Chalotte street and along Aylmer street in column of sections, but when marching down Hunter street the command for half company formation was given. This formation was kept up until the Regiment approached the drill shed, when the previous order was given, and the battalion marched into the drill shed in sections.

* * *

It was noticeable that the marching of No. 4 Company, commanded by Captain Hounsell, was as good as any of the other seven companies of the Regiment. This company is at present rather weak in numbers and is sadly in need of recruits. It is to be hoped that any wishing to join the Regiment will next Tuesday come to the headquarters of this company.

* * *

When in the drill shed the battalion formed up and the following orders were read by the Adjutant, Captain Duncan Walker :—

Headquarters, Peterborough.
April 28th, 1903.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1.—Detail of duty for the week ending May 5th, 1903, officer for the week Capt. Mills; next for duty, Capt. Cluxton.

No. 2.—The following are struck off the strength of the Regiment :—E. Co., Ptes. Ridge, Graham, Crossland, Argue, Foreman and Conklin.

No. 3.—Leave of absence from parade is hereby granted to Capt. Hayes, D. C.

No. 4.—All recruits shall take at least six drills with the recruits class before being dismissed therefrom.

No. 5.—The Commanding Officer has been pleased to make the following promotion :—To be Pioneer Sergeant, Sgt. E. G. Poole.

By order,
D. WALKER, Capt.,
Adjutant.

The examination of the men qualifying for non-commissioned officer's rank, took place on Wednesday night, April 23rd, but on account of the class being so large and also because of the extensive character of the work taken up, the examining officers, Major Stevenson and Captains Hayes and Walker, were unable to conclude the test. In consequence of this the examination was continued last night while the companies were drilling on the green. Results will probably not be known for a week. The class was composed of Sergts. Giles, Craig, Hartley, D. Manley, H. Ayers; Colour-Sgt. Henderson; Corps. H. Manley, Abbott, F. Plummer and Roseborough, and Ptes. Staunton and Lathangue. Corporal F. Plummer having seen service in South Africa, during the Boer Campaign, is entitled to his sergant's certificate. Corporal Abbott was not present last night, but will undergo an examination with his company next Tuesday evening.

Sgt. Ernis Poole, of the Pioneer Corp, has his branch of the service in excellent shape and they presented a splendid appearance last night. All of the members of the corps could not turn out owing to there not being a sufficient number of uniforms.

The Bugle Band showed up in great form and gave evidences of having had considerable practice. The boys of the bugle band are very enthusiastic this season.

LADIES ENTERTAINED MEMBERS OF VESTRY.

Pleasant Little Addendum to St. John's Adjourned Vestry Meeting.

In the report of St. John's adjourned vestry meeting printed yesterday, mention was omitted of the fact that at the conclusion of the meeting the ladies of the congregation entertained the vestry by providing a capital cup of tea, sandwiches and cakes. This work of supererogation, as it might be called, is all the more commendable, as through the efforts of the several ladies' organizations a larger sum was added to the church funds during the year than by either the general offertory or the pew rents.

Pride comes before a fall.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

GIRLS ARE extremely susceptible to attacks of scarlet fever. In spite of the efforts of the Board of Health there is a severe outbreak of scarlet fever to report. Young ladies varying from 14 to 24 seem to have been favourite marks for the epidemic. The first march-out of the 57th provoked an attack of scarlet fever in a most multitudinous form. The streets were lined with girls, in thousands attracted by the combined magnetism of the fine weather and the scarlet tunics of the defenders of the flag. There seems to be something in the female blood, which causes it to move with unwanted briskness at the sight of a soldier. There seems to be an occult connection between the lust for killing and the human heart. Spanish girls with eyes as meek as a dove's, will revel in the gory spectacle of the bull fight, and witness the death of a favourite matador with as little emotion as a Peterborough girl would witness the turn-down of her favourite in a hockey seven. Behind the girl's delight in a soldier, is the lust for killing which survives from the days of savagery in the most refined human natures. It crops out in the child who delights in tearing out by the roots the wings and legs of a fly; it crops out in the boy who thirsts for the blood of birds; it crops out in the fisherman for mere sport and not for food; it crops out in the fox hunter and in other forms in a way to force the conclusion that modern civilization is a thin veneer.

• • •

THE FIFTY-SEVENTH turned out in strong shape last night, and attracted a great deal of complimentary comment. As a matter of detail an amateur military enthusiast suggests that now, two new companies having been added to the strength of the regiment it would be a good thing in future march-outs to place the band somewhat in the middle of the line of march so that the first four companies may not monopolize the uplift of the inspiring music. But he seems to forget that the bugle band and drum corps have to be reckoned with.

• • •

IT IS VERY NICE and inspiring to see a fine swinging line of trim young soldiers, but, then, they must be soldiers. An old lady negotiating with a dentist for a set of artificial teeth, in answer to her earnest inquiry was assured by the dentist that "mastication could be performed by them with perfect effectiveness." "Yes, I know," answered the dame, "but kin a body eat with 'em?" Volunteers may march and manœuvre perfectly, but the question is "Can they shoot?" The South African war knocked the parade idea of militarism into a cocked hat, and if our citizen soldiers are taught to shoot they have the other qualities to make them first-class fighting material. It is to be hoped therefore that the requisite degree of attention will be given to equipping the 57th as first class marksmen—to be able to kill their man, which is the real, if, bloodthirsty object, of military training.

FROM SOLDIERS to sugar, seems a far cry. Prejudices die hard, and it takes some education to give them a quietus. Cane sugar has so long been in use that the housewife can hardly bring herself to think that beet root sugar is "just as good." But it is just as good—it is, chemically, identically the same article, with exactly the same quantitative analysis of essential ingredients. Take two samples of sugar—cane and beet respectively—and the most skilful chemist alive, not knowing which is which, could not, by the most exhaustive analysis, tell which is cane and which is beet. Our housewives have been using beet sugar for years without knowing it, and, fancying it was cane sugar never knew the difference. Of the about 300 million pounds of sugar used in Canada each year, it is asserted as a fact that 240 million pounds, or 80 per cent., are beet sugar. Far away fields look green, and the finicky housewife has come to think that sugar can only be good which comes from far-away Jamaica or elsewhere. But, as a matter of fact, science has so developed the art of beet root sugar making that any housewife could get by proper manufacturing process, the highest quality of sugar from beets grown in her own back yard. "Made in Canada," will apply with increasing force to beet sugar, especially when Finance Minister Fielding's sur-tax on German products will indirectly develop the home and local manufacture of beet root sugar, and keep out sugar "made in Germany." "Canada for Canadians," should be the war cry.

ST. LUKE'S ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING.

A Presentation to Mr. Frank Adams.

Very Encouraging Reports Were Received—The Advisory Board.

The adjourned vestry meeting of St. Luke's church was held last night. A very good attendance marked the interest of the congregation in the proceedings.

Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, the rector, was in the chair. The meeting was opened with prayer. After the reading of the minutes, the Rector gave his annual report. He referred to the healthy condition of the church in its finances and organizations. Regarding his ministrations he gave the following figures:

Since Easter, 1902, he has preached 114 sermons and has given 71 addresses. The average attendance at church was increased by 29. He has made 774 visits; administered the Holy Communion 29 times to the sick in private houses. He wrote 42 letters and recommendations on behalf of members of the congregation; 24 children were baptized and 3 were confirmed; 21 couples were married; and there were 14 deaths. At the Easter Communion 226 were present.

The Rector urged upon the congregation the necessity of spiritual prosperity. If the Church ceased to lead souls to Christ it would lose its charter of existence. He hoped that his people found themselves nearer Heaven, and more like Christ. He said that he was not there to entertain them but to preach Christ, and if he had sometimes spoken very plainly on their duties he had done so to point out to them the way of life. He asked his congregation to begin the new year with renewed zeal for God's glory; to endeavour to make each other happy; to bury all unkind feelings; to strive for better things; and he prayed that the good hand of the Lord be upon them—that He may prosper their handiwork.

The report was received with applause. After the reading of his report the Rector said that he had a very pleasant duty to perform, and speaking of the efficient, and faithful services rendered the Church by Mr. Frank Adams, the People's Warden, he read the following address:

Ashburnham, April 28th, 1903.

Frank Adams, Esq., Warden of the Church of St. Luke the Evangelist, Ashburnham.

Dear Sir,—It is a great pleasure to us to address you to-night on behalf of your fellow Churchmen, and to give expression of our gratitude to you for the many services you have rendered our Church.

Since Easter 1898 you have been the people's Warden, and with this office you undertook many laborious duties, which you have fulfilled in a most admirable manner. The finances of our Church were well looked after by you, and were always kept in a most satisfactory and correct way. We desire to express to you our appreciation of yourself and your work, and ask you to accept the accompanying cane, as a mark of our respect and thanks.

On behalf of the Vestry of St. Luke's Church.

E. A. LANGFELDT, M. A., Rector.
E. A. PECK
F. J. JAMESON
ADAM DAWSON
J. Z. ROGERS
A. O. SAWYER.

He then presented Mr. Frank Adams on behalf of the vestry, with an ebony cane with a solid gold handle. The congregation expressed its approval by hearty applause.

Mr. Adams thanked the vestry for this mark of their appreciation. He assured them that his duties were not at all onerous, for the liberality of the congregation had always enabled him to pay all indebtedness. The condition of the church, he said, had never been more prosperous. He said he would continue for another year to do his best in looking after the interests of the church.

The auditors' report was presented by Mr. F. J. Jameson. The total receipts by offertories at the services, and not counting the funds of the different organizations, amounted to $2,061.91. A credit balance of $784.19 being in the Ontario Bank. During the year the mortgage debt of $1,250.00 on the Sunday School was reduced to $808.00. This contribution was not included in the general receipts.

The auditors recommended the purchase of a safe, to be placed in the vestry. The report was adopted in its entirety.

A committee was appointed to consider the advisability of getting a Divinity student to aid Mr. Langfeldt in his work, and to act with full power in this matter.

Other business followed including the election of an 'Advisory Board consisting of Messrs. J. Z. Rogers, Frank Adams, H. Nesbitt, G. G. Pratley, F. J. Jameson, E. A. Peck and the Rector.

Then followed the reports from the Sunday School, Bible Class, Woman's Auxiliary, Mission Band, Mothers Meeting, Chancel Chapter, Men's Guild, Young Woman's Guild; all reported good work and much prosperity.

The Rector complimented the organist, Mr. J. L. Armstrong, and his choir for the hearty singing that made the services at St. Luke's so congregational. The music was of such a nature that the congregation could take part in the praise of God. The choir led, and fortunately did not entertain the congregation. In Mr. Armstrong the church possesses a talented organist, whose excellent services were much appreciated.

The meeting then closed with the benediction. Miss L. Jackson favoured the audience with a solo, Miss Daisy Jackson playing the accompaniments. After that a social hour was spent and refreshments served. The evening's proceeding manifested a spirit of harmony and co-operation existing between Rector and people, and St. Luke's church is entering upon another year under most encouraging circumstances.

ey who told him that "he was going to support the Government that was in power with any good measure that was brought up." On February 14 he had a conversation with Mr. Gamey, after the interview in The Globe, and witness told him, "There are some of them says you got $5,000, and some says you got $15,000, and some $27,000." "Well," he says, "I never got a dollar or a promise of any." Witness then urged him not to allow the Tories to bluff him into resigning. I says, "It wasn't they elected you," and he says, "No, it was the people."

Timber on McGregor Island.

To Mr. Ritchie he said he was now a hotel keeper. He knew that the meeting was called in Mr. Gamey's interests and that Mr. Gamey was running as a Conservative. There were also running Mr. Fraser in the Liberal interest and a Socialist candidate. He was not himself a Conservative, and did not vote for Mr. Gamey. When Mr. Gamey said he would support good measures no matter from whom they emanated he supposed he would exercise his judgment. At the same meeting Mr. Gamey was appealing to Conservatives and others to put out the Ross Government, and denounced the pulpwood and mining policy, in fact all the policy of the Ross Government. His object was to put out the Ross Government and witness didn't agree with him in that. In addition to the sums mentioned by him before, he said some of Gamey's friends said he was going to get the timber on McGregor Island. He could scarcely credit the statement that Gamey was going to support the Ross Government even after The Globe interview, but it would have been all right if he had. To both Mr. Riddell and Mr. Ritchie, witness said that Gamey said he "would support any Government that was sustained, or any good measure.

Along Similar Lines.

W. J. Berry, contractor of Providence Bay, gave similar testimony as to the public meeting of May last.

Mr. Berry further stated that he had not supported Gamey because "he was not carried away by wind." He swore that Gamey had said he would support any Government that was sustained, but he did not think the Ross Government would be sustained. Mr. Gamey had roundly denounced the whole Ross Government.

Sam Sinclair, of Providence Bay, who styled himself a Grit, stated that he had been influenced by Gamey's promise to support good measures to vote for him. He was partly influenced by personal feelings as he thought Gamey a pretty decent sort of fellow. He didn't vote for Mr. Campbell, the previous Conservative candidate, and didn't think anything about Gamey turning Grit.

Sylvester Berry told of the same meeting, and stated that Gamey denounced the Government for giving lumber away, but denied he was going to Toronto to be a figurehead like Mr. Campbell, a former Conservative member for Algoma. He was not deceived by Gamey's independence.

Where He Made No Converts.

Lachlin McDougall, of Gordon Township, and his two sons, Malcolm and Lachlin, said that Gamey had called on them to canvass their votes, and had said he was more of an independent than a party man, and that he was paying his own way through. Lachlin knew that Gamey was running as a Conservative, and denouncing the policy of the Ross Government. He made no converts at that place.

Duncan Orr, of Gore Bay, testified that Gamey ran on a sort of "Manitoulin is my politics" platform. He did not vote for Mr. Gamey.

Robert Thorburn, of Gore Bay, said that previous to the appearance of The Globe interview Gamey had been negotiating with him for a house in the town. Four or five days after it was issued he saw Gamey, who told him he did not think the Conservatives would let him live there, they were so wrathy, and said he proposed simply to carry out his platform of supporting good measures.

Q.—Things were getting warm for Mr. Gamey at that time? A.—Yes, very warm, I think.

Q.—So warm, he was afraid his Conservative friends would not allow him to live there? A.—Correct.

SUFFERED FOR SIX YEARS.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Mrs. Huffman, of Napanee.

And now she Recommends Them to Other Young Ladies or Married Women.

Napanee, Ont., April 26. —(Special.) That Dodd's Kidney Pills are one of the greatest boons ever conferred on suffering womankind, is the experience of Mrs. John C. Huffman, of this place. For the benefit of her sister women she has given the following statement for publication:—

"I had been troubled for about six years, and the pain was so great I could not stand it. I could not entertain any company.

"One night when I was feeling miserable I read of some wonderful cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I decided to try them. The first box brought an improvement, and by the time I had taken six boxes I was completely cured.

"I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to any person suffering from Kidney Disease and I make this statement hoping that it will help other young ladies or married women."

Mrs. Huffman is only one of many women who have proved that many female complaints are the result of disordered Kidneys and are as such easily curable by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

MOTHER AND CHILD

Scott's Emulsion is cod liver oil made almost as palatable as milk. It is easy and soothing to the weak stomach; it checks the tendencies of children toward thinness

Scott's Emulsion gives strength to weak mothers because it creates healthy flesh and new blood.

Nursing mothers will find a special value in Scott's Emulsion because it insures a flow of rich, nourishing milk for the baby. More and better than a medicine; Scott's Emulsion is a food.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Toronto, Ont.

Mr. Thorburn said he did not vote for Gamey as an Independent, but when he heard of The Globe interview he thought him a little wiser. He did not think he had been bought.

The court adjourned.

Mr. Gamey's Politics.

In the afternoon further evidence was given regarding Mr. Gamey's politics during his campaign and after. The cross-examination followed the same lines as in the morning.

Neil Maclean, a brother-in-law of Mr. Fraser, the Liberal candidate, said that he spoke to Mr. Gamey for a loan after The Globe interview, but the M.P. replied that he might need all his money if he had to pull up stakes in consequence of his Conservative friends making it so warm for him. Mr. Gamey had said in reply to his remark that he would not go against the Ross Government in any measure they proposed of benefit to Manitoulin, "I tried to give that impression all through the campaign." He urged him to pay no attention to the clamor for his resignation. He did not think it strange that any candidate would support good measures, and thought Mr. Gamey would certainly do it.

Daniel B. Macrae, Gore Bay, said he attended a meeting about a week before the ballots were cast, he heard Mr. Gamey say in his speech, "If I am elected I don't want to go down with my hands tied," and he wound up by saying he would support any good measures that might come up.

Politics Manitoulin Island.

John Scott, farmer, Township of Mills, said that when he read Mr. Gamey's interview in The Globe he saw Mr. Gamey's policy in the last election in the phrase that he would take the stand just as he had taken when the Government was sustained—his politics were Manitoulin Island. He had stated that he would be on the Government side to get what the people of Manitoulin wanted.

To Mr. Ritchie he said he never heard anybody score the Ross Government more strongly than Mr. Gamey. He denounced their whole policy and their corruption. He was a supporter of the Socialist candidate, Mr. McMillan, and he told wherein Gamey's beliefs but not his publicly expressed policy coincided with Socialist belief in what was for the benefit of the country. He said he was not going to be in the position of the former member, Mr. Campbell, and that he thought it was essential to be on the side of the Government.

Globe Interview Struck It.

Re-examined by Mr. Riddell:

Q.—Mr. Scott, my learned friend asked you that after having heard Mr. Gamey's politics, so to speak—that is, his speeches—if you would not expect him to be in complete opposition to the Ross Government, and you said, "Well, no." I want you to explain what you mean by that. A.—Well, I could not explain it better than after the report came out in The Globe, with Mr. Gamey taking the stand he took, I just thought that he was in perfect accord with the statement he made.

Mr. Turner, President of the Conservative Association of Manitoulin, produced the report of the Conservative Executive on Feb. 16 sent to The Globe. This report was in Mr. Gamey's own handwriting and stated that Mr. Robinson had said in the meeting that Gamey promised last spring to take an independent stand if the Government were sustained, and, moreover, that Gamey had received many Liberal votes on that account.

The court then adjourned.

Coughs, Colds and Asthma

As Well as Croup, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough are Quickly Cured by

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The virtues of this great prescription of Dr. Chase is so well known in Canadian homes that it seems useless to do more than remind you that it has a larger sale and is curing more people than ever before.

Mrs. J. W. Lloyd, Albion street, Belleville, Ont., states:—

"In the beginning of last winter I took a very severe cold, accompanied with a bad cough, and was almost laid up for a time. I tried serveral remedies, but with indifferent results. On the advice of a friend I got a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found that it relieved the cough at once. By the time I had taken the one bottle my cold was gone, and I can truthfully recommend it as a splendid remedy for coughs and colds."

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B., and whose husband is carpenter on the I.C.R., states:—

"For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with one of my children suffering with a severe form of asthma. If seemed as though the least exposure to cold or dampness would bring on an attack of this disease. I began using this medicine, and must say that I found it most excellent. We have never tried anything in the way way of cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief."

Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase is on every bottle of the genuine. 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

"My belief," observed Lola, "is that the world is in its infancy. I believe we are only just beginning to understand. We are emerging from darkness into light; but the light is faint yet. I should like to return to the world when it reaches its middle age—to see what steam, electricity, and all the wonders of science have done for us. I should like to see the telephone perfected. When will its wonders stop? I should like to be on earth when it and other marvelous things are in general use. And there is one thing above others I should like to know."

"What is that?" asked Sir Karl, who was somewhat amused at her remarks.

"I should like to know whether men will so far overcome the difficulties of atmosphere, time, and space as to get to the planets."

"No," returned Sir Karl; "I think we shall have to be satisfied with our own world, Miss de Ferras."

"Our own," said Dolores, "and the beautiful world that is to come hereafter."

In some vague fashion those few, simple words pleased him more than all Lola's aspirations. He would have said more; but at that moment Lady Fielden came up to them, bringing with her a tall, distinguished-looking man, whose noble, kindly face was pleasant, though not handsome.

"Lord Rhysworth," thought Lola, and her heart gave a great bound.

It was a strange coincidence that she and her rival should meet the two most eligible men in the county together.

"This is as it should be," thought Lola. "Lord Rhysworth for Dolores, the handsome young baronet for me!"

She was perfectly content.

Lord Rhysworth greeted her very kindly; he said that he remembered having seen her when she was a child, and made some pretty complimentary speeches on her return; but all the time his eyes were fixed upon the face of Dolores. Then Lady Fielden suggested that they should go to the archery ground. But none of the quartet cared about moving. It was very pleasant to stand chatting under the lime trees. For some few minutes they all kept together; then Lord Rhysworth and Dolores gradually gained ground, and Sir Karl, with Lola, was left at some little distance. Lola was delighted. She believed that for once Providence was going to favor her with the dearest wish of her heart. Her spirits rose; she had said to herself that she would keep Sir Karl by her side, and she did so. He could not resist the witching charm of her drollery, her wit, her sparkling talk.

One trifling circumstance dwelt in Sir Karl's mind. As Dolores and he passed some beautiful roses, Lord Rhysworth stopped and gathered a lovely white one. He placed it proudly in his coat; and Sir Karl felt that he wore it as a knight of old wore his lady's colors. The utter unconsciousness of Miss Clieden struck him.

CHAPTER IV.

"I have driven over, Dolores, to say that, quite unexpectedly, we have some visitors from Paris today. Mamma is making almost superhuman efforts to entertain them, and she wants to get up an impromptu party this evening—dancing, charades, music—everything that will while away the time. She sent a messenger to Lord Rhysworth; but he is out of temper about something, I should imagine, for he has declined to come."

The knowledge of what that "something" was brought a burning blush to the fair face of Dolores.

"What are you blushing about? What is the matter?" asked Lola, whom nothing escaped. "Have you anything to do with Lord Rhysworth's not coming?"

"No, nothing at all," replied Dolores.

"Then why are you blushing? People do not blush in that way for nothing. Have you seen Lord Rhysworth to-day?"

"He called here this morning; but he did not mention Beaulieu; perhaps he had not received your note then. Will it be a large party, Lola?"

Dolores was anxious to change the subject; but Lola detected the motive.

"You do not want me to say any more than Lord Rhysworth. I will be silent, but none the less sure am I that there is a mystery, or you would not blush."

On what trifles do human lives turn! If Dolores had not blushed, her life would have been entirely different.

"Will you have a large party, Lola?" she asked again, quite ignoring the remark made by the beautiful French girl.

"I hope so. Sir Karl is coming. I secured him first. A party, or anything else, without him, would be intolerable to me."

"And to me," thought Dolores; but she said nothing.

"He is coming; that is settled; and I feel a placid indifference about every one else but you, Dolores," continued Lola.

She saw that Miss Clieden was not quite herself—that she had something on her mind, something that ruffled her thoughts and shadowed her clear eyes. For Lola there was but one subject, and that was her lover. She judged Dolores by herself.

"It cannot be Sir Karl," she thought, "it must be Lord Rhysworth. I always said that he was fond of her. He has been there this morning, and I am quite certain something has occurred. You will drive back with me, Dolores?" she said aloud. "You will have plenty of time to see to your toilet, and you must stay all to-morrow and help us to entertain our visitors."

That Dolores could not do; she did not like to leave the Squire for so long. Indeed she would have declined the invitation altogether, but that it seemed to her Providence had presented the one chance more for which she had longed. She would go, because she would see Sir Karl; and if he did like her, she would find it out.

"Dolores," cried Lola, "you are keeping something from me! It is quite useless for you to deny it; your face betrays you. Now, what is it? All the time I have been talking to you, you have been looking out there over the trees, with a far-away expression in your eyes which I understand, if no one else does. I do not believe that you have heard a word of what I have said."

"On the contrary, I have heard all."

"You know, Dolores, it is better to make a friend than an enemy of me," said Lola. "You will do better to trust me. You are keeping some secret from me, but I am quite sure to find it out for myself."

"I give you permission," answered Dolores carelessly, yet vexed in her heart that Lola had guessed, so correctly. "What shall I give you to amuse yourself with while I get ready?"

"I will talk to the Squire," said Lola.

The beautiful French girl, with a smile on her lips, lay back in her chair watching her, the very picture of luxurious ease. She was thirsty, and had asked for some fruit. With her white, slender fingers, she held a lovely, ripe peach, talking while she ate it; and Dolores, looking at her, thought she was more like a picture than ever.

"You are debating in your mind, Dolores, about your dresses," observed Lola. "I can see the perplexity in your face. Let me decide."

But Dolores had already decided. She took from her wardrobe, a dress of creamy silk with rich lace trimmings, the only ornaments she chose being a beautiful parure of pearls. The dark eyes watched steadfastly.

"Evidently," said Lola to herself, "Dolores means to eclipse us all to-night. Now for whom is she going to dress in this style? Not for Lord Rhysworth—that is certain; for he is not coming. It must be for Sir Karl. I must put a stop to that. Dolores," she said aloud, with the girlish frankness no one could better assume "you have selected your very prettiest dress; yet Lord Rhysworth will not be with us."

But Dolores was on her guard and made no answer.

She was more silent than usual, all the way to Beaulieu. Lola laughed, talked, told her some absurd anecdotes of the Parisian visitors; but on the sweet face of Dolores there was a look of anxious thought. What would the evening bring for her.

Dolores had vowed to herself that she would not be shy, cold, or proud to Sir Karl, that she would give him every opportunity of speaking to her, and that she would be as amiable as possible to him. Yet, when the first sound of his voice came to her, she grew faint and sick at heart; she seemed to realize all at once the great stake she was to win or lose that night.

He did not come straight to her. Lola had gone forward to meet him, and kept him for some minutes in close conversation about the French guests.

"You must talk to Madame Glenlise," she said. "She was a favorite with the Empress, and knows more about the French Court than anyone else. She is a devoted Imperialist," continued Lola. "She would give her last shilling for the cause. When you have heard her speak of the Empress, you will be compelled to love her."

"Be explicit, Miss de Ferras. Love whom? Madame Glenlise or the Empress?"

"The Empress, of course! You know that. I love the Empress too. Her life always reminds me of a tragic poem. I think she is the most beautiful, the most charming woman who ever graced a throne; and if you wish to please me"—she paused and looked at him archly—"that is, if you really wish to please me—"

"Can you doubt it?" he said, with laughing gallantry.

"I do not want to doubt; I wish to believe it," she answered. "So, if you desire to please me, you will talk to Madame Glenlise and learn to love the Empress, Sir Karl."

"Have you any other commands?" he asked, with a low bow.

"I will tell you as the evening goes on," she replied: and her dark eyes seemed to flash light into his.

He said to himself that to look at the fair, angelic beauty of Dolores, after a flash from those dark eyes, was like changing the sultry beams of a hot, noonday sun for clear, calm moonlight. Unfortunately he put his thoughts into words.

"How beautiful Miss Clieden looks to-night! What a poetical face she has!" he said.

The remark gave Lola the very opening she wanted.

"Yes; she looks more like a white rose than ever. But, do you know, Sir Karl, I have more than a suspicion that the white rose is won already?"

Was it the changing light of the chandelier, or did his face really grow pale as she spoke? She could not tell.

"Yes," she continued, "the wars of the roses—so far as Dolores and I are concerned—are, I believe, ended."

"You speak in riddles, Miss de Ferras," he said, "and I detest riddles. What do you mean? There was some little emotion in his voice.

"You must promise me not to tell," she replied. "I have perhaps no right to speak, and, mind, Miss Clieden herself has not told me; but I know—I am sure—I—"

"You know that I shall respect your confidence," he said. "Why should I not?"

"I believe," she went on, "and I have every reason for my belief, that there is some understanding or promise between Lord Rhysworth and Dolores Clieden."

"Lord Rhysworth!" he cried in horror. "Why he is old enough to be her father!"

"'Better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave,'" she quoted.

But he did not heed her. He was muttering something under his moustache—words of anger and annoyance, which pierced her to the heart. Why should he care? What could it possibly matter to him?

"I wish you would speak a little more plainly," he said, impatiently. "Do you mean that they are engaged?"

"I must not say so in so many words," she replied; "but I believe such to be the case."

Sir Karl felt he had lost the only treasure life held for him, for a sudden conviction had come to him that he loved Dolores Clieden as he should never love any one else in the world.

I could not rise to my feet without fainting.

"I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. "It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not rise to my feet at all without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better, had better appetite and slept better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, April 29th, 9.45, a. m. — The way market is rallying so sharply immediately after announcement decision on franchise tax law plainly shows that it had been generally anticipated and discounted and when shorts tried to cover found little stock for sale. Bulls were quick to take advantage of this and made a turn. The market closed stronger. When it was figured out that there was no profit in gold shipment and that it was a special transaction it lost all significance as a market factor. It is not expected more gold will go unless foreign exchange should advance sharply which is unlikely considering easy money here. We look for steady market to-day with possible a rally in which event we would secure profits.

M. & M.

Strike threatened on subway and among harbour engineers. Talk of appeal of franchise tax decision to U.S. supreme court. E. H. Harriman says policy of betterments will be continued on S.P. Understood that Manh. and B.R.T. have made provision for franchise tax. U.P. and P.A. in demand in loan crowd. London closed Friday. Banks gained 967,000. Further gold shipments not expected. C.P.R. net ingrease for March 205,849. Annual meeting A.C.P. June 1st. S. R. net increase March 143,000.

Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co., Stock Brokers, Toronto, write as follows:—

New York, April 28.—In the absence of supporting orders to-day's prices declined quite steadily, losses ranging from one half to two points. Present dullness and sagging tendency of the market is anything but encouraging. Room element takes advantage of the absence of market leaders to hammer it at every opportunity. Present market is one similar to that of a year ago when the upward movement started in May and continued till away in September and it would not be surprising to see history repeat itself. The stock market has been declining steadily for weeks and at the present the bears are getting too large a following, consequently when the time becomes ripe a sharp upturn will ensue, with the natural result that customers will be buying stocks four and five points higher than present levels. Think it advisable to purchase a moderate line of stocks on every slight break. It may take some little time for the market to get out of its rut, but when it does it will move quite rapidly. Stocks are now lodged in hands fully able to take care of them in any crisis. Public continues pessimistic, which is generally the case when the market is about to turn. Money will soon become a glut on the market and sure to find its way into good dividend paying stocks. Engagement of 2 1-2 million in gold to go out by to-morrow's steamer had very little effect on the market.

Chicago.—Looks as if Armour was marketing some of his May wheat, although price holds firm; look for somewhat further reaction unless war news or something that is not at present in sight. Corn would take on a little if get a moderate break. Closing prices—Wheat, May, 77; corn, May, 44 1-8; oats, May, 33 3-8; pork, May, 17.60; lard, May, 9.20.

MARKET NOTES.

The Amalgamated Copper Co. is contemplating erecting a $1,000,000 smelting plant at Valdes, Alaska.

It is believed that the Delaware & Hudson will buy in the New York & Ottawa railroad at foreclosure sale May 15.

The Times says that because of the high German tariff many American manufacturers are considering the advisability of erecting factories in Germany.

It is stated that the receiver of the Detroit & Toledo Shore Line Company will be discharged on May first and the property turned over to the Grand Trunk Company for operation.

The Commercial revives the story that E. H. Harriman has planned the building of a line from Wyoming to Steamboat Springs to head off Denver, Northwestern & Pacific.

American Linseed will close all its smaller plants in Wisconsin and Minnesota, and abandon its refinery at Racine, owing to the high cost of labour and the steady increase in the price of raw material.

Vice-President Cox, of the Big Four road, says that if the recommendation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, condemning existing grain rates, are followed, it will bankrupt all the roads in the United States.

LATEST IN SPORTING CIRCLES

WRESTLING.

Simon and Edmunds are both in town and ready for to-night's wrestling match at the opera house. Both men are in good shape and are confident of winning. Edmunds says he is like the man from Missouri, "you have got to show him" how Simon can get three falls on him in the hour? Simon claims to be the man to do the trick so a great bout is sure to take place. They will wrestle winner take all, and Simon weighs 154 while Edmunds tips the beam at 125 pounds.

Collins arrived last night and Barry came in this morning. Both look to be in fine shape, for their 15 round "go," and some fast boxing will certainly be seen. The boxing bout will be put on first and will start at 8.30.

PROCEEDINGS AT THE SPRING ASSIZES

Before Honourable Mr. Justice Street.

Case of Christie vs. Christie was Settled —Jory vs. Wilson now on.

The spring assizes of the High Court of Justice, of the County of Peterborough, opened this afternoon at one o'clock before the Honourable Mr. Justice Street. The following members of the bar were present: Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun, F. D. Kerr, L. F. Clarry, Hastings, R. E. Wood, J. Green, D. O'Connell, R. McKay, Toronto, O. A. Langley, Lakefield, and E. A. DuVernet, Toronto.

The Grand Jury, whose names were published in last night's issue of the Examiner, having been sworn, were addressed by the Honourable, Mr. Justice Street, who after speaking of the pleasure it gave him to do so, referred to the fact that the strength of the Bench has been greatly reduced, owing to the death of the Honourable Mr. Justice Lount, and the retirement of Judge Robertson, and also because some of the members of the Bench have been called to preside on a case which necessitates immediate hearing. It was thus only natural that the remaining judges had been somewhat pressed. Referring to the functions of a Grand Jury, His Lordship said that their first duty was, he believed, to inspect the gaol. In particular he asked them to ascertain what prisoners there are in the gaol at the present time, and for what reasons they were there; also if there were any lunatics confined therein. Lunatics should not be lodged in the common gaol, which was for criminals only, but should be lodged in a proper house where they can receive the needful attention.

In conclusion he stated that the sheriff had informed him that there were no criminal cases coming up, all being purely of a civil nature.

It was announced that a settlement had been arrived at in the case of Christie vs. Christie. This was an action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Christie of Asphodel, against their son, William Christie, jr., to set aside the conveyance of certain lands made by the plaintiffs to defendant. It is understood that a settlement satisfactory to all parties was reached.

D. O'Connell for plaintiffs; L. F. Clarry, Hastings, for the defendant.

The first case was that of Jory vs. Wilson. This is a case in which the plaintiff, Thomas Edward Jory, a farmer residing in the west half of lot No. 21, in the 5th concession of Douro, seeks to recover unstated damages from John Wilson, a farmer residing in the west half of lot No. 20 in the 5th concession of said township for the alienation of his wife's affections. He asked the court to grant him damages for the debauchment of his wife and the alienation of her affections, and for the loss of her society and assistance $4,500; damages for the trespass of the defendant upon the premises of the plaintiff, $200; an injunction restraining the defendant from further entering upon and trespassing upon the plaintiff's said premises; damages for assault $200; and such further other relief as the nature of the case may require.

The defendant in his statement of defence denies the allegations contained in the statement of claim and puts defendant to the proof there of.

O. A. Langley, of Lakefield, for the plaintiff, and R. R. Hall for the defendant.

HEART DISEASE.

A Trouble Much More Common Than is Generally Supposed.

A healthy person does not feel the heart at all. If the heart makes itself felt it is a sure sign of some one of the many phases of heart trouble. Some of the symptoms of heart trouble are shortness of breath, trembling of the hands, violent throbbing or fluttering of the heart, sharp spasms of pain, oppression on the chest, dizziness and clammy sweating, irregular pulse, and the alarming palpitation that is often felt most in the head or at the wrists. Of course people suffering from heart trouble haven't all these symptoms, but if you have any of them it is a sign of heart trouble and should not be neglected for a moment.

Most of the troubles affecting the heart are caused by anaemia, indigestion or nervousness, and when any of these causes lie at the root of the trouble it can be surely cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You mustn't trifle with common medicines, and above all you shouldn't further weaken your heart by using purgatives. You must cure your heart disease through the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can easily see why this is the only way to save yourself. The heart drives your blood to all parts of the body. Every drop of your blood flows through your heart. If your blood is thin or impure your heart is bound to be weak and diseased, if your blood is pure, rich and healthy, it will naturally make your heart sound and strong. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich, red blood. And that now, rich, red blood strengthens your stomach, stimulates your liver, soothes your nerves and drives out of your system all the disorders that helped to disturb your heart. This has been proved in thousands of cases. Here is a case in point. Mr. Adelard Lavoie, St. Pacome, Que., says: "For nearly three years I was greatly troubled with a weak heart, and in constant fear that my end would come at any time; the least exertion would overcome me; my heart would palpitate violently and I would sometimes have a feeling of suffocation. I was under the care of a doctor, but did not get relief, and eventually my condition became so bad that I had to discontinue work. While at my worst a neighbour advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I did so, and they simply worked wonders in my case. I used only half a dozen boxes when I was able to return to my work, strong and healthy, and I have not since had any sign of the old trouble."

We would again impress upon those who are ailing that they must get the genuine pills with the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AUTOMOBILE ADDED TO BICYCLE LIVERY.

Mr. F. J. R. McPherson, the well-known bicycle dealer, has added an automobile to his "stud." He purchased it in Toronto, and yesterday drove it from that city to Peterborough. It is a "Winton" machine, of American make. It is propelled by a gasoline moter of eight horse power. This motor is claimed to be the only one built on this continent which stood any chance with French motors at the Paris automobile exposition.

"Mac." has the honour of introducing the first automobile in Peterborough. It will be used in connection with his bicycle livery, and will no doubt be largely patronized by those who desire the maximum of motion with the minimum of exertion.

Mr. Stratton's Movements on the Day of the Alleged Bribe.

WHAT HE WAS DOING THEN.

Apology of The Mail and Empire for Contempt of Court.

THE COURT'S JURISDICTION.

Evidence of Road Inspector of Manitoulin—Gamey Told Him in August Last That He Would Support the Ross Government—How the Angry Conservatives Were to Be Appeased.

Toronto, April 30.—The Mail and Empire case occupied the attention of the Gamey Royal Commission at the opening of the court yesterday morning. On behalf of the newspaper, Mr. J. B. Clarke, K.C., submitted an affidavit by the general manager, Mr. W. J. Douglas, who stated that some time ago he held a conference with the various heads of departments, and had impressed on them that absolute fairness was to be the policy of The Mail and Empire, and that every man was to be regarded as innocent until proven guilty.

Continuing, the affidavit introduced a tu quoque argument, and brought to the attention of the court extracts from The Globe, The Star, The Chatham Daily News, The London Advertiser, and The Toronto Telegram, of various dates showing that much latitude had been exercised in this case by the press, and that therefore it was quite possible that less care had been exercised than in an ordinary trial.

Matter Would End If—

The Chancellor said that they could not try the whole press of this country. If Mr. Douglas was willing to admit that the item was unproperly published, and express regret at the use of the phrase, "the cheque was cashed two days before Gamey was bribed," which was clearly a prejudgment, with an undertaking that the offence would not be repeated, the matter could end there.

Mr. Clarke, K.C., said that course was unquestionably the correct one; nevertheless, in justice to his clients, he desired to point out that the item was already in evidence in part at least. The Chancellor would not entertain this argument; stating that the matter was only disclosed in evidence because of the intervention of the reporter.

Mail and Empire Apologizes.

Mr. Clarke—As I have already stated, my clients have no desire to justify the publication of this matter and they have expressed their regret and now regret the matter as having been published.

The Chancellor—Do we understand that they regret that these two things were published, as to premature disclosure of evidence and as to Gamey being bribed?

Mr. Clarke—Yes, my Lord.

The Chancellor—That will do. The court will take that as sufficient acknowledgment without putting it in writing.

Powers of the Court.

The Chancellor and Chief Justice Falconbridge then desired to clear up all misapprehension as to their jurisdiction in the matter. A clause of the Commission was read, which bestowed on them all the powers, rights, and privileges of a judge of the High Court of Justice in all matters relating thereto. The Chancellor pointed out that the case was precisely similar to that which had arisen with regard to the newspaper United Ireland during the sitting of the Parnell Commission. In that case, the plea of latitude was also raised, and the tu quoque argument also with special reference to The London Times. There the rule was laid down that the limit must be drawn between discussion of the political phases of the case and deliberate interference in the matter of evidence. He hoped that hereafter they would be allowed to pursue their investigations unimpeded by these collateral issues.

Returns Not Withheld.

W. R. Abrey, registrar at Gore Bay, and returning officer in the Manitoulin election of May 29, 1902, was the first witness called yesterday morning. This was the election at which Mr. Gamey was returned as member. They had no railway communication on the Island.

Mr. Johnston—Q.—It is alleged in his statement that the returns by the returning officer were held back and not declared until June 17th; and he says "This, I believe, was done to give the Government a chance to protest my election, after they saw how the rest of the protests stood." Is that correct? A.—June 17th is the date the returns were made.

Q.—Is that statement of Mr. Gamey's correct? A.—Not that the returns were withheld. It is a big district, with outlying places that are hard to get at. Owing to non-connection with mail boats he had to make a personal trip on his bicycle, which broke down.

To Mr. Ritchie he said he would not swear he could not get all the ballot boxes in five or six days, but he did not think he could. He gave 14 days, and didn't think it very much time.

Road Inspector Testifies.

John E. Boyd, inspector of colonization roads, attached to Mr. Latchford's department of Public Works, swore his work took him over Algoma, Manitoulin and Sault Ste. Marie. He had been in the Government's employ since the spring of 1898. Applications for road grants were much larger than were given for such purposes. Since 1898 the grants in the District of Manitoulin had been: 1898—$4,607.81; 1899—$3,586.83; 1900—$2,685.20; 1901—$2,547.42; 1902—$1,921.36. He had seen the statement of Mr. Gamey which applied for $5,000 or over for 1902, and some of these he had recommended but not all of it. Usually those he recommended were granted but not always. The final authority lay in the Minister. August 16, 1902, he was at Mr. Gamey's house for dinner, and the latter spoke of his attitude towards the Ross Administration.

Gamey Would Support Ross.

Mr. Johnston—Q.—What did he say about that? A.—He told me that he had made up his mind to support the Ross Government.

Q.—Did he give any reason? A.—Yes. He said his reason for doing that was that he believed their policy was the correct and beneficial policy to that northern country, and, furthermore, that he didn't think that by pursuing an opposition course to the Government he could accomplish any good either to the Conservative interests as against the Government, and he would only prejudice himself and the interests of his district by pursuing an opposition course.

Mr. Beatty's Conduct.

Mr. Gamey also expressed the belief that the Ross Government would stay in power for the next four years. Gamey further said his party had disappointed him in financial matters, and also with regard to the protest. He was quite surprised that Gamey intended to support the Ross Government, and asked how he could reconcile that position with the Conservatives. Gamey replied that as far as the Conservatives were concerned, he had to consult only four men, Messrs. Irving, Turner, Dr. Johnston and another. Gamey said he could satisfy Mr. Turner by getting a subsidy for his telephone line. In the conversation Gamey said that Mr. Beatty (elected as a Conservative but became an Independent after election) had supported the Government for the benefit of the island, and said that Mr. Ross understood the needs of that northern country better than Mr. Whitney. He did not go to Gamey's house for this conversation, but happened to be passing, and Mr. Gamey, who stood at his gate, invited him in.

Dictated by Personal Interest.

He identified his correspondence and Mr. Gamey's letter to him of 24th Dec., 1902, and the list of road grants asked on the same day. Witness wrote a letter on Jan. 8 to the Minister which enclosed Gamey's list of road grants. On looking over the list some of the applications were not considered by him as necessary as some others in less sparsely settled districts, and he so advised the Minister and also wrote to the latter that he thought some of them were dictated more by personal than public interest by Mr. Gamey. He was good friends with Gamey then, and so far as he was concerned the same yet. His rule for recommendation was to favor grants to districts where there is not sufficient settlement or statute labor to keep up the roads.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie:

Mr. Boyd said he had succeeded his father. The grants of 1898 and 1899 contained large expenditures for a bridge, respectively $2,850 and $1,892, and the grant he gave for

IMPRESSIVE SERVICES HELD ON TUESDAY

At Celebration of St. Michael's Jubilee.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor Preached a Sermon A Dinner.

The celebrations in connection with the golden jubilee of St. Michael's College, began in Toronto, Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, with a celebration of the Pontifical High Mass in St. Basil's church, by the Apostolic Delegate.

It was a very impressive service. Father Murphy, robed in white, came first, carrying the Processional Cross, and attended on either side by an acolyte bearing a lighted candle. The Bishops and Archbishops followed, garbed in their purple robes. Behind were the deacons of the hour, and then, preceded by his Archiepiscopal Cross, his crozier and his mitre, walked Mgr. Sbarretti. The dignitaries in the procession passed into the sanctuary of the edifice. They were, besides the Papal Delegate, bishop O'Connor, Archbishop Gauthier, Archbishop Duhamel, Bishop McEvay, Bishop O'Connor, Bishop Dowling, Bishop McDonald, Bishop Mgr. Heenan, Vicar-General McCann, Vicar-General Conroy, Ogdensburg, and Dean Egan.

Three of the foregoing Bishops are well known in Peterborough, and are now or formerly connected with St. Peter's Diocese.

Bishop O'Connor of Peterborough, preached from the text, Psalm cxviii, 66, "Teach me in goodness, discipline and knowledge." His Reverance said the present occasion was of great importance, and would mark the beginning of a new era for Catholic education in Ontario. The Bishop referred to Catholic higher education. It meant, he said, the instruction of the children of those within the fold of the church, not only in secular matters, but religious as well. He deplored the fact that Catholic young men sometimes attend non-Catholic universities, which had the effect of undermining their faith. It would be best, he thought, for all Catholic young men to go to Catholic universities. The Catholic universities wanted to compete with the Protestant colleges so that the men they turn out will receive equal recognition. The Roman Catholic Colleges are they considered, superior as far as religious and moral training was concerned, but unfortunately, not their equal by far in a financial way.

—The Hunter street drains, opposite the Colonial Typewriter Company's buildings, are being renewed.

—In his budget speech Premier Ross announced that for the first time the province was called upon to pay a beet sugar bounty. The four factories at Berlin, Dresden, Wallaceburg and Wiarton had manufactured 14,999,517 pounds, on which the bounty at one-half cent a pound, was $74,997.

OUR FINANCIAL ADMINISTRATION.

Some Interesting Facts Concerning Provincial Rule.

Assistance to Colleges and Universities —Department of Agriculture.

(The News.)

The chief point about the Ontario budget is the steady and inevitable growth of the Provincial expenditure. The Province spent last year $4,345,000, and the estimates call for $4,537,000, and increase not very far short of $200,000. The expenditure for very many years has remained in the neighbourhood of four millions, rising or falling according to the progress of the various considerable enterprises which the Government has from time to time undertaken. The time for somewhat larger expenditures seems to have come. Mr. Ross observed that the expansion of the Province entails these increases. There is justice in the remark, and we must continue to make large expenditures for the development of the newer sections.

Of the four and a half millions to be spent in 1903, one-fifth, or $922,000, will be spent on education, another fifth, $920,000, on the maintenance of public institutions, and yet another fifth, $930,000, under the three general heads of civil government, legislation and the administration of justice—or, in other words, on the civil service, the expenses of the Legislature and the maintenance of the legal system. Of the remaining two-fifths of the revenue, or, say, a million and three-quarters, over a quarter, $463,000, is for public buildings. Three other large items are the expenditure on agriculture, $282,000, the charges on Crown lands, $258,000, and the philanthropic grant of $225,000 for hospitals and charities. The remaining half million or so goes in a variety of channels, the most important being $145,000 for colonization roads.

Applying a more general classification, we find that about one-third of the expenditure is for the purpose of maintaining the machinery of Government, administration and law, that the care of the helpless and criminal classes absorbs a quarter, and that one-fifth goes for education. The remaining portion, between a fourth and a fifth, is spent mainly on purposes designed to aid in the material development of the Province. The best example of this is the outlay on agriculture.

In which of these lines have there been increases? Mr. Ross makes the claim that the increases on the whole are due to the expansion of the country. The demands for education, for example, show heavy increases. In part this is due to the entirely commendable decision of the Government to aid Toronto University, both as to revenue and as to equipment. In part, it is due to sheer increases in the primary and secondary schools—three new high schools and numerous additional public schools mean more money. In part, it is due to a widening of the scope of the educational scheme, as shown in the encouragement of technical schools, the helping of libraries, and the fostering of cadet corps.

Another department in which an increase appears is that of agriculture. That Department has been admirably administerted, and the additional expenditure not only is in the line of expansion, but promises excellent results. Another expenditure will be caused by the long-pending erection of a Provincial institution in Woodstock. Simultaneously with a rearrangement of the institutions for the care of youthful criminals and incorrigibles will proceed the establishment of a new and apparently necessary asylum for epileptics. This seems a justifiable step to take.

The other important increase is in the sums to be spent in opening up New Ontario. Upon this it is not easy to pronounce. It is perfectly certain that these sums are often administered for party purposes, and form a powerful engine in political warfare. On the other hand it is equally certain that these expenditures are of benefit to important districts and are a boon to settlers with whom we must feel much sympathy. In places where the process of settlement is brisk, such as in the Temiskaming District, colonization roads are an absolute necessity. Mr. Ross ingeniously argues that the roads may be laid out to help miners —a rather dubious proposition upon which much may be said. On the whole it will probably be necessary to resign ourselves to a good deal of partizan administration, for we must have the roads.

What is the revenue to meet this heavy expenditure? The estimated receipts are $4,400,000, so that a shortage of $134,000 is to be expected, just as there was in 1902, a similar shortage of $53,000. Owing to the excellent financial position of the province, deficits do not prove as serious events as would be the case in most countries. The large cash balance to the credit of the Treasurer will be diminished to the extent of the shortage, but as over a million and a quarter will be left at the end of 1903 the result will not be serious. The Provincial Government in this respect enjoys a remarkable degree of financial elbow room. Two great items form the backbone of the income of the Province of Ontario. Nearly a million and a half will come as subsidy from the Dominion Government and from interest on various sums owned by the province. A million and a half will be derived from the Crown Lands Department. The remainder of the revenue, about $1,500,000, is expected to come from various sources. A quarter of it, $375,000, will be from liquor licenses. The succession duties and th ecorporation tax, are expected to realise $545,000.

Speaking generally, the financial administration of Ontario has been prudent. Certain evils are ingrained in political methods in this country, and they seem to be growing worse instead of better. The taint of political favouritism infects nearly every expenditure. Undoubtedly a percentage of effectiveness is lost by the habit of looking to the political services of appointees rather than to their fitness. These things characterise most governments on this continent, and must be fought. Making allowance for them, the general lines of the management of the finances of Ontario have been sound, and very fair value has been obtained for the outlay.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Happenings of Interest at Lakefield.

Miss Kennealey has returned to Hastings after a visit to her parents in the village.

Captain W. V. Reynolds has sold the steamer Empress to Mr. Boyd, of the Trent Valley Navigation Company, of Bobcaygeon. The Empress will be a valuable addition to the company's boats, and will ply between Lakefield and Burleigh as formerly.

Mr. W. A. Evans, principal of the public school here, has resigned his position, and accepted a position in Barrie. Mr. Evans leaves for his his new home about May 15th. With Mr. Evans' departure Lakefield will lose a very able teacher and a most highly esteemed citizen.

A very pleasant event took place at of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton of Douro, on Wednesday evening, April 15th, it being the occasion of the marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Ethel, to Mr. Wellington Garbutt, also of Douro. A large number of guests were present. The bride was the recipient of many costly and handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Garbutt have taken up their residence in Douro.

Messrs. Thompson and Mann, the proprietors of the Mount Julian Hotel, were in the village on Saturday.

Mr. Charles Blomfield has resigned his position in the Ontario Bank, Peterborough, and has gone to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, where he will be engaged with a Dominion Survey Party, under the direction of Mr. H. B. Proudfoot. Charles left on Thursday for the west and will join the survey party in Winnipeg.

Miss Katie Blomfield, who has been visiting at home for a couple of weeks, has returned to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Tate, are visiting in Toronto this week.

Mr. Leo Quinn, who had the misfortune a couple of weeks ago to have his right hand badly crushed, is making rapid progress to recovery. The mutilated member is nearly well.

Mr. J. H. Sherin is in Toronto visiting with her parents. During Mrs. Sherin's absence Mr. Sherin is boarding at the Craig House.

Great preparations are being made for the Roman Catholic picnic on May 25th, and a better time than ever is expected this year.

Miss Aggie Patterson, of Peterborough, is visiting in Peterborough for a few days as the guest of Miss M. Webster.

Miss Sadie Rutherford of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. R. Graham, on Sunday and Monday.

Miss Halpin of Peterborough, who was the guest of Mrs. Kennealey, for a week, has returned to her home in Peterborough.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining eleven pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

FROM OUR LOCAL GOLD REGION.

The Village has Early Closing—The Football Team.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Cordova, April 28.

Last Tuesday night's meeting concluded Evangelist McHardy's series of revival services at the Methodist church here.

Mr. D. Morrison, representing Rice, Lewis & Son, Toronto, and Mr. J. M. Britton, of the Fairbanks Co., of Montreal, were visitors in town last week.

Messrs. E. B. Clarke and Geo. D. Hardy, were delegates from the Cordova Football Club, to the meeting of the Midland League last Saturday. Cordova was grouped with Warsaw, Norwood and Havelock, and plays home and home games as follows: May 22, with Havelock; June 3, with Warsaw, and June 19, with Norwood.

Mr. D. G. Kerr, manager of the Belmont Gold Mine, spent last Saturday to Monday with friends in Belleville.

The death occurred on Saturday of the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Spry. The funeral service was held on Monday at 10 a.m., in the Methodist church, and was conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. H. Howard. The friends of Mrs. Spry will regret to hear that she is very ill and not yet out of danger.

Miss S. Preston, sister of Mr. Porter Preston, is indisposed and confined to bed at her residence, "The Evergreens."

Miss M. Weir of Lakehurst, has returned to her home after a lengthy visit to her sister.

The dry weather of the past few days has had the usual effect on the streets of Cordova, and dust is now the most prominent feature of the landscape. The slightest breeze will stir up dense clouds of dust, and the unlucky pedestrian who happens to be abroad chokes and splutters until his or her destination is reached.

Miss Adams of West Huntingdon, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Thos. McMcLaughlin.

Rev. T. W. Goodwill was in Norwood on Tuesday, and participated in the induction of Rev. Mr. McLellan into the charge of of the Presbyterian church of that town.

Early closing of stores has become an accomplished fact in Cordova. The merchants have agreed to close at 6.30 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

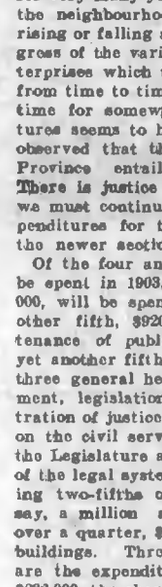
A WORD OF CAUTION.



Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are prepared from the prescription of Dr. Zina Pitcher (formerly Professor of Materia Medica and Genito-Urinary Diseases, Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.), which he used with wonderful success for over twelve years in private practice in the Western Hospital, Detroit.

They contain specific ingredients not found in any other kidney remedy, and it is not surprising, therefore, that they make cures in very many cases where other remedies had proved altogether ineffectual.

We would caution you in purchasing the Tablets to see that the accompanying cut, printed in green ink, and Dr. Pitcher's portrait and signature, are printed on the package. Refuse substitutes and imitations, as these are sure to disappoint.

The price of the Tablets is 50c. a box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail by addressing the Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

Price only $1,000, on reasonable terms.

T. HURLEY, Owner. Office at Residence, 283 Hunter Street.

ON THE 10TH SEPT.

1898 was after he took office in August to which he was appointed in July. He could not say the amount granted for the first half of 1898, but the $4,607.81 was granted after July in that year. All these moneys were expended on the Island.

Gamey's List.

Witness said that he received a list of grants from Mr. Gamey on 24th Dec., 1902, that he wished to have put through the present session. The estimates for the year were not prepared yet, but these were in the list under consideration. Of the list sent in by Mr. Gamey to the Minister he could not speak, and he did not hear that the total asked by Mr. Gamey was close on $6,000.

Witness said that when he left Providence Bay on the morning of August 16, he intended to go to Silver Water, and afterward changed his mind and took the road to Gore Bay. In answer to a question if Gamey's was not two or three miles out of the direct road, said, "Well, it may be on the direct road." He denied that he drove into the yard and tied up his horse, and declared that Gamey was at the gate, and asked him in.

Q.—Do you swear that you had not intended to stop at Gamey's house, to call there? A.—I do.

Q.—You pledge your oath to that? A.—I did not know he was there.

Q.—Did you report to any one the conversation that you had with Mr. Gamey on the 16th of August? A.—I did not.

Q.—When did you first divulge the conversation? A.—I think, perhaps, it was after this excitement on the floor of the House—after Mr. Gamey made his statement.

Disclosed to Mr. Brodie.

Q.—To whom did you disclose it? A.—Mr. Brodie for one, I can recollect I mentioned to; he was the Reform candidate in Algoma.

Q.—Did you report it to any of the Ministers? A.—No, I did not.

Q.—Neither directly nor indirectly? A.—No.

Q.—How long after the statement was made in the House was it that you disclosed the matter to Mr. Brodie? A.—It wasn't a month.

Q.—Do you know how my learned friend got the information as to this conversation? A.—Yes; I presume I gave it to him myself.

Q.—Do you know how he was aware you had such a conversation? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Did you write to anybody about it? A.—I did not.

Q.—Had you on this day, the 16th, any road to examine near Mr. Gamey's place? A.—No.

Q.—If you were going from Carnarvon road to Silver Water road you would have gone several miles out of the way in order to call at Mr. Gamey's place—four or five miles? A.—Not that far.

Q.—How far? A.—Possibly two miles.

Mr. Gamey—It was five miles exactly.

Mr. Ritchie—Q.—Are you sure it would not be more than two miles out of your way? A.—To be correct and definite two miles and a half.

Q.—So that of course if you had to go two and one-half miles to get there it would be two and one-half miles to get back to the road? A.—Yes.

Q.—So that you would be driving five miles out of your way altogether? A.—I explained to you I was not going to Gamey's at all; I was going to Gore Bay.

People to Pay For All.

Witness said he may have discussed the conversation of the 16th August privately with his brother, and at that time he thought the Government's majority was three or four. He was aware that Mr. Gamey was elected a Conservative and had denounced the Government. To satisfy the Conservatives for his change, Mr. Gamey said he would get a Government subsidy for the telephone line for Mr. Turner, the position of jail surgeon for Dr. Johnston, and another position for Mr. Irving.

He was a Reformer, and could not swear that he had never canvassed for the Liberal candidate. On the 7th July he got a raise of salary, but could not say without his book that it was as much as $500. He knew the Government's majority was small, and that it would be quite natural that they should want to increase it. While surprised that Gamey was going to support the Government he didn't think it was any of his business to communicate the fact to the Premier. So far as he knew Mr. Gamey had not then informed the Ministers of his change in their favor.

Witness had heard, but not from any official source that Gamey had the patronage of the Riding but doubted it, but later on he admitted that he had got two letters on the 24th, in the second one of which Gamey said: "You will find the department understands what I am going to ask, and I wish you to do your best to push the thing through." That was the first notice I had in any definite way. The letters were marked "Private," but he sent them both to Mr. Latchford, from whom he got no reply.

Gamey Not Confident.

In January he received several letters from Mr. Gamey about roads and road grants, but he thought that Mr. Gamey was not himself confident that he had the patronage.

The exhibits also include Boyd's letter to the Department, saying that the Government was running the risk of demoralizing the party by giving Gamey the patronage, since he was favoring the sections which had supported him last May.

He did not want Mr. Gamey to have the patronage, because he did not think he would make a proper use of it, and wrote to the Minister in January that if certain grants recommended by Gamey were made the party would be demoralized. He also wrote that Gamey should not get certain grants and appointments unless decided advantage should accrue to the party.

Mr. Ritchie.—Q.—What you would consider a sufficiently decided advantage to justify the Government in giving Gamey the patronage?

Mr. Riddell—Are we concerned in that?

The Witness—That is for the Minister to decide himself, what he would consider an advantage.

Mr. Ritchie.—Q.—Now, what greater advantage could, in your opinion at that time, accrue to the Government than the support of Mr. Gamey as a member? A.—That was a decided advantage to have Mr. Gamey's support.

Gamey Overestimated.

Mr. Ritchie read further from the correspondence, showing that Boyd had written to the Hon. F. R. Latchford, that "you can discern from it (Gamey's letter) that we have talked the subject together, but I have only his statement for what he alleges," and "possibly I know this man more thoroughly than his political friends." Boyd swore that he meant Gamey's Conservative friends. In the same letter he says Gamey is "considerable overestimated, is extremely zealous, and ambitious for power and patronage." That is the first intimation I gave Mr. Latchford that we had been talking together. He did not believe Mr. Gamey at the time. He never got a communication from any Minister stating that Mr. Gamey was to have the patronage.

Boyd also said he had tried to get Mr. McMillan, the Socialist candidate, out of the field last May, but this was not suggested, he said, by any Minister; he did it of his own accord. He knew that McMillan had no possible chance of winning; it was subjecting him to ridicule. He never saw Gamey from the 16th August until the 23rd or 24th of March.

Whitney's Precarious Position.

To Mr. Johnston he explained that last spring he had asked the Minister for an allowance made for his traveling expenses, and that was the raise in salary on July 7. He had a coast of 400 miles and he thought it unfair to have to pay these out of his salary. His only motive for asking Mr. McMillan to retire was personal friendship. Being asked about the "precarious condition" of the Government in August alluded to by Mr. Ritchie, he replied that he thought Mr. Whitney's condition was more precarious then.

At the Walker House.

T. M. Bayne, manager of the Walker House, testified that on September 1, Mr. Gamey registered late and was assigned room 113. Mr. S. J. Martin of Ottawa was in the same room. Mr. Gamey left on the 11th and Mr. Martin on the 9th. Mr. A. A. Bowen of Kemptville occupied the same room on September 6 and 7.

Mr. Stratton on Sept. 10

Joseph Donne, livery stable keeper, testified that a victoria was sent to the Parliament Buildings at 12.25 on Sept. 10 for Mr. Stratton; also that his books showed that the victoria went to Osgoode Hall and returned to the Buildings at 1.25 the same day. From 12.25 to 1.25 was the time the victoria was gone from the stable. On the same day there was an entry for Mr. Stratton from 3.35 to 6.35 at the Exhibition, and another from 7.30 to 12.00.

Ainsley Baird, sworn, was the next witness. Baird is a cab driver for Doane, and drove Hon. Mr. Stratton from the east door of the Parliament Buildings at 12.25 noon on September 10th to Osgoode Hall, returning to the building at 1.25. He had never driven Mr. Stratton to Osgoode Hall on any other occasion.

Arthur W. Crysdale, bookkeeper for Doane Bros., was the next witness. It is his duty to note the return of drivers to the barns. He swore that Mr. Stratton had ordered a carriage at 3.35 in the afternoon, that the driver got back at 6.35, and reported to have taken two to the Exhibition Grounds and back. He also stated that Mr. Stratton had had the service of the carriage from 7.30 that same evening until midnight. He was not certain what the service was on that occasion, but could produce a book which would show. His recollection was that Mr. Stratton was driven to the station and back to the Parliament Buildings, and from there to Elm avenue, in Rosedale.

The court adjourned for lunch at 12.55.

Afternoon Session.

Charles Winfield was sworn and said he didn't remember the date, but he was the man whose name was at page 188 of Doane Bros.' blotter. He went over to the east wing and got Mr. Stratton and his wife; I drove them to the Exhibition building, to the carriage department and from there to the Main building and waited for them, and brought them right back to the east wing in the Parliament buildings. As soon as we get in we report what time we get in, and he did that correctly. That was the 10th Sept. He had never driven Mr. Stratton and his wife at other times to the Exhibition last year.

Aubrey Timvrell, clerk at the Walker House, showed from the Walker House register that Mr. Gamey was registered there on Jan. 28, 1903, and that Dr. Struthers and his son were registered there the same day. J. Russell McGregor is also entered, and the next day Dr. Struthers and his son. From the ledger, it appeared that Mr. Gamey left on the 30th after breakfast. He roomed there about a quarter past seven in the morning. McGregor left on the 31st after dinner. To Mr. McPherson he said the entries were not in his handwriting and that he knew nothing of them himself beyond rooming them.

Samuel John Martin, Grenville, said that on the 1st September, 1902, he saw Mr. Gamey (whom he pointed out in court) on the C.P.R. coming west to Toronto, and that he was put into the same room with him at the Walker House that night. His roommate told him he was the Conservative member for Manitoulin.

Slept With Mr. Gamey.

Mr. Johnston—Q.—What did he say? A.—He said he was elected a Conservative member for the riding of Manitoulin, and that Mr. Whitney had a better class of candidates at that time than he would ever have again, and if he had not got the assurance that Whitney would carry the country he would not have been a candidate.

Q.—Tell us generally what the conversation was? A.—He said that if Whitney was not in power within six months he would not be in power at all, therefore he would have to support the Ross Government, as the Ross Government gave legislation to suit Manitoulin, with the exception of a few details of mining laws, which would be rectified if brought before any Government.

Q.—You slept together that night? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And you continued to sleep in the same room until what time? A.—I left Toronto on the night of the 9th.

Mr. Arthur Bowen, of Kemptville, occupied a cot in the same room on the 5th, he said.

Q.—Was the talk about his political position on more than one occasion? A.—He spoke of it several nights; there was no material difference in the conversations.

Q.—Did you see The Globe interview? A.—I did.

Q.—Did you notice anything in The Globe interview which called your attention? A.—I did.

Q.—What was it? A.—In a general way it was just the same conversation we had together in the room.

Cross-Examination.

To Mr. Macpherson he said he had always lived in Grenville and the east, and that his living was obtained by working for the Maccabees. He had taken a very active interest in his riding on the Liberal side, and in one other riding, the County of Dundas. He had applied for the position of license inspector for his county but did not get it. He had never got any remuneration

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

1847 TRADE MARK ROGERS BROS.

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

The Late Mrs. Hards.

The funeral service of the late Mrs. Jas. Hards, which took place on Tuesday last was a most impressive ceremony. Many of the deceased's friends, mostly young people were present. As the cortege passed along the street the hearts of all were, it is assured, full of compassionate sympathy for the bereaved young husband and the heart-broken broken parents. It will be remembered that the late Mrs. Hards had only been a bride for the short space of three weeks, and was only 20 years of age. Both these facts make the case most sad. Rev. J. G. Potter conducted the funeral service and was assisted by Rev. J. C. Speer, of Toronto, uncle of the deceased. The bearers were: Messrs. E. Payne, R. Elliott, A. Mitchell, J. Selby, C. Walker and W. A. Smith.

CUPID CAPTURES AN OCTOGENARIAN.

A Bridegroom of 86 and a Bride of Three Score and Six.

Nuptials of Rev. Washington Morse and Mrs. Emory.

Under ordinary circumstances, and at the most robust period of life, it requires a good deal of courage to face the matrimonial altar, but when one reaches the ripe old age of eighty-six years, it would seem at first sight, probable that courage would not be sufficient for the ordeal. However, a man who has passed through a long missionary service with the Indians, and has faced the scalping knife and the stake, might easily be equal to the ordeal of matrimony, even if he has lived sixteen years longer than the Royal Psalmist prescribes.

Yesterday Rev. Dr. Torrance, at the residence of the bride, Ashburnburnham, performed the ceremony that united for life Rev. Washington Morse, of Peterborough, and Mrs. Jane Emory, of Ashburnham.

The bridegroom is 86 years of age, and the bride a widow of 66 summers. Rev. Mr. Morse is what is called a "Seventh Day Adventist," and has had a life as reamrkable as his marriage. He was for forty years a missionary among the Indians. He has faced scores of the "Five Hundred Tribe," with their scalping knives and tomahawks threateningly displayed; and, totally unarmed, he defended himself without, as he claims, assistance from any powers of earth, only believing that it was the fulfilment of this duty. In his time he witnessed the massacre of a hundred white people by the Indians. Mr. Morse is happy to have lived to see two churches built upon the "Five Hundred Reservation," and many of the Indians have changed the "war whoop and the scalping knife, for the helment of salvation."

The many friends of the happy pair extend congratulations and best best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Adra M. Lurton, who will appear in Peterborough, May 1st, at the Y.M.C.A. concert, is the possessor of a beautiful soprano voice of great power and sweetness. She is a pupil of W. Francis Firth. 2d

The Grand Jury Made Its Presentment.

Judgment by Default in Jory vs. Wilson—Webb Gets Damages.

The Spring Assizes of the High Court of Justice for the County of Peterborough, resumed this morning before the Honourable Mr. Justice Osler, who is acting in the place of Mr. Justice Street, who is ill. When the Court opened this morning the Grand Jury made the following presentment :—

The Hon. Justice Osler, presiding at the sittings of the High Court of Justice, Peterborough, Ont., in the year 1903.

May it please your Lordship,— The Grand Jurors beg to present the following :—

1. It was with unqualified regret we learned a few days ago, of the untimely demise of Mr. Justice Lount, who on several occasions had presided in this court room, with such marked legal acumen and high sense of right.

2. We have inspected carefully the following institutions receiving provincial grants: The County Jail, Nicholl's Hospital, The Protestant Home, The Children's Shelter, St. Joseph's Hospital and the House of Providence.

In the Jail there are six inmates,—three vagrants, one idiot, one confined for non-support of family, and another for drunkenness. One of the vagrants is 73 years of age and another is somewhat weak in intellect. The Jail does not seem to be a fitting abode for such, nor for the poor idiot.

Good order and cleanliness apparently characterize the management.

We found both hospitals admirably arranged and equipped, and managed, it seemed to us, with intelligence and sympathy. Each hospital has between 30 and 40 patients. Both Superintendants and their assistants are decidedly of the opinion and we agree with them, that a separate hospital for infectious diseases only, should be erected at an early date in Peterborough, by the town and county. On an average nearly one-third of the patients in these hospitals are ill with infectious diseases,—this last six months scarlet fever and diphtheria particularly, —and at present —there is not adequate provision for necessary isolation. At Nicholl's Hospital such patients are isolated in tents where the ventilation is not good, and where it is both uncomfortable and dangerous for the nurses. For those who so bravely fight disease, proper provision should be made for their comfort and for the preservation of their health.

For the Children's Shelter, the Protestant Home and the House of Providence we have no words other than praise. The inmates in each, 3, 17, and 61 respectively, were, so far as we could judge, well provided for and happy.

All of which is respectively submitted.

(Signed) J. W. GARVIN,
Foreman.

JORY VS. WILSON.

The case of Jory vs. Wilson was concluded yesterday afternoon when judgment was entered, giving the plaintiff damages to the extent of $4,505.20. The 20 cents was the amount that was awarded as damages for assault. The defendant was not represented in Court, and therefore made no objection to the extent or nature of damages asked for by the plaintiff.

O. A. Langley, Lakefield, for the prosecution.

The next case taken up was that of Webb vs. Canadian General Electric Company. This case was tried at the last Assizes and the plaintiff was non-suited. A new trial was granted by the Divisional Court and to-day the plaintiff was given judgment for $700.

Mr. MacKay, Toronto, and John Green for plaintiff; E. A. DeVernet and R. M. Dennistoun for defendants.

The case of Webb vs. Langford is being tried this afternoon.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS MET THIS MORNING

Considered Applications for Shop Licenses—Those Granted.

The License Commissioners for the West Riding of the County of Peterborough, met this morning and granted the following shop licenses:

Ashburnham — J. C. Sullivan and W. Collins.

Peterborough — Fred Mitchell and Alex. Elliott.

The applications of Messrs. Ed. Brown and M. L. Henry were not granted for the year, but a permit was given them for three months. If by that time their liquor shops are made distinctly separate from their other places of business the licenses for the year will be granted.

Y. W. C. A.

A large gathering of Association members was present last evening to receive Miss Reynolds, the world's Y.W.C.A. Secretary.

After opening exercises led by the President, Mrs. Dr. Scott, Miss Reynolds was introduced and gave a very interesting address upon the work of the World's Y.W.C.A. Committee; Superintending and assisting in the formation of Nations' Committees in different countries, giving information and help in various ways to National Committees already existing, aiding those coming as strangers into London etc., and extending the work of the Y.W.C.A. into foreign lands; in response to the united requests of foreign missionaries in those lands, that Association workers be sent out to carry on work that they themselves could not undertake.

Miss Reynolds is thoroughly informed regarding Young Women's Work the world over, and related many interesting incidents relating to her visits to different countries.

Two World's Y.W.C.A. conferences have been held; one in 1898 in London, attended by 300 delegates representing 18 different countries; the second held in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1902 representing 19 different countries.

Miss Reynolds is a most interesting speaker and no one should miss hearing her this evening in St. Paul's church.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Mr. Ed. Curtin, of Town, and Miss Rose Molloy, of Emily.

On Tuesday last the wedding of Miss Rose Molloy, of Emily Township, and Mr. Edward Curtin, of town, was celebrated at the Roman Catholic church, Downeyville. Rev. Father Bretherton conducted the ceremony.

The bride who is a daughter of Mr. Patrick Molloy, was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes Molloy, while the groom was supported by Mr. William Shine. After the ceremony the happy young couple drove to the residence of the groom's mother, Mrs. A. Curtin, No. 521 Aylmer street, where an excellent wedding dejeuner had been prepared.

The two are well known and popular. The bride received many very handsome and costly presents. It is assured that the community extends it's congratulations to the newly wedded couple.

Abrupt Conclusion of Wrestling Match.

A 15 Round Boxing Bout—Ottawa man Awarded the Decision.

A wrestling match which it is to be deplored ended in rather an unsatisfactory manner took place in the local Opera House last night. It was between Dave Simon, whelterweight, of Montreal and Arthur Edmunds, featherweight, of Toronto, for a purse of $50, and ended in the favour of the latter. Edmunds' weight is only 125 lbs. It was a peculiar match, the big thickly set Montreal man, and the small, light Toronto featherweight.

Although Simon was able to lift his opponent off the ground and over his head, he could not, try as much as he would, succeed in getting his small opponent's shoulders on the mat for the required number of seconds.

After 20 minutes of hard wrestling Simon ceased wrestling and endeavoured to address the assemblage. Without any apparent desire to give the man a hearing the crowd shouted in vain for him to go on and finish his bout.

Simon, however, protested to the officials that his opponent's limbs were greased and he left the mat. The referee, Mick Collins, of Ottawa, gave the decision in favour of Edmunds, the featherweight. Simon left the Opera House under the tender mercies of the police, much to the disappointment of the spectators.

Previous to this a 15-round boxing bout, between Mick Collins, of Ottawa, and Peter Barry, of Toronto, for a purse of $50 was given. This match ended in favour of Collins.

Collins had much the advantage of his opponent both in height and weight. He was, in point of fact, 10 lbs. overweight.

Collins, erect, shoulders back and head up, was the picture of what a boxer should be. He was firm on his feet when on the defence, but as nimble on his toes as he was previously steady on his feet, when the aggressor. With a nasty and telling swing of the left arm, which at all times was very hard, if not almost impossible to watch, Collins, time after time landed blow after blow into his opponents face.

Peter Barry, on the other hand was the stronger, with his head down and slightly on one side, Barry succeeded in landing some grand hits in his companion's face. During the bout Barry slipped and fell twice while Collins fell once. There certainly was more dash in Collins' boxing, but when Barry, the Toronto man, succeeded in landing a blow, its effects were plainly visible. The bout, which was fought under the Marquis of Queensbury's rules, was refereed by Mr. Wm. Breene.

The house was not as full as was expected, but nevertheless the thirst of the crowd for "some fun" was satisfied.

There was great excitement after the wrestling match, and much speculation as to whether Edmunds was greased, as Simon alleged. There can be no doubt that Edmunds' limbs looked as if they were greased, as he stepped on the mat, but his friends claim that there was nothing of the kind attempted, and that the Toronto man had just concluded a pretty stiff work out before going on the mat, which accounted for the moist condition of his limbs.

To the Examiner to-day Simon said that there was no doubt that his opponent had been greased all over. He felt it, he said, just as soon as he laid a hand on him. However, he himself was a stranger in town, and did not care to be "kicking," otherwise he might have formally lodged a complaint at the outset. He thought that he could throw his man anyway, but found that greased limbs were too much of an advantage, and gave up the match sooner than continue against such a handicap. He says further that he presumes it was lard that Edmunds used on his limbs, as he comes from Hogtown. Simon claims that he did not receive fair treatment, and that with an even deal he can throw his man quite easily.

The officials of the match, and Mr. Edmunds himself, to the Examiner this afternoon stated that the allegation that was made by Simon that Edmunds was greased, is perfectly groundless, and that nothing of the sort was even thought of.

A DISASTROUS EARTHQUAKE ROCK SLIDE

Overwhelms the Little Village of Frank, N. W. T.

SEVENTY-FIVE PEOPLE KILLED

Miners had to cut Their Way out.

Millions of Tons of Rock Crashed Down Upon the Village—Top of Turtle Mountain Blown off.

From Frank, a little village on the eastward slope of the Rockies, and about a dozen miles from the British Columbia border, comes news of a terrible disaster caused by some great convulsion of nature, whether an earthquake or a volcanic disturbance remains to be proved. Death in the most terrible form came to almost one hundred of the people of Frank about 4.30 yesterday morning. According to the latest despatches from the scene of the disaster, the earth in the valley in which Frank lies was shaken by an earthquake, and a great gap opened in it, some three-quarters of a mile in length. The shock aroused the sleeping villagers, and, immediately afterwards, what is described as a volcanic eruption or a great rock slide took place on the top of Turtle Mountain, which overlooks the town. The eruption threw millions of tons of rock out, and it came thundering down the mountain-side, blocking the entrance to the coal mine, that is, Frank's principal industry, sweeping away the mine buildings and burying them a hundred feet deep at the bottom of the valley.

Within the mine the men employed upon the night shift, estimated in the latest despatches at twenty in number, were entombed, but later cut their way out with a loss of two men from suffocation. In the village itself seven cottages were overwhelmed beneath the rock, and about seventy residents of the town were, it is believed, buried beneath the debris. The danger from flood to the survivors seems to be great, and the authorities of the village sent out urgent appeals to the Dominion Government and the Canadian Pacific for aid in clearing a channel for the Old Man River, which has been dammed by the great rock fall. Special trains carrying Mounted Police for relief work, doctors, nurses and hospital stores have been rushed through to Frank, both from Cranbrook, in British Columbia, and from Calgary and MacLeod, in the Territories. The railway is, of course, temporarily blocked, and the telegraph wires are down. This accounts for the fragmentary nature of the despatches from the scene of the disaster.

The first news to reach eastern Canada was in the form of an appeal for aid addressed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It was followed shortly afterwards by brief press messages entirely lacking in details. The first of the victims to be identified were the members of the Leitch family. Alexander Leitch, his wife and four children were killed by falling rock. Leitch was formerly a resident of Oak Lake, Manitoba, where his mother, in the course of the day, received a telegram stating that six members of the family had been killed, and three girls—Jessie, May and the baby—saved. Many of the residents of Frank are from Ontario, and constant inquiries were made at the newspaper offices by friends as to their safety, but up till an early hour this morning no complete lists were available.

The list of killed and injured, as far as can be learned, is as follows:

THE DEAD.

Alex. Leitch and wife, and four sons—Allan, Athole, Wilfrid and Jack.
Alfred Clark, wife and children—Charles, Albert, Ellen, Gertie and Alfred.
Chas. Ackroyd and wife.
Vandusen, wife and two children.

GOLF.

The Captain of the Golf Club, Mr. Sam Ray, has decided to hold a number of team matches during the golfing season in order that all the members may have something to live for, in a golfing sense. From the scores handed in, the various handicaps will be allowed for the Stratton Cup, and similar matches. All who can, are expected to play off next Saturday afternoon. Those who cannot play on that day must hand in their cards not later than the following day. Although the match is to be decided by holes, the rules of medal play will govern, in order that the captain may obtain the strokes scores of the playing.

THEY WANT A GAME.

The Sporting Editor of the Examiner has received the following communication from Chicago in reference to a game of baseball in Peterborough:—

To the Sporting Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The American Cereal team of Chicago, would like to play any Peterborough team a game of baseball. The only open date we have is Saturday, May 30th, and we would be willing to play a game Sunday, May 31st. The only thing we would ask would be a guarantee of our expenses both ways.

I believe in Peterborough it would be possible to get a crowd of at least three or four thousand people at fifty or twenty-five cents each, would, I am sure, not only insure expenses, but also a surplus for the home club. We have no doubt but what we could put up a good game, we have several Canadian players. Our line-up would be:—

Crowley, catcher, (Peterborough.)
McCormack, pitcher (Toronto.)
Hill, 1st base, (Woodstock.)
Maner, 2nd base.
Shea, short stop.
Wrede, 3rd base, (Montreal.)
Allen, left field.
Faulkner, centre field, (Winnipeg.)
Erickson, right field.

Your personal interest in this proposition will be appreciated and while we don't know much about the Peterborough teams, still if you have a little money to bet we're a good risk.

Please let us hear from you. If May 30th isn't satisfactory what would be.

CURED BY

Munyon's Rheumatism Cure.

Charles Harradine, Esq., and His Daughter Florence Completely Cured of Painful Rheumatism.

The People Are Impressed With the Wonderful Power of This Remedy to Cure Rheumatism—It Demonstrates Its Value Quickly and Cures to Stay Cured

"To relieve suffering and scatter health is my greatest happiness."—MUNYON.

I do not care at what stage of the disease your rheumatism may be—if it is far advanced and chronic, or if it is only a few months' standing, my Rheumatic Specific will cure it quickly and for all time. It neutralizes the acid in the blood, eradicates the poison from the system, and cures the malady permanently. The interest that has been taken in my Rheumatism Cure by the people of Canada is solely and entirely due to the fact that it cures rheumatism. If it were otherwise, I would expect the sale of my remedies to be prohibited by law."—Munyon.

WHAT THE FATHER SAYS.

"I have had rheumatism in my hand and arm for several years, and suffered great pain. At times my hand would get quite numb, and I would have no feeling in it. Then it would stiffen up and I could not shut it. After I had taken Munyon's Rheumatism Cure a short time I noticed great improvement. I am now completely cured, and have no more rheumatic pains." Mr. Charles Harradine, 286 Parliament street, Toronto, Dec. 22nd, 1902.

WHAT THE DAUGHTER SAYS.

"I have had Rheumatism of a severe form in my knee. I could not bend it at times, and I suffered great pain. Munyon's Rheumatism Cure has cured me, and I am now entirely well." Miss Florence Harradine, 288 Parliament street Toronto, Dec. 22nd, 1902.

MUNYON'S REMEDIES.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia, and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25c.

ON THE 10TH SEPT.

for his political services in the County of Dundas. He did not see Mr. Smith, the Liberal organizer, to speak to in Sept. when on his visit here, and he knew Mr. Stratton to speak to and several of the Ministers by sight. In December he had talked with Mr. Stratton over organizing Liberal clubs. Since December he met Mr. Stratton on the C. P. R. train going from Carleton Place west, in March of this year. This was previous to the Gamey statement in the House. On the train was Mr. Hoyle.

Mr. Macpherson.—Q.—Or Mr. Heyd, was it? A.—I don't know exactly the name; I cannot remember the name.

Q.—Did you know him before? A.—I met him once before.

Q.—Was he the man that was the candidate in Victoria? A.—I don't know.

He said he had not talked with Mr. Stratton about Gamey; the conversation was general. He had talked about the matter in a general way about home.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with any gentleman connected with this case since you came to town? A.—It is pretty hard to tell who is connected with it.

Q.—We will individualize— Mr. Johnston? A.—I shook hands with him, that was all.

Q.—Mr. Riddell? A.—I shook hands with Mr. Riddell.

Q.—Didn't have any conversation? A.—No.

Q.—With Mr. McEvoy? A.—I met Mr. McEvoy quite often at the hotel.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with him? A.—I did.

Q.—Did you tell him what you were going to say in the witness box? A.—I did not.

Q.—Pledge your oath on that? A.—Yes.

Q.—So that not one of those gentlemen knew what you were going to say in the witness box? A.—Yes.

He said he had been paid his railway fare, and 25 cents over. He was stopping at the Walker House, $2 a day, and thought he would be at a substantial loss at ordinary witness rates. He didn't know how he was going to get out of it.

Looked Each Other Up.

Q.—Who is Mr. Arthur Bowen? A.—He is one of the firm of Bowen & Son, Electric, Flour Mill and Oat Mill Company.

Q.—Have you ever discussed the matter with him at all? A.—Not until the night of The Globe interview; we looked each other up.

Q.—Who did the looking up? A.—Well, I think both of us were looking.

Q.—What took place between you and Mr. Bowen about The Globe interview? A.—Well, we just passed remarks about how close it was to what we heard Mr. Gamey tell us.

Q.—Anything else besides that? A.—Nothing.

Q.—Is that all that took place? A.—That is all.

Q.—And you hunted each other up for the purpose of saying that? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And having said that did you separate and go away? A.—He went home, and I went down to play a game.

At the Star Theatre.

On the night of the 1st Sept. witness and Mr. Gamey had only general conversation, and they went to the Star theatre together, after which they parted to see friends elsewhere, and he did not see Mr. Gamey again until between 11 and 12 in the room they slept in. The lights were not out when Mr. Gamey came in; he was in bed. After Mr. Gamey undressed he put out the lights and got into the same bed with witness, when he repeated the political conversation testified to in direct examination. He took possibly five minutes to do so, and witness said nothing in response as he was tired and went to sleep. The next conversation of the sort was on the night that Bowen came, and they always had these talks in bed. He had told Mr. Bowen previous to introducing him to Mr. Gamey in the rotunda of the hotel before going to bed that he was Conservative member for Manitoulin, and that he was going to support the Ross Government. They were in bed when Gamey came, but latter repeated the political conversation as usual. He wouldn't swear to quite the same words, but the tenor was the same. He had told W. H. Anderson and William Smale of Kemptville of the incident after going home on the 10th, having left Toronto on the 9th. To Mr. Johnston he said Mr. Bowen was one of the leading citizens of Kemptville.

Assistant King's Printer.

Simon P. Grant, assistant King's Printer, testified that the paper supplied to the departments is ordered through the King's Printer's office on requisition. "Stock Brokers' Bond" was for general distribution to all the departments; it is the most common kind of typewriting paper. They had quite a stock of "C. & Co., but he did not know who manufactured the monogram, and it was supplied to all the departments. "Earnscliffe," was not very much used, and he remembered one order to the Public Works Department. He did not know of it going to any other department; it was a special order. The envelopes, exhibits 30 and 31, were supplied to all the departments.

Cross-examined by Mr. Macpherson—Mr. Grant said he had been two or three years in his present position. He had never taken any part in political work. He left the King's Printer in his office, and did not know why he was there to speak of these matters unless it was that in some lines he had a more practical knowledge. He had entire charge of the printing. They got "Stock Brokers Bond" from Buntin, Reid & Co., and he didn't know if they had a monopoly. They supplied it to all departments, and for their regular orders B., R. & Co. cut it to size. He couldn't tell where they got C. & Co.; he never bought any, but he knew it was their stock. It was used when any printing or embossing was to be done. He couldn't say that there had been any in connection with this case that made it material to have his evidence upon it. He would not swear that it was not supplied to the Provincial Secretary's office, but if so it was not to his knowledge. "Stock Brokers Bond" was supplied to that department.

The Earnscliffe.

Q.—You spoke of a special order for Earnscliffe? A.—Yes.

Q.—Have you got that order here? A.—Yes; I think that paper was bought at Barber & Ellis'.

Q.—Do you know as a fact it was? A.—Well, from looking over the order it was.

Q.—Is the entry in the book in your own handwriting? A.—I believe it is. (Refers to entry in order book). Two reams 17 x 22, 17 Earnscliffe, white cut quarto full; 2 reams 17 x 28, 22 Earnscliffe, white cut quarto full. Public Works requisition No. 4,875, date January 17th, 1902.

This was delivered to the Public Works Department in due course, and no other department got any of it to his knowledge. He had not the receipt for it from the Public Works Department. He didn't personally deliver it to that Department, and didn't know whether it was delivered there or whether any of the other departments got any of it.

Didn't Know Frank Sullivan.

Q.—Do you know Frank Sullivan? A.—No; I have seen him; he has been pointed out to me.

Q.—That is the only acquaintance you have with him? A.—That is all.

Envelopes, exhibits 30 and 31 were shown witness. He said they were bought from Barber & Ellis. They were made to order, and were supplied to all departments. He had not charge of giving out the envelopes, Mr. Bailey usually did that. The X.Y.Z. linen-lined envelope was shown him. He said they had some. He had not supplied any to the Provincial Secretary's Department. He could not tell where the envelope was made.

The X.Y.Z. Envelope.

Q.—Have you others of the same kind in the King's printer's department as that envelope for the X. Y. Z. letter? A.—I really don't know much about that, but linen or cloth lined ones are usually for a particular purpose; they are generally ordered specially; but this is a stock one. I order the irregular sizes specially. That appears to be a stock size.

Re-examined by Mr. Riddell, K.C.—Q.—Do you supply anything to the Provincial Secretary's Department that you do not supply to all the other departments in the way of envelopes or paper? A.—One particular brand of paper.

Q.—None of those we have been mentioning? A.—No.

Delivered If Not Embezzled.

Q.—Then as to this order that was taken to the Public Works Department, unless somebody has been embezzling from the Government, that would be delivered to the Public Works? A.—Yes.

Q.—If I understand you right you have not, and never had, envelopes exactly like that, of that size? A.—Not passing through my hands, and it does not look like the stock I have seen.

Q.—It appears to be a stock envelope of the ordinary size? A.—It appears to be.

Q.—Whereas the linen line which you use are a special size, ordered for the purpose? A.—A special size, ordered specially.

The next witness called was John Galbraith, but he was not in attendance, and on Mr Johnston stating that there were no other witnesses present that he could proceed with the examination of, the Commission adjourned till 10 o'clock a.m. today.

Symptoms of Catarrh?

Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder quickly dispels every loathsome symptom of Catarrh and effects a permanent cure. It stands alone as a remedy for Catarrh, both chronic and acute; Hay Fever, Headache, Sore Throat, Influenza, Deafness, Tonsilitis and all other diseases of the nose and throat. Cures the severest cases and cures them speedily. Rev. J. Louer Grimm, a well-known clergyman of Springer, York Co., Pa., writes: "Both myself and family have used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder for the past two years, and I can conscientiously recommend it to any one who suffers from Catarrh or other nose or throat diseases. I would consider it wrong not to recommend it every chance I get."

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., states: I suffered agony with itching piles. In fact, I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realise what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this ointment.

Coughs, Colds and Asthma

As Well as Croup, Bronchitis and Whooping Cough are Quickly Cured by

DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSEED AND TURPENTINE.

The virtues of this great prescription of Dr. Chase is so well known in Canadian homes that it seems useless to do more than remind you that it has a larger sale and is curing more people than ever before.

Mrs. J. W. Lloyd, Albion street, Belleville, Ont., states:—

"In the beginning of last winter I took a very severe cold, accompanied with a bad cough, and was almost laid up for a time. I tried several remedies, but with indifferent results. On the advice of a friend I got a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, and found that it relieved the cough at once. By the time I had taken the one bottle my cold was gone, and I can truthfully recommend it as a splendid remedy for coughs and colds."

Mrs. A. A. Vanbuskirk, Robinson street, Moncton, N.B., and whose husband is carpenter on the I.C.R., states:—

"For years I have used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for my children whenever they take cold. I used it first with one of my children suffering with a severe form of asthma. It seemed as though the least exposure to cold or dampness would bring on an attack of this disease. I began using this medicine, and must say that I found it most excellent. We have never tried anything in the way way of cough medicine that worked so satisfactorily. It seemed to go right to the diseased parts and brought speedy relief."

Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes. The portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase is on every bottle of the genuine. 25 cents a bottle, family size (three times as much) 60 cents, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 12

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

It was with something like wonder that Lola watched the handsome face of her companion. There could be no mistake as to the agitation and annoyance expressed there. She asked herself if she had been blinded, mistaken, misled. Was it possible that he cared for Dolores after all.

"Are you quite sure of what you say, Miss de Ferras?" he asked, presently.

"Quite sure," she replied, "and an excellent match it will be. I laugh now when I remember that on my return from Germany I considered Lord Rhysworfth the most eligible parti in the county."

"Do you not know?" he asked trying to speak carelessly.

She looked him full in the face as she answered, her eyes flashing.

"No, most decidedly I do not."

He was flattered by the implication. He know that she referred to him, but he could not rouse himself sufficiently to talk to her. After a few more words, he made some excuse for leaving her.

He was angry and annoyed, though he had no reason for feeling so. He considered himself injured in some fashion, although he could hardly have told how.

"She need not surely have been in such a hurry," he said to himself, "she is still very young. How can she marry a man of more than double her age? It is impossible that she can love him; she must be marrying him for his money. It is shameful for a young girl to be so mercenary. I am disappointed in her."

"I wonder if all that men say about women is true, if money and position are all that they care for? This girl with an angel's face is marrying for money, and she looks like the very embodiment of love."

Vexed and irritated, yet without any just grounds for these feelings, Sir Karl avoided Dolores; and she, whose "last chance" was rapidly failing, grew sad at heart. She was standing in the drawing-room, her dress falling in picturesque folds about her slender, girlish figure. Behind her was a magnificent group of exotics. She turned, and, while looking at the waxen blossoms, debated within herself whether the night would pass without his speaking to her, or whether, on some pretext, she she should address him. She was startled from her dreams by Lady Fielden, who had been sent by Madame de Ferras to ask Dolores to sing.

"I fear I must ask you to excuse me," said the girl, "I do not feel equal to the task this evening."

"You do not look very well," replied Lady Fielden: "perhaps in a short time you will have recovered sufficient to favor us."

Lady Fielden had a theory of her own anent Dolores. She believed herself well versed in love matters, and had for some little time entertained the idea that Sir Karl was in love with her.

"In all probability," thought the astute lady, "she will sing for him."

By and by Lady Fielden went up to him.

"Sir Karl," she said, "you will prevail, I am sure, where I have failed. I want you to persuade Miss Chiefden to sing for us."

He felt no inclination to accede to her desire.

"You have failed!" he said quickly. "Then I shall fail, and far more ignominiously."

"I do not think so," said her ladyship, with a peculiar smile. "At least let me urge you to try."

"You wish me to ask Miss Chiefden to sing?" he said; and then utterly ignoring the fact that he had been watching Dolores intently for the last half hour, he asked, with happy audacity, "But where shall I find Miss Chiefden?"

Her ladyship replied promptly:

"Do you not see her? Ah, no, that screen of plants hides her from you! Now, do my bidding, and remember that a brave man never takes 'No' for an answer."

Lady Fielden laughed softly to herself as she went away.

"That went straight home," she said to herself. "As though I had never read love in his eyes! I am certain that he likes Dolores Chiefden."

Dolores thought that the desire of her heart was to be accomplished at last. Sir Karl was making his way to her. Her heart throbbed and her face flushed; then a great, almost solemn calm came over her. If he cared for her, she was sure that in some vague manner she would discover it.

He did not look very happy; the ring had gone from his voice, and the laughter from his face. In brief words he told his errand, adding:

"I fear I shall ask in vain. If Lady Fielden could not persuade you, it is hardly likely that I shall be more successful."

She looked up at him with a smile.

"Since you ask me, and it will please you," she replied, "I will sing—but not at present. The room is so terribly warm, I wonder if I could get an ice?"

He took the hint, and offered her his arm, and they went in search of refreshments. Sir Karl found Dolores a seat; and then, remembering her resolution that she would be neither cold, shy, nor proud, as she partook of the ice and fruit he had brought her, she talked to him brightly and gayly. The more brilliantly she chatted, however, the darker grew his face. He said to himself:

"It is all very well for her; she can be happy and bright; she has no regrets. She is going to marry for money; and she has secured one of the wealthiest men in England for a husband."

His face grew darker and graver. She saw it, and her heart failed her. She remembered how interested he had looked when Lola talked to him. Gradually silence fell upon them both.

"I am afraid Miss Chiefden, that you do not find my society very entertaining," Sir Karl remarked presently.

"I do not remember ever to have known you so silent before, certainly," she said with a forced laugh.

Just then a musical voice near them exclaimed—

"What a melancholy tete-a-tete, Sir Karl, I could not imagine where you were. Do you remember having promised to arrange a charade for us?"

"Did I? I am afraid I must ask you to enlist the services of some one more competent. I am not quite myself to-night."

"Nonsense!" said Lola, gayly. "That is like a bad riddle. If you are not yourself, who are you? I cannot let you off your bargain. I have set my heart on a charade; and what I have set my heart on I must have."

She looked so bewitchingly defiant that it was impossible to refuse her. A moment later she went up to some vases and took from them two flowers; one was a white rose, the other a red one.

"This white one is called 'Queen Marie,'" she said, "and the red one is 'Erin's Pride.' Which will you have, Sir Karl?"

Sir Karl had been piqued and hurt; he thought only of giving a passing thrill of vexation to the girl whom he really loved; but by one trivial act he decided her destiny and his own. Dolores watched him with wistful pain. If he took the white rose, she would know that he loved her best; if not—

Lola looked with great shining eyes into his face.

"Take your choice," she said; and he took from her hand the deep-crimson rose, "Erin's Pride."

No one saw that the fair, young face grew deathly white, that the golden head drooped for a moment. Then Dolores raised it with proud, careless grace.

"I will sing now, Sir Karl," she said, "if you still wish it."

"Certainly I do," he replied, again offering her his arm.

CHAPTER V.

It was all over now, Dolores told herself. There was an end of her dream. Some one else had taken her place at the piano, and a beautiful voice was filling the room with melody. Just then she was hardly capable of a clear thought. She did not know that Sir Karl stood watching her with wistful eyes, eyes full of pain and wonder, that last "good-bye" ringing in his ears and stirring his heart. He could not help seeing that she had sung it with a purpose; and that purpose was to bid farewell to him. "Too late!" Ah! it was indeed too late! But if it would be for her happiness, so must it be.

"She does not look like a girl who would sell herself for money," he thought. "She has the face of one who could give her life for the man she loved."

"She might have said good-bye quietly," he thought, "and not have sung it in words that must haunt me until I die. She sung them reproachfully, too, as though it were my fault that I am her lost friend. I should have been her friend until death, but she is marrying for money and not for love."

The miserable night came to an end at last. Sir Karl went away first, and Dolores was driven home in madame's carriage. The girl was thankful to be alone, to be where she was not compelled to smile, and talk, while her heart felt ready to break.

When she reached White Cliffe, she heard that the Squire had gone to bed. She was relieved to know that she would have regained her composure, and would be able to meet him with a smiling face.

Early the next morning she went to the Squire. He was in his study, his favorite room, with a cup of coffee before him. He looked up quickly as she entered, and she read in his eyes the anxiety, the hope, the fear, that he did not express in words. She went and knelt down by his side.

"I have come to a decision, papa," she said. "I thought I would ease your mind by telling you at once. I have decided to marry Lord Rhysworth."

The Squire pushed his coffee-cup aside, looked at his daughter earnestly, laid down his paper and sat for some moments in silent delight.

"Is it really true, Dolores?" he asked.

She put her arms round his neck and drew the white head upon her bosom.

"Yes, papa; you shall live at White Cliffe until you die. You shall never leave it to go amongst strangers; and you shall have all your comfort, dear. You will be rich again, and have money to do with as you like. You will be very happy, my dearest—happier than you have ever been."

Something in her voice seemed to disturb the Squire, for he raised his head, and, in his turn, drew the beautiful face down to his. He looked at it long and anxiously; even to his dim eyes there was a wonderful change in it. The brightness was gone: the light that shone there now was of heaven rather than of earth; it was the calm of content hardly acquired; it was an expression quite different from anything he had seen on his daughter's face before.

"Dolores;" he cried in a sharp voice," "you—are you happy?"

"Quite happy," she answered.

"There is no one you care more for than Lord Rhysworth, is there? Tell me the truth, Dolores? I would not let you sacrifice yourself for me; you must not do that. Is there any one you like better? I—I would rather be dead, my child, than that for my sake you should marry a man whom you do not love, and lose one whom you do love."

He never forgot the strange smile that came over her face as she laid her hands upon his shoulders and looked at him.

"You may believe me, dear," she said. "There is no one who cares for me; who should? I do not see many people. I am too young to have thought of such things. No one cares for me; believe me, papa."

A FALSE FACE.

When dyspepsia fastens on a man it changes his feelings and it changes his looks. He frowns now instead of smiling. His expression is harsh instead of kindly. He is wearing a false face—a face which does injustice to the real nobility of his nature.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures dyspepsia and other diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, and the record of the cure is written both in the face and the feelings of the person cured.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is not a stimulant or temporary tonic. It cures the diseases that are the cause of ill-health and builds up the body with sound flesh.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." The sole motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

"Last spring, early, I wrote you my feelings and condition," says Mr. A. J. Vanderwater, of 373 West Division Street, Chicago, Ill., "and you advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and then write how I felt. I am happy to say I am getting to feel fine. In all I have taken six bottles of the 'Discovery' and four or five vials of the little 'Pellets.' They have done me worlds of good. All my friends say: 'Vanderwater, how well you are looking.' The medicines have made the great change in me: from the slow mope of a man that could hardly crawl, tired and sick all the time, could do no work, to a man who can work, sleep, eat, and feel fine, and that tired feeling all gone away. I am very thankful that I wrote to Dr. Pierce. His 'Golden Medical Discovery' and his little liver 'Pellets' have almost made a new man of me. I feel young as I did at thirty years."

Mr. Benjamin Brooks, a well-known farmer of West Cape, P.E.I., tells of how his son was cured of Kidney Disease, and how he was cured of Backache.

The First Sign of Kidney Trouble.

He says: "Our little boy was troubled with kidney disease. We had tried many kinds of kidney pills but they only helped for a time. We got Doan's Kidney Pills and one box effected a perfect cure. About six weeks after this I caught a very bad cold that settled in my kidneys. My back was so sore I could hardly walk. I went to the drug store and got a box, took them according to directions and the result was that my back was completely cured. I believe they are the best kidney pill on the market to-day."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, April 30th, 10.40 a. m. — Sub. treasury shows banks lost $400,000 yesterday making $35,000 since Friday. Foreign exchange strong with light supply of bills offering. Demand sterlin 487.70.

M. & M.

New York, April 30th, 01.55 a. m. — Brokers report very little doing in stock market except by the traders' clique and pool brokers. Some disposition to take profits but not much pressure to sell. Bull speculation seems to be making more in to stock which can be taken in hand and put up on bull rumors and this obviously seems to be programme of traders clique while they are taking profits elsewhere. London doing very little and commission house business light.

M. & M.

New York, April 30th, 11.25 a. m. — Foreign exchange now 487.75.

New York, April 30th, 12.05 p. m. — There is evidence of some good selling going on M.O.P., At., U.P. and grangers There has been some support but market seems to be becoming more two-sided.

New York, April 30th, 12.10 p. m. — In addition to this there is continued absence of outside demand and foreign exchange is strong and is practically at gold shipping point. The bank statement is apt to be negative is a further check to bull sentiment at present. The St. is being prepared for rather an unfavourable statement on M.O.P. by semi-official statements being given out for publication explaining that such a statement will probably result from high cost of operating expenses and from higher cost of labour and material.

M & M.

New York, April 30th, 9.45 a. m. — Harbour engineers labour difficulties getting serious. Leading C.P.R. interests favour six per cent. dividend basis in fall. C.P.R. and M.R. in demand in loan crowd. Time money working rather easier. Banks lost to sub-treasury since Friday $326,000.

DOW, JONES & CO.

The market acted so well yesterday that we would not be surprised to see it continued to-day with possibly some further rally. The M.R. incident seems to have been discounted as a market factor. Money working easier. Outside business lacking and for this reason we consider it good policy to secure profits on bulges. Foreign exchange advanced sharply ten points at close on increased demand for remittances and scarcity of commercial bill with rate going to 487.70. It is expected to get right before end of week. This was not generally known until after close.

A RECENT LOCAL ENGLISH INVASION.

Woolwich Arsenal Citizens Coming to Peterborough.

Mention is often made of the "American Invasion," represented by thousands of farmers settling in our Canadian North-west. The British invasion is also upon us, and all we can say is "the more the merrier," for the great need of the country is population. Witness the Barr colonization party of several thousand, and by the steamer Lake Champlain between three and four thousand immigrants arrived.

Some of these were mechanics and and some of these were skilled workmen formerly employed at the great Government Arsenal Works, at Woolwich, England. Twelve of these arrived in town day before yesterday and many of them secured employment with the Canadian General Electric Company.

Among the arrivals are several bandsmen in the Salvation Army, who were got situations by the local corps either at the Cereal Works or the General Electric Works. Advertisements for bandsmen were inserted in the Canadian "War Cry" and no applications were received. Similar advertisements were inserted in the English "War Cry" and over 50 applications were the results.

IMPROVEMENTS TO HIS PHOTOGRAPH STUDIO.

Mr. G. E. Whiten's Excellent Operating Room.

Mr Geo. E. Whiten, Peterborough's well known photographer, has lately had his studio renovated. It is now in excellent condition, and is most artistically arranged. The equipment throughout is of the latest style and the instruments are of the most modern type. Special pains have been taken with the operating room, which is now, perhaps, one of the best in the province. The best ground glass is used, making the light so bright that photographs taken on a dull day are quite as good as those taken on a bright day.

There is no denying the fact that Mr. Whiten's studio was previously excellent but is now greatly improved. As everything is of the best quality Mr. Whiten's customers can be assured that photographs will be as good as ever, and, if possible, better than before.

"ROMAN CATHOLIC TENDENCIES IN AMERICAN EPISCOPAL CHURCH."

An Article Reproduced From "The Literary Digest."

The following is taken from the April 25th number of "The Literary Digest", of New York:—

The ritualistic crisis in England, which we chronicled in these pages last week, is mirrored in several significant tendencies in this country. A few days ago it was announced from Boston that the Rev. Samuel Macpherson, a ritualist rector in that city, had left the Protestant ministry and received conditional baptism into the Roman Catholic Church. During the Lenten Season the "Fathers of the Holy Cross," with the Rev. J. O. S. Huntington, son of the Bishop of Central New York, as superior, have been conducting a mission in New York city on lines similar to those followed by the Roman Catholic Paulist and Jesuit missionaries. A new "Roman" party in the Episcopal Church is also making its influence felt, and publishes a monthly organ, The Lamp, at Garrison-on-Hudson, N. Y. This last-named paper is edited by the Rev. Spencer Jones, author of "England and the Holy See," and is frankly committed to a policy of "reunion" with Rome. Mr. Jones takes the view that there are four parties in the Anglican Church, viz., "An Anglo-Catholic party, a Protestant Evangelicalism, a school of Rationalism, and, in more recent times, a Roman school." This "Roman" school is the one to which The Lamp gives allegiance, and its position is stated in an editorial entitled "Who is the Author of Division?" We quote as follows:—

"Protestants who glory in their sectarian divisions, yes, and Anglicans who glory in their separation from the Apostolic See, glory in their shame! Wherein lies the remedy save to acknowledge the error our fathers made four hundred years ago and by concerted action to take the necessary measures which will in due time heal our schisms and make us Catholics indeed by reconciling us to the Universal Father of Christendom and reuniting us with the Holy Roman Church, the Mother and Mistress of all churches, in which resides the seat of supreme authority, the centre of Catholic unity, the Chair of the blessed Apostle Peter, to whom our Lord said: 'Thou art Peter, and on this rock I will build my church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it.'

"The Terminus ad Quem of the Oxford Movement seems to us to be by logical and divine necessity the resubmission of the English church to the supreme authority of the Holy See, and God's way of accomplishing this is to multiply the Catholics within the Anglican fold until they fully 'possess the sanctuary' and are able to redeliver the keys of the kingdom wrested by force from him into the hands of St. Peter, to whomour Lord originally gave them."

With the same issue of The Lamp is given a "Rosary League Leaflet," telling "how to say the rosary," and suggesting the following prayers:—

"I salute thee, Holy Mary, Daughter of God the Father, and entreat thee to obtain for us a devotion like thine own to the most sweet Will of God.

"Holy Mary, Mother of God, pray for us sinners now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

"I salute thee, Virgin Mother of God the Son, and entreat thee to obtain for us such union with the Sacred Heart of Jesus that our own hearts may burn with love of God and an ardent zeal for the conversion of souls. Hail Mary, etc.

"I salute thee, Immaculate Spouse of God the Holy Ghost, and entreat thee to obtain for us such yielding of ourselves to the Blessed Spirit that we may never grieve Him in thought, word, or deed, but in all things He may direct and rule our hearts. Hail Mary, etc."

A correspondent of the New York Sun writes of the new movement:—

"This Roman party is no insignificant or negligible quantity, but is fast growing in adherents all over the world. The previous number of The Lamp had contributions not only from this country but from well-known Anglican clergy in England and even in Japan. The Rev. Arthur Lloyd, of Tokyo, tells us that to emphasize his belief in the necessity of a return to union with the Holy See he has begun to pay Peter's Pence, sending his annual contribution to Rome like a good Catholic." (Since this statement was made, a cable has been sent by the Protestant Episcopal Board of Missions in this country to the bishop of Tokyo, demanding an "immediate investigation" of Mr. Lloyd's case. The result is that the clergyman in question has resigned his position as President of St. Paul's College, Tokyo.—Editor of the Literary Digest.)

The New York Sun says editorially:

"Undoubtedly, this revolution, so openly proceeding with a view to 'resubmission to the Holy See,' engages the outspoken support of only a very small portion of the ritualists, but, probably, of secret favour it has more.

"The end the 'Roman' party is working for is nothing short of the destruction of the Anglican church as a separate organization and its complete absorption in the Church of Rome.

The Milwaukee Living Church, the recognized High-Church organ, has recently shown by a comparison of the growth of the church in the Middle West with that in Virginia, Maryland, and Pennsylvania, that "where the Oxford Movement has been most in evidence, the gain is largest. Taking up a statement made by Dr. McConnell, of New York, that the alleged decadence of the church must be attributed in part to the Oxford Movement, it says:—

"As a matter of fact, the extreme school humorously calling itself 'Bread,' is continually repelling weak people from the church. To our certain knowledge the most recent instance of perversion of one of our clergy to Rome was directly caused by the state of apparent anarchy in the church, wherein the Fremantle incident, the Hale incident, and the Rainsford episode followed each other in quick succession. It was the feeling that all this showed the Anglican communion to have no settled basis of faith that would certainly be maintained, that had its disastrous effect on one mind. The perversion by reason of all that was a weak act; it was a cowardly act, for where the fight is fiercest, there the good soldier remains, and from it only the coward flees; it was an illogical act, for the whole church has repeatedly been overrun with heresy in her past history and has recovered; but for all that, it was an act for which gentlemen of the school defended by Dr. McConnell, who has never yet met the moral issue that was shown to be involved in the writings and actions of the school he defended, are responsible. Contrast with that the item printed under the diocesan head of Fond du Lac in this issue, wherein a whole community of Romanists is shown to have been received into the American church, and to have been placed by Bishop Grafton under the charge of a priest he had recently received from Rome, and one can easily see whether the charge against the Oxford Movement made by Dr. McConnell is true."

In view of the controversies dividing the Episcopal camp, more than usual significance has been attached to the election of the new dean of the Episcopal General Theological Seminary, New York. This important position was made vacant by the death of Dean Hoffman, and it was expected that the ritualists would endeavour to name his successor. The choice has fallen, however, on the Rev. Wilford Lash Robbins, dean of All Saints' Cathedral, Albany, and his election is regarded as "a victory for staunch churchmanship, and not a victory for the radicals of either side."

Baby's Parade Days!

Such weather for the babies' outing! The processions from Babyland these days are sure signs of summer. We miss our guess if the largest number of pretty perambulators on the street did not come from the Peterborough Bookstore. Those winning styles you see, with the distinguished dash and go, come from our livery of baby rigs. We're showing a special shipment this week, and they're all beauties. Whether you buy a strong, neat little baby carriage or the handsomest cab in the house, you'll be pleased with your bargain. Go-carts, too, and as low as $1.35. Various other wheeled rigs and run-abouts for children. A. H. Stratton & Co.

Swears He Had Never Seen Gamey During Month of September.

WORLD'S APOLOGY ACCEPTED

Provincial Secretary's Office Work and Habits Described by Mr. Myers—Frank Sullivan Was Not in the Habit of Running In and Out of Minister's Office—Stiff Cross-Examination.

Toronto, May 1.—The Gamey Commission resumed at 10 a. m. yesterday, the case of The World newspaper, for alleged contempt of court, occupying first attention.

Mr. Baird—Your Lordships, I had the advantage of being in court Wednesday and hearing the argument in connection with The Mail and Empire case. Our article was not as strong and it was published without any disrespect to the court. We have no desire to injure any person in connection with the Commission, nor have we any desire to attack the dignity of the court or be disrespectful.

The Chancellor—Your article is not weaker.

(Reads head lines of article which had appeared in The World newspaper.)

If you say it will not be repeated in the future and you withdraw it and you regret it, then the same action will be taken with regard to it as was taken with regard to the case yesterday.

Mr. Baird—Yes, my Lord.

Mr. Hamlin, Vessel Owner.

R. W. Hamlin, vessel owner, said he knew both Gamey and Frank Sullivan. On the Saturday following Mr. Gamey's story in the House, he and Frank Sullivan and David Wheelihan were standing talking in the Walker House. He saw "Cap." Sullivan there. Gamey came in from the Front street door and beckoned to Frank Sullivan as he went through to the wash room. He had hardly been there a minute till he came back and beckoned to Frank Sullivan the second time. He went to the Front street door and out into the street. Frank Sullivan in consequence of something witness said to him went out and on his road went to where his father was standing.

Q.—Now, Mr. Gamey, in describing this interview, put it this way. The question is, "And you say he insisted upon speaking to you? A.—Yes. He came just as I was going into the telephone cabinet in the Walker House, he came up to me and said I want to speak to you, and I said I do not want to talk to you now?"

Mr. Blake—That is not the same interview.

Q.—Where is the telephone cabinet in relation to the wash room? A.—It is near the Front street entrance, and the wash room is near the dining-room.

Q.—The time that Sullivan went out with him where did he go? Right past the telephone cabinet? A.—Yes.

Q.—It is right at the Front street door? A.—Yes.

Q.—I want to know if that is the same interview?

The Chancellor—What are you reading from?

Mr. McEvoy—I am reading from Mr. Gamey's evidence.

Mr. Ritchie—He says he went to the telephone cabinet and this is a case of going to the wash room, which is an entirely different thing.

Witness, continuing, said he did not see him go into the telephone cabinet, but thought he came in at the front door. The telephone cabinet and front door stood beside one another.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, K. C. Witness said he saw Mr. Gamey come in the front door at Front street, and go direct to the wash room. He didn't see him go into the telephone cabinet, and didn't hear Gamey say anything; nor did he hear Gamey and Sullivan talking together. It was between 12 and 1.

David Wheelihan of Campbellville was the next witness. He was there but could throw no light on the interview.

Dr. Strouthers of Sudbury.

Dr. Strouthers, of Sudbury, an old acquaintance of Mr. Gamey's, was called, and related a conversation at the Walker House on the night of September 9, when the member for Manitoulin asked his advice about supporting the Government. Gamey said it would cost him $1,200 or $1,500 to contest the protest against his return, that he could not stand the cost, and that he thought the protest could be arranged if he agreed to become an independent supporter of the Government, and that he would receive the practical patronage of the riding. He said he had done nothing to disqualify him. Strouthers, although a Liberal, advised him against such a course, and told Gamey that he had been elected in his opinion as a Conservative and everyone would say he was bought. The latter indignantly repudiated the idea of financial consideration.

After The Globe interview he met Gamey on the train, and in discussing the situation Gamey said he thought he had followed the only course open to him, and that it was necessary from his point of view that the riding should be represented on the Government side of the House. Between these two conversations he met Gamey near Sudbury, and Gamey said Mr. Whitney was not a successful leader, but spoke highly of Mr. Ross.

Cross-Examination.

Cross-examined by Mr. Macpherson.

Dr. Strouthers said he had probably told Dr. Arthurs, his medical partner, that he believed Mr. Gamey had gone over to the Government.

Q.—What position did you take with Dr. Arthurs—did you take the position that Gamey had sold out to the Government or not: I want your answer to that, yes or no? A.—I cannot answer that question unless you tell me what you mean by sold out?

Q.—That he had arranged to go over to the Government side. I want to know what you told Dr. Arthurs? A.—I cannot tell.

He said he supported the Government and Dr. Arthurs did so also. Questioned whether his politics had been productive of anything financially in his practice, he said, "Not to mine." His partner, however, Dr. Arthurs, was jail surgeon, physician to the Indians, and C.P.R. surgeon, while he himself was a coroner.

Witness testified that Capt. Sullivan introduced him to his son, Frank, at the Walker House on Sept. 9, but their names were not mentioned by Mr. Gamey. Gamey seemed to be worrying about the protest, saying he believed any person could be unseated if money enough were spent, but that he knew of no reason why he should be disqualified. He said he couldn't afford to fight another election. The doctor advised him to resign, and run on an independent platform as the honorable course. In the conversation, the word "deal" was used, but he explained to Mr. Johnston that the only deal he understood was relative to the withdrawal of the protest and the giving of the patronage of the riding. Gamey said that the patronage of the riding was to be given to him if he turned over.

Mr. Johnston asked that steps be taken to enforce the attendance of A. A. Bowen, of Kemptville, whose name was called out but did not answer.

R. A. DUTTON 418-420 George Street Telephone 304.

Mr. Chas. Chase, messenger at the door of the Executive Council room, said he never saw Mr. Gamey until two days before the House adjourned for this investigation. He never did any messages for any department but his own since appointed in 1898. He never spoke to Frank Sullivan more than a couple of times. In September last he lived at the old Parliament buildings, and was in the habit of leaving for lunch at 12 or 5 minutes to 12, and returning about 1.20. He could not remember being at the door any day at that time about 12.30. He never delivered any package or letter from Mr. Stratton or Mr. Myers to the smoking-room, and during September he never delivered any money from Mr. Stratton to anyone. The statement that he left a letter or parcel on the table in the smoking-room on Sept. 10 to 11 was not true.

A plan was produced showing the position of his seat in the corridor, and the wash-room and the smoking-room mentioned by Mr. Gamey in connection with the alleged payment of $2,000 to him. None of the Ministers every spoke to him about this occurrence.

"I understand that, for reasons I need not go into, there is no confidence between the Provincial Secretary and yourself?" queried Mr. Johnston.

"There is not," acknowledged Chase.

Q.—Rather the other way? A.—Yes; rather the other way.

"Well," said the counsel, "we need not go into that."

No Love Lost.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie as to his relations with Mr. Stratton, Chase said: "There has never been much love between the Hon. Mr. Stratton and myself," and asked "And no enmity," replied: "No." "I respect him as the head of the department, nothing more nor less." If he had been asked to deliver an envelope for Mr. Stratton he would have refused, since he was not employed to work for twenty departments, but only for the Premier, the Attorney-General and the Cabinet in session. On one occasion he refused to carry a message for Mr. Harcourt. Mr. Myers never asked him to deliver a parcel, and he would not deliver it if he was asked. He said he had not delivered a parcel from Mr. Myers on the 10th or 11th Sept. to the smoking room or anywhere else. He never saw Mr. Gamey to know him until after the opening of the House. He did not recollect that Mr. Hammond, of The Globe, was around the corridor the night before The Globe interview, but he might have been. He did not recollect Frank Sullivan on January 29. In fact, there was nothing to fix that day in his mind. Asked whether he had told his landlord, Mr. Keenan, that he was the man who had carried the money, Mr. Chase stated that he had said he was the person accused, and no more. He had seen Mr. Jones frequently about the Buildings.

Mr Myers' Denial.

Mr. Elgin C. Myers said that he was stenographer and typewriter in Mr. Stratton's office during August and September last. His position was in the outer office, and at that time there were in that room Mr. Burrows, the private secretary, and also Mr. Costello, the messenger. He said that Mr. Stratton was not there on Monday, September 8th, but was there Tuesday, September 9th. He did not know Mr. Gamey, and did not see him in September. He took no correspondence from Mr. Stratton on the 9th. He took the dictation for the Aylesworth letter, subsequently signed by Gamey, on September 10th from Mr. Stratton. This was just before he went to luncheon. Mr. W. J. Boland was present, and was still there when he left for luncheon at 11.45. He did not see Mr. Gamey that day or the day before. Neither did he see Mr. Gamey on September 11th. He became acting private secretary to Mr. Stratton when Mr. Burrows was laid up ill on Oct. 4, but did not receive the appointment to that position until Jan. 1 this year. He never took any parcel to the smoking-room on those days, and knew nothing about it. He never took any parcel or money or letter of any kind in September and gave it to Mr. Chase to be taken to the smoking-room.

First Saw Mr. Gamey in October.

The first time he saw Mr. Gamey was about the end of October, when he came in and asked for Mr. Stratton. The messenger ushered Gamey in, and he was there about 20 minutes. He never took Mr. Gamey to a room on that occasion, or any other occasion. At Mr. Stratton's request he mailed to Mr. Gamey the letter which Mr. Gamey afterwards sent the Premier about his position. The next time he saw Gamey was on January 13th. Mr. Vance was with Mr. Stratton, and when he came out the messenger ushered in Mr. Gamey. The witness also went in at the same time. Dr. Chamberlain came in four or five minutes later. Mr. Gamey was speaking about a lock-up keeper at Little Current, who was also a hotelkeeper, and it was about this that Dr. Chamberlain was called. After about 25 minutes or half an hour. Mr. Gamey came out of Mr. Stratton's office first, leaving Dr. Chamberlain there.

The next appointment with Mr. Gamey was towards the end of January. The day before The Globe interview Mr. Gamey telephoned, asking for an appointment with Mr. Stratton. He told Mr. Stratton, and the Minister spoke to Mr. Gamey over the telephone. He did not see Mr. Gamey that day, not till the afternoon of the next day. A little after two that day he was shown into Mr. Stratton's room by Costello and remained fifteen or twenty minutes. He saw The Globe reporter and told him Gamey was there. When coming out, Gamey, said he was not ready to give him the interview now, that he would make a few changes, and would go down town to look it over and come back. He told Mr. Hammond this.

Mr. Gamey's Visit.

Myers said that at about 6 o'clock on the 29th January he saw Gamey in the corridor and told him Mr. Stratton was in, and he went into Mr. Stratton's room. He was there 15 or 20 minutes and came out into witness' room. He and Mr. Hammond then had a chat, and when Mr. Gamey came out they moved over to a table in the corner and sat down. Mr. Gamey went back to the Minister's room after he got through with Mr. Hammond. He was just a minute there, just in and out again. Mr. Gamey and the Minister could not have had an interview in the lobby, without his seeing them. Mr. Gamey came straight through his room and out at the door.

Didn't See Sullivan.

He didn't see Sullivan on that occasion. Somebody opened the door from the hall into his room, but he did not know that it was Sullivan. He went to the Minister's room immediately after Gamey left, and Mr. Stratton was coming out with his hat on and the evening papers in his hand. Mr. Hammond told him that the Minister told him to have the interview signed for his own (Hammond's) protection, and that he (Hammond) was glad to have it signed as a guarantee. As far as he knew, Gamey was never there on other occasions, except those men-

This is the poet, the playwright, the seer,
Known the world over as William Shakespeare;
His verse is as sweet as the song of the lark:
He now plays the role of the Abbey Trade Mark.

IN ENGLAND, Abbey's Salt has been a household remedy for many years and this old English trade mark, the head of Shakespeare, has now become familiar the world over.

ABBEY'S SALT has stood the test of time and still holds the first place as a gentle and effective aperient, curing all stomach troubles. Always look for this trade mark.

Daily Examiner.

London (England) office—140 Fleet street, E. C., Central Press Agency Limited, Special Agents.

FRIDAY, MAY 1st, 1903.

KNEW MANY WHO MET THEIR DEATH.

Mr. W. H. Cavanah a Former Resident of Frank, N. W. T.

He Talks to the Examiner of the Little Mining Village—Great Lacrosse Town.

All Canada has been thrown into a state of excitement during the past few days over the disastrous landslide at Frank, Alberta. It may be of interest to readers of the Examiner to know that Mr. W. H. Cavanah, Peterborough's well known hockeyist is familiar with the little mining village having lived there for six months before coming to Peterborough last fall. Mr. Cavanah was employed in the office of the coal company that operates the mines in the village, and knows nearly every family that met so terrible a death. An incident of the affair that impresses in no small degree the appalling nature of the catastrophe upon Mr. Cavanah's mind is the fact that Mr. W. W. Martyn, who succeeded to Mr. Cavanah's position is amongst the number killed. Mr. Cavanah says that the Town of Frank lies immediately east of one of the gateways to the Rockies. The middle fork of the Old Man's River flows through a gap in the breasted mountains peculiar to the locality, and winds around the base of Turtle Mountain, which is on its southern bank. On the opposite shore is the town of Frank. The ground on this side ascends gently from the river, at right angles to which stand a row of neat miners' cottages. Above these cottages is the business portion of the place. The tracks of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, which to the eastward run in a direction parallel with the river, make a detour to the north as they approach the town and encircle it. At the base of Turtle Mountain above the river is the mine of the British American Coal and Coke Company, composed chiefly of men from Butte, Montana. The mine does not bore straight into the heart of the mountain, but Mr. Cavanah states that the workings run under it around one side.

The number of miners employed would be about 100, and the total population of Frank would be about 700. The town derives its name from Mr. Frank, of Butte, Montana, one of the chief owners of the mine.

The town is situated about ninety miles from Lethbridge, and has grown up in the past two years. It is a genuine mining town, but has been looked upon as an enjoyable little place in which to live. It is a great hockey and lacrosse town. To give an idea of the enthusiasm of the townspeople in this regard, Mr. Cavanah mentioned that a year ago when the village had only 500 of a population they raised $1700 to bring lacrosse teams from Lethbridge, Nelson and other towns for a lacrosse tournament. The village possesses a good hockey team, and took great interest in athletics. The citizens were generally prosperous.

Mr. Cavanah naturally feels much interested in the recent deplorable catastrophe.

THE PRESBYTERY OF PETERBOROUGH.

The Induction of a Minister at Norwood.

A meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, was held in Norwood yesterday afternoon, the main object being the induction of Rev. Mr. McClennan into the Norwood Presbyterian church.

The following reverend gentlemen were present: Dr. Torrance, Wm. Bennett, J. A. Wilson, Peterboro D. A. Thompson, Hastings; D. D. Macdonald, Keene, A. E. Camp, Havelock; J. F. McFarlane, Warkworth; W. L. Atkinson, Warsaw; and T. W. Goodwill, of Cordova. The following elders were also present: Messrs. W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood; W. Obe, Hastings; R. Harrison, Peterborough; J. Easson, Westwood.

Rev. D. A. Thompson presided at the induction service, while Rev. T. W. Goodwill preached the sermon, taking his text from St. Matthew, xiii chapter, verse 24, "Another parable put he forth unto them, saying, the Kingdom of Heaven is likened unto a man which sowed good seed in his field."

Rev. Mr. Thompson then narrated the steps that had been taken up to the call of the minister, Rev. Mr. McClennan. He also put to the candidate for induction certain questions which were all satisfactorily answered.

Rev. A. E. Campbell delivered the address to the minister.

Rev. Mr. McFarlane of Warkworth, addressed the people as to their respective duties to each other.

Rev. Mr. McClellan then received the right hand of fellowship from the Presbytery present.

At the conclusion of the service the newly installed minister received the hearty congratulations of the people. In the evening he was tendered a most cordial reception.

THOMAS HENDERSON A GREAT TRAPPER.

He Trapped 406 Muskrats, 8 Minks and 3 Racoons.

It would appear that the name of the king of local trappers is Thomas Henderson, who lives in Omemee, and operates on Pigeon Creek. We have it on good authority that in less than three weeks this spring he trapped 406 muskrats, 8 mink, and 3 raccoons. In addition to this fine catch, he secured 36 mink between fall and spring. He sold the mink pelts at $3 a piece, the raccoon at $1.25, and the rats at 20 cents each, making a total of $277.49 for his catch. In this connection it would be interesting to know the total value of the small fur secured in this county every year—it must amount to a very considerable sum. That there is need of better protection every trapper is ready to admit. Take muskrats for instance; it is an open secret that kittens are slaughtered in the fall, when only 5 or 6 cents can be obtained for the pelts. The fishery overseers should be empowered to act as game wardens. — Lindsay Post.

SPRINGVILLE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Springville, April 27.

Mr. A. Gibson, has accepted a situation with the Huntsville Lumbering Company.

Miss Pue of South Monaghan, is visiting her sister, Mrs. A. Reynolds.

Miss J. Sisson of Cavanville, is spending a few days with the Misses Cathcart.

Mr. G. Gibson has lately joined the ranks of the benedicts and has removed to Peterborough.

Miss S. Cullen is visiting at Mr. T. Brown's.

Mr. Oswald of Pontypool, took the service here last Sunday, Mr. Yule taking his charges.

Miss Lily Cathcart is visiting relatives in Millbrook.

The Reason Why.

Heals the throat, cures the cough, makes breathing easy,—that's why Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is prescribed by physicians for bronchitis, acute or chronic. It is pleasant to take, agrees with the stomach, and is better than emulsions made from fish oils or other fats. 10a

NEWSY LETTER FROM PICTURESQUE KEENE.

The Citizens to Hold a Public Meeting

And Will Renew Their Efforts to Beautify the Village—Personal Mention.

Keene, April 28th.

Mrs. Alex. Anderson spent last week with her parents in Norwood.

Mr. Ben. Kindred was severely hurt on Friday of last week by his team running away.

Mr. J. F. Anderson, of Norwood, agent for the Imperial Life, was in the village Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mrs. Raney (nee Miss Whitney,) of Prescott, will render a solo in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and will sing also the obligato solo in the anthem.

The young men of the locality met on Saturday night and organized a baseball club. They intend practising on the Driving Park, and playing a few games during the season.

Death has been busy in our midst during the past week, no fewer than three having gone on the silent journey—Miss Jane Short, of Lang; Mrs. Matthew Edwards, of Otonabee, and Miss Eason of Otonabee.

The Public School library is now well stocked with choice books, and is open to the section for use. We hope the people will not overlook or underestimate this advantage.

An effort is being made to establish a branch of the Public Circulating Library here. It will be nothing like the Public Library that has lately gone out of existence and has gone into a box up-stairs for the mice to study from, and it is to be hoped the future custodian will view things from a different standpoint than the last one did.

Friday is Arbour Day.

Did you see the new cow on the street? Poor thing!

The telephone line is complete to the station.

Miss B. McIntyre has greatly beautified her house by the construction of a spacious verandah.

Johnson Paudash was in the village on Saturday.

Deputy Game Warden Thwaite was in the village on Friday on his way to view the nets set in Rice Lake during the close season.

Mrs. T. J. Wallace and Master Lawrence will spend the next two weeks at Rural Green, the guests of Miss L. Blezard.

Messrs. Elmhirst and Renwick, deserve credit for bringing into this district the best horse by all odds that was ever seen here.

At a meeting of the citizens held in the town hall on Tuesday evening it was unanimously agreed to devote Friday, the first of May, to cleaning up the streets, planting trees, and repairing sidewalks. The former officers of the association were re-appointed and it was decided that a cement walk be laid down on Front street in front of the school, and that portion of the street drained and the ditch filled in. A sub-committee was appointed to arrange for a concert to be held on the evening of the 25th of May, when a good programme will be given and the proceeds devoted to the street improvements.

Mr. Scott Laing is home again, and is suffering from rheumatism.

Mr. Archie McIntyre of the Keene road, is slowly recovering from an attack of appendicitis.

A number of our farmers will have finished seeding this week.

It would be quite expedient to place a watering cart on McFarlane's hill for the benefit of the travelling public. Water can be had the year round in abundance by sinking a well twelve feet on top of the hill, and there is ample fall either way to siphon the water to a tank, beside Mr. McFarlane's gate or at the jog corner. We know that public spirited men and others who would receive direct benefit from it will subscribe a portion of the $40 required for the work, and the council will furnish the remainder.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining eleven pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

MOUNT IRWIN.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mount Irwin, Galway,

April 27th, 1903.

Mr. Mat. Hickey returned to his home here, after an absence of two years in Chicago and other western points.

Miss Mary Dolan left last Monday for Peterborough.

Mr. Chas. Pearson returned home from Algoma after a year's absence.

Mr. Will Dalton left recently for Lindsay, where he has secured employment in Carew's mill.

Mrs. Dennis returned to her home in Peterborough after spending Easter with her mother here.

Mr. J. Coyle Brown, I.P.S., passed through here last week on one of his semi-annual visits.

Mr. Jas. Pearson who is well up in the fifties, is still one of the best woodsmen in the country. His record is, "The chopping of a 16-foot log through in 12 blows." He is at present clearing a fallow for Mr. Ned Allen, and is ready and willing to uphold his record.

Quite a number from here attended the lecture in Kinmount, given by their popular representative, Col. Sam Hughes. The Galway people only wish Col. Sam would make his visits more frequent.

Seeding in this district is well under way, owing to the continuance of the fine weather. Rain is at present badly needed.

The Best Physic

"I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets myself and in my family and think they are the best on the market to-day. They are exceedingly popular in our community," says Mr. J. G. Page, of of Alberton, Ala. Give these Tablets a trial and you will never wish to take another dose of pills. They are easier to take and more pleasant in effect, as they never gripe and leave the bowels in a natural condition, while the use of pills is often followed by constipation. c

OLD LACROSSE DAYS IN PETERBOROUGH.

The Eighteenth Anniversary of Confederation.

How it was Celebrated in Town—Peterboroughs vs. Torontos.

In view of the fact that Lacrosse has shown signs of becoming very popular in Peterborough this summer it may be of interest to those who are now identified with the game to know something of lacrosse in Peterborough some years ago. The following clipping from the Examiner of July 2nd, 1885, gives some idea of the enthusiasm that prevailed in Lacrosse in Peterborough at that time.

The eighteenth anniversary of the confederation of the Provinces of British North America and the birth of the Dominion of Canada was fittingly celebrated in Peterborough.

The weather was favourable for the celebration and early in the forenoon large numbers of visitors began to arrive. Besides the people who came into town from the surrounding country and on the regular trains, an excursion party came from Belleville on the Grand Junction and between 1,100 and 1,200 people came on the excursion from Toronto. Some of our citizens went to Port Hope and Lindsay, but the great majority remained in town to witness the events here.

AT THE DRIVING PARK.

About two o'clock the Indians from the different reservations in and around Peterborough, assembled at the Post Office corner, and, after holding a council of war and indulging in a "sun dance," formed in procession with the Toronto and Peterborough lacrosse clubs, and proceeded to the Driving Park, where a splendid programme was afterwards carried out. The first event to come off was a lacrosse match be the "Cretes," a junior team, and the second twelve of the Peterboroughs. The "Cretes" were to have crossed sticks with a junior team from Toronto, but owing to some misunderstanding the Toronto boys did not put in an appearance. It was decided, in order to give the "Cretes" a game, to put the second twelve in the field against them for a fixed time. The following is the names and positions of the players:—

Second Twelve	Positions	Cretes
R. Stevenson	Goal	K. Kincaid
H. Begley	Point	R. Parnell
A. Mercer	Cover Point	G. Gibbs
J. Carveth	Defence Field	J. Conal
J. Phelan	"	W. Sanderson
A. Mooney	Centre Field	F. Larone
R. S. Kelly	First Home	H. Dixon
F. Trainor	Second Home	M. Larone
T. Giroux	Third Home	H. Foot
H. Neill	Home	F. Metheral
D. Deyell	"	J. King

Mr. M. Giroux acted as field captain, Messrs. Hugh Ross and O'Brien, as umpires, and Mr. H. LeBrun filled the position of referee.

Both sides did some fairly good playing, and at times it was hard to say which of the teams were really playing in the best form. Although the "Cretes" are a young club, composed principally of very young men, yet they made such a determined stand against the second twelve as to draw forth the admiration of the spectators. If they keep together and practice, it will not be long before they are a first-class team, and take their level with all-comers. After forty-five minutes' hard play, in which "Dick" Kelly, a returned volunteer from the Northwest, Harry Neill, Gibbs, H. Dixon and others on both sides got in some good work, a drop shot gave the first game to the second twelve.

As the time allowed them to play was up, and the spectators eagerly waiting for the senior match to come off, Mr. LeBrun, the Referee, declared the match a draw, and both clubs withdrew to make room for the seniors.

Torontos v. Peterboroughs.

From the time this match commenced until the finish, interest in it never flagged for an instant, the players on both sides wielding the sticks in such a dexterous manner as to hold one's undivided attention from the beginning of a game until the time came for one side or the other to hold up twelve lacrosses in the air, thus denoting that a goal had been made. The names and positions of the respective players were as follows:—

Peterborough	Positions	Toronto
J. Joyal	Goal	H. Davey
R. J. Hall	Point	T. Mills
M. Tierney	Cover Point	F. W. Garvin
M. Halpin	Defence Field	J. Henderson
A. Cameron	"	P. Scofield
W. J. Scott	First Home	H. Wilson
C. Rutherford	Second Home	P. Green
J. Coughlin	Field Captain	F. W. Garvin
S. English	Umpire	Green

J. C. Hurst, Referee.

The First Game.

was started at exactly eight minutes to four o'clock, and it at once became hot and intensely exciting. The rubber was not long in finding its way towards Peterborough goal, and several well-directed shots on it were cleverly stopped by Joyal and sent flying back to the other end o fthe field in quick time. In this game Tierney stopped some high balls in splendid style, by jumping up in the air and hitting them with his stick, thus relieving the anxiety of the spectators, for the time being as to the safety of the goal. Scott, Henderson, Hall Cameron, Fortye, and Halpin, did some lively work in this game, but it was of no avail, as the first game was won by Toronto in nine minutes by Mills putting the ball through the stakes.

The Second Game

At 4.10 precisely, the second game was commenced, and the boys went to work in earnest. Fortye secured the ball and sent it towards the visitors' goal, when Garvin of the Torontos secured it, and made a good run up field, when he lost it to Halpin, who was in turn checked by a Toronto man again, and the rubber once more came in close quarters with the Peterboroughs' goal. Alternately the little missile trailed from one end of the field to the other, when a lucky shot from P. Scofield, of Toronto, gave the second game to the visitors in three minutes from the time the ball was faced.

The Third Game.

At 4.17 the rubber was again placed etween the sticks of Fortye and Gordon and the third game was commenced. This time, as is usually the case when Peterborough boys lose two games to nothing, the members woke up to a sense of the hard job they had before them. They set to work with the determination that Torontos were not going to win, and they did not. It was not long, however, until a long throw from Toronto sent the ball in dangerous proximity to the Peterborough goal, but Joyal stopped it in fine shape, and with a bound and a throw sent it away, clean to the other end of the field again. Tierney, who played an excellent game throughout, at this point took the rubber from a Toronto man, and in doing so made a "foul", and he was the first to call it himself. On the face he got the ball again, and sent it flying through the air towards Toronto's goal. Joe Henderson, who played like a little man all day, got the rubber on his stick and made a run in front of goal and sent the ball through in such quick time that the visitors did not know it until he had it done. Loud cheering was the result, and Peterborough stock went up one hundred per cent.

The Fourth Game.

The home club by this time were getting well warmed up to their work, and encouraged by winning the last game, played a better team play than they did in the preceeding games. Joyal, Hall, Tierney, Halpin, Fortye, Cameron, Hendeson, Scott and Rutherford worked well together, and the latter player completely astounded some of the visitors with his clever dodging, and after a half hour's hard play he got the ball, and dodging through a whole "batallion of the enemy" sent it through the stakes, thus giving the fourth game to Peterborough.

The Fifth Game.

The excitement was now at fever heat, when at the commencement the rubber messenger travelled toward the Toronto goal, the crowd cheered exultingly. It was evident to all that the visitors in this game were playing a defence game, and the surmises as to who would win were all in favour of Peterborough. After play had been in progress for a few minutes, however, time was called and to the disappointment of the large crowd of spectators, the match was declared a draw, each team having secured two games. The members of both teams concentrated their forces in the centre of the field, where such a hard battle had been fought, and gave the usual cheers, after which they returned to town.

Dick Kelly "the returned volunteer from the Northwest" referred to in the article, is none other than the celebrated centre man for the Shamrocks of Montreal.

"Come for a Spin With me, Maud."

Up with the first light of the sun, on with your sweater and away with me for a spin along the quiet country road — the hum of your wheel keeping time with the sweet rythm of bird song and rustling leaf. Out beneath the overhanging elms with their dark green foliage, dew-glistening in the slanting rays of a new day, floating past the daisy dotted roadside sward, smoothly gliding on our silent steeds. Ah, fill your lungs with that breeze of clover-scented air. This is summer, this is a Canadian summer morning on a bicycle. A Canadian summer morning is enjoyable even in bed; to walk in it is delicious, but to glide swiftly, silently, smoothly along some quiet path is to condense into a few minutes a panorama of sensations so keenly delightful that they must be felt to be appreciated, being felt, they cannot be expressed in words.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., states: I suffered agony with itching piles. In fact, I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this ointment.

tioned. He never saw Frank Sullivan there with Gamey. He never saw Frank Sullivan in the Minister's room, and saw him perhaps four times in his own office.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ritchie, K. C.

Mr. Myers explained from the plan the relations of the private room of the Minister with the lobby and his own. There was a door direct from the corridor into the lobby to the Minister's room. It was always locked, but it could be unlocked by anyone in the room. Mr. Stratton could open it himself if he chosed to do so, and anyone could get into his room from the corridor, without coming through witness' room at all. He had noticed people go in from that private entrance. Mr. Herbert Burrows was secretary up to the fourth of October, but during September was in poor health, and did not do much work.

Office Work Procedure.

Witness said that up to the beginning of October of last year letter press copies were made of the letters. They had two letter books running then, one purely official and the other private. All letters marked private and confidential went into the private book. These were Mr. Stratton's letters not departmental letters at all; but they got up in the letter books and the system was discarded in favor of duplicate letters. This change was made after he became acting secretary. He said they had the files of the duplicate letters, and on being asked to produce them said it was an immense letter case. Counsel said he would like to see for himself if this particular letter of the 10th September was copied in the letter book, and witness said the letter was not copied at all, as it was not apparently a letter written for the Minister or himself to sign, and they only copied such. He had made only one copy of the Aylesworth letter of the 10th Sept., and he knew it was not copied because when he handed it back to the Minister he never saw it again.

Q.—When you gave that back to Mr. Stratton how long was it before you saw a copy of it? A.—A month or six weeks later.

Stratton Brought the Copy.

Q.—Under what circumstances did you come to see the copy? A.—He handed it to me and said, "Mail that to Mr. Gamey at Gore Bay."

Q.—Whose typewriter was it written on? A.—I don't know, it was not mine.

Q.—Is that the copy that he gave you? A.—Yes, as nearly as I can recollect; I merely glanced over that one.

Q.—Do you know where he got that copy from (exhibit 18)—copy of letter September the 10th? A.—No.

Q.—Do you recollect whether these words written in ink were there. A.—I don't think there was anything in ink at all.

He put the letter with the letters that were to be mailed, and had no doubt it was of the date Mr. Gamey says.

He saw Mr. Gamey the day he came in, the 23rd Oct., but did not see him afterwards. Around noon of that day Mr. Stratton asked him to mail the letter to Mr. Gamey. He always opened Mr. Stratton's mail, private or otherwise, and usually took it in to him when he first rang. That day the Minister was busy with inspectors, and he had not seen the mail when Mr. Gamey came in. He went to lunch at a quarter to 12 on the 11th and did not get back as the Minister had gone down town. He had not discussed, but had a general reference to the case with Mr. Stratton. When he saw things in the papers he asked Mr. Stratton about them.

Mr. Myers said that he was at the gymnasium when the statement was made in the House by Mr. Gamey. He went over from the gymnasium on Yonge street to the Parliament Buildings about 6 o'clock. The Ministers were in Council when he got there, and he did not see Mr. Stratton until after dinner that evening.

Mr. Ritchie—Q.—Did you have a discussion with him then about the Gamey question? A.—I asked him what it was all about.

Q.—You knew what it was about? A.—I heard of it.

Q.—You knew your name was involved in it? A.—Yes.

The 11th September.

Q.—What discussion had you with Mr. Stratton? A.—I asked him what there was in it. He said Mr. Gamey had made the statement, and he said "It's going to be fully investigated and you will have to make your statement to the solicitors."

Q.—He said you would have to make your statement to the solicitor—what solicitor? A.—I do not think he said who it was at the time. I understood next morning it was Mr. Johnston.

Q.—You understood that night you were expected to make a statement, and did you go and make the statement next morning to Mr. Johnston? A.—No.

Mr. Myers said he made his statement to the solicitor on the Friday after the Wednesday that Mr. Gamey made his statement. Up to that time he had had no conversation with Mr. Stratton about the matter as to what he knew about it. No one went with him to Mr. Johnston's office, and Mr. Stratton never asked him about his statement at all. Mr. Stratton had gone down town when he came back from lunch on the 10th October, and he did not think he was at the office except for a minute or two that afternoon. He was in for a minute about 2.30, through his room, but he did not see him go out.

Sullivan's Visit.

Mr. Myers said he did not see Frank Sullivan on the 10th Oct. He had not seen him to know him before the 10th September. The only time he saw him in Mr. Stratton's office was around the 1st of November; they were having some bells to connect the Minister with the departments put in. He had been in witness' room four or five times about electric bells or telephones, which were in charge of the Public Works Department. He pledged his oath that Sullivan could not have been in Mr. Stratton's office without witness knowing it.

In reply to Mr. Ritchie's question —"Frank Sullivan says both he and Gamey were in Mr. Stratton's room on the 10th September?" Mr. Myers said he understood counsel to mean after he had charge of the office.

Mr. Riddell said it was the 9th Mr. Sullivan said he was there.

Witness—I was ready to allow he might have been there. If Mr. Gamey said they went in at the private door he was not prepared to contradict him. He knew that Gamey and Sullivan were there on the 9th or 10th September; on that day they might have been in and out a dozen times. He would not swear the Minister was never there when he was not, and it was possible for Gamey and Sullivan to be there when he was not in the office. He didn't connect Mr. Boland with the letter he took from the Minister and afterwards typewrote on the 10th Sept., and they were still together when he left for lunch.

The 11th of September.

On the 11th Sept. Mr. Stratton went down town around a quarter past 10. He went to lunch at a quarter to 12 and didn't get back until 20 minutes past one. While he was gone he could not say whether Mr. Stratton was in the office or not. He did not know where Mr. Stratton went on the morning of the 11th Sept., but he went out with Mr. Boland that morning. He did not see Mr. Stratton again that day until after lunch. He had no recollection of Mr. Boland being there again until the Friday after, but he could not say the day. He could not tell without seeing the letters what was done in the office on the 11th.

When Mr. Gamey came on the 18th January, Mr. Stratton was not in, but came in afterwards through the private door. He remembered Vance and Gamey speaking together just after he came in. He knew Vance quite well. He had been often to see Mr. Stratton during the three years he was there. On this morning Vance stayed with Mr. Stratton for about 20 minutes, and Gamey had to wait that long to see Mr. Stratton. Mr. Gamey came in about a minute before Mr. Stratton came in. The Minister rang for me just after Mr. Vance came out, and Costello showed Mr. Gamey in as Vance came out. Then Dr. Chamberlain was rung for and the talk was about the lock-keeper at Little Current.

Testing His Memory.

Witness didn't remember whether Mr. Stratton was in the office during the week between Christmas and New Year's. Mr. Stratton was back after the election contest in Perth on the 6th Jan. He didn't know where he was on the 8th, but on the 7th he was in the office all day. He didn't remember anything particular in February, but thought Mr. Stratton was in the office every day the first week in March. He could not tell about the first week in April, but he had been there from the 18th. The second week in April the Minister was in the office. On the 2nd Oct. he left for Halifax, and he was away till a week from next Monday.

Mr. Chamberlain's office was connected with Mr. Stratton's, and he did not send Costello to notify Dr. Chamberlain that the Minister wanted him on the 13th Jan.

Mr. Gamey, he said, telephoned him on the 28th January, but a discussion arose when Frank Sullivan's evidence was referred to, he having said he made an appointment for Gamey with the Minister by telephone for 2.15 that day. Mr. Myers still said it was Gamey telephoned, and it could not be Sullivan unless latter said he was Gamey, and then he said he knew both voices and was still pretty positive.

Giving Evidence Fairly.

In connection with this point the Chancellor suggested that the witness could do no more than state his belief.

Mr. Ritchie said that his method of answering was important as showing the manner in which he was tendering his evidence, and the Chancellor replied that, so far as he could see, witness was giving his evidence fairly.

The afternoon session concluded with the statement by the witness that he did not know that any fixed appointment for Gamey was made on the day in question, because he had merely connected Gamey with the Minister over the latter's private 'phone and did not hear the conversation.

Adria, Arabia, April 27.—Brigadier-General Manning, after an engagement with the Mad Mullah's forces, has relieved Colonel Cobbe, near Gumburru, Somaliland, 45 miles westward from Galedi. About 2,000 of the Mullah's men were killed. The British loss is not known.

EIGHTY-THREE WERE KILLED.

An Official Account of the Disaster Which Overwhelmed Frank, N.W.T.—Some of the Awful Details.

Ottawa, May 1. — Mr. William Pearce, Inspector of Government Surveys, who went to Frank Wednesday to act for the Government and decide what relief measures could be arranged, wires as follows to the Deputy Minister of the Interior:—

"Frank, N.W.T., April 30.—Eighty-three killed, of whom about fifteen are women and fifteen children.

"It is thought there will be no trouble from damming of the river.

"Rock slide about four thousand feet long, extending from the highest point of Turtle Mountain; westerly end of slide 33 feet west of mouth of tunnel, extending across the valley and up the opposite bank for one and one-quarter miles from front of Turtle Mountain, and spread out fan-shaped, so that at extreme end of slide it was nearly two miles wide.

"No trace of river for one mile, but water now going through rock as fast as coming down.

"Place very orderly this morning. Men that were drunk and disorderly yesterday morning gone to Blairmore, fearing further slide.

"Not probable there will be further slide of any consequence.

"Twelve police and two officers here; plenty to maintain peace and order and for necessary purposes.

"No earthquake or volcano. All working in mine except two escaped."

The Catastrophe.

Frank, N.W.T., May 1.—This place was visited Wednesday morning by the worst disaster that has ever been witnessed in any community in western Canada. What was either a slip of land or rock of such gigantic magnitude as to be utterly inconceivable to the mind of any whose eye has not beheld it, or a slide induced by a seismic upheaval, killed seventy-five persons, destroyed the plant of the Canadian-American Coal and Coke Company, did a vast amount of damage to the mine, and completely devastated about ten square miles of the finest and most picturesque section of the Crow's Nest Pass.

When the Town Was Asleep.

The happening of the catastrophe came at fifteen minutes past 4 o'clock, when residents of the town were awakened by a deafening tumult and a shaking of buildings, which it seemed would rattle them into complete demolition. Of all the town inhabitants, numbering nearly 1,000, no one professes to have reached the outside of his domain in time to see any part of what took place, but when day dawned it was seen that the whole side of Turtle Mountain had fallen away, and that the country extending from the eastern edge of the town for two miles down the pass, and entirely across the pass, a distance of two miles or more from the mountain, lay buried beneath rock and debris of various kinds for a depth varying from 25 to 100 feet.

Demolished Everything.

In its sweep the great slide, if slide it was, or upheaval, if that be the more proper characterization, demolished and carried away the entire operating plant of the coal company.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is a heavy loser by the disaster. Two miles of line were buried from 50 to 100 feet deep, and a new line will have to be located and built.

The Government experts declare to the contrary, and ridicule the idea of an earthquake; but it is hard to convince the people of Frank that such was not the case. However, the problem is an intricate one.

Force Will Be Necessary.

London, April 30.—The Pekin correspondent of The Tiems says that Russia now also demands that navigation of the Liao River, which, under inland navigation rules, is open to all nations, shall be restricted to vessels flying Russian or Chinese flags, and concludes: "Even if Russia withdraws her demands the fact remains unaltered that only force will prevent Manchuria from becoming a Russian province."

Soak a new toothbrush for ten minutes in cold water and thoroughly dry it before using, for then the bristles will be less likely to come out than if this precaution were omitted.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

ASHBURNHAM MAN IS PARALYZED.

Mr. Heap Fell off a Waggon While Loading Brick.

Only three or four days ago Peterborough citizens were shocked to hear of the very serious accident which happened to William Bell, while at work on the Cereal Company's new dam. Again yesterday another very serious accident, which may end fatally, occurred at Heap's brick yards, Ashburnham.

Mr. Heap, the owner of the brickyards, who was loading bricks on a wagon, in some manner fell over the side of the vehicle, and alighting with great force on his head and shoulders, about the base of the skull. Owing to the accident Mr. Heap is paralyzed, and there exists some doubt as to whether he will recover from the shock.

The condition of Mr. Bell, who was injured at the Cereal Company's dam a short time ago, is showing a marked improvement.

Mr. E. A. Bennett, of Ashburnham, has gone to Preston Springs, where he hopes the baths and treatment will be beneficial to him.

On Monday evening Bishop Sweetman will license Mr. R. A. Williams, manager of the Sovereign Bank, Havelock, as a lay reader for Havelock and Belmont.

Miss Reynold's, the World's Y.W.C.A. Secretary, who has been the guest of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Torrance, left at noon to-day for Whitby and Toronto. She expressed herself as much pleased with her visit to Peterborough, and commented especially upon the natural beauties of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brooks are at Chemong to-day at their pretty summer resort, "Cedar Brook," preparing for the opening of the season. Mr. Brooks is making several additions to his cottage, taking "time by the forelock," and by the opening of the season will be ready to entertain his guests to the King's taste.

The impersonations of S. Homer Eaton are works of art. He is considered in Boston as the Peer of all impersonators. The Y.M.C.A. has been successful in securing him for their concert, May 1st, and a full house will be looked for. 2d

OUR VARIABLE SPRING WEATHER.

Sudden Change From Summer Heat to Icy Frigidity.

Ice Formed and Vegetation was Sadly Frosted.

The spring weather of Canada must be of the feminine gender so whimsically changeful it is. Yesterday April went out in her true character in smiles and tears, though the roaring winds furnished an aftermath of March. This morning there was to be seen a thick formation of ice, fully half an inch, the ground was frozen so hard that a gardiner who tried this morning could not lift pansies with a trowel, and early vegitation was drooping as from the blast of a furnace. Tulips in bloom had drooping heads and wilted leaves. Early annals, such as dicentras, crown imperials, peonies, columbines, etc, were severely frosted and the foliage lay prostrate, the leaves of the lonicera or Tartarian honeysuckle an early flowering shrub, were wilted and precocious onions had their tops frozen.

The drop in temperature began about ten o'clock, and the owners of greenhouses who had allowed their fires to go out, had to rekindle them, and had to work a good part of the night to save their stock. Jordan Bros. had about 5,000 boxes of seedlings, which they say would have been destroyed if they had not started the furnaces. This was especially necessary in view of the fact that the high wind seized and carried away several panes of glass. Messrs. Mason and Roger had also to keep up fires, and they also suffered the loss of considerable glass.

It is perhaps difficult to say whether these plants will recover or not, some may and others may find their occupation gone for the season. The fruit tree buds, around Peterborough especially, do not appear to have been far enough advanced to have suffered, though some varieties of plum trees were in bloom and may be blighted. It is more than probable that the peach crop will suffer in the Niagara district, as the season is considerably earlier there and the peach trees would likely be in bloom, in which event no doubt great damage would be done.

There have been many instances of the vagaries of our Canadian climate in the past, and a very sudden and pronounced change occurred last night. Yesterday was quite warm, and the shady side of the street was favoured, the thermometer reaching 77 degrees in the shade. This morning overcoats and gloves were in demand, and thick ice had formed on exposed pools of water. The thermometer had gone down to 25 degrees, giving a difference of 52 degrees in a few hours.

REV. AND MRS. KANNAWIN'S ENTHUSIASTIC FAREWELL.

The Presbyterians of Omemee made an Address and Presentation—Feeling References.

On Monday evening a large and representative gathering of the Omemee Presbyterian church, met in the basement of the church, to say farewell to Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Kannawin, on the eve of their departure for their new home in Woodville.

Dr. Cameron as chairman, explained the object of the meeting and expressed regret at the separation that was about to take place, combined with congratulations on the call to a higher sphere of labour.

Mr. and Mrs. Kannawin were invited to come forward, and on behalf of the congregation, Miss Maye Bannan read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs Kannawin, — The people of your Omemee charge learn with regret that you are about to leave us, and we are assembled, on this occasion to testify to the faithful service of both of you as pastor and wife during your four years amongst us.

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavour gratefully acknowledge the lasting benefit they have received from your untiring efforts on their behalf. Your words have been an inspiration to our young people to induce them to live more consecrated lives.

The same may be said of Mrs. Kannawin, whose presence will be missed along with yourself. She is also gratefully remembered as the leading spirit in our Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

But in parting with you we wish to give some tangible expression of our esteem; therefore we beg of you to accept this article as a memento of the friendship existing between you and your people in Omemee. And, in conclusion, we wish you success in your new field of labour and we pray that through God's blessing you may both be humble and honoured instruments in winning souls for the Master, and we hope that you will remember kindly the friends you leave behind in Omemee, your first charge.

Signed, W. W. Jardine, Chairman of Board of Managers.

At a suitable moment two young men of the congregation presented Mr. Kannawin with a handsome golden-oak hall-rack. Rev Mr. Kannawin on behalf of his wife and himself thanked the donors most sincerely.

Informal speeches were made by several gentlemen on whom the chairman called. Rev. J. H. Teney, of the Anglican church, voiced his regret at the departure of a respected co-worker. Rev. G. Brown, of the Methodist denomination, gave utterance to words of appreciation of those who were about to depart. Mr. Isaiah Thornton, as an elder of the church, testified in a few words as to the efficiency of the pastor's work, and the harmony existing in all branches of the church. Mr. W. W. Jardine, B. A., presented the regrets of Rev. T. Brown of Bethel church. Mr. A. E. Bryson, principal of the public school, very feelingly referred to his pleasant intercourse with the inmates of the manse. Mr. Harvey, of the High School staff, followed in a neat speech, eulogistic of the pastor and his work.

Refreshments were then served by the ladies and after a social hour, 'God be with you till we meet again,' was sung.

PETERBOROUGH'S BOWLING MEN.

Grand Formal Opening Monday Evening.

President vs. Vice-President Match — New Lights Have Been Installed.

Although not a great deal has been heard of late of the Peterborough Bowling Club it must not be thought that the bowlers are out of business. They are not—they are quite alive and the grand opening of their courts will take place on Monday night when the first of the series of matches between the President and Vice-President will be played. The green on Simcoe street has been put into excellent condition and the bowlers anticipate a very successful season. They have gone to considerable expense in installing additional lights and the bowlers have now just exactly twice as many lights as they had last season.

The draw for Monday night resulted in the following selection of skips:

PRESIDENT.	VICE-PRESIDENT.
F J Bell	W J Thompson
H C Armstrong	Dr. Boucher
H Rush	W Pringle
Geo. Giroux	E W Cox
R J Frost	F H Dixon.

The above matches will commence at 7.15 o'clock.

R Kerr	F J Bradd
J M McIntyre	W G Ferguson
A H Stratton	R W Waddell
Col. Edwards	M E Green
Wm Salisbury	Alex Elliott

The above matches will commence at 8.15 sharp.

The first round of the inter-rink matches for the month of May will be as follows:

Tuesday, May 5th.
Kerr, skip, vs. Bell, skip.
Armstrong, skip, vs. Rush, skip.

LADIES' AID RECEPTION TO CONCERT ARTISTS

At the Conclusion of the Programme To-night.

In view of the circumstances that the artists contributing the programme to the Y.M.C.A. Ladies' Auxiliary Concert on to-night, give their services to a large extent gratuitously, the Ladies' Concert Committee intend giving the artists a reception at the Y.M.C.A. parlours, at the conclusion of the concert. The members of the Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary are invited to be present.

BISHOP O'CONNOR'S FOURTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

Celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral This Morning.

His Lordship Pontificates and Preaches the Sermon.

History repeats itself, especially as to the anniversary of great occasions like the anniversary of the consecration of Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Connor, and it seems the weather also repeats itself, for May 1st, 1889, the day of his consecration was dull and chilly like to-day, the fourteenth annual return of the day. The people of Peterborough, especially those connected with St. Peters, will well remember the general event, but a few details might be used as reminders.

Bishop O'Connor is the third bishop of the Diocese of Peterborough. Rt. Rev. Bishop Jamot was the first bishop, consecrated September 2nd, 1882, deceased May 3rd, 1886. After a year's vacancy, during which V. Rev. Father Laurent was administrator, Bishop Dowling was consecrated on May 3rd, 1887. He was translated to the Diocese of Hamilton and on Wednesday, May 1st, 1889, Bishop O'Connor was consecrated.

The occasion was celebrated with great pomp and circumstance. There were present at the great ecclesiastical function, two Archbishops and His Emminence Cardinal Taschereau was represented by Mons. Le Gare, of Quebec. There were also in attendance about ninty priests from this and other dioceses. The consecrating prelate was Rt. Rev. Bishop Cleary, of Kingston, since deceased, and Rt. Rev. Bishop, now Archbishop, Walsh preached the sermon. The Cathedral was thronged with assistant worshippers and addresses of congratulations were presented by clergy and laity. It is perhaps worth remarking that of the eleven parishioners signing on behalf of the people, the address, five have since passed away—Messrs. T. Cahill, John Hackett, John Doherty, Thos. Dolan and John Lynch. Sr.

To-day the fifteenth anniversary of the consecration has returned and the occasion was fittingly celebrated. At 8.30 a large congregation assembled. The congregation included representatives of the different communities, Mount St. Joseph, St. Joseph's Hospital, House of Providence and Congregation de Notre Dame. The high altar was beautiful in its festal array of flowers. His Lordship celebrated Pontifical High Mass, assisted by Rev. Father McColl, with Rev. Dr. O'Brien as Deacon and Rev. Father John O'Brien as sub-Deacon. His Lordship also preached the sermon. Owing to the length of the service the sermon was brief. It dealt with the responsibility of the clergy in sacred things and of the responsibility of the people to assist them by their prayers and fidelity in complying with all the regulations of the church.

The special music under the direction of Miss Hurley, organist, was excellent and appropriate. Loesch's Mass was sung and at the offertory the very appropriate hymn "Vivat Pastor Bonus"—Hail Our Good Shepherd—was sung.

The entire service in its elaborate character, in the splendor of the vestmental vestments, the reverent attitude of the people, was, from a human point of view, very successful and a fitting observance of a very important anniversary.

LACROSSE.

DEGAN FOR OSHAWA.

A Cornwall despatch says: — Fred Degan, the star centre fielder of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club, left last night for Oshawa, to join Manager Baker's club. Degan has in years past proved himself a great man for the Cornwall club. He will be missed in the eastern district. It was always a battle royal between Johnny Currie and Degan when they faced one another on the field. But this season Currie will still have to face a Degan in the person of Fred's younger brother Bob, who has plenty of speed and an equal amount of staying powers.

"Bones" Allan has received many tempting offers from Oshawa and St. Catharines, but he and Larry McAteer will stand by the blue and grey, while Johnny Hunter has practically decided to turn down the offer he received from St. Paul. It is reported that Hess, Cornwall's former goalkeeper, will return to Cornwall.

BELLEVILLE ORGANIZED.

The Belleville Lacrosse Club has organized with the following officers:

Hon. President—Mr. H. Corby, ex-M.P.

Hon. Vice-President—Mr. H. S. Burrell.

President—Mr. J. B. Iler.

Vice-President—Ald. J. L. Marsh.

Secretary—Mr. Frank Dolan.

Treasurer—Mr. W. Belair.

Managing Committee — Messrs. W. Hitchon, J. McFee, N. Patterson, and H. McGuire.

The club will practice on the old cricket field, and, if suitable arrangements can be made will play their matches on the Driving Park.

It was decided to enter the junior series of the C.L.A. A donation of $50.00 from the hockey club was gratefully acknowledged.

TWO FROM PETERBOROUGH.

The Chicago Tribune of a recent date contains the photogravure of the Calumet Lacrosse team, of that city. On its strength two old Peterborough players are noticable. They are Messrs. Percy Rubridge and Bert Guy. Concerning lacrosse in Chicago the Tribune says:—

"Canada's most popular summer sport, lacrosse, is growing in favour in this country. Chicago at the present time can boast of two clubs, the Calumets and Chicago, while another to be known as the Shamrocks is in the course of formation. The Calumet team, which for two seasons past has played at Washington Park, will this season occupy private grounds at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue. A number of the men were prominent in the game in Canada before coming to Chicago. Arrangements are in progress for a series of matches with teams from St. Paul and Winnipeg."

OSHAWA'S LINE UP.

The Oshawa team has entered the Senior C.L.A. Series and plays its first match against Brantford. Its team for the occasion has been figured out as follows:—

Goal—Way, Cornwall.
Point—Kervin, Cornwall.
Cover point—Cameron, Cornwall.
First defence—Pritchard, Toronto.
Second defence—Fagan, Ottawa.
Third defence—Degan, Cornwall.
Centre—Reymer, Markham.
Third home—Meneary, Orangeville.
Second home—Hall, Cornwall.
First home—McAteer, Cornwall.
Outside home—Kimpton, Ottawa.
Inside home—Blyth, Ottawa.

It will be noticed that there is not a single Oshawa man on the team.

* * * * *

Lindsay Lacrosse Club intends running an excursion to Lakefield on May 25th, where they cross sticks with the T.A.S. twelve.

* * * * *

The Lindsay Post says: The Peterborough City League met last night and our secretary had a talk with the manager, Mr. Chris. Graham, yesterday. He will report to Lindsay the doings, and promises to give Lindsay a number of games during the season.

* * * * *

The Shamrocks will journey to Lakefield on the morning of May 25th, where they will play the nine of that village.

* * * *

The Athletic Lacrosse team are requested to meet at the Y.M.C.A. building to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and go thence to the Oval to practice.

Y.M.C.A. GYMNASTICS.

The Senior Gymnasium Class of the Y.M.C.A. will leave this afternoon for Lindsay on the 5.30 train. They will give an exhibition of their work in the Academy of Music in that town this evening. The class will be accompanied by Mr Horace Ayres, the Physical Director.

CRICKET.

The Junior Colts Cricket Club will to-morrow afternoon play a match on the Nicholls' oval against the Millbrook Juniors. The match is booked for two o'clock. The team will be picked from the following twelve young players, A. Moore, C. Moore, A. Wood, E. Waller, G. Green, B. Laing, H. Smith, G. Ferguson, H. Walkey, W. Burritt, H. Hall, B. Carmichael.

* * *

The Junior Colts are setting an example to the senior Cricketers, who are reported to be organizing. A meeting was held some time ago, and it was resolved to call another at no distant date. That meeting has not yet been held, and it must be nearly a month ago since the first meeting was held.

CURLING.

PETERBOROUGH'S PROTEST.

The semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Curling Association was held in Toronto yesterday. Amongst other business the Committee on Grievances and Appeals reported as follows:

"Three protests were brought before us for consideration, one of the Gravenhurst club and one of the Orillia Club against the decision of the umpire in Group 4, and one of the Peterborough clubs against the decision of the umpire in Group No. 5.

"In the matter of the Gravenhurst protest we are of the opinion that it cannot be upheld. The umpire distinctly stated that upon the application of the Barrie and Collingwood clubs about six o'clock on the evening of January 27th, he ruled that the condition of the ice did not warrant further play that evening, and accordingly communicated his ruling to all the clubs then present. He further stated that the Gravenhurst clubs announced to him that if they did not play that evening they were to return home forthwith. As no play was ordered for the evening of Tuesday, there couhld be no default on the part of any club.

"In the matter of the Orillia club the evidence is conflicting. There seemed to be a good deal of misunderstanding, but, however, the umpire declared that he was never informed by Barrie, either directly or indirectly that they had defaulted to Bobcaygeon. Under these circumstances we hold that there was no default on the part of Barrie, and that the clubs did right in carrying out the instructions given by the umpire to play on the following morning, and for these reasons both protests were dismissed.

"The protests of the Peterborough Clubs.—We were attended on this protest by Mr. Morrow of Peterborough, who gave us the fullest information in regard to the whole matter. On going into the consideration of this case, and on reading the report of the umpire, it was quite clear that the umpire had ordered the game to be played on Thursday and that all parties had been duly notified. The Peterborough clubs deeming the ice too soft, and did not turn up as instructed by the umpire, consequently Bobcaygeon and Lindsay were the only clubs that played off.

"We were therefore of the opinion that the protest could not be entertained, and the Peterborough clubs had no grievance that the committee could remove.

"We beg to recommend to the association that in future, as far as possible, all the games be played at one point, and that care be exercised in choosing umpires who can attend the playing of the matches, as we think these protests could have been avoided had this been done."

HOCKEY.

BELLEVILLE'S SEASON.

The Belleville Intelligencer says: "The hockey boys wound up their business for the season last night, and the boys did a graceful thing in making a present of fifty dollars to their lacrosse comrades. In saying farewell to the boys till Jack Frost once more appears upon the scene the Intelligencer heartily congratulates them upon their brilliant record for the past season, and hopes that Belleville may never be represented by a worse team. The boys were up against good luck and bad luck, good treatment and bad treatment, but they invariably carried themselves like sportsmen and gentlemen, and their fellow-citizens, one and all are proud of them. Here's hoping the same team, and the same hustling manager, may hand out the same kind of gilt-edged hockey next winter."

PETERBOROUGH'S FOREST OF POLES.

The Streets of the Town Becoming Unsightly—What Will be Done?

Do poles grow? The general opinion in Peterborough is that they grow in numbers, if not in size. Many affirm that they grow in size, too, for they allege that the poles that were on our streets a few years ago were baby poles compared with the stalwart skyscrapers that now make the streets of Peterborough look like a fire-swept forest. It is conceded on all sides that something must be done forthwith in the direction of the town taking over the ownership of all the poles on the streets, and then they could be rented to the various light, power, telegraph, and telephone companies wishing to do business in town. Unless some arrangement of the kind is undertaken before long, there will be no room for shade trees, tie posts, or anything else requiring a hole in the ground on the sides of the streets. Besides being unsightly, and being a general nuisance, the poles on George street have become so numerous as to affect the insurance rates of the town. Still every day or two witnesses another pole being raised. At the corner of George and McDonel streets, there is a very "pretty" cluster of poles; almost every company requiring poles in town, from the defunct street railway, to the latest commercial venture has staked its claim. Within a space of 66 x 66 ft. there are no fewer than seven poles. They are mostly tall, majestic-looking "chaps," but so numerous as to be most unsightly. The corner of George and McDonel streets is only an instance of what exists all over the town, and the net-work of wires somewhat resembles a gill-net or a fancy patent wire fence blown midway between heaven and earth.

WILL REV. DR. SYMONDS ACCEPT THE CALL

To the Position of Vicar of Christ's Church Cathedral.

The announcement is made that Rev. Dr. Herbert Symonds, headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope, and formerly Rector of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, has received the offer of the position of Vicar of Christ's Church Cathedral, Montreal, to succeed the late Rev. F. J. Steen. It is stated that Rev. Dr. Symonds is considering the call that has been extended to him.

WORLD'S SECRETARY OF THE Y. W. C. A.

Gave a Most Interesting Address Last Night

In St. Paul's Lecture Hall—Japan, India and China in Need of Association Workers.

Owing to the unpropitious nature of the weather, the attendance in St. Paul's Lecture Hall last night was not as large as had been expected. Many who had intended to hear the address to be given by Miss Reynolds of the Y.W.C.A., did not deem it wise to brave the assaults of rain and wind. It was a source of great regret that the weather was of such an inclement character, as the address given was one of interest to all, one which was given from actual experience, and one which was delivered in a most eloquent manner. Miss Reynolds has had over eight years' experience as the World's Secretary of the Y.W.C.A., and during that time has visited many of the countries on the face of the globe in order that she might see for herself the true condition of Association work in foreign lands.

There was a large number of young ladies present, a fair proportion of whom it is probable, were members of the local Y.W.C.A. All were most deeply interested in the excellent address, and it was noticeable that many eagerly devoured every word uttered by Miss Reynolds.

Mayor Roger presided at the meeting, which was opened with devotional exercises. Mr. Wildgust, the organist of St. Paul's church, presided at the organ in his usual excellent manner.

In the course of a few introductory remarks, Mayor Roger referred to the great pleasure it gave him to preside at such a meeting. He also expressed his regret at the inclemency of the weather, but added that he was certain that all would be most interested in Miss Reynolds' address, in spite of the howling wind outside.

Miss Reynolds commenced her discourse by explaining how the responsibility of looking after the social and spiritual welfare of the young women in non-Christian lands had grown on the minds of the members in England.

It was in 1894 that the World's Association was finally organized. With the modesty peculiar to her sex, Miss Reynolds forgot to mention that she was the first and only secretary of the World's Association, and that during her occupancy of that office the association has done invaluable work in all portions of the world, but more especially in the British Colonies.

The speaker then spoke of the example shown by the French in sending members of their home associations to Madagascar a considerable length of time before the English Associations thought of forming a World's Association. Turning to Stockholm, sometimes termed the Venice of the North, Miss Reynolds drew a vivid picture of the zeal displayed in the World's Association by the members of the Associations of that city.

In Finland, remarked the speaker, there are fifteen associations with a total membership of 1500 young women. Speaking about the work of the Y.W.C.A. in India, Miss Reynolds said that long before the World's Association had been organized the missionaries in that country had sent in appeals to the English Associations for help in founding similar institutions in India. Consequently another organization of the World's Association, with salaried secretaries, were sent to the principal cities. At the present time there are 105 associations, with a membership of 5,000. Miss Reynolds remarked that the association building in Bombay was one which would be a credit to any city in North America. The speaker had nothing but praise for the help the British Government had given the Y.W.C.A., which in return fully appreciated the generosity it displayed.

The speaker said that secretaries, ones who fully understood association work, were in great request in Japan. In Tokio and Yokohama there were thousands of girls employed in silk factories, who have few pleasures, and who have absolutely no chance to hear about spiritual things.

In conclusion, Miss Reynolds said that the cry for association workers came chiefly from Japan, India, and China—countries where above all was needed knowledge of the one true God.

At the conclusion of Miss Reynolds' address, Mayor Roger said that there was an unlimited field of work for the association at large. He did not see why the local Y.W.C.A. in Peterborough should not be in as flourishing a condition as the local Y.M.C.A. "It is only the recognition of necessity," said the Mayor; "there is no doubt whatever of the town being able to support such an institution."

The evening was closed with the Benediction, which was pronounced by Rev. Dr. Torrance.

What the press has to say of Mr. S. Homer Eaton, who is to appear in Peterborough on Friday, May 1st, at the Opera House: "The impersonations of Mr. Eaton are of a very unusual type, since there is not a touch of caricature either in costume, make up or in voice. He carries his audience with him to tears or laughter, and with a finished and dramatic skill that one seldom finds, unless it be a Sol Smith Russel or a Willard."—Albany Argus.

WATSON FOR LAUREATE.

The Most Poetical Poet of Europe, According to Prof. Corson.

Prof. Hiram Corson, for thirty years head of the department of English literature on the continent. English literature at Cornell University, recently before the Toronto Round Table Club gave two evenings of interpretive readings on Browning, Ruskin, DeQuincy and Shakespeare.

Prof. Corson is probably the best known interpreter of English literature on the continent. It was of him that Browning wrote: "It is well worth while having written, only to have such an interpretor." His books on English literature are well known to every student, and those who have listened to his fascinating readings from English authors have found a wonderful new meaning and a new richness in the classics of our literature.

Prof. Corson gave a few readings from Shelley, Coleridge, Browning and Walt Whitman to members of the club. Prof. Corson also read the fourth chapter of St. John's Gospel, which, as a piece of literature, he said, had rarely been surpassed.

In speaking of modern poets and their work, after his reading, Prof. Corson declared that "the most poetical poet" on the continent was William Watson, a man who combined the poetical qualities of both Shelley and Keats. Thirty years ago Prof. Corson met Mr. Watson in England and predicted then that he would be a future poet-laureate. "And so he would have been after Tennyson's death," he continued. "had it not been for an acute but temporary attack of mania. He was Gladstone's choice, and had far greater claims to the position than 'Alfred, the Little,'"

Prof. Corson, speaking of modern literary methods of study, says: "Literature is largely made in the schools a knowledge subject. The great function of literature, namely, to bring into play the spiritual faculties, is very inadequately recognized, and the study of English literature is made too much an objective job—the fault of teachers, not students."

LIFE WAS A BURDEN.

Marie Ann Bujold Tried Many Methods of Curing her Dyspepsia—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did it and did it Thoroughly.

"For two years my life was a burden." This is part of the experience of Marie Ann Bujold, of Maria Bonavista Co., Quebec. It is hardly necessary to tell what was the matter with her. Half the people of Canada know without telling. They too have Indigestion or Dyspepsia and they know only too well that life is a burden to them. But listen to the other part of Marie Ann Bujold's experience.

"I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. I finally consulted doctors, but they did me no good.

"I saw some announcements of wonderful cures by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and though I had strong objections to patent medicines I made up my mind to try them. The result was wonderful. One box cured my Dyspepsia completely and it has never come back since."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets not only relieve but cure Dyspepsia. And they cure to stay cured.

Suicides in the Bible.

The first instance of suicide recorded in Scripture is that of Samson (B. C. 1117). The second is that of Saul (B. C. 1055). Rather than fall into the hands of the Philistines when hard pressed in battle, he drew his sword and fell upon it and so died. Judas Iscariot, through remorse, went and hanged himself.

SIX CENTURIES AGO

H. J. SMITH'S INDIAN DISCOVERIES IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Some Results of Archaeological Explorations Embraced in the Jesup North Pacific Expedition—Indians Before Any White Man Visited the Pacific Shores—How the Time Is Determined by Shell Heaps.

The archaeological exploration undertaken in 1897 under the general scheme embraced in the Jesup North Pacific expedition has been completed, in so far as it extends to Lower British Columbia territory.

Mr. Smith thinks he has determined pretty clearly the possibilities for his line of work afforded by Lower British Columbia or Vancouver country. As a result of his investigations, covering various periods during the past five years, he has collected a vast amount of material bearing upon the culture of Indians inhabiting the region perhaps five or six hundred years ago—certainly before the advent of any white man to the Pacific shores.

This material, classified so as to bring out constructively facts about the life of the peoples of which it is the only relic, has just been placed in a series of cases among the Indian collections in the north ground floor wing of the American Museum of Naturay History with interesting comment in cards and explanatory books. In connection with the exhibit the museum has published a memoir, entitled "Shell Heaps of the Lower Fraser River, British Columbia," the name of which brings attention at the outset to the curious but almost universal fact that the early dwellers upon this Continent perpetuated themselves by that which they discarded as worthless—camp refuse, broken utensils, and the like, and by their burial customs.

So in the work of Mr. Smith, now completed in the lower British Columbia shell heaps and about to extend to the border land of the United States, it is the intent to work so that the results in one place shall have definite relation to those in another, as determining whether the same tribe or tribes inhabited both, or if different tribes the degree of their intermixture and relative predominance. In the present case, he proposes to begin work in the southerly and southeasterly part of Washington, picking over shell heaps, as the term is applied generally to refuse accumulations of the Indian villages, and to push northward to the point as a goal at which his British Columbia investigations were stopped. Thus he will be able to compare the tribes inhabiting 500 or 600 years ago what is now Washington and Oregon with those then living in the Canadian country, and will find out further the virtual limits of each.

Two questions are natural at this point—one, how is it known that the Indians, studied by means of the shell heaps, lived 500 years ago, more or less, and the other, how one can tell from the heaps, the one-time presence of similar tribes, or mixture of dissimilar ones.

In the first respect Nature has come to the aid of the scientist and has furnished information, the veracity of which is beyond question. It is not an uncommon thing to find shell heaps under the roots or stumps of great trees, and in fact, in many cases the accumulations have been detected through the cutting down or uprooting of one of these giants of the northwestern forest. The record of the rings of the trees has been taken in various instances, and from this it has been determined that at least four or five hundred years must have elapsed since the last bit or rubbish was thrown away.

"In one case which came under Mr. Smith's notice over four hundred annual rings were counted in a tree trunk four feet in diameter, cut from above the site of a shell heap nine feet deep; and experience in the rapidity with which such heaps accumulate among Indians now led to the almost sure conclusion that the heap in question was nearly five hundred years old. On another heap was the stump of a tree which measured 28 feet in circumference, and although the hollow log which had fallen from it precluded any count of rings, its diameter of 6 feet 7 inches indicated great age.

The second question mentioned was provided with an answer by the Indians themselves. Obviously each tribe of Indians had a certain way of doing and making things, more of less distinct from that of other tribes, according to the difference of environment and separation decreed by natural conditions. When shell heaps had been piled up, therefore, each heap contained the relics of its own tribe or tribes, and five hundred or a thousand years later, if remaining for so long a period, told its distinctive story of habits and skill and means of subsistence and desire for the beautiful.

But the story of the shell heaps is not for the mere curio hunter. If even such a one took the trouble to dig where an upturned tree or river bank or cut incidental to the construction of a new road showed a bit of tell-tale evidence. The results attained by Mr. Smith in the present instance have depended upon his arrangement of finds so that each might indicate its relation to the life of the Indians once using it, thus making a component part of the "culture" of the people.

So, there is first the question of natural conditions under which the Indians lived—what materials they had to do with. These are shown first, by the inevitable stone implements, and others of bone and antler horn, differing from ordinary horn in that it either possessed some quality enabling it to withstand the action of water, or else proved unattractive to insects, for not a bit of the horn of mountain goats has been found, although the shell heaps contained many bones of those animals, and some skulls even, with the horn stumps intact. That the Indians had and used copper in various ways is shown by evident copper stains on human bones and other material found. Their use of wood and skins is told only by the implements they worked with.

The story of their diet is told by bone fishhooks, well made and carved; by spear and arrow heads, of both bone and stone, the former barbed in many instances, and by harpoon heads. The harpoons were of all kinds; on some, the rings cut near the base, showed that the use of the retrieving harpoon was not unknown in fishing for salmon or spearing seals, while others, elaborately carved, indicated that the ancient hunter as well as the modern, took pride in the beauty of his weapons.

Most of the carpenter work of these British Columbia Indians was done with wedges of stone and antler, or with chisels of stone set in antler handles. In the collection at the American Museum there is one of the latter, particularly perfect. It is a chisel of nephrite, about three inches long, and set in a handle of antler, of about the same length, the top of which is frayed and worn by many blows of the hammer. Another interesting specimen is a chisel blade in the process of making, rudely grooved by sandstone or some other gritty substance.

Labor implements of the women are illustrated by many objects—particularly awls and needles of bone, some of which, if in a sufficiently good state of preservation, would do for rough darning, or for "tapeneedles" even to-day. As a matter of fact, all the bone implements recovered have to be treated with the utmost care, for the bone substance has become so disintegrated by the decay of years that the slightest force would be sufficient to break them. So when the explorer finds a bone needle, or awl or skin scraper, he does not clean it of the dirt or even examine it closely, but boxes it up rightly wrapped, so that it may dry slowly. When it is unpacked the bone has hardened sufficiently to allow a quick washing and such polishing as may be necessary before it is mounted.

Various articles probably once used for personal adornment have been found. Combs were undoubtedly in use among the Indians of British Columbia five or six hundred years ago, but whether for decoration or toilet purposes does not appear. Copper nose rings and labrets or lip plugs are also among the collections, as are fragments of carved bone, curved and perforated so as to indicate use as bracelets.

In the British Columbia shell heaps some bones identified as those of human beings and skeletons discovered in what appear to have been camp burial grounds near by give fair opportunity for judgment as to racial characteristics. On the basis of these it has been determined that in the Vancouver region at least there were two entirely distinct peoples living together, but whether in the relation of master and slave or on terms of equality is not known. One type was characterized by extremely narrow skulls, more narrow than those of any other known people. The method of burial was similar to that of many Indians of the present time, the body being doubled up with chin to knees and laid upon its side.

By way of general conclusion Mr. Smith gathers from his Vancouver studies that the "culture" of the Indians of hundreds of years ago was not in essentials unlike that of the Indians now inhabiting the region except that the influence of the interior tribes was more strongly felt then than now. This would seem to bear out the theory that the course of migration was from the country to the north and northeast, and would not be inconsistent with the Bogoras-Jochelson theory that the American Indians came first from Asiatic shores into Alaska, moved inland, and then spread out east and south and west to take up the unsettled country.—New York Times.

Nerve Sufferers Need Sympathy

And More Than That, the Nerve Cells Must be Restored and Revitalized by the Use of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Too many doctors have no sympathy with the sufferer from diseases of the nerves. They do not understand the nervous system, and when the victim of nervous exhaustion or prostration appeals to them he is told to "brace up," forget his trouble, and he will soon be all right.

Anyone who has had nervous prostration, been scarcely able to drag about, felt energy and vitality growless, and been in constant dread of paralysis, or even insanity itself, knows how utterly useless and discouraging is such advice.

Nervous diseases cannot right themselves. Exhausted, shrivelled nerve cells can never revitalize themselves without assistance from outside. If the blood is weak and watery, and fails to afford proper nourishment, restoratives must be used. Recovery is bound to be slow, but it is none the less certain, and there is no combination of ingredients which has proven so successful as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This famous food is not a stimulant to arouse false hope, but a true restorative, reconstructing wasted cells and tissues, and instilling into the blood and nerves the essential principles of life and vigour.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food soon wins the confidence of all who are pale, thin, weak or exhausted, for by noting your increase in weight while using it you can prove that new, firm flesh and tissue are being added to the body, and realize that weakness and disease are giving way to strength and vigour. Fifty cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 1

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

If he had been more shrewd and worldly, he must have noticed that, although she repeated her statement that no one cared for her, she never once said that she cared for no one. The Squire went on:

"I was a coward yesterday, Dolores. The idea of poverty frightened me. I could have cried like a child then; but, now that I look at you, Dolores, in the light of another day, I feel braver and stronger. In the course of nature I cannot live many years. What does it matter, if only you are happy, dear?"

There was a faint quiver on her lips; and then she said—

"I am quite happy, papa. In the years to come, when you think about this, and about my marriage, always remember that I was quite happy, that I had no regrets, and that I was most grateful to the generous man who rescued us."

He listened attentively.

"Those are pleasant words, Dolores; but they have not the right ring."

"You may believe me," she said. "You must always remember that I am perfectly happy. If ever you see a cloud on my face, tell me about it; if you find my spirits flag, then you may believe that I am not happy. Kiss me, papa, and tell me you believe me."

He kissed the sweet face and laid his hand caressingly on the golden head.

"I believe you, my darling, and I am quite happy too, in the belief."

Then she rose from her knees and busied herself in arranging his papers.

"I will write to Lord Rhysworth to-day," she said; "and perhaps he will come over. Papa, grant me this favor; if he comes see him for me this once. I will see him to-morrow."

This the old Squire promised to do.

"Dear Lord Rhysworth," Dolores wrote—"I have been thinking well over the question you asked me, and I have come to a decision. I thank you for your generous offer, and in accepting it, assure you that it shall be the one endeavor of my life to make you a good and faithful wife.

"I am, dear Lord Rhysworth, yours very sincerely,

"Dolores Clieden."

It was not a very enthusiastic love-letter, but honest and true.

She meant just what she wrote, that she would endeavor to be a true and good wife to him as long as he lived. In her own heart there was an unuttered prayer that her life might not be a very long one. She was not quite aware of it herself.

Lord Rhysworth received the letter, and was transported with delight after reading it. He went at once to White Cliffe, where the Squire received him with heartiest welcome. He did not see Dolores. She was fatigued, the Squire said, with her long evening at Beaulieu. If he would ride over on the morrow, Dolores would see him then.

Without having gained a glimpse of the fair face he loved so dearly, Lord Rhysworth went away. That same evening from Deeping Hurst came a magnificent bouquet for Dolores; and never a day passed afterward without presents of fruits and flowers finding their way to White Cliffe. The old Squire seemed to grow young and strong again under the new influence.

Next day Dolores saw Lord Rhysworth. He kissed her hands with old-fashioned gallantry.

"You have made me the happiest man on earth," he said, "and the devotion of my whole life shall repay you."

"I will do my best to make you happy," she answered.

And that was all the wooing that ever passed between them. It was enough, perhaps, for reason and common sense; but, alas for the girlish dream of love and romance! How would it end?

CHAPTER VI.

In less than two days the news of Dolores' engagement had spread all over the county. It gave general satisfaction, for every one liked and esteemed Lord Rhysworth; and of Dolores Clieden the whole county was proud. She was "one of them," she had grown up amongst them; she belonged to a family that had once been first in the county; she was beautiful and high-bred. One and all rejoiced in the good fortune that had befallen her. True, a few simple-hearted women who had married for love themselves, and believed there was nothing like love, thought the difference of age too great, said amongst themselves that Dolores was young enough to be Lord Rhysworth's daughter, and that it was a pity he was so old, and wondered, as they kissed the rosy faces of their children, whether Dolores loved Lord Rhysworth. They were only a few happily married women who thought this. The girls envied her; there was hardly one in the county who would not have changed places with her.

Lola smiled when she heard the news.

"That is just what I thought," she said; "and I am sure that the day on which I went over to White Cliffe was the day on which the offer was made. Dolores had something on her mind, I know, and it was this. It will be strange if she is Lady Rhysworth and I am Lady Allanmore. We shall be greater rivals than ever then."

Sir Karl was one of the first to hear the rumor confirmed. He had ridden into Deeping to attend some meeting held on county business, and there found every one discussing the coming alliance. As he was riding away, he met Lord Rhysworth, and after a few words of greeting, he said boldly:

"I wonder if I may congratulate you, Lord Rhysworth?" There was a curious look on the young man's face, a paling of the lips and deepening of the lines about his mouth, which did not strike Lord Rhysworth. "You have carried off the greatest prize in the county," said Sir Karl, "if it be true that you are going to marry Miss Clieden."

He was profoundly touched when Lord Rhysworth raised his hat as though he would do all honor to the name.

"I hope," said his lordship, "with the blessing of Heaven, that I am going to marry Miss Clieden. I speak to you more frankly, Sir Karl, than I should to anyone else. I am the happiest man in the world, and I hope to make my dear wife the happiest of women."

"I trust that every desire of your heart may be realized," responded Sir Karl, and he meant it. "Shall I presume if I ask when the wedding is to be?" he added.

"Before the winter sets in—in six weeks' time from now, if we can persuade the dressmakers to make so much haste," said Lord Rhysworth; and with every expression of kindly feeling and courtesy, they parted—Sir Karl restless and unhappy, Lord Rhysworth without a shadow on his face.

Sir Karl did not care to go home. How empty and solitary that great mansion of his seemed now! How he had longed for the time when a woman's fair face should brighten it! But he could never picture any face there save that of sweet Dolores Clieden.

"What is so wretched," he said to himself, "as a large house where you can hear only the voices and footsteps of servants?"

He could not go home in his present state of mind; and he dared not go to White Cliffe. He would go to Beaulieu; there was always a welcome there for him. He would go and spend a few hours with Lola; she was never dull; she was always in high spirits, with an inexhaustible fund of witty, piquant stories with which to amuse him.

So Sir Karl rode over to Beaulieu, and found the beautiful, vivacious French girl at home. He felt that he must talk about the subject that filled his thoughts.

"I have just seen Lord Rhysworth," he said, "and that rumor you told me about is quite true."

"Of course it is, Sir Karl. If it had not been," she returned, "I should not have told you."

"I must confess that I am just a little surprised," he said. He had a vague idea that this girl was in some way or other not a true friend to Dolores; but he could not resist the temptation of talking about her.

"Are you Sir Karl? Then you are not the man of the world I imagined you to be. That anything in human nature should surprise you is a reflection on yourself."

"Where have you learned so much of the world, Miss de Ferras?" he asked. "You hold strange views for so young a girl."

"Are they strange?" she said, carelessly. "They are true. Why are you surprised that Dolores should marry a man old enough to be her father? It is a common thing, is it not?"

"Yes, unfortunately," he answered.

"Then why wonder at it—unless indeed you had an ideal Dolores?"

"Perhaps I had," he said, gravely.

"Then the sooner you forget her the better, for there are no such ideals in this world."

He looked half sadly at her.

"Do you know, Miss de Ferras," he said, "that I cannot endure to hear you speak in that fashion. I may not be over-wise, but I like to know that there is some faith and trust in human nature in a girl's heart."

"You will find very little in mine," she laughed; and then she saw her way to scoring a mark against Dolores without any appearance of ill-will. "You say you are a little surprised at Dolores. It is a strange way of putting it. I am surprised, too. I tell you candidly that I did not think Dolores would have married for money. I thought she was one of those romantic girls who think the world well lost for love. Those fair-haired girls are generally very sentimental—at least I have always found them so."

"I wonder," said Sir Karl, musingly, "if she has any fortune?"

"Yes, I think so, but not a large one; the Squire is not rich."

They little dreamed as they spoke how near the Squire was to poverty.

"Her fortune," continued Lola, would be as nothing, I should say, compared with one year's income such as Lord Rhysworth enjoys."

Sir Karl's blue eyes were fixed upon her face.

"You express your ideas pretty freely, Miss de Ferras," he said. "I can hardly understand why, since you have all this amount of worldly knowledge, you did not try to secure Lord Rhysworth's affections yourself."

She laughed, and a lovely rose-flush covered her face.

"I know why myself," she said "but you are the last person to whom I could explain my reason. You taunt me with worldly knowledge, but let me assure you that I would not marry Lord Rhysworth for money. When I marry, it will be solely for love."

"You surprise me," he said.

The rose-flushed face and dark eyes were dangerously beautiful just then.

"Yes, I can believe that," she remarked. "You think there can be no sentiment unless it is associated with a fair type of beauty. You are mistaken. With all your idealization of Dolores Clieden, I feel sure that I have more real sentiment, more romance and feeling, than she has. Do you not think so, Sir Karl?"

"If you had asked me that question yesterday," he said, "my answer would have been 'No;' now I am puzzled. I must repeat that I am a little surprised at this marriage."

She could not help seeing the pique and vexation in his face, she felt more sure now than ever that he had cared very much for Dolores, and that she must do her best to lower his estimate of Miss Clieden's character.

"It very often happens," she observed, "that the fairest and sweetest of faces covers the coldest and most mercenary of hearts. With all her fair and fragile beauty, I believe no girl in England is more keenly alive to her own interests than Dolores."

She knew when she uttered the words that they were quite untrue; she knew also that to a man like Sir Karl nothing could be so repulsive as a mercenary marriage.

"Dolores will be happy enough," she continued. "She will make a splendid mistress for Deeping Hurst, a handsome wife for Lord Rhysworth. She will be the Lady Bountiful of the neighborhood, the queen of the county. As the years roll on, she will grow placid and more contented every day; and she will die without ever having known the real sorrows or the real joys of life."

"What an existence you foreshadow for her," he said—"calm, passionless, uneventful—never to know the rapture of happiness or the keenness of pain! It seems to me that a woman may as well be dead as never love."

"But Dolores will love her husband after a quiet, calm fashion of her own. Still, I should not care for such a life," she confessed. "Give me greatest pleasure, keenest pain; give me love or death. I should dread such a life as hers."

"It is not very likely to fall to your lot," he said. "You will have pleasure and pain if you have love."

"I have them now," she cried impetuously, and then paused abruptly.

Their eyes met. Some vague idea of her meaning came to him, and with it a certain shrinking from her, in spite of her beauty, and a feeling of dislike to her that he had never known before. He rose from his seat by the window, and looked round uneasily.

"I have not seen madame to-day. Is she well?" he asked.

"Yes, quite well, but overcome with grief; she has received some dreadful political news from France. She never forgets France; nor do I. Some day I shall go back to it, and the remembrance I shall take with me will be of the cold hearts and icy nature of Englishmen," said Lola, slowly; and with those words she left him.

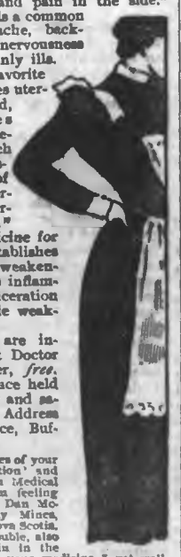
"I had headache and pain in the side."

If you will read the letter of Mrs. McKenzie, given below, you will find that she says—"I had uterine disease, also headache and pain in the side." Uterine disease is a common cause of headache, backache, sideache, nervousness and other womanly ills.



Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures uterine disease, and, therefore, cures the headache, sideache, etc., which result from a diseased condition of the womanly organism. "Favorite Prescription" is the best medicine for women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

Effected a Complete Cure in the Case of MRS. CAROLINE HUTT, Morrisburg, Ont.

She says: "It affords me great pleasure to speak about what your Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. About a year ago I was taken ill with heart trouble and got so bad that I was unable to do any work for four or five months. I got so weak and miserable that my friends thought I was going to die. The doctor attended me for some time but I continued to grow worse. At last I decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after taking two boxes they made me well and strong again. I cannot praise them too highly to those suffering from nervous weakness and heart troubles."

WHEN THE SPAVIN CAME.

He Ended the Brilliant Career of the Park Police Horse.

The fall from greatness of a police horse that had taken the blue ribbon at the national horse show is told by Sewell Ford in "Horses Nine" as follows:

For a whole year Skipper was the pride of the force. He was shown to visitors at the stables; he was patted on the nose by the mayor. The chief, who was a bigger man than the mayor, came up especially to look at him. In the park Skipper did his tricks every day for ladies in fine dress, who exclaimed, "How perfectly wonderful!" as well as for pretty nursemaids who giggled and said, "Now, did you ever see the likes o' that, Norah?"

And then came the spavin. Ah, but that was the beginning of the end! Were you ever spavined? If so, you know all about it. If you haven't been, there's no use trying to tell you. Rheumatism? Well, that may be bad, but a spavin is worse.

For three weeks Reddy rubbed the lump on the hock with stuff from a brown bottle and hid it from the inspector. Then one black morning the lump was discovered. That day Skipper did not go out on post. Reddy came into the stall, put his arm around his neck and said "Goodby!" in a voice that Skipper had never heard him use before. Something had made it thick and husky. Very sadly Skipper saw him saddle one of the newcomers and go out for duty.

Curling and Hurling.

Curling, the game that was for a long time furtively indulged in here by a few braw laddies, has been placed on a substantial footing, with numerous well organised teams and well contested tournaments. Handball has been wrested from the monopoly of a few professionals, and today a handball court is a popular feature of every well equipped athletic club. Discus throwing, that the Grecian youths excelled in at the Olympian games, has recently become a regularly scheduled feature of all big athletic meetings. More recently the royal and ancient game of golf has been transplanted from the hills of Scotland.

But hurling is far more ancient than any of these. The Scotchman, proud of the antiquity of golf, points to the time stained documents carefully preserved in Edinburgh showing that as early as 1457 the game was distracting the attention of the Scottish youth from more serious things, and to this day hurling has continued through all the centuries the popular game of the Irish people.

IMPERIAL LIFE.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto • • The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

YOUNG'S POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Young's Point, April 28th.

The cheese factory has commenced operations for the coming season, under the same manager, that is, Mr. A. Wilson.

The steamer Majestic which was towing in the back lakes and rivers for Mr. A. McDonald ,of Peterborough, has returned. She was away two weeks.

The farmers are all busy in this neighbourhood at present.

There was a meeting of the Young's Point Football Club, held in Mr. Heard's Hall on Saturday evening. Football has been on the decline the past two years, but the boys have taken an interest in the game this season, and elected officers and expect to play some matches before the summer is over.

We require a good warm rain here for the interests of the farmers.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

A Good Bank Statement can be Looked for To-morrow.

The Quotations of the Leading Stocks —Market Letters.

The Wall street Stock Market opened up this morning at about the same as last night's close. There was practically nothing doing during the day, as can be seen by the total number of sales. It was a narrow trader's market, closing a shade stronger than it had been during the early part of the afternoon. The banks state a gain from the interior of about $3,000,000, which should assist materially in making a satisfactory bank statement to-morrow, providing the loans are not increased to any marked extent, which seems unlikely. Thus it can be expected that the bank statement to-morrow will be a most satisfactory one.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, May 1st, 10.30 a. m. — Oliver is buying M.O.P. We have just received message from Waco that one message there from Western Texas says corn and cotton there has been killed by heavy frosts.

M. & M.

New York, May 1st, 10.40 a. m. — Foreign exchange closed strong last night 4.87.30 for demand sterling. This is practically point of which gold could be shipped at profit but as Str. sailing to-morrow is not a fast boat we do not look for any shipments until next week fast Str. sails and meantime something may happen to cause decline in rates and prevent it. This is the situation together with weather map which will now be most eagerly watched by speculators and these two factors will exercise a potent influence on general market sentiment.

M. & M.

Weather map shows frost from Rockies to Seaboard. It is heavy as far South as Fort Worth, Tex. Heavy in the Ohio Valley and extending as far south as Memphis in the central part. It is hardly likely market can escape some scares from this, although it will take several days to learn extent of damage if any. Armour is supposed to have sold wheat yesterday. Cash position slow, it is expected whatever deliveries there are on May contracts to-day will go to Armour. Effect of frost is by all accounts most important factor at moment, indications are for warmer weather.

SOME MARKET NOTES.

A certain room trader believes that he has discovered the sure road to wealth, says the Financial News. His system is extremely plain. It consists simply in buying Missouri Pacific at 109 and selling it at 110. "I don't know how long the scheme will work," he said, "but I have scalped a point six times during the last two weeks. Each time I bought 200 shares of Missouri Pacific at 109 and sold it at 110. I have scalped a profit of $1,200 out of the stock. I bought another 200 shares at 109 yesterday. You will see for yourself whether or not I get out of it at 110."

The earnings of Sao Paulo for the month of April will be to hand in a few days. If the showing is as good as that of the previous few months, many will take it as a foregone conclusion that the directors can without difficulty increase the dividend to 6 per cent. While there is no pronounced buying in the stock, it is taken as a good indication that there is very little unloading just now.

Sao Paulo or Twin City are fair speculative purchases. A dividend at a 6 per cent. rate is predicted for the former for the next quarter.

Lake Superior is a pure speculation, but at the present price its purchase is being advised by some who have confidence in the company.

The Commercial says that the lead combine will be perfected within the next two or three weeks.

Delaware & Hudson is said to have secured control of the proposed Binghamton & Southern Railroad.

The Journal of Commerce says that the total payments of industrial dividends in May will amount to $18,519,043, being the smallest of the year with the exception of February.

The new system of Thomas A. Edison's for extracting gold has reached a working basis. Mr. Edison has produced a machine which he declares will reclaim 98 p.c. of the gold from the gravel.

The American Federation of Labour insists that the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Carpenters Union must settle their differences and be merged into one carpenters' union.

The American Sugar Refining Company has brought suit against the government to recover $53,000 which it paid under protest from June 12, 1898, to July 1, 1902, in taxes on business amounting to $21,000,000.

Asst.-President Calderwood of B.R.T. denies that the company is instituting a large freight trolley system to be operated between mid-night and 5 o'clock in the morning, and states that such a plan is not likely to be adopted.

HOPEFUL PREDICTIONS.

Probably no opinion has been more widely ventured in professional circles of Wall Street this week than the opinion that, whatever might be said of the financial situation in its broader aspects, a "spring rise" in stocks is on the calendar, and ought to be nearly due. Tradition, in cases of this sort, is often more readily accepted than arguments.

The two seasons of the year for "booms" in stocks have been the early spring and the later autumn. The "spring boom" has been more frequent than that of the autumn; doubtless for the reason that employment of banking capital in general trade is least active in the spring.

The autumn, moreover, may witness completion of an unfortunate harvest. Spring, on the other hand, is a season of uncertainty. It is also, normally, a season of easy money. Maximum surplus reserves, in each of the past dozen years, with the single exception of 1898, have been reached in first six months of the year.

The experience of recent years is the best test of the real validity of the "spring boom" theory. In 1902 the wild speculation in Louisville started and culminated during April. In 1901, the phenominal outburst of buying on the part of the public, began in March, reached its climax in April, and did not relapse until May. Prices began to rise in May, 1897, and continued to gain strength up to the tightening of the September money market. In 1899 there was a pretty strong upward tendency during April; abruptly checked in May however, and turned into violent declines during June. This was a market of politics. On the other hand, 1895 was a notable instance of the "spring boom" overwhelming even the handicap of a continuous bad showing for the winter wheat crop, ending almost in harvest disaster. All these five years appeared to confirm the "spring boom" theory.

Examination of other years in the period shows that the rule has not always worked so well. In 1900 the gold standard and bond refunding bill became law on March 14, and was followed later in the month by a rapid and general rise in stocks. April, however, was introduced by the fall in iron and by a widespread break in securities, the depression continuing during May and June. April of 1899 was marked by continuous reaction from the wild "industrial boom" of mid-winter — a boom which had not waited for the sap to run. It was on May 13 that year that Governor Flower's sudden death precipitated the wild collapse in the industrial and traction shares. Recovery during June and July was slow and cautious, and it is noteworthy that even such stocks as Rock Island, Burlington & Quincy, Illinois Central and New York Central did not during the remainder of the year approach the high prices of February. The spring markets of 1898 were "war markets."

RUSH POINT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Rush Point, April 28.

The farmers here are getting on well with their spring work, the weather has been nice and cool.

We regret to say that the condition of Mr. Fred Alley is worse, and but little hope is entertained for his recovery.

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. C. Bannon, of this place, when his daughter, Maggie, was united in the bonds of matrimony to Mr. J. Sexsmith.

The weather has been so cold, that there has been no growth yet.

SOMETHING ABOUT IDEAL NEWSPAPERS.

The Present Day Press a Commercial Enterprise.

The Duty of the Newspaper Towards its Political Party—Some Suggestions.

(By J. F. Mackay, Managing Director of th Sentinel-Review, Woodstock.)

The ideal newspaper will have a staff each member of which is possessed of a broad vision and actuated by high ideals. It will be in a financial position rendering it independent of any counting-room considerations. Assuredly on this continent we have during the past decade seen some lamentable instances of a venal press. Perhaps the most glaring illustration of this ever known was witnessed in New York city at the time of the blowing up of the warship Maine, when, in the hope of securing increased subscription lists, two or three New York newspapers, in the judgment of sober, well-posted men, shouted war so loudly and boldly that the United States Government was practically compelled to declare war upon Spain. In striking contrast, however, to this rashness and criminality is the calm conservatism on all occassions of the press of Great Britain. This virtue was conspicuously illustrated in dealing with the troubles between European powers and Venezuela. The English papers persistently and, as far as I know, unanimously called upon the governments monts to arbitrate or settle by any fair means the alleged differences, even though the government was apparently in a humour to take much more extreme and aggressive measures. The newspaperman who will, for the sake of a few dollars, so prostitute his position as to force the hand of his country's government to undertake an unjustifiable war assumes a responsibility that is highly discreditable to himself and disastrous to the cause of humanity. I believe, however, that more and more newspapermen are realizing that honesty is the best policy.

This ideal editor will not only be an honest man, but he will couple with his honesty a deal more common sense than we have exhibited by the press of to-day. By this I mean ability to place things in their right relationship, a true perspective. This is a virtue which would prevent the newspaper from becoming the tool of any party—be that party a political organization or a clique of proud, ambitious men with selfish ends to serve. Just here let me say a word on what is popularly known as the "party organ." The day is not far distant, if, indeed, it is not already here, when the journal which cannot rise above the level of an organ, a machine to grind out sickening music put into it by the party boss, will be as little respected and as uninfluential as is the paper whose opinions are known to be always in the market-place. And rightly so, for it is hard to think of a more debasing or humiliating position for any journal to occupy than to be known as the mouthpiece to shield or applaud, as the case may be, everything which the party which, I suppose, includes in its membership scores of blacklegs and thugs—sees fit to do or say. The sooner the day comes when this form of journalism has found its last disciple the better it will be for the profession, and the greater will be the influence of the press generally. The very life-blood of a newspaper must ever be found in the standing it enjoys with, and the influence it exerts upon, its readers.

But when I speak thus strongly on what has come to be known as the party organ, I do not wish to be understood as saying that every newspaper should be labelled "Independent"—for as the label does not make the medicine, so it frequently happens that the so-called independent journals are the most servile of hacks. I believe that instead of what are now wrongly termed independent papers, every newspaper publisher—I refer, of course, to the secular press—should, as a duty, let his readers clearly understand for which of the existing parties he has a preference.

Goldwin Smith, in writing on this subject, said: "Partisanship is not corruption or dishonesty, and so long as we have their organs, of which we shall not expect independence, but fair advocacy and truthfulness in the publication of news. Untruthfulness in news columns where the reader is not on his guard against it is more fatal than one sidedness in editorials."

In a consideration of the business of a newspaper, one of the most conspicuous features that occurs to the mind is the rapid growth of the advertising idea. The subscription rate has got down just to the finishing point. One dollar per year would not pay for the blank paper used in a Toronto or Montreal daily, so that the publisher is actually out of pocket on every name added to his list at this figure.

When the newspaper is being so widely read, how essential that it should be wisely conducted. In the efficiency of its news service, or in the perfection of its mechanical equipment, the press of Canada ranks with any in the world.

The fact must never be lost sight of that the press, as at present constituted, is a commercial venture; that its very existence is dependent upon the business methods and the policy it adopts as is that of a bank or a dry goods store. This being the case, let the public take heed lest they ask too much of the journalist when they ask him to put himself in the very forefront of the fight against all forms of evil, supply his own weapons of defence and attack and take his chances on the legions falling in behind him. I am not trying to argue that the press has not grave and responsible duties to perform as a leader of public opinion. On the contrary I maintain that it is one of the first duties of a journalist to take up his position on what he believes to be right side of every question affecting the welfare of the people. But does not every citizen owe the same duty to the State? And let each citizen beware lest he is trying to shift to the press a portion of the burden he should bear upon his own shoulders.

PICTURESQUE SCENES.

Immigrants in the Station of Manitoba's Capital—An Inexhaustible Mine for the Student of Humanity.

Winnipeg station is a place of sights and scenes these days. The place is jammed. Not simply one crowd, but two crowds in the space where one would fit comfortably. With the jabbering and the colors and diversity of raiment, the place is an inexhaustible mine for the student of humanity.

Here is an Englishman, stubby and well under-pinned, with bowler cap, hunting stock, short jacket, knickers, and heavy hob-nailed boots, with leather leggings. He is in good trim for heavy weather. He hummed and hawed in the odorous crowd of Galicians, Hungarians, Roumanians, Swedes, and Russian Poles, and finally took himself off in search of a boarding-house, for most of these English chaps have money.

Next the Englishman in the crowd was a group of Doukhobors, a couple of families bound Yorkton way, to join their compatriots. The men, with their peaked caps thrust well down about their ears, their hair cropped square across the back and projecting several inches below the cap rim, their bushy beards and blouse jackets, looked like Russians. A pair of long boots, too, added to the resemblance. The women, stout, waistless creatures, with a waddling walk, which betokened great bodily strength if not activity, were cowled with dark shawls. The scanty print skirts and rough boots did not enhance the beauty of any of the women. Some of the younger women have round, clear features, but, like Southern European women, they mature early, and age on the sunny side of forty.

The babes are solemn, little, owl-like gnomes, with bald heads and expressionless features. They do not gurgle and laugh like Canadian youngsters. Canadian mothers might secure the Doukhobor receipt for infantile silence. Little Doukhobor girls, exact replicas of their mothers in dress and build, strode around, with their hands thrust into side pockets, and reminded one by their postures of the familiar pictures of little Hollandese boys in baggy knickers, who are eternally depicted with their fists jammed into their side pockets.

The Doukhobors are a remarkably solemn lot, and their taciturnity is remarked even in a collection of people none of whom are noted for their liveliness of speech or vivacity of manner.

Just at sundown a Doukhobor family in the station gathered behind their pile of goods and gravely offered up prayer. A patriarch in a long blue coat, with his cap crushed in his folded hands, stood facing his little group and supplicated the Most High for protection and guidance. There was an utter lack of ostentation about this display of subdued religious fervor. His voice, rasping though it was, did not carry beyond the immediate vicinity, but despite this a spirit of devotion pervaded the corner, and those surrounding him, unintelligible though the prayer was, ceased chattering, and many bowed their heads or clasped their hands and joined a Babel of tongues mumbling prayers.

The Galician men, dark fellows, have a strange hankering for blue. They wear long blue coats, with flaring skirts, and blue trousers, baggy about the hips. Their caps of fur are fez-shaped, but the Galician does not wear his cap set jauntily at an angle on his head. He pulls it down tightly, stuffs his ears up under the rim, and pulls his hair out until it projects on all sides. He is a queer duffer. His wife is an unobtrusive little woman, stockily built and very obedient, for the Galician is a bit of a domestic tyrant.

Half a score Galicians dropped off a train and were met by a few countrymen who had been in the country three or four years, and had established homesteads. Without a word the Galician men, bearded, full-grown fellows, kissed each other on the forehead. They did not come together like the stage heroine and her long-lost sweetheart. This was no hop, skip, and a jump affair, but a cold-blooded, deliberate ceremony. They put their arms beneath each other's shoulder blades and gravely kissed. There was no bluff about the osculation. It was a hearty, resounding smack. The women folk came in for no such show of affection. In fact they were hardly noticed.

Your Englishman is a strange chap in many ways. He wants to adapt himself to the country, but his ideas of the proper procedure are decidedly startling. The majority of him runs to horse pistols and sombreros. On a recent Friday about 30 Englishmen arrived, and to-day at least half of them are parading Winnipeg in sombreros, and it is safe betting that tucked down in as many hip pockets are revolvers of all vintages and sizes, from a handy pocket gun to a field piece of the ancient Colt variety. A new sombrero is the hallmark of an Englishman there. If you see a big yellow hat coming you can lay 100 to 1 that the lad beneath drops his "h's."

The Manitoba man has a poor opinion of an Englishman and his gun. Last week an Englishman with a little Canadian whiskey became involved in a bar-room quarrel. Out flashed a big revolver, but a heavy beer glass put him down before the first shot was fired. He perforated the ceiling, though, just to show that he was willing to press the trigger. An Italian with his stiletto is more feared, but a spade and shovel artist who starts in to carve gets handled about as gently as ore in a stamp mill. The police are never called; it's always the ambulance.

Sure to Be.

Harold—Uncle, what is the great woman question that the papers say so much about? Uncle (cynical old bachelor)—The great woman question did you say? I suppose it is "What did she have on?"—Halfpenny Comic.

Man's Four Ages.

Man born of woman is little persimmons and generally green. His life might be divided into four parts. As he starts his stomach is full of pains, blackberry balsam, and paregoric, and he winds up the first period by stealing green apples and fishing on Sunday. The second term, commencing at 15, rapidly passes into the smart Aleck fever and he learns to wear standing collars, smoke cigarettes, call his father old man, and go with the girls. At 21 he has bankrupt his father, and blown in every cent of his own, he finds a woman who is fool enough to marry him, and she takes in washing until she is called away. The last period, he lives around with his children, tells the big things he did when he was a boy, and finally goes under, making a momentary bubble on the sea of humanity, then is forgotten.—Toronto Star.

Imagination.

"Don't you find literary work a great tax on your imagination?"

"Yes," answered the author. "I keep on imagining that every book I write is going to be a hit and make a fortune."

It is the opinion of the cynical bachelor that the original bone of contention was a rib.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

GAMEY SUGGESTED "GLOBE" INTERVIEW

As Means of Defining His Political Intentions.

HE OUTLINED ITS TENOR.

Dr. Chamberlain Testifies That Mr. Gamey Asked Mr. Stratton to Prepare an Interview Announcing his Intention to Support Government—He Dictated the Points to be Covered.

Toronto, May 2.—Elgin Myers, Mr. Stratton's secretary, was again placed on the stand, when the Royal Commission to enquire into the Gamey bribery charges opened yesterday morning. Mr. Ritchie questioned him closely about the events of the 29th of January, when the interview was given to The Globe. Gamey was in and out of Mr. Stratton's office several times that day. The interview was handed to Hammond, the reporter, about half-past six. The latter, after getting it, went away, and Gamey immediately went into Mr. Stratton's room, and was with the Minister for a minute or two before he went down town. Mr. Hammond returned in a few minutes and went to the Minister's room and was with Mr. Stratton about five minutes.

An Isolated Instance.

Mr. Ritchie then questioned Mr. Myers about Frank Sullivan's statement that he asked him to intimate to Mr. Bastedo, Superintendent of Fisheries, that Gamey was going to have the patronage in the Manitoulin District. This was in connection with the pound net license, applied by the Messrs. Noble, of Collingwood. The patronage was not in a general sense at all. Myers said he told Bastedo what Sullivan said, but did not take in the meaning of it. The substance of what he said was: "Mr. Gamey does not want the Nobles to have the license." He said that since the revelations were made he had had several conversations on the matter with Frank Sullivan, but Sullivan never told his side of the story.

The Telegram's Preserve.

Mr. Johnston.—Q.—He reserved that for The Telegram reporters? A.—Evidently.

Continuing, he said he opened Mr. Stratton's confidential as well as official letters, and never read anything suspicious in them. With regard to The Globe interview, there was nothing private. The notes of it were in the handwriting of Mr. Stratton's clerk, Mr. Yokome, of Peterboro', so that Mr. Stratton, Mr. Yokome, Mr. Hammond, Mr. Gamey and himself all knew about it before publication. The manuscript notes he had destroyed, as were all note books, as, since the rule was that letters were on file, there was no further use for them, and they had not room to contain them.

Gamey Called Only Once.

Francis Costello, messenger in Mr. Stratton's office, followed Myers. He swore that, on September 9, Mr. Gamey came with Frank Sullivan to see Mr. Stratton, and did not come back again that month. This interview began about 10.15 and lasted about 25 minutes. He usually went to lunch, he said, between one and two. Costello explained that he fixed matters in his mind by the Conservative Convention of September 10. He swore that Frank Sullivan had never been to see Mr. Stratton prior to September 9. He said that there was nothing unusual in a Conservative member's visiting the Department. He could not give the name of any other Conservative member who visited Mr. Stratton in the month of September. He could not fix the date of Mr. Gamey's next visit more exactly than that it was some time between September 9 and January 1. On one occasion after the statement in the House Frank Sullivan said to him, "I will tell the truth." He stated that James Vance, the Liberal organizer, always had the entry to Mr. Stratton, and held precedence over all other visitors. Costello said that he sometimes went out of the building on errands for Mr. Stratton.

To Mr. Johnston he said he never delivered any parcel or letter to Gamey or Sullivan in the smoking-room, and knew nothing about any letter containing money in connection with them. It was a month after the interview of September 9th that Gamey had the next interview with Mr. Stratton, and he never had interviews on two days in succession.

DR. CHAMBERLAIN CALLED.

Dr. T. F. Chamberlain, Inspector of Jails, was the next witness. He was examined by Mr. Johnston.

Q.—Do you know Mr. Gamey? A.—I know him now, and I met him on occasion previous to seeing him in the chamber. I believe it was, as he says, the 13th of January.

Q.—How did you come to see him on that occasion? A.—I was called by the Provincial Secretary or Mr. Myers a little after 10 o'clock. Mr. Stratton, Gamey, and Myers were in there Myers went out shortly after I went in.

Q.—Was anything said then by Mr. Gamey? A.—He said that another lock-up keeper should be appointed at Little Current, as the present one was also keeping a hotel. I said that I would make a report on the matter.

Q.—What else was said? A.—There were some other appointments Gamey wanted made; one, his brother to the outside service of the Crown Lands Department.

Q.—What did Mr. Stratton say with regard to these appointments? A.—He said that they would have to consult, with reference to these appointments, with their political friends.

Q.—What did Gamey say then? A.—He said, I am a supporter of the Government.

Q.—What did Mr. Stratton say to that? A.—He said, rather sharply, "You have said so, but it doesn't look much like it the last few days." Mr. Gamey had been in Perth supporting the Conservative candidate.

GAMEY SUGGESTED INTERVIEW.

Q.—What was said then? A.—The Provincial Secretary said then, "If you are a supporter of the Government, why don't you declare yourself one way or the other?" Mr. Gamey said he was prepared to do so, and Mr. Stratton told him to do so then, at once. Mr. Gamey then asked him to prepare some kind of an interview for the press that he could give out with reference to his position.

Q.—What did Mr. Stratton say to that? A.—I think Mr. Stratton said, "Get it up yourself," or something to that effect. But Mr. Gamey said that he would like Mr. Stratton to get it up. Mr. Stratton asked him, "What do you want to say?" Gamey then repeated the substance of what he wanted to give out. Mr. Stratton was to prepare it, and Gamey call and get it. I walked over to the window then, and didn't hear all that was said.

Q.—Did Stratton take any notes? A.—I think he did, of some of the statements made by Gamey.

Q.—Did you read the Globe interview subsequently? A.—I did; I recognized more in it than I had heard said on that occasion.

Q.—Is there any conflict between the Globe interview and the instructions given to Mr. Stratton for the preparation of the interview?

Mr. Blake here objected that this question was a leading one, but, after considerable argument it was allowed, and Dr. Chamberlain answered: I cannot say as to that; I could not undertake to define each clause in that interview."

Q.—Was patronage discussed on that occasion? A.—Yes.

Mr. Blake raised an objection.

Witness—If I remember rightly, there was something said.

Q.—Do you remember what was said? A.—I don't know what led up to it, but the Provincial Secretary said when Mr. Gamey supported the Government his recommendations would receive the same consideration as any member supporting the Government.

Witness remained after Gamey went out, in order to discuss supply of coal for public institutions.

Q.—Have you a clear recollection of that? A.—Yes.

Q.—Ever see Mr. Gamey after that? A.—Not till I saw him on the floor of the Assembly.

Mr. Ritchie cross-examined Dr. Chamberlain.

Q.—You fix the date as the 13th? Q.—No, but from Gamey's statement that it was that date, and because that was the only time I had met him. Gamey was there when witness entered Mr. Stratton's room, but witness could not say how long he had been there.

Q.—They had some discussion? A.—Can't say.

Q.—What was the matter considered when you went in? A.—The condition of Little Current lock up. The keeper had opened an hotel and it was thought well to make a change and all, including Mr. Gamey, thought so.

Q.—Were you asked to report? A.—Yes, I think so. Witness said a report was necessary, though Mr. Ritchie asked him if it would not be merely a formal report. Witness thought not.

Q.—Did Gamey make a recommendation? A.—No.

Q.—Do you swear? A.—Yes.

Mr. Stratton gave the witness no intimation to leave.

Q.—Who opened the question of licensee Commissioners? A.—Gamey, I think.

Q.—What did he say? A.—He wanted commissioners appointed.

Q.—Did he name them? A.—No.

Q.—What reply did Stratton make? A.—He said they would consult their political friends at Little Current.

GAMEY'S PROMISE OF SUPPORT.

Q.—Did Stratton say he would not make license appointments? A.—No.

Q.—What next did Gamey say? A.—He said, I am a supporter of the Government.

Q.—What next was said? A.—The Provincial Secretary said it doesn't look much like it from your action in North Perth.

Q.—Stratton said it sharply? A.—Yes.

Q.—As if he were annoyed by Gamey's action in bye-election? A.—Can't say.

Q.—I am instructed that you take part in elections yourself? A.—No, sir; I have taken no part in fourteen years during which time I have been inspector.

Q.—Then I am wrongly informed? A.—I take no part in provincial elections.

Then you do in Dominion? asked Mr. Ritchie. Witness would not deny it, but he took none whatever in local elections.

Q.—After Stratton spoke what did Gamey say? A.—He said "I had to."

Gamey said he was willing to support the Government and asked Mr. Stratton to frame a declaration for him. Gamey was to get it when it was prepared.

Mr. Ritchie wanted Dr. Chamberlain to say whether Mr. Gamey brought up the license commissioners or the appointment of his brother first. The lawyer wanted an answer, yes or no, and the witness was not inclined to say yes or no. He was quite willing to explain the situation in sequence but that would not suit Mr. Ritchie. Finally both got talking at once and Mr. Ritchie sharply told the witness that if he didn't talk so much he would be acting more becomingly as a witness.

"Yes," retorted Dr. Chamberlain, "and I have my privileges as a witness the same as you have as a counsel."

Mr. Ritchie then appealed to the bench for a ruling as to whether the witness should be compelled to answer yes or no. The judges said they thought the witness was trying to answer to the best of his ability.

Dr. Chamberlain said he heard Gamey say that he was prepared to say in an interview that he thought the Ross Government's development policy was the right one, and that he would support the Government on votes of want of confidence. Mr. Stratton didn't suggest anything that was to go into the interview. The interview was to go into the press generally as far as witness knew. It did not surprise witness to hear Mr. Gamey make the requests because he had heard in the north country in the fall that Gamey was going to support the Government.

The commission adjourned at one o'clock for luncheon.

The commission resumed at 2 p. m., with Dr. Chamberlain on the stand.

Mr. Ritchie continued the cross-examination but briefly, and nothing was developed.

Mr. Bowen's Evidence.

Arthur A. Bowen of Kemptville swore he saw Mr. Gamey on the nights of Sept. 5 and 6. He slept in the same room with him and Mr. Martin. Asked whether he heard any conversation between Mr. Martin and Mr. Gamey, he said he did not take part in the conversation, but heard Mr. Gamey say that "the Ross Government was giving the Manitoulin Island good legislation excepting in a few minor matter, and he would have to support the Government of Mr. Ross." He said he had seen The Globe interview.

Cross-examined by Mr. Macpherson, he said he had been "a good Grit all my life and supported the Government all the way through." He could not recollect what Mr. Martin said to draw the political reference he had given from Mr. Gamey.

Gamey's Political Intentions.

Dr. R. H. Arthur of Sudbury, partner of Dr. Strouthers, said he knew Mr. Gamey well. Witness was an active Reformer during elections. Mr. Gamey was a Conservative. They were intimate, and agreed to disagree on political subjects. They had business associations that threw them much together. Gamey came into his office on July 3 of last year, after he had returned from a Conservative caucus in Toronto. Witness asked him about the political situation, and Gamey replied: "Well, Arthur, I think Ross is going to rule for the next four years." Gamey then told him many of the Conservatives were much discouraged, and took a gloomy view of the prospects

A Hospital Case

There was a hurry call for the ambulance of the City Hospital. In the course of a few moments a very sick woman was brought in on a stretcher — she was pale as death and evidently suffering keen agony. There was a hasty examination and consultation, and in less than a quarter of an hour the poor creature was on the operating table to undergo an operation for ovaritis.

The above is an accurate account of an incident which occured in New York recently; the young woman in question had warnings enough of her dangerous condition in the terrible pains and burning sensation low down in her left side. She had no one to advise her, and she suffered torture until it was too late for anything to save her life.

Women should remember that if they do not care to tell a doctor their troubles, they should be willing to tell them to a woman, who stands ever ready to advise and help them. Again we state that Mrs. Pinkham's advice is freely and confidentially given to every one who asks for it. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The following letters prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the power to cure, and does cure thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries, womb, and all other derangements of the female organism.

MRS. OTTOSON SAVED FROM A SURGICAL OPERATION.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot thank you enough for what your Vegetable Compound has done for me. If it had not been for your medicine, I think I would have died.

"I will tell you how I suffered. I could hardly walk, was unable to sleep or eat. Menstruation was irregular. At last I had to stay in my bed, and flowed so badly that they sent for a doctor, who said I had inflammation of the ovaries, and must go through an operation, as no medicine could help me, but I could not do that.

"I received a little book of yours, and after reading it I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am now a well woman. I shall praise your medicine as long as I live, and also recommend the same to any one suffering as I was."—MRS. MINNIE OTTOSON, Otho, Iowa. (June 9, 1901.)

Follow the record of this medicine, and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want — a cure. Moral — Stick to the medicine that you know is Best. Write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice.

INFLAMMATION OF THE OVARIES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to express my gratitude for the restored health and happiness Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought into my life.

"I had suffered for three years with terrible pains at the time of menstruation, and did not know what the trouble was until the doctor pronounced it inflammation of the ovaries, and proposed an operation.

"I felt so weak and sick that I felt sure I could not survive the ordeal, and so I told him that I would not undergo it. The following week I read an advertisement in the paper of your Vegetable Compound in such an emergency, and so I decided to try it. Great was my joy to find that I actually improved after taking two bottles, so I kept taking it for ten weeks, and at the end of that time I was cured. I had gained eighteen pounds and was in excellent health, and am now.

"You surely deserve great success, and you have my very best wishes."—MISS ALICE BAILEY, 50 North Boulevard, Atlanta, Ga., Treasurer St. Francis Benevolent Association.

THE ONTARIO FINANCES.

The Opposition in the Legislative Assembly acted sensibly this session in dropping the time-honoured practice of keeping up for many days what is called the "budget debate." The circumstances are exceptional, but Mr. Whitney and his supporters will do well if they exercise the same self-control when the conditions hereafter become normal.

The budget debates in the Legislature tend inevitably to resolve themselves into mere word-battles over modes of accounting. This Province is in the fortunate position of not having to devise ways and means of raising a revenue. What it gets from the Dominion and from its own Crown domain is far more than enough to maintain efficiently all public services that are properly Provincial as distinguished from those that are municipal, and these large sums come to it annually without any speculative or experimental efforts, such as the Minister of Finance of the Dominion must resort to. It is mere waste of time, therefore, to discuss the question whether we have an annual surplus or not. Properly speaking, we have a large surplus every year, and the question to be decided is whether we shall let it go on accumulating or spend it in ways that will bring relief to self-taxing municipalities.

After confederation the Sandfield Macdonald Government soon saw that such a surplus was a permanent feature of Provincial finance, and it began the practice of surplus distribution in a variety of ways. It voluntarily established a Central Prison to relieve counties of short-term convicts; it paid a portion of the cost of administering justice on circuits; it dealt more liberally with charities; it spent more on colonization highways and began the practice of aiding railways; it increased the grants in aid of education; it undertook on a more generous scale the improvement of waterways and the conservation of freshet water by artificial reservoirs; and, not to mention other services, it greatly expanded the accommodation for the insane and the feeble minded, and provided institutions for the intellectual education and the industrial training of the blind and the deaf and dumb of all ages.

In spite of this expansion of the Provincial outlay for objects not strictly Provincial, the Macdonald Government left an accumulated cash surplus, which the various Liberal Administrations since 1871 have been spending in similar ways, along with the surpluses arising from the operations of their own years. They have paid to the municipalities several millions of dollars in the way of cash distribution, leaving to the local corporations a wide choice of objects on which to spend the allotted sums. They have greatly increased the aid given to the work of education. They have added to the list of public institutions the Mercer Reformatory, the Agricultural College and the Model Farm, the School of Practical Science, and several extensions of the system of asylums for the insane.

The people of Ontario are not so silly as to suppose that they can spend their surpluses and keep them. They prefer to spend them instead of hoarding them. The existing generation is not prepared to deny itself relief from local taxation in order that posterity may get a larger measure of such relief, to act in the spirit of Sir Boyle Roach's famous question, What has posterity done for us? The Premier was quite right in his contention that the question of policy in dealing with our annual surpluses should be regarded as settled, and that criticism should now be directed to seeing that the objects of the expenditures are proper and that the money is carefully expended for those objects. — Globe.

GREATLY ALARMED.

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. H. P. Burbage, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., has been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough, which he says "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first steges of consumption." Mr. Burbage, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it. "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the 25 cent kind was permanently cured. SOMETHING ABOUT ASSESSMENT ACT.

Chief Recommendations of the Assessment Commissioner.

Personal Property — Business Tax and Taxes of Many Different Kinds.

In view of the discussion which will take place in the Legislative Assembly within the next few days, relative to the amendment of the Assessment act, it will be of interest to consider the chief recommendations made by the Assessment commission upon which the act is based:—

1. Assessment of Land.

That real property be assessed at its actual value, including mineral lands and the real property of all corporations.

That the right of use of an person of highways or other public places, in addition to the structures thereon, be assessed at actual value.

(2) Personal Property.

That the assessment and taxation of personal property other than income be abolished in all municipalities and that in lieu of this the following method of taxation be adopted in cities, towns, villages and police villages:—

(a) Business Tax.
(In lieu of tax on personal property and income divided from business.)

Where a person is engaged in a trade, manufacture, financial or commercial business, tax the person by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied for the purpose of his business.

(b) Calling Tax.
(In lieu of tax on personal property and income derived from callings up to $4,000.)

In the case of persons having or practicing or carrying on any office or profession, tax the person by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied for the purpose of his business or occupations.

Where the income of such person is more than $4,000 tax him first by reference to the rental value of the premises occupied, and tax him directly upon any income in excess of $4,000, derived from his profession or

(c) House Tax.

A supplementary tax is imposed on all owners and occupiers of houses, (meaning by that term buildings used as dwelling places) by assessing them for the rental value for the house, subject to exemptions, graded according to the population of the municipality. The following are the exemptions to be allowed in fixing the house tax:—

Where the population is 4,000 or less the assessed value of all houses up to $1,000.

Where the population is more than 4,000, but not more than 10,000 the assessed value of all houses up to $1,000.

Where the population is more than 10,000, but not more than 20,000, the assessed value of all houses up to $2,000.

Where the population is more than 20,000, but not more than 75,000, the assessed value of all houses up to $2,500.

Where the population is more than 75,000 the assessed value of all houses up to $3,500.

3. Income Tax.

In the case of persons paying the bussiness or calling tax and having income derived from other sources, tax them, directly upon such income, without exemption. In the case of all other persons, tax them directly upon income, subject to an exemption of $1,000.

4. Annual Value and Rate of Taxation.

For the purpose of these special taxes, the annual value is to be a sum equal to 7 per cent. of assessed value of the land occupied or used and the rate payable for the business and calling tax is to be 7 1-2 per cent. thereon. This rate may be increased to 10 per cent. by by-law of the municipality.

The rate for income tax is fixed at five mills and this may be increased to 7 mills by by-law of the municipality.

The special taxes referred to including income tax are not to be a lien upon land.

5. Exemption of Machinery.

One outcome of the abolition of the tax on personal property is a recommendation to exempt machinery used in any trade or manufacture. This was necessary to preserve equality as between merchants and manufacturers.

6. Provincial Board.

That a provincial board be appointed for the assessment of the lands of railway companies, incomes of express companies and the special franchises (which is the term applied to the right of use of highways or other public places) of other persons, together with the land used in connection with the special franchises.

7. Assessment of Railways.

The land of steam railways is at present assessed at the same value as other land in the neighborhood. The report recommends that these assessments be made by the provincial board, and raised gradually for ten years, when the actual value of land and improvements is to be the assessed value.

If our town councillors or Board of Trade have any suggestions to make for the improvement of the existing assessment laws, now is the time to get them in. The general measure should be made as perfect as possible, so as to avoid the constant tinkering which has been going on for years years past. And the co-operation of all whose experiance qualifies them to give advice is obviously indicated.

Children's Kidneys.

Dt. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the Most Successful Treatment for the Kidney Weakness of Children.

Mothers know what distress and anxiety they have when the little ones cannot retain their water properly or have any trouble with their kidneys.

For the weakness of the kidneys, bladdar or urinary organs of children, Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets, which are the prescription of the eminent specialist, Dr. Zina Pitcher, are the most effectual remedy known to science.

Mrs. W. M. Glover, Pearl street, Brockville, Ont., says: "One of my children that had been suffering from sluggish kidneys read about Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets, and procured a bottle. They removed the whole difficulty promptly. That depressing pain over the kidneys stopped, dizziness and headaches ceased, and there was a general invigouration of the system. There is no question regarding the merits of those tablets for the back and kidneys. We have great confidence in them and recommend them highly."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, Toronto.

THE GAMEY CHARGES.

The "Canadian Freeman," Kingston Sizes up the Situation.

The "Canada Freeman," thus remarks upon the Gamey charges:—"Our readers must be satisfied by this time, from the evidence presented before the Commission, that the charges preferred by the 'commercial' member for Manitoulin have no substance, and that his well woven story has fiction alone to support it. The gentleman says he was bribed and owns up to receiving $2,000 in cash, of which $1,500 was melted into his private business seven months ago, but in this he is not alone not corroborated but flatly contradicted on oath by Mr. Sullivan. Mr. Gamey, shortly after his examination, is said to have mutilated the cash book of the piano company, and changed his bank deposit slip leaf, as most people believe, his story would not hang together if the documents were to confront him. Then his mysterious visit to Buffalo, to the evident annoyance of his counsel, and the intimation of Mr. Blake that he wished to abandon the case, very plainly indicates that the pit which had been dug for Mr. Stratton is more likely to bury his accusers than himself. All through the trying ordeal Mr. Stratton has preserved a calmness not possible were he guilty —but up to this there is not the slightest necessity for his entering the witness box, for the case seems to have collapsed so utterly that the Gameyites are ashamed of their apostle, and much regret that the 'man for Manitoulin' was ever born."

TIMBER LIMITS DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Destruction Wrought by Flames in and Around Haliburton.

If the rain had not come yesterday afternoon the whole north country would have been swept by fires, and immense damage done to property. As it was the fires of Thursday did considerable damage to timber in the vicinity of Dysart, which is about six miles this side of Haliburton. At this point Messrs. Craig & Austin of Kinmount, whose timber limits are near there, had over $1,000 worth of tanbark piled at the railway siding. It caught fire during the afternoon and every bit of it was destroyed. The ties on the railway at Dysart caught fire and as a result the Haliburton train did not reach its destination till after 9 p. m., it being over two hours behind time. The saw dust at Craig & Austin's mill at Kinmount took fire and the millmen experienced considerable difficulty in putting it out.—Lindsay Post.

WHEAT GROWING BELT.

Col. Davidson Says it is Extending to the North.

Visitors From St. Paul Speaks of the Emigration From the States to Canada.

The wheat belt is gradually extending to the north, according to the statement made to-day by Col. A. D. Davidson, of St. Paul, Minn. Seventy-five thousand United States farmers have come across the border within the last year. "The wheat grows farther north every year, and the farmers follow the crop," said Mr. Davidson, who is president of the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company. "Thirty years ago corn was not grown further north than the central part of Iowa. To-day rich crops are harvested as far north as Grand Fork, N. D.

Whether it is because the soil is changing or the climate, it is a well known fact that small grain can be grown much farther north than ever before. In my opinion the movement to the Northwest has just commenced. As the American farmers learn more of Canada they will flock there to avail themselves of the cheap prices of land, which, in conjunction with the favourable climate, will no doubt attract more and more farmers every year."

The Saskatchewan Valley Land Company put on the market on July 1st of last year, one and a quarter million acres of land, which is now practically all sold to farmers, chiefly from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and the two Dakotas. In Minnesota and Dakota they do not raise nearly as much No. 1 hard wheat as in former years. This particular grade of grain is now growing better further north.

A PROMINENT COLLEGE MAN.

One of Indiana's Useful Educators Says: "I Feel Like a New Man."

MR. JOHN W. MENG.

Mr. John W. Meng, 54 Jefferson Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., State Representative of Indianapolis Business College, writes:

"I firmly believe that I owe my fine health to Peruna. Constant travel and change of food and water wrought havoc with my stomach, and for months I suffered with indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. I felt that the only thing to do was to give up my occupation which I felt very reluctant to do. Seeing an ad. of Peruna as a specific for catarrh I decided to give it a trial, and used it faithfully for six weeks, when I found that my troubles had all disappeared and I seemed like a new man. I have a bottle of Peruna in my grip all the time, and occasionally take a few doses which keeps me in excellent health."—John W. Meng.

THE most common phases of summer catarrh are catarrh of the stomach and bowels. Peruna is a specific for summer catarrh.

Gentlemen—"I have used one bottle of Peruna for lassitude, and I take pleasure in recommending it to those who need a good remedy. As a tonic it is excellent. In the short time I have used it it has done me a great deal of good."—Willis Brewer.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

THE EXAMINER'S OTTAWA LETTER.

Something About the Department of Labour.

To Intervene in Railway Disputes—Mr. Puttee as the Labourers' Friend.

Ottawa, May 2nd. — The labourers of Canada are very much in the mind of the Government and of the ordinary member of Parliament. The Government shows its interest by establishing a Department of Labour, presided over by Sir William Mulock, and managed by W. M. L. King, M.A., late of Toronto University. This department sees that the fair wage contract is put in force on all Government works, listens to calls for increased pay from Government employees, and intervenes in strikes when asked to do so.

PUTTEE IS LABOUR'S FRIEND.

The ranks of the members of Parliament contain several genuine friends of labour. A. W. Puttee, M. P., for the City of Winnipeg, a bit of a fellow with glasses, sprung from the printer's case, now editor of a weekly paper, is in the front rank of labour's friends in Canada. He is alert, a fair speaker, an able writer and has sense enough not to ally himself with either party. He is the best type of an independent politician in the House. He knows no politics but the Canadian labourer. His life in the West has imbued him with socialistic views, that are in advance of the sentiment prevalent in the older provinces of Canada. He would stamp out the vicious railway lobbyist be refusing all subsidies to railways. He believes that a railway that must be fed by pap from the federal treasury is not a crying need. If a need for a railway exists he believes that that need will be sufficient to repay the builders of the railway. He goes a step further and maintains that the best interests of Canadians would be served by the Government ownership of railways. He would not have the state take up the existing roads, such as the C.P.R. and G.T.R., at the present but in due time. But all roads to be built henceforth should be either owned and operated by the Government, or so controlled by ironbound regulations that the interests of the people are kept paramount.

COMPEL SETTLEMENT OF STRIKES.

He advocates some radical views in regard to the settlement of labour disputes. He believes the Minister of Labour should be authorized to step in and settle disputes, whenever he thinks it proper, on application from either party to the dispute. He would compel settlement of strikes, and make the Minister of Labour the compelling force. He has introduced a bill to this effect and stipulates that "In no case shall a conciliator or arbitrator stipulate in any agreement that any employee shall relinquish his membership in any local, national or international trades union or labour association; nor shall an agreement subject any employee to a penality on account of such membership." Thus he aims to make membership in a union no bar to a man's finding employment or getting fair treatment from his employer.

TO INTERVENE IN RAILWAY DISPUTES.

These views of Mr. Puttee have caused the Minister of Labour to introduce a bill this session to aid in the settlement of railway labour disputes. The chief clause in this bill recites that whenever a difference exists between any railway employer and railway employee, and it appears to the Minister of Labour that the public interest is being endangered, if not injured, he may on invitation of any party to the difference, or on the application of the corporation of any municipality affected, or of his own motion, cause an enquiry to be made, by a Committee of Conciliation of three, one named by railway, one by the parties to the difference and the other by the two. If this committee cannot arrive at a conclusion, then the dispute must be submitted to arbitration. The report of the arbitration will be sent to the Minister of Labour and published in the newspapers of Canada. The weak point is that there is no finality about the matter. The dispute may continue after the arbitrators have made their report. The Minister of Labour hopes that the publication of the facts in the case may result in public opinion forcing one or other of the parties to give in. Behold a Daniel come to judgment — public opinion!

RALPH SMITH, M. P.

Another member of parliament who is a keen champion of the rights of organized labour is Ralph Smith, M. P. for Vancouver, B.C. He was born in a coal mine in Cornwall, England, and worked in the coal mines of British Columbia for years. For ten years previous to his being elected M.P. he was the representative of the United Mine Workers in Canada, and threw up $150 a month to enter parliament, relying on his sessional indemnity of $1,500 a year for the bread and butter. He thinks he can better serve his people in parliament than out of it. His ambition is to have organized labour stamped with the word "Canada." He favours the cutting away from the international executives and the substitution of Canada grand officers, for American grand officers, though still retaining an affiliation with the international bodies. He considers this would facilitate the settlement of industrial disputes in Canada and do away with the oft-repeated charge that Yankees come to Canada when strikes are on and engineer them, regardless of the national spirit of this country. He does not sympathize with this charge, but he wishes to give the enemies of organized labour no chance to make it. He is a thick-set man, of genial disposition. He exudes the atmosphere of the coal mine, and talks with a roar, as he did when in the bowels of the earth. He is an orator by the grace of nature, and commands the ear of the House at all times. He speaks only when he has something to say.

FOR SAFETY IN RAILROADS.

He has introduced an act to promote the safety of railway employees. His act claims to do away with the frequency of accidents on the road. Locomotives must be equipped with a power drive wheel, brakes and appliances for operating the train-brake system, so that engineers may control the speed of the train without requiring brakemen to use the common hand-brake. Cars must be equipped with automatic couplers, that may be uncoupled without the necessity of men going between the ends of the cars. The standard height of drawbars shall be designated for railways of all companies having an exchange of traffic. All box cars must be provided with ladders and hand-grips to assist persons climbing on the roof. If a company fails to comply with the provisions of the act it will lay itself open to a fine of not less than $5 and not more than $10 a day for each engine, car or tender used.

GAMEY SUGGESTED GLOBE INTERVIEW.

of their party. Gamey said that he would not have been a candidate if he had not thought Whitney was going to win; that he did not want to sit four years in Opposition like A. F. Campbell; that he would give Whitney the first vote, but after that he would support the Ross Government, and that there were others who would do the same.

Gamey was angry that they were going to protest his election, and said that he knew there was not an election held that could not be upset if the details were got out. (Witness said, "Probably they would want to disqualify him," and he said, "Oh, they can't do that."

Got Liberal Votes.

Another reason Gamey advanced for supporting the Ross Government was that scores of Liberals voted for him. He told Gamey if he intended to support the Government the mere honorable course would be to resign and run over again as an independent. Otherwise the people would say that he had been bought. Gamey replied that this would cost money. He replied that it would be cheaper to run over again than to fight the protest against his election.

Gamey he said had characterized Whitney's speech at Sudbury on the mining policy as childish, and he also said that Whitney didn't seem to understand the wants of New Ontario. He spoke about his railway passes, and said that Col. Clarke had explained that it was not customary to grant passes to new members before the House met, and in his case it was a new constituency altogether that the railroads had no cognizance of.

In January of this year after the bye-election Gamey was in his office and Dr. Strouthers was present. Dr. Strouthers had told him what Gamey had said to him in Toronto. He expressed surprise at reading that Gamey was speaking for the Conservative in North Perth. Gamey said it had been arranged that he was to speak in Listowel, but that Whitney had upset the whole thing, because Whitney was jealous of anyone who attracted any attention. Gamey said he spoke about New Ontario, and that interested the people, Whitney's speech was the same old scold, he said.

Accentuating His Flop.

On January 13 or 14 Gamey told him in Toronto that Mr. Stratton had sent for him, and was annoyed that he spoke in North Perth. Witness told him he had done wrong, that he was really accentuating his "flop." Witness said it was bad policy for him and the Government too, for people would say that he had been bought if he made so quick a change. He indignantly denied that he had ever received or had been promised anything.

Gamey also told him there was trouble in the island, and he wanted to get back home, and showed a paper which he was going to get the Conservative farmers to sign in support of his position, and then he would with their votes and the Liberal vote defy the professional politicians in town.

Minister of Mines.

Gamey on several occasions with him on the policy for New Ontario also spoke of the prospects of the Conservatives winning out, and about dividing the Crown Lands Department, and that he would be Minister of Mines, although witness would not swear positively that he said that, and Mr. Miscampbell that of Crown Lands in that event.

Witness said he got $150 a year as jail surgeon at Sudbury from the Ontario Government, and that the Dominion Government paid him to look after the Indians.

Cross-examined by Mr. Macpherson, he said he had no official connection with the Liberal party organization now, although in the past he had been president of the Nipissing Federal Reform Association. He took part in all elections going, and did in the last general Ontario elections on the Liberal side.

Witness said he would swear positively to the dates he had given of the various conversations he had with Gamey, but that between the 7th and 12th of January, Gamey had told him that he had learned while in Toronto that a protest was to be filed against him. He would not swear positively that Gamey told him the protest was filed against him on the 12th July, but he was sure he told him it had been filed. Witness repeated, as the Chancellor said, the sixth time, the interview with Gamey on the 3rd July, and said there was no one present at the conversation.

Witness could not say he would be surprised to know that Gamey was not at the Conservative Convention in June. He said he did not say he had, but was swearing to what Gamey told him. He said he would be surprised to learn that Gamey had not been in Toronto for two weeks before that, but even so he would still adhere to his story that Gamey had told him what he had related.

What Mr. Gamey Told Him.

Mr. Gamey interrupted—"I was not in Toronto for two weeks."

Dr. Arthur repeated that he knew nothing about that, but was telling only what Gamey had told him. Continuing, he said that Gamey had told him he had voted for R. A. Lyon.

Mr. McPherson said he was instructed that Gamey never voted for Lyon.

Dr. Arthur said he would contradict that. Gamey told him that both he and his father voted for R. A. Lyon.

Witness told Gamey, but he had no authority for it, that if he resigned the Government would not likely oppose his re-election.

Witness said that Gamey told him he was present at Whitney's meeting at Sudbury, and that he afterwards told him Mr. Whitney's speech on the mining policy was childish.

Q.—I am instructed that not only does Mr. Gamey say that he did not tell you that, but I am further instructed that he was not present at Mr. Whitney's meeting? A.—I told you I was not present.

A.—But you swore he told you he was present? A.—I swore he told me in the way that we had the conversation about that, and that he said anything more childish than that speech at Sudbury was not to be found, but possibly he did not absolutely tell me he was there; I inferred that he was there.

Q.—Are you going back on the statement that he was at the Whitney meeting at Sudbury? A.—Yes.

Q.—You will recant that far? A.—Yes, sir; if he says he was not there, I was not there, and did not see him.

Not Mixing Things, He Said.

Witness said the last time Gamey spoke to him of the passes was to tell him that he had got them. That was on either the 13th or 14th of January in Toronto. He had conversations with him on both days. Counsel said he was instructed that Mr. Gamey left on the night of the 13th and was not back here until the end of January, but witness said his memory was that Gamey was here on both 13th and 14th. Asked if he was not mixing up some things Dr. Strouthers said, he said he was not, and that he still thought Gamey was here on the 14th Jan.

Witness said he had spoken with Mr. Stratton on the 14th Jan, 1903, and on the 30th or 31st Oct., but he had not discussed Gamey with him. Asked what he thought of the relationship between Mr. Stratton and Mr. Gamey that would entitle the Minister to scold Gamey for going into North Perth he supposed his conduct appeared inconsistent to Mr. Stratton.

He knew Capt. John Sullivan very well and Frank Sullivan very little. He had had a conversation with Capt. Sullivan this forenoon, but not with reference to his evidence. Before that he had seen Capt. Sullivan in Sudbury on the 9th of April, when both he and his son were in The Witness office. Frank Sullivan was not subpoenaed in his office, but he knew of his having been subpoenaed during the day. Capt. Sullivan had told him on that occasion, with reference to the present case, that there was nothing in it. Witness, however, did not want to go into the case and did not lead him on.

Capt. Sullivan was in his office for half an hour, he did not hold a watch on him, but knew it was not three hours. Capt. Sullivan in August last told him Gamey was going to support the Government. He was aware that Gamey was exercising a certain amount of patronage, for he told him so himself, but Capt. Sullivan did not say he had been offered any inducement.

The court adjourned till 10 o'clock Monday.

A BLESSING TO CHILDREN.

Strong words but truthful, and the experience of a mother who has thoroughly tested the value of Baby's Own Tablets. Giving her experience with the use of the medicine, Mrs. George Hardy, of Fordehu, N. S., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets and find them a blessing to children, and I am not satisfied without a box in the house all the time." These Tablets cure all the minor troubles of babyhood and childhood. They are prompt and effective in their action, and are guaranteed to contain no opiate or harmful drug. They always do good, they cannot possibly do harm. Good-natured, healthy children are found in all homes where Baby's Own Tablets are used. You can get these Tablets from any druggist or by mail at 25 cents a box by writing direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

Of Powley's Liquified Ozone—The Only Way to Kill Inside Germs

If you suffer from germs, and don't know that Powley's Liquified Ozone kills them, let us give you a bottle. Not a mere sample, but a full size bottle—enough to prove what Ozone can do. We will send you an order on your druggist for it, and instruct him to charge it to us.

This very offer must indicate to you that Ozone does what we claim.

Kills Inside Germs

Powley's Liquified Ozone is the only way to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues too—and you can't cure a germ trouble without killing the germs. Some of you have taken medicines until you are discouraged, for drugs never kill germs. Some of you believe your trouble incurable—simply for lack of a germ-killer. You are the ones to whom we want to give Ozone. We want you to know that Ozone ends these germ troubles—at once and forever. A cure is inevitable.

Not a Medicine

There are no drugs in Powley's Liquified Ozone—no alcohol—nothing but oxygen, the vital part of air.

Ozone is the discovery of a chemist who spent 20 years in learning how to get an excess of oxygen, in liquid form, into the blood. This product alone solves the problem of an internal germ-killer—a problem to which many scientists, including Koch and Pasteur, have devoted their lives.

Ozone gives to the world the only way known to kill germs in the body, and to cure the diseases they cause. It does that with oxygen—nature's greatest tonic—the very source of your vitality. It kills them because germs are vegetable, and an excess of oxygen, while life to an animal, is deadly to vegetable matter.

To-day the world's best physicians, and the largest hospitals everywhere, are using Ozone alone for germ troubles. And every person who suffers from a germ disease must employ it. We spend 14 days in making every bottle.

Germ Diseases

These are some of the known germ diseases. Powley's Liquified Ozone has cured each of these diseases—completely and forever, in at least several hundreds of the most difficult cases that physicians ever meet. Ozone is the proper treatment for all of them—the only quick, direct and certain way to remove the cause of the trouble. Medicine may palliate, stimulate, help nature overcome the germs, but Ozone alone can directly kill those germs, and that is what must be done.

Appreciated.

In connection with the Oddfellows' annual church parade last Sunday, Messrs. Jordan Bros. presented each brother with a pretty button-hole bouquet. Some 200 were made up. It is needless to say the kindness of Jordan Bros. was very much appreciated as was expressed in the hearty vote of thanks tendered them by both lodges in joint meeting. W. H. Daymon, Chairman Committee.

Want Cheap Attractions.

The management of the opera house, says the Belleville Ontario, has during the season been requested again and again to bring some of the big attractions that have been playing in Toronto, and other large cities and substantial support was promised. In view of this "Princess Chic," one of the best known operas that has ever visited Canada, was secured after considerable trouble. The theatre-going public could make no mistake in patronizing Princess Chic, if they wanted a first class attraction. Last night while the audience while not a slim one, the box office receipts showed the smallest figure that the company ever received for a one night stand in Canada. Princess Chic will not appear in Belleville again. The majority of the people seem to want cheap attractions, concludes the Ontario.

THE RURAL DEANERY

Of Northumberland and Meet in Campbellford.

The Quarterly Meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland, will be held in Campbellford on Tuesday and day and Wednesday of next week. Rev. George Warren of Lakefield, is Rural Dean, and Rev. W. L. Armitage of town, is Secretary. The Bishop of Toronto will be visiting the parish on Tuesday, and will hold confirmation service in the evening, which will take the place of the usual service in connection with the Deanery Dr. N. W. Hoyles, K. C., of Toronto, will give a Bible reading at 4 p.m. on Tuesday, and on Wednesday the Deanery will hold its regular session. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a.m., and then the following programme will be taken up:—(Acts 17, 22 ff), (b) Hart's Hulsean Lectures, (1871), by Rev. W. Oreswick, (c) Priestly Blemishes, (Newbolt,) by Rev. J. McKee McLennan.

A MEETING OF THE CARPENTERS' UNION

Was Held Last Night—Present Rate of Wage Will Stand.

A meeting of the Carpenters' Union was held last night in their hall on Simcoe street. There were present, Mr. R. M. Jones, President; Mr. William Johnston, Secretary; Mr. George Kane, Treasurer; and Mr. R. Ritchie, Financial Secretary, besides about forty other members of the union.

Some two months ago the union raised the price of labour to 22 1-2 cents per hour, and last night's meeting was for the purpose of ascertaining if the new scale of wages was agreeable to the members of the union, or if another scale should be struck. However, everyone seemed quite satisfied with the wages as they stand, and as they are, so they will remain, for the time being at any rate.

Very Pleasant.

Because it makes the digestion of good nourishing food easy, Angier's Petroleum Emulsion is prescribed by physicians for wasting diseases. It cleanses the blood and system of impurities and creates firm flesh. It is pleasant to take and agreeable to weak stomachs. 11a

THE COUPLE MAY LOSE THEIR FARM.

A Curious Case at the Alnwick Reservation.

Owing to the peculiar wording of the Indian law a rather curious law suit arises at the Alnwick Reservation. Mr. John Green, of town, was acting for the defence in an eviction against Joseph Chubb and his wife from their farm in that reservation. It transpires that when a child Chubb's parents joined another reservation. After some years Joseph Chubb returned to the reservation, where he was born and has lived there for some years, but was never reinstated in the tribe. The farm in question was devised to them by an uncle of Joseph Chubb, who had no children of his own, Mrs. Chubb being his adopted daughter. Thus owing to the peculiar wording of the Indian Act the couple may lose their farm. The case was adjourned for six days.

THE CHURCHES.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

The pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, will conduct both services to-morrow. Evening subject, "Do the Scriptures Forbid Women to Preach?" the sixth special sermon. Mr. and Mrs. Killen-Keough will sing both morning and evening.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The monthly collection for missions will be taken up at both services. Rev. J. A. Wilson, B.A., assistant pastor, will preach at 11 a.m., and Rev. Dr. Torrance, M.A., at 7 p.m. Special anniversary services will be held a week from to-morrow, when Rev. W. G. Wallace, B.A., B.D., of Bloor street Presbyterian church, Toronto will preach at both services.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m. on Sunday. The Bishop of Toronto will administer the rite of confirmation at the morning service, eleven o'clock, and will also preach at the evening service. There will be a special offertory for the Divinity Students' Fund of the Diocese.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

Rev. J. Bastow, M.A., will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening. At the morning service the Lord's Supper will be administered and the hand of fellowship will be extended to a large number of new members.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

The pastor, Rev. J. G. Potter, will (D.V.) preach at both services to-morrow. In the morning the subject will be, "God's Ideal," and in the evening, "Boldness in the day of Judgment." Miss Florence Miller who has been necessarily absent through illness, has sufficiently recovered to permit of her resuming her duties to-morrow.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

Quarterly meeting service will be held in George street Methodist church to-morrow. Love Feast at 10 a.m., sermon at 11 o'clock. After the public service a reception of members, and the Lord's Supper will be administered.

PARK STREET BAPTIST.

The Rev. A. H. Brace, of Dunnville, Ont., Father of Trooper Brace, 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, will preach D.V., in Park street Baptist church to-morrow, Sunday May 3rd, both morning and evening.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Miss Margaret Cox has returned from an enjoyable six months' visit to the Southern States.

Mrs. H. O. Fiske will receive next Wednesday and in future on the first and second Tuesday of each month, at her home, No. 571 Water street.

Mr. Harold Brown is in town for a few days on his way to Toronto from Montreal, where he has accepted a position with the Canadian General Electric Company.

The many friends of Miss Marguerite O'Connell will be pleased to know that she has passed in every subject at her second year's examinations at Queen's University.

CRICKET.

The junior colts of town and the Millbrook juniors are playing a game of cricket this afternoon at the Nicholls oval. The local team is composed of the following players: A. Moore, O. Moore, A. Wood, E. Walker, G. Green, B. Laing, H. Smith, G. Ferguson, H. Walkey, W. Burritt, H. Hall, and B. Carmichael.

As will be seen by the names the members of the junior "Colts" are all "youngsters." There was some talk of the somewhat older cricketers challenging the Veterans to a game on May 25th. From what is learned the older cricketers have not yet organized. Who then is sending out the challenge? Is one man to choose his own personal friends for the team or is the other alternative going to be taken—that is to say, the organization of a team. All the neighbouring towns have organised teams of similar strength to last year's "Colts" and there seems to be no reason why a good team should not be organized.

BASEBALL.

A meeting of the Young Men's Guild of the George street Methodist church, will be held in the Y.M.C.A. Building to-night to organize a baseball club. The committee which was appointed at the last meeting will present its report as requested. A large attendance of all those who are interested in the movement is requested.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Quakers' Tug of War team hereby accepts the challenge of the Trent Valley Team for the sum of $12.00. The match will take place on the old cricket ground in Ashburnham on Friday evening, May 8th. It is understood that each team will have eight men. The money to be posted not later than Monday, May 4th, and is to be placed in the hands of A. Fletcher. E. Winders, Capt.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., states: I suffered agony with itching piles. In fact, I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this ointment.

ENTERTAINMENT A GRAND SUCCESS.

Mr. S. Homer Eaton and Mr. W. Francis Firth in Town.

Assisted by Miss Adra Luton—A Splendid Programme.

The entertainment that was given in the local opera house last night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., was largely attended. The audience was made up of an appreciative gathering of Peterborough's music-loving people, who should feel indebted indeed to the Ladies' Auxiliary for the high class entertainment that was presented to them. The stage was very prettily decorated with flags, flowers and drapings and altogether the general appearance of the old opera house was quite improved.

The programme was supplied by Mr. S. Homer Eaton, of Boston, a personator of high merit; Mr. W. Francis Firth, baritone, of Toronto, and Miss Adra M. Luton, soprano, of Toronto. Mr. Wilber G. Grant, of Toronto, officiated as accompaniest. The programme was somewhat lengthy, but being of more than ordinary merit it did not grow irksome as is sometimes the case. The humourous Mr. Eaton kept the audience in high spirits throughout. He is certainly a remarkable man in his line and it is generally conceded that he is the best impersonator that has ever visited Peterborough. His work is refined throughout and he possesses the happy faculty of holding the undivided interest of his hearers during the time he is performing. From tears to laughter in the space of a few seconds Mr. Eaton appears to be able to move his audience. His dialect is cidedly New Englander, although Mr. Eaton can impersonate any countryman with apparent ease. His first number, a character sketch, "Mrs. Pettibone's Dinner Horn," at once caught the spirit of the audience. "Reuben Ketchem" was a grand and successful effort at impersonation, and the pathetic theme of his story was not lost sight of in his generally dejected appearance.

Mr. Eaton made a splendid hit in his impersonation of Josiah Allen's Wife, and kept the audience in roars of laughter. The climax was reached however when Mr. Eaton appeared on the stage as the modern Prima Donna. In his soprano solo, "Purdicesti Obocco Bella," he showed remarkable range and rather astonished local musicians. However, there was only one opinion, and that was that Mr. Eaton cannot be excelled as an entertainer.

Mr. W. Francis Firth possesses a voice of great range, quality and power. His personal appearance is pleasing, and his generosity with encores unlimited. Mr. Firth was formerly connected with the San Carlo Theatre, Italy, and a well known composer, and a number of his selections were of his own composition. Stewart's well-known compositon, "The Bandoliers," was his opening selection, and was followed by a highly appreciated number by Bohm entitled "Calm as Night." Another selection, although old, but always a favourite, was "Off to Philadelphia in the Morning," which sent a broad smile over the faces of any Irishman present. However, his selection "The White Star of Heaven," one of Mr. Firth's own composition, was perhaps the best effort of the evening.

Miss Luton, who was a prominent contributor to the programme, is a pupil of Mr. Firth's. She has a very strong voice and sings with apparent ease. She has a charming personality and her numbers, "Spring is Here," by Edith Dick, and "As Violets," by Firth, her opening selections, were heartily received. Miss Luton's other numbers were "Elizabeth's Prayer," by Wagner, and "A Dream," by Bartlett. Miss Luton is one of Canada's rising young soprano singers, and should be welcomed back to Peterborough.

A feature of the programme was the duet by Miss Luton and Mr. Firth.

Mr. S. Wilber Grant, the accompanist of the evening is the organist of the Broadway Methodist Tabernacle, Toronto, and possesses marked ability. His style is unassuming, his touch light, and he follows the vocalist with remarkable ease.

At the conclusion of the concert which was a decided financial success, the quartette of artists were entertained in the ladies' parlours of the Y.M.C.A. A great many of the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and other ladies, besides a number of gentlemen availed themselves of the opportunity of meeting the visitors. Refreshments were served and a most onjoyable hour was spent.

In connection with the appearance in Peterborough of this high class concert company, the public is greatly indebted to the exertions of Mrs. C. B. McAllister and Mrs. R. J. Frost.

The thanks of the Auxiliary are due to Mrs. A. L. Davis, Mr. F. Mason and Messrs. Jordan Bros. for plants and flowers; to Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons for flags; to Mrs. W. A. Sanderson for decorations for the stage; to the Heintzman Company for the use of a piano; to R. Hall & Sons for rugs, etc., and to those who so kindly contributed to the supper in the Y.M.C.A.

The decorations of the stage of the opera house, which were much admired, were arranged by Mrs. McAllister and Mrs. Frost.

Altogether the concert was a grand success.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A., is indebted to Messrs. Ormond & Walsh for the conducting of the plan of the reserved seat tickets, and to Mr. H. H. Edmison and Mr. Chas. Whiten for assistance at the box office in connection with last night's entertainment.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining eleven pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

GOOD PRODUCTS AND GOOD DEMAND.

Large Machinery Shipments by Wm. Hamilton Company.

It is a well known fact that Peterborough's manufacturing establishments are being operated to their fullest capacity, and are finding it hard work to keep up with their orders. It may be of interest to know that the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company is shipping carloads of machinery almost every day to one firm alone. This firm is the Canada Paper Company.

The William Hamilton Manufacturing Coy. has under contract from the Canada Paper Company an order for ten large water wheels and several other pieces of machinery, including parts of the Canada Paper Company's mammoth paper machine. This is the first time that this class of paper machinery has been made in Canada. The contract of the Canada Paper Company with the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, amounts to some seventy-five thousand dollars, and is certainly a tribute to the enterprise of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company.

It is understood that the Canada Paper Company, in the erection of their new mills, the largest of their kind in Canada, have endeavoured, as far as possible to expend their money in Canada, and they may rest assured that that supplied from the Wm. Hamilton Company will be up to the mark.

Don't forget the concert in St. Luke's school room Monday evening, May 4th. A good programme, including Mr. Wildgust, Mr. Dawson, Miss Aggie Patterson and others. Tickets 10c.

LATE THOS. C. HALL OF SIERRA COUNTY.

Brother of Mrs. Wm. Hawkins Hall, Reid Street, Peterborough.

The Sierra County Advocate, of Sierra County, New Mexico, contains the following account of the death of Thomas C. Hall, brother of Mrs. William Hawkins Hall, Reid street, Peterborough :—

"Thomas C. Hall is no more!" were the words that startled the people of this community last Monday morning, shortly after eight o'clock. Apparently so robust, so brief his illness, the words fell upon the community like a pall. The deceased was taken suddenly ill about seven o'clock on Sunday evening with an acute attack of indigestion, the shock of which overpowered a weak heart—hence his death. So brief was his illness that but few know of it until a few minutes before his death. The flag on the court house was placed at half mast, and word of his death was sent broadcast. The funeral took place at one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon and was conducted under the auspices of the Kingston A. F. and A. M. lodge, of which the deceased was a leading member. Brief services were held at the family residence, the main service being held at the grave. The remains were followed to the grave by the members of Kingston Lodge and a large number of sorrowing friends and neighbours. There the beautiful and impressive Masonic burial service was conducted by Mr. Thomas Murphy, W. M., of Kingston Lodge, A. F. and A. M. The floral decorations were beautiful and profuse. The pall bearers were M. L. Kahler, T. C. Long, A. Engleman, John Disinger, Martin Conaboy, A. J. Hirsch, F. W. Mister and Geo. T. Miller.

Thomas Cambie Hall was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., Feb. 16, 1844. He prospected and mined in the Black Hills, and in Colorado; he left the latter state and came to Chloride in 1881, and thence to Hermosa, where he remained until elected to the office of county clerk in 1892, when he came to Hilsboro, where he lived up to the time of his death, when he was serving his sixth term as probate and county clerk. Mr. Hall was one of the solid citizens of Sierra County. As a citizen and as a public official no man excelled him; always kind, generous and faithful to a trust his death is a sad blow to the county and to the community in which he lived. He leaves a devoted wife and stepson to mourn his loss. The relatives of the deceased have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

The Success of Paine's Celery Compound Has Astonished and Gratified Medical Men Everywhere.

It Is The Only Remedy That Positively Bestows Health and Lasting Strength.

Years ago when a great public demand arose for a remedy for nervous ailments as well as a reliable blood purifier, Dr. Edward E. Phelps, Professor of Materia Medica and Medical Botany, of Dartmouth Medical College, gave to diseased and suffering men and women his great discovery Paine's Celery Compound. The success of this wonderful prescription has been phenomenal. No other remedy known to medical science enjoys such a widespread reputation to-day.

In this month of May when so many are sick, Paine's Celery Compound makes people well. It is the one true specific prescribed by eminent practitioners for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system; it is a positive cure for sleeplessness, wasting strength, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles and all diseases of the blood. Mr. S. Hanna, a respected resident of Manvers, Ont., writes thus :—

"After severe sickness and suffering for a length of time, I am happy to state that I was made well by Paine's Celery Compound. To be raised up from a low and weak state, inside of two weeks, is a marvellous work, which nothing else but Paine's Celery Compound could have accomplished. After using the first half bottle of the compound, I was able to dig the holes for a forty rod fence, and help to build it. Before using Paine's Celery Compound I could not sleep, and had no appetite; now I enjoy good sleep and a healthful appetite. Paine's Celery Compound is worth its weight in gold to any sufferer; it is the best medicine in the world."

GENERALLY SPEAKING

PETERBOROUGH got its forward impetus from its wooden environments, and its prosperity is based on timber — in the shape of the lumbering industry. And we don't want our prosperity and prospects destroyed by timber—in another form — poles on our streets. We like to have, and must have, the conveniences represented by these poles, but we must see that the disadvantages do not countervail, or even outweigh the benefits. In a paragraph in yesterday's issue mention was made of the multitudinous multiplicity of poles on our streets. We pay full charges for telegraph, telephone, electric light and power services, and we give the several companies represented the use of our streets at a price—when a price is charged—far below the value of the franchise. And if we add the cost of increased insurance rates, through the interference of the network of wires, with the work of the fire brigade, we must frankly admit the time has come to consider whether or not the people have rights as well as the companies. Why not consider the advisability of having the law changed so that one set of poles would be required to serve for several lines? This would reduce the number of poles. Or the law might reasonably even require that all transmission wires be placed underground. And the law might be amended so as to give municipalities control of their own streets, as against the claims of telegraph or telephone companies. In Ottawa there is a big fight on between the city and the Bell Telephone Company. The latter proposes to place new poles independently of the consent of the corporation. One can sympathise with the mayor of a city who says he will resist, by force, if necessary, the attempt of the company to take the control of the streets out of the hands of the city. When it comes to a point like this legislation should be procured to give municipalities the control of their own property.

GOOD IDEA. One of the "non-coms." of the 57th suggests the idea of the non-coms. themselves undertaking a sort of military tournament —something on the same principle as the military tournament in connection with the Toronto Horse Show. There is no doubt that "the boys of the old brigade" could put on a good show of its kind, and that such an entertainment could be held, either in the new rink or the old drill shed, and be made a great attraction. It would not only enlist the sympathy and support of the public, but would also intensify the esprit de corps of the corps, stimulate a friendly rivalry and unite the 57th more closely to the public and strengthen regimental bonds. We are sure if the non-coms. undertake the enterprise they will succeed. The conditions being acceptable they will have the sympathy and support of the officers, and that of the public can be counted upon. Such a tournament could not perhaps be prepared for Victoria Day. But it could be made so attractive that at a later date it would receive the enthusiastic support of the public.

IT IS REPORTED that the Counties of Northumberland and Durham are contemplating the erection of a House of Refuge, and that it will be placed in Millbrook. Port Hope would, however, be as quiet and secluded a spot were the worn and destitute could, in addition to three square meals a day, enjoy the blessing of perfect rest. Seriously, it is it is to be hoped that the report is true and it would be a great thing if the establishment of a House of Refuge were to be consummated in Peterborough. At the meeting of nearly every Assize Court the necessity of such an institution is impressed, and yet we still persist in housing our indigent poor with criminals and rascals. Civilization evidently has not yet done its perfect work.

MAYOR ROGER struck a good note when at the lecture of the World's Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, in St. Paul's, he heartily commended the work of the Young Women's Christian Association, and its possibilities in the way of doing a much needed protective and auxiliary work for our girls. Estimable as is the Y.M.C.A. there is a danger of losing sight of the more important "sister" institution, the Y. W.C.A. From the nature of things and the present condition and constitution of society, girls need help and guidance more than a young man. They are exposed to as many temptations—temptations if yielded to of more serious consequences. In this age when girls are thrown more on their own resources and earn their own livelihood in increasing numbers, the need of such an organization becomes more urgent. The state of a young man thrown alone and unknown in a strange town is in no way so serious as that of a girl placed in similar circumstances. Yet the Y.W.C.A. does not seem to have got the same grip on the public sympathy as the Y.M.C.A. Last night a concert was given with great success in the interests of the Y.M.C.A. by the Ladies' Auxiliary. This provokes the question, why not have a Gentlemen's Auxiliary to the Y.W.C.A., or some equivalent assistant organization. The Y.W.C.A. is worthy of much stronger support than it receives, and Mayor Roger's words of commendation were timely. We often see reports of the good work done by the Salvation Army refuges for girls, but such refuges would be less necessary and have fewer inmates if Young Women's Associations were equipped with sufficient financial means, to do the saving and preventive work which these organizations virtually aim at.

* * *

THE PRINCIPLE of permanent street improvements which had, if not its origin, intensified recognition, in the time of Mayor Davis, seems to have been relegated, in practice, to the back ground. A case in point. The steam roller and grader put in a day or two on Walton street. The residents complained of the state the street was left in after the sewer laying, and they have serious complaints of the way the street has been "improved." The surface of the road is uneven—hollows and hillocks —and at one point the grating to a manhole is left projecting several inches above the surrounding roadway. A few barrowfuls of street metal would have brought it to a level and would have avoided having the grating a positive obstacle in the street and a menace to the wheels of vehicles. A little more material and a little well directed work would have placed this street in a fair condition. Now it is by no means a model piece of work. What is worth doing is worth doing well, especially in regard to work on our streets.

MONTREAL'S LATEST NEW INDUSTRY.

The Goodrich Polish Company of Campbello, Mass.

One by one the manufacturers of well known American specialties are realising the present and prospective value of the Canadian business field and are establishing branch factories in this country.

One of the latest concerns that has invaded Canada is the Goodrich Polish Company, of Campbello, Mass., who have just completed a very up-to-date shoe polish plant in St. Genevieve street in Montreal. They manufacture the well known lines of the Trilby shoe polish of which a very large success has been made in the United States. Mr. Goodrich in speaking of the establishment of his factory stated that his Company had for a number of years enjoyed a considerable trade in Canada and that trade had developed to such proportions that it was advisable to have a manufacturing plant in Montreal. He has been in the city for a month past superintending the installation of the plant which is now complete.

CURED OF RHEUMATISM

C. D. Zimmerman, Suffered From Rheumatism for Sixteen Years—Is Now Out of Bed and Can Walk Around, Due to

MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE.

Other Cases That Read More Like Miracles Than Actual Happenings in the 20th Century—Showing the Extraordinary Power of Munyon's Rheumatism Specific to Cure Rheumatism.

"A man, like a piece of machinery, is incapable of doing his best when out of repair."—MUNYON.

"If I were not able to offer the people of Canada absolute proof of the value of my remedy to cure disease I would expect them to prohibit the sale of my remedies by law and prohibit my ever entering their country.

"I do not ask them to take a single statement of mine in regard to the curative value of my remedies that I cannot substantiate by actual and unimpeachable proof by the unbiased and unprejudiced evidence of their fellow-countrymen. I have several remarkable cases to call to their attention today. The first is from C. D. Zimmerman, who has charge of a large department in Adams Bros.' Harness Manufactory, Toronto. It may interest you."—Munyon.

C. D. ZIMMERMAN.

"I have been afflicted with Rheumatism for sixteen years. In that time I have tried every available means to get well. I tried pharmaceutical preparations, advertised remedies and physicians' prescriptions and could obtain only a small amount of relief. My feet and ankles were affected, and they would pain me so severely that I have had to take to my bed for days at a time. I procured a trial vial of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure at the free distribution recently held at The News Office, and I can now get around. I am greatly relieved, feel better than I have for years before, and I consider a permanent cure is not far off. C. D. Zimmerman, 47 Duke street, Toronto."

MRS. JOHN QUICK.

"I have had Rheumatism for a number of years, and have suffered with pains in my joints a good deal and shooting pains all through my body. I procured a sample vial of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure at the free distribution, and I am indeed thankful. My pains have all left me. FRANK MINER'S TALE

One of the Entombed Tells Jury His Thrilling Story.

VICTIMS NUMBER SIXTY-TWO

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Reads a Message in the House—Several Persons Reported Killed Have Turned Up—More Additions to the Death Roll—Graphic Story of Turtle Mountain's Devastation.

Frank, N.W.T., May 2.—The only authentic story of escape of the seventeen miners who were employed in the Frank Mine was told by Joseph Chapman at the inquest, which was opened yesterday. Coroner Anderson of MacLeod conducted the inquiry. The following jury was impanelled; Thomas McDonnell, foreman; C. A. Gardner, William Evans, Leonard Wolburn, James Copeland and Chas. Chestnut, all of Frank.

Story of a Survivor.

Chapman's story is as follows: "I was one of the seventeen men in the mine when the fall took place. I felt the concussion very severe. I was at top of number 8 manway and I noticed that the air in the workings was forcing everything before it toward the outside of the mountain, and the coal began to fall, and threatened to close the same. I started to make down the manway. We arranged that those who were not cutting would have to sit to one side out of the road, while some were cutting timbers and others were keeping close watch on the lamps. Some went back for timbers, and so we worked on for about an hour, when we found that the air was getting bad. We then decided we would kill the horses in a few minutes if the air did not clear.

"Two decided to go back to No. 8 manway to see if they could attempt to go out through the upper tunnel. They found they could hardly keep their lamps lit in the manway, so they came back behind us. They could see it coming in the manway.

"By the time I got down there were three other men in the crosscut, and one of them, Evan Jones, called me to help him to pull a man out who had been closed in the crosscut. We got him out and then all started down the manway. We decided to wait until 7 o'clock in the morning to see if we could hear anyone outside, and if we couldn't hear anyone at that time we were to start and cut through. When 7 o'clock came we failed to hear anyone. We pounded on the rail there for about five minutes several times, but failed to get any answer.

Danger From Rising Water.

"So, the air beginning to get foul, we decided to make haste and do what we could. So they went down into the bottom level to see how the water was, and they reported that 24 hours, as nearly as they could tell, would fetch the water into the cutting where we were working. We decided our time was limited, and we should have to pound for all we were worth to try to get out. We finally decided to remove all we could between the rocks, and we shoved the smallest man in the crowd through as far as we could and let him shout for help. Evan Jones said he would be satisfied to let us shove him up, so we finally got others to help us to move the rocks and get out all our gang. Seventeen in all got safely out.

Did Not Hear Any Explosion.

"I neither felt nor heard any explosion inside the mine until the force of air struck me and very nearly picked me up and threw me into the manway. The blast was full of coal dust. My opinion expressed to my companions was that a hot wave of air had mixed with a cold one and had exploded the cold one. I attributed the hot wave to be caused by something wrong with the boiler. Jones agreed with me, McKenzie also. I think the fall of rock was caused by some disturbance of the earth."

VICTIMS ARE 62.

34 Men, 8 Women and 20 Children Were Killed at Frank.

Ottawa, May 2.—This is the substance of official telegra of extent of loss of life at Frank, read by Sir Wilfrid yesterday in the Commons: The following is probably more nearly a correct estimate of loss than any yet: 34 men, 8 women, 20 children killed; 11 injured, probably one die, two or three dangerously, have good attendance. Only two killed in or near mine. Ten dead recovered, remainder nearly all buried under many feet of rock, possibly a few near edge of slide may be recovered.

Killed: Miners, 21; balance, ranchers, marchants, liverymen, engineers, railway contractors, laborers; six cottages totally destroyed by rock, swept away like feathers and broken into matchwood. One partially ruined. Inhabitations of ranchers and others outside Frank destroyed. All machinery installed and large amount of new machinery near tunnel mouth totally destroyed; tipple scales, engine house and all other plants destroyed. Uncertain whether or not tunnel materially injured, probably not.

Great Rock Slide.

W. W. Leach, B.A.S.C., of the Geological Survey, telegraphs from Frank: The Frank disaster is simply a great rock slide, from near the top of Turtle Mountain.

INDESCRIBABLE CHAOS.

Graphic Story of the Upheaval of Turtle Mountain.

Frank, N.W.T., May 2.—Utter desolation reigns on the site of the once busy little Town of Frank. The stupendous avalanche from the summit of Turtle Mountain did its work with awful celerity. Millions of tons of rock fill the valley of the Old Man River to a height of in many places one hundred feet, and presenting a scene of indescribable chaos.

Dazed by the shock of Wednesday morning's disaster the remaining inhabitants of the town wander aimlessly about in a vain attempt to locate the bodies of their dear ones who, by nature's mighty upheaval, were in the twinkling of an eye annihilated.

To the stranger approaching the scene of the disaster from Cowley (the only means of approach as yet open to the outside world), the extent of the cataclysm becomes apparent. Millions of tons of rock piled into vast irregular masses covered the whole space at the foot of the mountain, and huge boulders thrown clear accross the valley, lie scattered in thousands up the eastern slope behind the town. Only a few buildings can be seen standing forth amid the wilderness of limestone, trees and gravel covering a space of one and one-half miles wide and two miles long.

The railread track for a distance of three miles east of the station is blotted out of sight by the avalanche, and now lies forever buried to a depth of from fifty to one-hundred feet. As the first relief party from Cowley stood upon the slope overlooking the site of the Town of Frank and realized that beneath that hideous mass of rock were buried many whom they held dear, the whole party were utterly depressed by the magnitude of the disaster, and many eyes were dimmed by tears.

Those residents of the ill-fated town who were fortunate enough to come safely through the catastrophe say the scene at the time of the avalanche is absolutely beyond description. As the thunder and boulders caused by the upheaval awakened the sleeping townspeople, and boulders and debris crashed down upon the cottages nestling at the foot of the mountain, those few who were fortunate to be out of the direct line of flight of the rocky downpour, rushed out into the night, and panic-stricked, ran up the street away from the roar. The worst of the noise was over in three or four minutes, and they returned back to the hotel, but those few minutes were enough to fill up a peaceful valley with debris and to crash out in a moment the lives of nearly 100 sleeping men, women and children.

The C.P.R. is cutting a pack trail for horses around the slide and has commenced work on a road which will be some four miles long for the purpose of making transfers. C.P.R. officials are discouraging all attempts to make the trip through the pass under which the railway track for two miles is covered many feet deep with millions of tons of the rock. The district in this neighborhood is covered with a fresh fall of snow, and this fact helps to render a trip through the pass extremely hazardous. The walk around and over the mountain to Frank covers a distance estimated at more than five miles.

The special party from Calgary, with nurses, doctors and mounted police, in charge of Superintendent Primrose, have now arrived here.

Death List Grows.

The death roll was increased yesterday by the names of Wm. and John Bobbies and John Lircuna and John Clark, all miners. Two brothers named Wooster cannot yet be accounted for, and it is feared that they are also among the lost. Two hitherto-reported dead were found yesterday to be alive. They are B. Sumis and John Sorri. The total of the death list now numbers 64. The injured are reported progressing favorably.

Appeal For Aid.

Winnipeg, May 2.—The Board of Trade here has received a telegram from the Board of Trade of Frank, N.W.T., asking that financial assistance be sent there to aid the destitute townspeople. A committee was appointed to ascertain what the necessities of the situation required.

LIFE WAS A BURDEN.

Marie Ann Bujold Tried Many Methods of Curing her Dyspepsia—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets did it and did it Thoroughly.

"For two years my life was a burden." This is part of the experience of Marie Ann Bujold, of Maria Bonavista Co., Quebec. It is hardly necessary to tell what was the matter with her. Half the people of Canada know without telling. They too have Indigestion or Dyspepsia and they know only too well that life is a burden to them. But listen to the other part of Marie Ann Bujold's experience.

"I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. I finally consulted doctors, but they did me no good.

"I saw some announcements of wonderful cures by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and though I had strong objections to patent medicines I made up my mind to try them. The result was wonderful. One box cured my Dyspepsia completely and it has never come back since."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets not only relieve but cure Dyspepsia. And they cure to stay cured.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely, and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Ryder, of Pattens Mills, N.Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string, and handed me a dollar saying 'Give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'" For sale by all druggists.

Ex-Senator Carmichael Dead.

Ottawa, May 2.—A despatch from New Glasgow, N. S., states that ex-Senator Carmichael died there at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. He had been well and was out the day before as usual. He got up yesterday morning, apparently in his usual good health, but just before 9 o'clock complained of feeling weak, and suddenly expired. Mr. Carmichael, who was 93 years of age, resigned his seat in the Senate last week, and was succeeded by J. D. McGregor of New Glasgow.

Kidney Trouble and Lumbago.

Thirty Years of Backache and Rheumatism—Winter Season's Especially Severe—Attributes Cure to

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

This season of the year is especially trying on the older people. The pains and aches grow more severe in the cold and changeable weather, the kidneys get out of order, rheumatism and lumbago torture their victims, there are aching backs and limbs, stomach derangements, urinary and bowel disorders and serious, painful and fatal maladies.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly suited to the needs of persons of advanced age. They regulate and invigorate the liver, kidneys and bowels and prove effectual when ordinary medicines fail. This letter from Mr. Robert Jackson gives some idea of what this treatment is accomplishing every day.

Mr. Robert Jackson, ship builder, Port Robinson, Ont., writes: "I was afflicted with kidney trouble and lumbago for about thirty years. The winters were always very severe on me, and I was many times incapacitated with all the serious symptoms of both troubles. I had backache, biliousness, rheumatism, headache and constipation, and was wrecked physically. I used all sorts of medicines and have been treated by the medical profession to no purpose.

In the spring of 1902 I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and from the start received great benefit. I continued the treatment until I fully recovered good health and vigour, my old trouble being a thing of the past. I am seventy-five years old, and if, at my advanced age, I have received such grand results from the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills after years of unnecessary suffering, there can be no doubt of their efficacy in the treatment of younger persons. I recommend them to everyone. I have tried to think of words to express my gratitude, but it is beyond expression for they have done more for me than I could have believed."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 2

The Ingenious Crow.

Victoria, B. C., has a novel hard luck story that will please the heart of every naturalist. The owners of slate roofs near the waterfront have been having much trouble of late because the slates were continually breaking and falling from their roofs, and then the buildings were damaged by leaks. A man was given the job of investigating, and worked for many days in vain. Then one day he saw the cause, and the whole city is wondering. Great flocks of crows dig clams on the beach at low tide, and when one caught a bivalve he flew high in the air with it, dropped it on to a slate roof, which smashed the shell and a piece of slate, and then flew down and sucked up the opened clam.

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

CHAPTER VII.

The days passed on; the old Squire was happy and content. He was now to all intents and purposes a rich man. Lord Rhysworth had settled on him such a sum of money as would enable him to live in luxury and comfort at White Cliffe; and, when the old man died, it was all to revert to his daughter. Dolores never forgot the day when her lover came, with all the papers and deeds needful to this end in his hand, and asked to see her. She always obeyed even his least wish; so she went at once to him. There were no excuses, no coquettish delays to enhance the value of her presence.

That morning she thought he looked rather grave and anxious. She asked if he was troubled; and he said "No," but that he had something very serious to say to her. She sat down to listen.

"You must know, Dolores," he said, "that, whenever the heads of our house have married, it has been their custom to bring presents of costly jewels to the bride. Darling, I would give you jewels worthy of a queen's acceptance—even then they would not be good enough for you—but in their place I bring you these papers, and my wedding-present to you is this sum of money that I have settled on your father. It will make him rich for life, and at his death it will come all to you. Take them in your hands, Dolores, and you yourself shall give them to him."

She thanked him in simple, kindly words; but he was not content.

"I want something in return, Dolores. Do you know what it is?"

"No," she replied. She smiled to think how little she could give him.

"I want something you have never given before, and to make it of any value you must give it to me of your own free will. I want to kiss you, Dolores—only one. Will you give it to me?"

She was silent for awhile, and the fair, young face grew very pale. Then she slowly took the papers in her hand and held up her face to kiss him. It was done so innocently, so solemnly, that he was somewhat awed.

"Now," she said, "I will never give even one thought to any other man."

"I am sure you will not, my darling," cried the delighted suitor. "I do not know why I should be blessed with the love of such a pure and faithful heart. I have more to say, Dolores. Though I buy you with no jewels, still you will have finer diamonds and rubies than any other lady in the land. The Rhysworth diamonds are considered as fine as any in Europe. You will look like a queen in them."

The girl clasped the papers in her hands more tightly.

"I would sooner have these," she said, "better than all the jewels in the world."

She went to the Squire with the papers. Lord Rhysworth would not accompany her, although she asked him to do so.

"No," he said; "it is your present to your father, and you shall give it to him alone."

To the end of her life she remembered that scene. It was late in the afternoon when she sought the Squire in his study, and the sunlight from the western sky fell full upon his white hair as he lay asleep. Her entrance aroused him. He uttered her name, but in a tone so peculiar that she could not tell whether he had murmured it in his dream to some dead Dolores, who lived perhaps only in his memory, or to herself.

The girl went up to him with the papers in her hand. How was it that such strange thoughts and fancies haunted her? She could almost have believed that, in letters of blood on the papers, she traced the words, "The price of my life." She kneeled down by the Squire's side.

"I have brought you riches, papa, freedom from care, happiness, and I hope length of days to enjoy it all."

She never forgot his emotion when he held the papers in his hands, while he blessed her and thanked her and praised her as few fathers have ever praised a child. She thought that after all she had done well.

After that, Lord Rhysworth began to hurry on the day for the wedding. Why should they wait? He was his own master; he had no friends to consult; and, if the Squire did not object, who else should?

"I have waited long enough for a wife, Dolores," he said; "and now that I have a most beautiful one promised to me, why should I delay? Come and make my home bright for me."

She had no reasonable excuse to defer the wedding, nor did she seek any; so the day for the ceremony was settled.

"Who will be your bridesmaids, Dolores?" asked Lord Rhysworth one day, when they were discussing the wedding.

She looked up at him in wondering surprise.

"Bridesmaids!" she repeated. "I have forgotten all about them."

He seized her hand and almost crushed it in his passionate clasp.

"Is it because you are so happy, Dolores, that you have forgotten these details?" he asked fiercely.

The clear, sweet eyes looked calmly at him.

"I am quite content," she replied.

"You must have bridesmaids," he went on, more composedly. "Why not ask that beautiful French girl—your friend, is she not?—Miss de Ferras and the Misses Fielden? There are three of them, and with Miss de Ferras you will have four."

"I suppose," she said, "it is de rigueur, but I would much rather be married without them."

He looked at her in consternation.

"I have been to many weddings," he replied, "and I have always thought, Dolores, that after the bride the most important persons were the bridesmaids."

She laughed a low, sweet laugh that dispelled his fears.

"I hope, my dear," he said, "that, although you are marrying a man so much older than yourself, you will be as much interested in your wedding as other girls are. We must have it all in proper order— a superb wedding dress, magnificent jewels, and a bevy of fair bridesmaids. I shall give to each of them a present worthy of the occasion."

She saw that he was a little troubled.

"You forget," she remarked, "that I am not accustomed to weddings. I have never seen one."

Lord Rhysworth was delighted with the explanation.

"I have been thinking very seriously," he said, "about whom I shall ask to be 'best man.' You see, Dolores, our wedding will be quite a county affair. I have thought of asking Sir Karl Allanmore. I like him better than anyone else. What do you think?"

She was silent for some time. She was asking her own heart if she had strength enough to bear this; and the answer was "No." She meant to be a good and true wife to the generous, noble-hearted man at her side—true to him in thought, in word, and in deed; but she would rather this man were not near when she uttered the vows she meant to keep.

"Would it not be better," she said, at last, in a clear, loud voice, "to ask one of your own relatives? After all, Sir Karl has nothing to do with us."

"Perhaps you are right," he replied—"at least, if you prefer it, your wish shall be law."

"I should prefer it," she said. "Ask one of your cousins from Aldershot. You told me you had two stationed there."

He was delighted with the interest she showed, and agreed most heartily to the proposal. That evening the letters were written, first to the Misses Fielden, and then to Miss de Ferras.

It so happened that Lola received hers on the same morning that Sir Karl rode over to see madame on business. He heard her laugh as she opened the letter and read its contents.

"What do you think I have here?" she said. "A pressing invitation to be chief bridesmaid at Dolores' wedding! Are you going, Sir Karl? What curious turns in life fate gives us!" she went on, watching the handsome face as she spoke. "I am getting knowledge fast. When I came back from Germany I thought I should be sure to marry first; and I used to picture half the girls in the neighborhood weeping tears of envy at my good fortune. But now—"

He was amused in spite of himself.

"But now?" he repeated. "What is the difference between them and now?"

"Now I see my rival, the white rose, married first, and I shall have to weep tears of envy myself."

"Do you know," cried Sir Karl, impetuously, "that I can never tell when you are jesting and when you are serious?"

"And do you know, Sir Karl, that I do not even know myself? The wise man says, 'Know thyself,' I should think there is no girl living who knows herself less than I do. I am never sure of myself. I am a mass of contradiction. I have good impulses—feel sure of that—but I do not carry them out. I have lofty aspirations too, and there are times when I long to do great deeds."

Sir Karl begun to have an unpleasant kind of feeling that she cared for him more than he liked. He tried to put the idea from him at first, tried to laugh at it; but it was in vain—the uncomfortable conviction grew daily. She said so many things upon which he could put but one interpretation.

No woman, he argued with himself, however, would ever show any open preference for a man. He must surely be mistaken. He thought at times that the wisest precaution would be not to go to Beaulieu, and resolved to be on his guard against Lola de Ferras. But he had yet to learn how clever a woman can be when she has an object in view.

Notwithstanding his resolve not to go to Beaulieu without very urgent reasons, every day Lola found some excuse to request his presence. Madame de Ferras had had some slight difficulty with the local board, and at Lola's suggestion she had appealed to Sir Karl for his help, which he most cheerfully gave her; but he now found that it necessitated frequent interviews with madame.

So it happened that, on the day when she received the invitation to Dolores' wedding he felt a strange, inexplicable aversion for her.

"You are in no hurry to go away," she said to him. "Sit down and let us discuss this affair. Shall I accept the invitation or not?"

"You must be the best judge of that," he replied.

"Some people say that it is unlucky to be a bridesmaid," she remarked. "I have a great inclination to tempt fate. Will you be there, Sir Karl?"

"In what capacity?" he asked.

"The capacities in this case are very limited," she laughed. "There are but four—father, bridegroom, 'best man,' and guest. The last character is the only one in which you could appear. Are you going in that?"

"No," he answered, gloomily, "not even if I should be invited—and that is not very likely."

"Then I shall lose all interest in the affair, and the wedding festivities will be dreary enough. Why will you not go, Sir Karl?"

"I am not invited; even if I were I should not go, as I have said."

"Not if I urged it?" she interrogated, archly.

"No, not even then," he replied, hastily.

He did not want her to think he would do anything he disliked himself for the sake of pleasing her. There must never be any mistake about the footing he was on with her.

She was quick enough to see that she had startled him, and that he was not pleased with what she had said. She changed the subject adroitly, and went on chatting in her usual piquant style until he was quite in a good humor. Then she returned to the original subject.

"I should imagine," she said, "that all over the country we shall have rejoicings and festivities. Mamma proposes to have a grand ball in honor of the wedding. Lady Fielden has arranged to have a fancy ball; and I hear that the Duke of Ranford will provide a series of brilliant entertainment. He is Lord Rhysworth's greatest friend. What will you do in celebration of the event, Sir Karl?"

"Nothing at all," he replied, abruptly. "The wedding does not concern me in the least. Why should I celebrate the event, as you call it?"

"It would look kind and neighborly," she answered. "If you do not, you will make people think that you have some reason for it?"

"The real reason why I do not anticipate taking any part in the wedding festivities is that I am going to Paris, and I am not sure how long I shall remain there."

"Do you really mean that you are going to Paris, Sir Karl?" she said. "Why should you go there? How cruel of you! Do you not know how much we shall miss you? Do not go."

He tried to laugh lightly; but in truth he was ashamed of being as it were, wooed.

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

PIMPLES

And other eruptions which mar the skin are more than a disfigurement and annoyance; they are a positive detriment to the business interests and social successes of the man they mark. Other things being equal, the man with a smooth skin and clear complexion will find it easier to get a good position or a good wife than the man whose face shows the impurity of his blood. That's the real point. The blood is bad. And for that very reason any treatment which is designed to cleanse the skin must cleanse the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cleanses the blood from the clogging impurities which breed and feed disease, and so cures pimples, boils, eczema, and other diseases which have their cause in impure blood.

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains. You lose. Therefore, accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery."

"I have used your 'Golden Medical Discovery' in a case of scrofula, and cured it," writes Mr. Wm. D. Shamblin, of Remy, Cherokee Nation, Ind. Territory. "I took five bottles of it for my blood. I had 'ringworms' on me and I would burn them off and they would come right back, and they were on me when I commenced using 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which took them away, and I haven't been bothered anymore."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the bowels and stimulate the sluggish liver.

Lazy Man's Hankering.

I'd like to have a nice, soft job,
Where I could simply be
A sort of weekly visitor,
To draw my salary,
And then, as that got burdensome
And seemed inclined to bore me,
I'd like to have some fellow paid
To go and draw it for me!

The Important Question.

"How do you like your new servant?"

"That isn't the question at all," answered young Mrs. Torkins. "We are trying to find out how she likes us."

A Domestic Limerick.

A strenuous matron named Maud
Decided her man was a fraud,
So she put the poor lad
Very much to the bad
When she lit on his features and claud.

But it may be the fire."

DEMONS OF INDIGESTION.

Dyspepsia and Other Stomach Disorders

The Cause of Endless Misery.

Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets—nature's wonderful remedy—speedily relieve and permanently cure Wind on the Stomach, Sour Stomach, Belching up of Foul Gases, Nausea, Vomiting, Loss of Appetite, Nervousness and all symptoms of Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Relieve at once—cure positively. Geo. Sunderland, a prominent business man of Welland, Ont., says: "After suffering for over three years with a most distressing case of Dyspepsia, and trying innumerable remedies without obtaining any relief, my druggist persuaded me to try a box of Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets. I was soon entirely restored to health. I am certain they will cure the disease, in any stage whatever."

Torturing Aches and Pains.

Rheumatism is caused by an acid poison in the blood, and until it is eliminated and the blood purified, the body will continue to be racked by aches and pains. The South American Rheumatic Cure neutralizes the acid. Cures Rheumatism in one to three days to stay cured. No. 33

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

Bank Statement not as Good as was Expected.

The Quotations of the Leading Stocks —Market Letters.

The Wall Street stock market opened this morning at about the same as last night's close. Mexican National was a feature of the market gaining 1 1-8 points on the opening. This stock opened at 21 5-8 rose to 22 5-8 and finally closed at 22 1-2.

There was nothing much doing all day as the bank statement was not as good as had been expected. There was an increase in loans of about 18 1-2 million dollars and the reserve only increased about $200,000. The market did not, however, seem to pay any attention to the bank statement and closed at about the same as the opening. The following market quotations are those as received by E. M. The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

May 2nd, 9.50 a. m.—Morning market letter to E. M. Poussett from McIntyre & Marshall, New York:—

Our market to-day is very likely to be a repetition of yesterday's narrow and professional, with some evening up by traders, many will wait for statement expected fairly good. Gates booked for Europe for several months. Keene also going. Decision in Met. case expected at noon. Generally expecte dwill be in favour of Met. Exchange continues firm and gold exports not improbable next week. Money continues easy and in good supply. Weather and crop reports will be affected and should be watched.

M. & M.

Strike ties up subway work. Gold exports expected next. Early interest on Wab. bonds considered improbable. Rockisland will probably earn about 8 p.c. on common this year. Reports of crop damage exaggerated. Currency movement shows banks gained $4,466,000. Good statement expected. Erie earnings indicate 4 p.c. for year.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Weeks movement cash shows banks gained $4,454,000 from interior which offsets loss of $1,000,000 in sub.-treas. operations and leaves gain of $3,454,000. This includes gold shipped to Argentine and Paris. This should give us as fairly good statement an dit is not thought loans could have been increased to any extent in view of dull speculation.

M. & M.

Messrs. W. F. Dever & Co., Stock Brokers, Toronto, write as follows:—

New York, May 1st. — To-day's market was characterized by extreme dullness with prices ruling generally higher. Sales to noon were 140,000 shares and the general list showed no advances. Good buying of St. Paul and M.O.P. was noticeable. Met. Ry. was lifted a point and B.R.T. on small transactions. Shortly after noon-day session. Present time of year is looked upon with considerable pessimism on account of fear of labour troubles but it looks now as if this period would pass without any serious trouble. Estimated that investors have taken about a million shares out of the market this month just passed. With the general public out of the market and stocks lodged in present strong hands can see no logical reason why prices should not work materially higher. Looking at the market from a conservative view point think that all is necessary to create a bull movement would be a 5 point advance as in its present condition though public refuses to come in will do so after the market has gotten out of its present rut and advances 5 points or so.

Chicago.— Wheat freezing temperature throughout the winter wheat section had a stimulating effect on the market to-day causing an advance of over a point in May.

Look for September to ease off slightly in which case pick up all you can carry around 70, oats Sept. around 29 looks like good purchase. Buy some. Closing prices.—Wheat ,May, 73 1-2; corn, May, 44 3-8; oats ,May, 33 3-8; pork, May, 17.95; lard, May, 9.17½ a 15.

Messrs. Haight & Freese, Stock Brokers, submit the following:—

New York, May 2nd.—The market will be a good trading, or rather scalping one for the time being. There is excellent buying of Penna, M.O.P., St. Paul and Met. In view of the fact that the decision will be given by Magistrate Barlow in the Vreeland-Amory suit, just after the market closes to-day. Shorts are likely to cover in anticipation of the "Criminal Libel" being dismissed. The short interest in B.R.T. is comparatively large and a) covering movement would easily carry the price above 70.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

Messrs. Height & Freeze have secured the services of Mr. Wm. Strong, of Brockville ,as their operator.

The former operator of Messrs. Height & Freeze is no wwith Messrs. Dever & Co., Simcoe street.

Financial News, Toronto.—There are several preferred stocks to which attention may be profitably drawn. Among these issues are the preferred stocks of Atchison, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, American Locomotive and United Steel. The two first pay 5 per cent., the third 4 per cent. and the two last named 7 per cent. All are selling below par. The preferred stocks of Atchison, Southern Railway and Union Pacific are secured by a large margin of safety, and railroad earnings will show an extensive falling off before the dividends of any of these stocks are endangered. The preferred stocks of American Locomotive and United States Steel are also secured by a considerable margin of safety. The first company is earning nearly 7 per cent. and the second round 10 per cent. on its common stock. These earnings will have to entirely disappear before the dividends on the preferred issue are endangered.

People in the Street are wondering whether the stock market is in for a dull summer. In the past years it was the custom to expect that sort of thing ,but last summer that precedent was shattered. The conditions now are different, however ,and many expect to see the old order of things restored. In Wall Street the cry of dullness is also heard. "Give us business. The brokers are starving in a marble palace," wired a New York banker to his clients. In that connection an exchange says: "It is no doubt the appeal of the needy, and who will lend a hand? The public? Not yet; it may be later. Wall Street brokers had hoped that the very newness of their palatial business home would appeal to the speculator in a way not to be denied. But just there inexorable law came in and decreed that the past must be atoned for before the brokers' prayer could be heard. What one sees now in Wall Street is the tonement for past excesses. While this is being paid conservative people sit still and wait. There is much sitting still going on. The market is very dull and moved by fickle trading for either account. This sort of trading carries prices only a little way up or down.

Fifteen Minutes to Nature.

Flooded with gold, shadowed in purple, flecked with crimson and orange, the valley with its broadly flowing river stretched before us. We dismounted at the top of the bluff, reached by a gradual slope easily climbed, stacked our wheels and threw ourselves on the grass to enjoy this wondrous picture painted by a Canadian sunset, and to deep breathe the evening summer-scented air. And as we watched our thoughts sped out and up, like the strains of some grand organ, nature's wondrous beauty drew us out of ourselves, carried us away from the memories of the sordid, discouraging, grinding moil and dust of the city—gave us a glimpse of better things, of the joy of living, courage and new energy. And a breeze, invigorating and freshening as a breath from the goddess of life, fanned our faces while we lay, and watched, and rested. Yet a bicycle ride of fifteen minutes had transported us from the city's heat and roar of this haven of beauty and rest.

Navigation Notes.

The steamboat traffic on the lower waters is now in full swing, and the steamers are making their weekly market day trips to town. This morning the steamers Water Lily, Rainbow and North Star arrived in port. The Rainbow has at its wheel again Capt. Fred Copperwaithe. He carried between fifty and fifty-five passengers. Capt. Harris of the North Star, also had a number of passengers. The steamer Water Lily, yesterday brought to town a scowload of wood for the Lock Works.

NURSED AND LOVED.

After His Diphtheria J. Herbert Wood Married Miss Mackay.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Florence Mackay of Lindsay, Canada, and J. Herbert Wood, son of former Councilmen and Mrs. George M. Wood, of Broad street, caused some surprise in Bloomfield, N. J., yesterday. Miss Mackay, who was a trained nurse, attended her husband through an attack of diphtheria, and the couple have since been very intimate. Their marriage at a later period was looked for. The marriage was performed on Wednesday night by the Rev. George Lewis Curtis, of the First Presbyterian Church, and was witnessed only by the immediate relatives. The couple are now at Atlantic City. —New York World.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Nina Spencer, of Marmora, who was so badly injured in a runaway accident here about three weeks ago, is now able to leave her room. At the time of the accident Miss Spencer and her brother were driving into the village, and when near Reid's Hotel, the horses bolted and Miss Spencer was thrown out the rig and sustained serious injuries about the head and body. She was immediately carried into Reid's Hotel, where she has been under the medical care of Dr. Holdbrook. The parents of Miss Spencer desire to express their gratitude to the engine drivers of the C.P.R. for their kindness in abstaining from using their whistles and bells during the most serious part of their daughter's illness. They also desire to thank Mr. and Mrs. Reid of the Reid House, for the very hospitable manner in which their daughter was cared for.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Housewifely interest in re-decorating and replenishing of the home seems to be intensified this season, judging by the active demand for Housefurnishing Goods at the Golden Lion.

We are quite sure we are making it pleasurable and profitable for our patrons to consult us in reference to new Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs and Linoleums; new Lace Curtains, Sash Curtains, Draperies, Furniture Coverings, Cretonnes; new Silk Dress Skirts, Ladies' Neckwear, Millinery, Wrappers, Kimonas and Dressing Sacques.

We introduce this week for the first time, a very old and familiar delt design—and yet a new decorated scenic novelty—in Willow Cretonnes. Here's how the verse-maker describes the interesting scenic pattern:—

"Two swallows flying high,
A little boat passing by;
A little church standing near,
Twice a week they worship there,
A little bridge with willows over,
Three little men going to Dover,
A Chinese mansion,
This trees handsome—
A tree with apples on,
And a row of railings on the sun."

BIG FISSURES DISCOVERED.

Premier Haultain Advised the People to Leave Upon Reports Made—The Exodus Began Early Sunday Morning, and Was Complete by Nightfall—Despair But No Panic in People's Faces.

Winnipeg, Man., May 4.—A special despatch from Frank, N.W.T., says that Chief Engineer McHenry has, through Premier Haultain, given warning that further slides of rock may occur at any moment. From observations made by him he fears that the remaining portion of the little place may be overwhelmed with a rush similar to that which has already caused so much destruction. The town is now deserted, the Premier having advised the residents to leave, and a special train was secured to take them to neighboring towns, where accommodation might be had. There is no excitement, and general quiet prevails.

Frank was practically depopulated yesterday, and last evening the place was almost deserted. At early morning the exodus began. It commenced when on their return from a climb of inspection made to the top of the mountain from the Blairmore, Mining Inspector Smith, Superintendent McCarthy and Prospector Byron announced that danger lurked in the picturesque background. The announcement was officially communicated to the Board of Trade at a subsequent meeting. Steps were immediately taken to notify the villagers who had not already gone that no time should be lost in getting away. This move, however, had been anticipated.

There was no confusion, no panic; but there was despair, and it appeared on the faces of the townspeople. Not much was said; there was no time for parley. Premier Haultain, in view of the opinion expressed by the C.P.R. engineer, conferred with the police officials, and before 10 o'clock it had been decided to request, without demanding, that the populace move out for the night. The C.P.R. before midnight had an engine and some cars run in from the west and gave free transportation to all who desired to move. Many walked to Blairmore, two miles west of Frank. Less than twenty-five people slept in Frank last night. Yesterday's moving out was done quickly. Families made short work of packing their belongings into wagons and on to the backs of mules. A few of the merchants doing business in a small way got away with various quantities of stock in trade. The large dealers locked their doors and departed.

Even in the moving process, serious though it was, there crept in a vein of humor. One man was seen vainly endeavoring to navigate the principal street under a burden of many lengths of stove pipe. In another quarter a family in the hurry to place danger behind them carried out a hot kitchen stove from which the smoke sputtered in little gusts. The sick and wounded were transferred to Blairmore.

A curious phase of the last two days, perhaps the last of the town of Frank's official existence, has been the boom in the bar trade at the three hotels.

Since Friday there have been no bodies recovered from the ruins, and while the fate of the town depends upon the fall of one or both peaks left standing on the top of Turtle Mountain, it is not thought probable that any further attempts will be made to search the immense causeway of fallen rock.

The report made by the party who visited the peak of the mountain was in effect the east peak of the mountain, if not actually creeping, might be expected to fall at a time when least expected. A fissure or crevice had been discovered. It is one thousand feet in length by twenty feet in breadth. The communication of this fact had the effect of making short work of the final scenes of the departure from Frank.

The need for relief and aid is not urgent. President Chambers of the Board of Trade made the official statement yesterday morning that not more than $3,000 would be required to defray cost of recovering as many bodies as possible, and providing temporarily for those children left destitute. The business men of Frank have been energetic in meeting all immediate demands.

The Dead Number 75.

Frank, N.W.T., May 4.—The list of dead has reached 75, consisting of four miners at the entrance to the mine, nineteen top laborers, 27 women and children, and 25 railway laborers.

FIFTEEN WERE KILLED.

Grand Trunk Pan-American Flyer Crashes Through a Crowd of 1,000 People at Detroit on Sunday.

Detroit, May 4.—The Grand Trunk Pan-American Flyer from Chicago ran into a crowd of 1,000 people at the corner of Dequinder and Canfield streets at 8.30 last evening, killing ten to fifteen men, and seriously injuring about thirty more. The majority of the killed and wounded are from Toledo.

Fifteen hundred Toledo Polanders came up to Detroit yesterday morning on a special Lake Shore train to celebrate a holiday. They left the train at the corner of Dequindar and Canfield streets and went over to St. Joseph's Church, where they spent the day with the congregation. The Lake Shore tracks run out Dequinder street and a special train was to stop for the Toledo excursionists at Canfield avenue at 8.30.

Accompanied by hundreds of their local friends, waiting for the train, the excursionists jammed Canfield avenue some time before the train was due, in readiness for it. When the train was sighted the crowd pushed across the track, and on to the Grand Trunk tracks which adjoins those of the Lake Shore, just as the Grand Trunk Pan-American Express came thundering from the west.

People Thrown Into Air.

The people were thrown into the air and dashed to either side of the track. Many of them were ground under the wheels.

The police department was notified and all the ambulances in the city rushed to the scene.

The victims were scattered along the tracks for a distance of two blocks.

Lanterns were procured and the work of rescue began immediately. The scene reflected by the light of the lanterns was horrible. Gradually the mangled and crushed bodies were recovered and sent to the hospital when there was a flicker of life left, and to the morgue when there was none.

At 10 o'clock four of the dead had been identified.

The flyer was stopped as quickly as possible and backed to the scene of the catastrophe, where for two blocks the track was covered with mangled and dying people. Four of the dead were killed outright, and the others died after being taken to the hospitals.

A RY. LAND SCANDAL

British Columbia Legislators Are Implicated.

EVIDENCE OF MR. DUNSMUIR.

Why He Cancelled Grants to the Canadian Pacific—Mr. Wells Was Told That Two Members of the House Were to Receive One Share Each in the Land Company.

Victoria, B. C., May 4.—British Columbia has a political sensation, as a result of disclosures made Saturday at the Legislative enquiry being held into the subsidy for building the Columbia & Western Railway, which had not been paid. The act provided that land be awarded in alternate blocks, continuous or as close as possible to the line. Later, arrangements were made to grant to the company two blocks in Southeast Kootenay, hundreds of miles from the road, and which are alleged to be rich in coal and oil. Crown grants were issued but not delivered.

Mr. Dunsmuir's Evidence.

Ex-Premier Dunsmuir gave evidence Saturday before the enquiry, which was called to enquire into why these blocks should have been selected, that he had cancelled the grants because he learned that everything was not right. The Order-in-Council granting these two blocks had been made in his absence. He made an order approving the grant in September, being told that the province would save 300,000 acres by the arrangement.

Mr. Wells, Commissioner of Lands and Works, went to Montreal with the grants to the Canadian Pacific Railway, but returned with them. The witness then learned that there was something wrong in connection with the deal and he cancelled the grants. He did this as a result of a certain thing—he would not say what—that Mr. Wells had told him. He was told that Mr. Wells had been offered 30,000 acres of the lands if he would hand over the grants to the Canadian Pacific Railway. He, as Premier, cancelled the grants, as he did not want any crooked business while he was doing it.

Mr. Wells Confirms It.

Mr. Wells said the ex-Premier's statement was substantially correct. He had been told in Montreal that a company was being formed in Montreal to take over the blocks of land, and two members of the Legislature were to be allotted one each of the twenty shares.

In the course of a lengthy editorial, a local paper says: "Nothing less than the appointment of a Royal Commission will be satisfactory to the electorate or to the Legislature. The reputations of some of the members are at stake. Aspersions have been cast upon their character, which can only be removed by the light of a full and complete investigation. It has been charged that certain of the members were to personally profit by the transfer of the lands in question to the C.P.R. We take it that the House will, with one voice, insist on that charge being proven or refuted."

Ex-Mayor Ames' Trial.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 4.—When the trial of former Mayor A. A. Ames for bribery was resumed Saturday, Irwin A. Gardner, who swears he collected money for the Mayor from unfortunate women, declared that he had given his evidence without promise or immunity or reward of any kind from the State. Thomas M. Brown, who was the Mayor's secretary, produced a list of "roomers" he had found in the Mayor's desk while cleaning it out. This was after the Mayor had left town. It was in the handwriting of Charles R. Hill, the Mayor's captain of police, and presumably was the list of women who were paying for protection.

THREE HUNDRED DEAD.

Principal Streets of Salonica Were Mined—Insurgents Captured.

Paris, May 4.—A despatch received here from Salonica says that the police there, in their search for persons suspected of being concerned in the dynamite outrages, discovered that the revolutionists had mined the principal districts of the town, with the intention of blowing them up simultaneously, but circumstances forced them to act before their preparations were finished, and the planned disaster was averted. The Turkish population, however, is dangerously inflamed. It is estimated that three hundred persons are dead as the result of the outbreaks. One thousand arrests have been made.

A complete bomb manufacturing plant has been discovered in a shoemaker's shop, communicating by an underground passage with the Ottoman Bank. It is feared that the presence of the three Austrian warships, which arrived here yesterday, will encourage the Bulgarians to irritate the Turks, who up to the present time have behaved well.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION.

Prominent Men of Many Nations Will Attend the Conference.

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., May 4.—Arrangements are practically completed for the ninth annual conference on international arbitration, which opens at Lake Mohonk, May 7, and continues for three days. John W. Foster, ex-Secretary of State, and counsel for the Alaskan Boundary Commission, will preside, and among those who will address the conference is William E. Pennfield, who represented the United States Government before The Hague court in the Pius fund case. Among those who have signified their intention of being present, are President Schurman of Cornell University, President Faunce of Brown University, Dr. T. L. Cuyler, Gen. O. O. Howard, Irving Bachelor, Lyman Abbott, Chancellor MacCracken of New York University, Bliss Perry of Boston, Horace White of New York, and H. B. F. MacFarland of Washington.

Death of Mr. G. B. Fraser.

Toronto, May 4.—Mr. Geo. B. Fraser, one of Toronto's best known business men, expired Saturday morning after a brief illness. Pneumonia was the cause of death. Funeral services were held last evening, and the remains taken to Guelph for interment early this morning. The remains were received at Guelph by members of the Masonic fraternity, the Caledonian Society and many citizens. Mr. Fraser was a resident of Guelph for twenty years before removing to Toronto, where he held many public positions of confidence. He was born in Tain, Ross-shire, Scotland, in 1830. Mr. Fraser was a thirty-third degree Mason, and one of the substantial business men of the city.

Arm Was Pulled Off.

Kingston, May 4.—Saturday morning while working at a revolving drill in the locomotive works, Fred Matthews, a machinist, got his arm in the shaft, and it was completely pulled from the socket before help arrived. He is in a critical condition.

WILL BE A DIRECT BENEFIT TO CANADA.

This is the Opinion of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson in Regard to the Trans-Pacific Scheme.

The annual visit of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, the president and supreme authority of the Grand Trunk, is always looked forward to with interest. He is known to be a keen authority at once upon financial and railway matters. He has an eye for details, he understands large effects, he can tell with surety as to whether this or that scheme shall come to fruition. Moreover he goes over the system carefully, considering every feature of improvement and expansion, and when he returns to England is able to give the other directors and stockholders a graphic picture of the physical condition of the pioneer system of Canada.

Sir Charles is not disposed to say a great deal about the details of the Trans-Pacific scheme, which is still in the general mind, a little nebulous, but to-day, at the Windsor Hotel, to a Witness representative he gave an emphatic contradiction to the cabled reports to the effect that certain influential stock-holders of the Grand Trunk were opposed to the scheme.

Sir Charles expressed his wonderment how such inventions could find their way into print. After the half-yearly meeting the other day, he had made a speech in which he had explained the genesis of the scheme—the reasons which made it feasible—indeed, imperative. He had showed the meeting, which was large and representative, how the Grand Trunk was the natural agent to carry out this scheme. The country was prospering rapidly and it was generally acknowledged that there was a necessity for increased means of translation, subject of course to the approbation of the government, and without detriment to any other interest.

Sir Charles had shown, which it was easy to do that the Grand Trunk had been a benefit to the country (though this had not always been acknowledged) and that the extension of the system would also be a benefit to the Dominion.

Asked as to the character and the amount of support which the company desired from the government, Sir Charles said that he could not discuss this matter at the present stage. He was going to Ottawa, and when there would see Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the members of the Cabinet on the subject.

Sir Charles added, that so far from there being any opposition to the project on the part of the stockholders, the meeting received his statement with every mark of satisfaction, and there was not a single dissentient voice. The position of the Grand Trunk, financially, had never been sounder than it was at the present moment. There had been full details of that position offered to the shareholders in the half-yearly report and at the meeting, from whom directors had no secrets.

Reference was made to the prevalence of accidents, not merely on the Grand Trunk, but on this continent generally, with special regard to the possibility of introducing the block system at least upon the Grand Trunk system.

Sir Charles said that it was useless to make contrasts of comparisons between the systems of England and those of this continent. In England you had short distances and an extreme density of population, while in this country you had long distances and a more extending population. He believed that the recent prevalence of accidents on this continent was due to a cause which was very obvious, namely, the great pressure of business. The country was prosperous in all its features. The railways felt the pressure of increasing business—an increase due to a wonderful development of industrial and other resources. The employees on the various railway systems were hard pressed, there was no denying that. Even if you added to the staff, which, of course, was the case where the necessity was urgent, you still had pressure, and this pressure, which could not well be eased in the present condition, had certain effects which made accidents at least possible. He believed that was the explanation.

Sir Charles was asked if there was any intention on the part of the Grand Trunk to acquire a line of steamers to completely round out service.

The president smiled. Time enough till the shoe pinches for that. There is no pinch felt at present in this regard. We have ample facilities for our business, and this is a matter about which there have been rumours and statements, but there is no tangibility to them at all.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving remembrance of Mary Ann Barry, who died on April 23rd, 1903.

Oh, what is youth, what is beauty?
But mere shadows of the day;
One touch of death's cold icy hand
Transfigures them to clay.

A place is vacant in our home,
That voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our midst
That never can be filled.

Yes, dear Mary Ann has left us;
Her toils and cares are o'er;
In heaven we hope to meet her,
But on earth, alas, no more.

Loving friend, thou art sleeping,
In the cold and silent tomb;
Calmly sleeping, gracefully waiting,
The glorious resurrection morn.

Cut down in Childhood's happy prime,
Dear Mary Ann so kind and true;
Laid low on a bright spring morn;
Oh, it was hard to bid adieu.

Jesus while our hearts are bleeding,
O'er the spoils that death has won;
We would at this solemn parting,
Calmly say, Thy will be done.

A SCHOOL-MATE.

Had Nervous Prostration.

Mrs. S. W. West, Drayton, Ont., states: "I got terribly run down, and finally became a victim of nervous prostration. I had no appetite, seemed to lose interest and ambition and could scarcely drag myself about. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I used three boxes with great benefit, gaining eleven pounds. It made me strong and well and I had such an appetite that I wanted to be eating half the time."

AUDITING OF MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTS.

Provincial Municidal Auditor on Salaries of Treasurers.

MUNICIPAL AUDIT PRAISED.

An Expert Authority Points out Excellent Work of Municipal Audit Officers—Better Systems of Book keeping Auditing Prevent Defalcations.

The Monetary Times has the following appreciative article respecting the beneficial relations of the Municipal Audit Officer to the examination and auditing of Municipal Treasurers' books, and to the adoption of better systems of book-keeping which help to keep accounts in intelligible shape and indirectly tend to the prevention of irregularities and defalcations. The Monetary Times says:—

An improvement is being gradually effected in the character of the book-keeping in the offices of Canadian municipalities, And truly there was much need. In the Province of Ontario during late years substantial progress has been made in systematizing the records of county, village and town treasurers and clerks by means of proper books of account having been furnished them. And benefit has been done, we doubt not, to that unpopular but sometimes hard-worked official, the tax collector, by the founding of the Provincial Municipal Audit Office, whose chief or his deputies must often have assisted collectors, not only in telling them how best to effect their collections, but how to keep account of them.

It does not need any better testimony to the value of the office in question, than the fact that municipalities are availing themselves of it in increasing number. In his report for 1902, Mr. J. B. Laing, the Provincial Municipal Auditor, states that the earlier part of the year was remarkable for the number of audits petitioned for by different municipalities, "none of which, however, disclosed any deficits or shortages." Still the audits were "extremely serviceable in starting the municipalities interested in better systems of accounting." There were, however, "numerous cases of bad book-keeping." Later in the year some serious defalcations were unearthed. It happened that Mr. F. H. Macpherson, of Windsor, was making an audit of the affairs of Romney Township, in Kent County, when he came across some data that aroused distrust in his mind as to the accounts of the treasurer of that county. Accordingly he was instructed to look into them, and he found that functionary, A. L. Shambleau, a defaulter in some $23,000. In this case there was lack of an efficient annual audit of the treasurer's books; the form of land register was imperfect; and no system of reports between the county and local officials existed. Had these checks been employed, such a defalcation must have become known. Shambleau crossed the river to the United States but was compromised with and came back. In the case of Oakville town, it will be remembered that its financial affairs were thrown into disorder by the suicide of its treasurer, Mr. Thomas Howarth, last December. He had received some $8,000 in taxes from the collector and placed it in a bank to the credit of his own firm, Andrew & Howarth, private bankers, who are in difficulties. An action is pending for the recovery of this sum from the partner of the deceased treasurer. Mr. T. G. Williamson, of Toronto, who reported the case to the Provincial Municipal Auditor, states with respect to the condition of affairs: "The town's papers were left mixed up with his firm's papers, and some difficulty was found in procuring the necessary information; . . . and it seems hardly likely under the circumstances that the accounts can be quite complete."

Much consideration is shown by the Auditor for the officers whose accounts he has occasion from time to time so examine. He recognizes in many of them willing and honest officials whose only fault is a lack of "knowing how." Not being trained accountants, sometimes the collectors or treasurers make mistakes. On page 47 Mr. Laing says:—

"It must be borne in mind that the inspections or cursory examinations detailed in the within report, and of which I have made about 170 during the year 1902, throughout the province of Ontario, are not audits, although they may lead up to such, and frequently do. They are, however, extremely valuable in some cases as indicators of how municipal matters are being conducted throughout the country, and also as educators, for most of the municipal officers whom I have met I have found anxious and willing to learn. I trust that in the near future the improvement in municipal finances will be even more marked than it has been in the past."

In June, Mr. Laing found the treasurer of Elizabethtown,, Leeds, who had been 18 years in office, at $130 per year, short in his cash between $4,000 and $5,000. The treasurer has resigned, and his securities are being sued for the amount.

The disparity of salaries for municipal officials must strike anyone who reads this report with care. We can, of course, understand that there are sometimes other considerations than salary, which makes persons willing to act as township or village treasurers. There is some honour attached to the office. And again, if the treasurer be a shop-keeper or a conveyancer, or something of the kind, the treasurership brings people about his shop or his residence and is therefore an advantage. But unless something of this kind is accepted as a quid pro quo, the amounts paid in the way of salary seem often very inadequate for the services rendered. Here, for instance, is Hamilton Township, Northumberland, and whose assessment approaches $2,000,000, and whose receipts and payments for 1902 amounted to $32,000, pays its treasurer only $70 a year; while $60 and $40 respectively, are the salaries of other treasurers in the same county. The treasurer of New Hamburg, in Waterloo County, receives only $25 a year; the same sum appears to content the Elmira Village treasurer, whose books and accounts "are exceptionally well kept." The office, in the opinion of the Auditor, "must be a labour of love with the treasurer, for he only gets $25 per annum and has been in the office for fourteen years." A like phrase describes the man who keeps, and keeps well, the funds and accounts of Newboro, which has an assessment roll of 690,665. He receives ten dollars a year! Farmers, we know, are as a rule intensely parsimonious about municipal outlay, but Newboro is a village, and villagers are supposed to have rather more business sense.

Here and there throughout his report, Mr. Laing puts in a good word for the competent and faithful but underpaid official. Thus, in speaking on page 26, of the accounts of South Elmsley Township (whose collector's roll is paid in full), he says, "The treasurer keeps his books fairly well, but does not get much encouragement to do better; his salary is $15 per annum." Then as to the treasurer of Ridgetown, fourteen years in office at $75 per annum, Mr. Laing's opinion, is "this busy town (assessment $674,120) should pay three times that amount to the right man." He approves of increasing the salary of Peterborough's treasurer, too, a place of $4,597,000 assessment, from $700, on the score of his integrity and ability."

A LETTER FROM REV. MR. BARR.

The following letter from the Rev. Mr. Barr, the Director of the All British Colony, has been received at the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway:

"As the Founder and Director of the All British Colony, I have pleasure herewith of reporting to you my great satisfaction with the arrangements made by the Canadian Pacific Railway authorities in the transportation of my people — numbering nearly 2,000 from St. John, N. B., to Saskatoon, N. W. T. The officials and the employees have treated us with great courtesy and managed the transport of the party with great ability. I desire especially to mention the staff at St. John. The Superintendent at that Division and those associated with him secured the despatch of the party with promptness, and at every point en route every facility was accorded us. On arrival here I found Mr. Dillinger, the Superintendent of this Division, and Mr. St. Laurent, your agent at Saskatoon and staff, had made such arrangements that the party were detrained without loss of time, and the supplies which were of the utmost importance has been brought forward with such despatch that everything was in readiness for the comfort of all concerned. My Colony are loud in their praises of the manner in which they have been treated by your Company, and I need not say this will have its effect on the British Public from all classes of which this party has been drawn. There is a great movement in England, Ireland and Scotland towards Canada, and in the near future we expect thousands more will turn their faces to the fruitful valley of the Saskatchewan. I shall be glad if you can communicate to all concerned my satisfaction with their services so willingly rendered.

(Signed) J. M. BARR.

DOES WATER FEED A FIRE?

This seems a strange question but a writer in the "Scientific American" says:

"It seems to me about time that the practice of using water in trying to extinguish fire in buildings should cease. Why use an element that assists combustion, in trying to destroy combustion? In theory, water destroys fire very well, in practice it does not, owing of course to the impossibility of reaching the flame, thus feeding the same and adding to the danger. What a magnificent chance for inventors to bring out something practical to destroy fire, and also a way to apply same, so it could be used by anyone, and not require an expert."

The writer gives the editor an opportunity for a highly interesting reply to following effect:—"We are aware that there is a popular impression that water thrown upon a fire assists the conflagration under certain conditions. We, however, are also aware that chemists do not consider this to be a fact. Water cannot feed a flame unless it is separated into its constituent gases, oxygen and hydrogen. Water is the most destructive to fire of any liquid which can be commanded in sufficient quantities for such a use, since it contains all the oxygen it can hold. The question, then, resolves itself into this: Can water discharged upon a fire be separated into gases so as to feed the flame? The probabilities are decidedly against this. Water is every day separated into its constituent gases in all our cities in the making of water gas, as it is called, so that the problem of accomplishing this is well understood. For the beginning of dissociation a temperature of 2,200 deg. F. is required. The dissolution is complete at 4,500 deg. F. It is very safe to say that these temperatures are not possible in the open air. The only substance besides water to be used for putting out a fire is carbon dioxide, a gas most efficient for this purpose. It is the basis of all chemical fire extinguishers. The difficulty in its use is to place it where alone it can be of service, at the very base of the flame. The strong ascending currents of hot air divert the steam of carbonic acid gas, and it does not easily accomplish its object." We venture to say that no person ever saw the water poured upon a fire disappear in a gaseous form otherwise than as steam. The writer in "Scientific American" contradicts himself flatly, he first says, "water does not destroy fire owing to the impossibility of reaching the flame," then he adds, "thus feeding the flame and adding to the danger." Now, if water does not reach the flame how can it feed it?

Closing Incidents of the King's Visit to French Capital.

REPORTS ALARMED LONDON.

But Rumor of His Majesty's Assassination Was Quickly Denied—Went to the English Chapel With Sir Edward K. Monson, the British Ambassador—Afterwards Guest of Minister Delcasse.

Paris, May 4.—The picturesque features of King Edward's visit to Paris are practically over. The incidents of yesterday were comparatively quiet, but they were still expressive of the renewal of the Anglo-French good will.

His Majesty, in the morning, took a short stroll on his way to the English chapel. He seemed to enjoy mingling in the throng of churchgoers, who were clad in bright spring attire. King Edward wore a dark grey morning suit and a high hat. He carried a cane in his left hand and walked briskly with Sir Edmund K. Mason, the British Ambassador. Crowds of people gathered at the British Embassy and along the thoroughfares where his Majesty passed and gave mild demonstrations of good will.

At noon yesterday Foreign Minister Delcasse gave a breakfast at the Foreign Office to his Majesty. Among the hundred guests present were many notable figures in official and diplomatic life, as well as persons famous in the salons. The papal nuncio and Count Von Wolkenstein, the Austrian Ambassador, who is dean of the diplomatic corps, were present. The breakfast gave occasion for further expressions of the firmer friendship between France and Great Britain, which the visit of King Edward has brought out.

In the afternoon King Edward planted a chestnut tree in the garden of the British Embassy in commemoration of his visit, and received the orphaned pensioners of the British institution, the cornerstone of which he laid when he was Prince of Wales.

Last night a gala dinner was given at the British Embassy to President Loubet. This was followed by a concert by the leading artists of the opera. The decoration of a number of French officials by King Edward is announced. The members of the King's party have received the decoration of the Order of the Legion of Honor.

Rumor of King's Assassination.

London, May 4.—A rumor that King Edward had been assassinated gained circulation here yesterday. It caused a feeling of uneasiness until it was learned that the rumor was absolutely unfounded and that the Sunday program of the royal visit was being carried out in Paris without a hitch.

The rumor caused great alarm in London official and court circles. Anxious enquiries concerning the truth of the report were made, and from Buckingham Palace telegrams were immediately sent to Paris. The replies that there was no truth in the rumor brought intense relief to all classes of society.

Emperor William Visits Vatican.

Rome, May 4.—Emperor William was received by the Pope yesterday. He had a conference with the Pontiff of 40 minutes' duration, and then returned to the residence of the Prussian Minister to the Holy See. At the Vatican the Emperor was received with military honors by the Palatine guard and a platoon of gendarmes, and was welcomed by high dignitaries of the Pontifical court. The visit of Emperor William was returned by Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State at the Prussian Legation.

TWELVE WERE KILLED.

Kohl Torpedo Factory Blows Up With Disastrous Results.

Cleveland, O., May 4.—The Kohl Torpedo factory at the corner of Cass avenue and Orange street, blew up shortly after noon Saturday, and 12 lives were lost. A large number of persons were reported injured. The factory was completely demolished, several buildings nearby demolished, several windows broken throughout the neighborhood. Fire broke out in the ruins, but the flames were soon under control. The firemen turned their attention to the rescue of victims.

Died Aged 120 Years.

London, May 4.—Another interesting centenarian has passed away, the oldest subject of the King, aged 120 years. This was William Stuart, who died at Tortley, Letherkenny, Ireland. When a boy he saw Admiral Warren's battleships in Lough, Sicilly, in 1798, after he had defeated and captured the French squadron, with which was Wolfe Tone, the notorious Irish rebel. Stuart easily heads the list of centenarians, who have died this year.

Mr. A. Bradshaw Dead.

Toronto, May 4.—The death occurred suddenly on Sunday morning of Alexander Bradshaw, senior partner of Bradshaw & Son, wholesale dry-goods, 25 West Wellington street, from heart failure. The deceased was one of Toronto's most prominent business men, and was born in Scotland in 1885. It was Mr. Bradshaw's intention to leave on a trip to the Old Country this week. Deceased was a member of the Board of Trade.

Shot Three Policemen.

New York, May 4.—Policeman Ernest J. Peters was shot and killed Saturday night in a saloon at 6th avenue and 3rd street, by Jefferson Saunders, a negro ex-convict. Sanders also shot Sergt. Thomas Gilhooly and Policeman Jos. Russo, both of whom will probably die. He was captured after a fight.

SEVERE ARRAIGNMENT.

U.S. Cavalry Come in For Criticism by Gen. Baden-Powell—Col. Edgerly Thinks That He Errs.

New York, May 4.—"The American cavalry is below the British standard, and not up to that of the contingent of Canadian fighting men engaged in the South African campaign," declared Gen. Baden-Powell to a Journal reporter, just before he sailed for England.

Here is the way that eminent authority views the comparative capacity of the English, Canadian and American horsemen, who are trained to fight in the saddle:

"The physique of your cavalrymen is somewhat below the British standard.

"A more vigorous and rigorous system of gymnastics is needed.

"Your men drink too much coffee. Plain, substantial food, with no coffee and little tea, will show better results.

"I believe your men lack endurance. A hard campaign, like the Boer War, will produce a big sick list for you.

"Man for man, your cavalry fighting men are not equal to the Canadian contingent.

"Your cavalry man is more active, both physically and mentally, than the average British horseman, but I think he lacks the staying powers.

"Your cavalry horses are perfection.

"I consider your Second Cavalry the most efficient in rank and file, as well as the best officered."

Col. Edgerly Says He Errs.

Colonel Winfield S. Edgerly, commanding the Second Cavalry, at Fort Myer, Virginia, does not like the criticisms of the American cavalrymen made by Gen. Baden-Powell. It was the crack troop of the Second Cavalry that Gen. Baden-Powell saw drill at Fort Myer when he visited Washington.

"It seems to me," Col. Edgerly said, "that Gen. Baden-Powell made the mistake of judging the whole of the cavalry of the United States by the few men he saw in Madison Square Garden, New York. As far as we know, these men are the only troops he looked over.

"In the Indian campaigns some of the marches made by the troops have never been equalled. It was to this style of fighting that Gen. Baden-Powell referred when he told his troops to follow American methods and to let the obsolete methods of the British army go. As regards our men, we are so sure of them we give all of our attention to the horses. Cavalry is as strong as its horses. The men invariably wear them out. We think our men are the best in the world."

RUSSIA HAS EXPLAINED.

United States Will Pay No Heed to Other Reports.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—It is learned that U. S. Minister Congor's original statement of the Russian demands, as to Manchuria, has very recently received further support in the shape of several reports from different sources—all official—but the State Department feels bound to accept without question the explanation of the Russian Government as made through its Ambassador here, and through Count Lamsdorff in St. Petersburg, and does not feel called upon to make any further representations at present upon this subject.

Situation in Manchuria.

Victoria, B.C., May 4.—Mail advices received here show that New Chwang is being strengthened by the Russians, who have explained to the Chinese authorities that this course was made inestimable as Russia may soon come into conflict with a certain power. It is also reported that Russia had formed nine regiments of Chinese troops in Manchuria as auxiliaries to Russian garrison. The number will be increased to 50,000 in three years.

MONTREAL DOCK STRIKE.

Agreement Reached as to Wages—Union Recognition Only Block.

Montreal, May 4.—The strike is not off, but it is probable that the conflicting parties are now nearer together than at any time since the trouble began. The conference between the representatives of the shipping men and the longshoremen lasted till 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and was continued this afternoon. They could not agree as to the recognition of the union, although they came together as to the wages. However, the Mayor addressed the strikers yesterday afternoon with the result that their committee was instructed to wait upon the shipping men to-day.

There have been few new developments since Saturday in the strike, in so far as the militia are concerned. The troops continue to patrol the river front, and no suggestions have yet been made for their withdrawal. It is likely, therefore, that they will remain on duty until Tuesday or Wednesday of this week.

TAPS FROM THE WIRES.

New York.—Central office detectives have arrested three men, who are members of the famous gang known as the "international bank sneaks."

On Saturday the remains of the late Dr. E. H. J. Stowe, of Toronto, the first woman physician of Canada, were taken to Buffalo for cremation, according to her long-expressed wish.

Provincial Appointments.

Toronto, May 4.—The following provincial appointments have been gazetted: D. M. Brodie, Massey Station, to be police magistrate for the District of Algoma; I. M. Clemens, New Hamburg, to be clerk of the Fourth Division Court of the County of Waterloo, vice David Eby, resigned.

Forest Fires Cause Big Losses.

Boston, Mass., May 4.—The numerous forest fires which have been burning in all sections of New England last week have caused losses estimated at fully $150,000. The principal damage has fallen upon owners of woodlands.

SPRING'S UNFOLDING.

All Nature Throbs and Responds to the Mysterious Influence—Flowers and Trees an Interesting Study.

Every lengthening day of spring brings a new awakening. The pulsations of renewing life are in the air, and all nature feels their inspiring force. Even in city streets, where they try with pitiful helplessness to restore or make apologetic amendments for the denudation of the earth, there is response to the joy of living. The soft maples are first to hear the call, and their opening flowers proclaim the refreshing news. The little, modest, unassuming tufts of yellow or red, that give the masses of branches and twigs a more compact aspect at a distance, may not seem worthy to be classed as flowers. They lack the beautiful hues and rich variations associated with the word. But they hold the vital spark of renewing life, the mysterious power of reproduction manifested in all flowers as a part of nature's harmonious purpose. The round buds that came in the fall and remained inert through the winter have already opened, and the flowers are fulfilling their mission, but the longer buds holding in embyro the summer foliage have not yet begun to show signs of growth. The yellowish tufts are casting fertilizing pollen on the air and will soon be littering the pavements and boulevards. By the time the leaves are ready to unfold, the fertile buds will have their early-maturing seeds almost formed.

The trees by the roadside show an interesting variety of habits and customs. The seeds of the soft maple fall to the ground in early summer, and if they have a fair fighting chance take root before resigning to the sleep of winter, but the sugar maple keeps its seeds till late in autumn for germination the following spring. The flower buds on the upper branches of the elms have already opened, but the tiny brown flowers are so inconspicuous that but for the discarded scales thrown to the pavement and the occasional depredations of the municipal pruners this interesting activity would pass unnoticed. In a little while, even before the leaves are unfolded, the seeds will be scattered on the inhospitable streets. It is the way of our forest trees to flower before the leaves appear, but their unfoldings are so infinitely varied and their habits so elusively interesting that it is passing strange they do not receive more attention from those with abundant leisure to devote to the affairs of their fellows. The trees present so much that is more entertaining.

The buds swelling at the top of the tall, slender Normandy poplar will soon unfold their long brown catkins to waste their pollen on the air and fall to the earth. The female tree is so small and insignificant that it has never been brought to this continent. The pussies on the willows are showing the yellowish and reddish hues that distinguish the paternal and maternal trees. Where the suburban shrubbery has not been denuded the hazel catkins have awakened into life and hang like slender caterpillars, arresting attention by their fresh yellow coloring. On the alders the little catkins that have been so hard and inert all winter have suddenly softened and elongated, and are shaking out their pollen at the faintest stirring of the wind. The eye has but to open to see the manifold awakenings that show the all-pervading power of nature renewing her perpetual youth.

Veregin a Canadian Now.

Peter Veregin, the Doukhobor leader, is a Douk, no longer. He is a Canuck, that is, if the tailor and the barber can make the man. He arrived at Winnipeg the other day with a bundle of money, and purchased imported stallions and brood mares for the Yorkton colony. He was clad in a long blue coat with flaring tails, long boots, and the wind whistled through as fine a bunch of whiskers as the Northwest can boast of.

He announced to Mr. J. Obed Smith, the Immigration Commissioner, that he and all his flock were now Canucks, and spirit pilgrimages were things of the past.

"Well, if you are going to be a Canadian, why don't you wear Canadian clothes and set your people an example?"

Peter, from his six-foot elevation, looked down at the Commissioner a moment, and without a word headed for the door. Two hours later a two hundred pound man in a store suit and a soft hat re-entered. Mr. Smith had a chill when Peter Veregin's voice rumbled forth from over a clean-shaven chin. Peter had donned Canadian clothes, and had sacrificed his whiskers and hair for the good of his colony. With a fierce bristling moustache and closely cropped head he looks like a swashbuckler of the old days.

The Canadian Lords.

Dr. Landerkin restrains his jesting tongue in the Senate. A real, rollicking, lively jeu d'esprit would be like to send the venerable gentlemen into convulsions, not of merriment, but of rage. Jokes are bad form in the Senate, in fact, a good many things are bad form in the Upper Chamber. Long speeches are bad form; vigorous speeches are bad form; for many years, even the presence of Liberal Senators was such bad form that the Government of the day never essayed to violate this canon of Parliamentary taste. Now, however, the times have changed and the Senatorial customs with them. Thus new Conservative Senators are now outre, and you don't see any new ones. —Day by Day, in Toronto News.

What the Girls Say.

Many a woman thinks a man is all right, because his diamond ring's true.

Many a woman freezes a man just to make him stop thinking that he cuts ice.

It all depends upon the man whether a woman's last word is her sweetest or her hatefulest.

Absentminded.

"Rather absentminded, isn't he?"

"Extremely so. Why, the other night when he got home he knew there was something he wanted to do, but he couldn't remember what it was until he had sat up over an hour trying to think."

"And did he finally remember it?"

"Yes; he discovered that he wanted to go to bed early!"

MY STAR.

By Arthur Weir.

"There is a star in the pure ether high,
My other home it is,
Whereto, when sorrow threatens me, I fly,
And in my flight towards the vaulted sky
The hated sorrows roll
Down from my fleet-winged soul,
As from the sea-gull's circling form the spray
Drops to the storm-rent bay
Its pinions erst did kiss.

"Well said the Seer that overstudy brought
A weariness of the flesh;
And oft my brain, worn with its overthought,
Watches the night steal past, while sleep comes not.
Then doth my star arise
Slowly before my eyes,
Steady, serene and cold, yet heavenly bright,
And, while my grief takes flight,
Binds all my thoughts in leash.

"No longer fear and discontent combine
To make my future drear,
For I arise from that star of mine
Look down and see our small earth dimly shine:
And all life's joy and pain
Their proper worth obtain,
And I to smile at all past fears begin.
For earth's discordant din
Is stilled, and God I hear."

Sketch of Mr. Weir.

The late Arthur Weir was born in Montreal in 1864 and educated at the High School in that city and at McGill University, from which institution he graduated in arts in 1882, and in science four years later. Mr. Weir received his earliest literary training in the congenial pastime of editing The University Gazette, and on his graduation joined the staff of The Montreal Star. Up to his death about two years ago he was engaged in journalistic and literary work. He published three volumes of verse. The first entitled "Fleur de Lys," appeared in 1887. The second was published in 1890, under the name of "The Romance of Sir Richard; Sonnets and Other Poems," and the third, "The Snowflake and Other Poems," in 1890. It is from the last-named volume that the poem above is quoted. Mr. Weir had abundance as a poet, but apparently no very exacting sense of form. In his diction he too often falls into trite and unpoetic phraseology. His feeling, however, is unmistakable. He pours himself forth with ardor and sincerity on themes of all sorts, the lightest and the most profound. The poems addressed to his wife are charming, and the sentiment of reverence in "The Mother," the thought of the helplessness of the mere man as his beloved goes down alone "into the valley of pain," is touchingly expressed. None of his poems is more likely to live in our literature than the lovely lines we have printed to-day—in it one feels the "thrill and onslaught" of true poetry.—Pharos, in The Globe.

THE MUSKRATS.

Description of the Sport of Lindsay Citizens for a Couple of Weeks.

The breaking up of the ice on the narrow reaches of the Scugog above and below Lindsay is eagerly watched for every spring by a couple of dozen of our citizens because they are skilled in the trapping of the muskrat, whose odor is objectionable, but whose jacket of close, soft fur is an article of commerce at present in great demand—so much so, that the price has almost doubled in the last few years, says The Lindsay Post.

When the ice starts to break up the rising flood forces the muskrat families out of the snug houses in which they have spent the winter, and this is the hunter's opportunity. Traps are cunningly set near every submerged log and landing place likely to be visited by the rats in the course of their night excursions in quest of food or adventure, or material for another happy home, and if the little swimmer happens to touch a certain innocent looking twig the trap beneath the surface is sprung, and the chances are that the jaws close on one of the animal's legs. Then is enacted one of nature's tragedies. The rat struggles until exhausted, and finally drowns.

Next morning the owner of the trap hikes along in his canoe, and ejaculating, "There's another!" casts the bedraggled bunch of fur on top of the pile in the bow of the boat—the fruits of his visit to forty or fifty traps—and heads for camp. During the day the pelts are stripped and stretched on cedar frames to dry and cure, and the skill and care displayed in the operation may mean the difference between the lowest and the top price when the buyer has his innings.

Some years ago as many as 2,500 muskrat pelts were marketed in Lindsay, but this number represented more than should have been taken, and several of the trappers say that a close season is needed to give the animals a chance to repopulate their old haunts. This argument seems to be borne out by the fact that last season several trappers worked East and West Cross Creeks and along the upper channel with such success that apparently it was considered useless to repeat the visit this spring, and with the exception of a few odd days, all the trapping this season was done below. McLaren's Creek and vicinity yielded a fine harvest, and it is reported that some Indians had great luck on Emily Creek.

The quantity of fur taken by local trappers as closely as can be ascertained, is as follows: Joe Hand and George Jackman, 315 rats, 2 mink and 2 raccoons; Les. Foley, 112 rats; F. Dennison, 53; Joe Lytle, 237; George and Dave Hudson, jr., and F. Reeves, jr., 367; Stafford Halpin, 38; Jack Dickson, 52; W. J. Britton, and F. Bushnell, 64. In addition to the above M. O'Leary, A. Bradshaw, and several Indians, including "Dow" Taylor and his father, made up a respectable total among them.

The great bulk of the fur was purchased by Mr. Thos. Spratt, who at the very outset offered the top price of 80c for prime and 29c for common skins.

Britain's 60,000 postmen deliver yearly 3,600,000,000 postal packets.

THE LATE MR. AGNEW OF ASHBURNHAM.

He Expired Very Suddenly on Saturday Evening.

The announcement of the death of Mr. John Agnew, of Munro avenue, Ashburnham, came as a great shock to his friends, as it was known by many that Mr. Agnew was in his usual apparent good health on Saturday, and had been down town during the morning. However, heart trouble called the deceased gentleman suddenly away at about 8 o'clock.

The late Mr. Agnew was a prominent resident of Ashburnham and was 56 years of age. He had been a resident of the village for many years following the occupation of a carpenter. He was a faithful member of Mark street Methodist church, and was a member of Court Peterborough, No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters. The late Mr. Agnew was at one time road commissioner of Ashburnham, he was also at one time a member of the School Board of Ashburnham and took a great interest in the affairs of the village. He leaves a wife and three sons and three daughters. The sons are Messrs. Fred, Joseph and George, of town, and the daughters are Mrs. Calvert, of Toronto, and Mrs. A. Jordan, of Brampton.

The funeral will take place to-morrow after noon, under Forester auspices, to Little Lake Cemetery.

JUNE DESIGNER.

June being the favoured month for weddings, that issue of The Designer gives special space to articles of interest to the woman who expects soon to be a bride. "Brides and Bride Attendants," "The June Bride's Trousseau" and "Woman's Fads and Fancies" all cater to this one subject, and even the fiction leans to that side, for "Laviny's Wedding-Gown" and "Thalia's Successful Play" have matrimony as a theme. The fashions and millinery shown in this month are charmingly summery and dainty, and so too are "Fashions and Fabrics" and "Points on Dressmaking." The literary portion of the book breathes of summer freedom and wholesome out-of-doors. A new department is "A Page of Puzzles" for the little folks.

On a Saturday Afternoon.

The trolley goes where the railway company says, and you can travel by it only where it goes. Same with a railway train. Even steamboats stop only at stated ports. With a bicycle one starts when one is ready, goes where one wants to, stops when one pleases and comes home when one feels like it. A bicycle brings the rider to unfrequented dells and nooks of the country, to the quiet of nature's reposeful beauty, without dust, jostle, noise or confusion. For a Saturday afternoon jaunt the bicycle has a railway, a trolley, or even the crowded afterdeck of a steamboat beaten out before it starts.

SAD DEATH OF MRS. E. M. POUSSETT.

Passed Away This Afternoon at Four O'clock.

As the Examiner goes to press the sad intelligence is received of the death of Mrs. E. M. Poussett.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION OF PETERBOROUGH

Met This Morning — Lord Bishop of Toronto Present.

The Ministerial Association met in the Y.M.C.A. parlours this morning. The following members were present: Rev. J. P. Wilson, president; Rev. J. A. Wilson, secretary; Revs. Dr. Torrance, J. Bastow, J. C. Davidson, W. J. Jolliffe, E. A. Langfeldt, J. Kilgour, W. L. Armitage, J. G. Potter. His Lordship Bishop Sweatman, of Toronto, and Rev. G. Warren of Lakefield, were also present.

After the regular business routine Rev. J. C. Davidson, M. A., of St. John's church, read a most helpful paper on "Different Means of Ministerial Co-operation and Fellowship." The paper was highly appreciated, and in the discussion that took place many additional helpful thoughts were brought out.

His Lordship the Bishop of Toronto then addressed the meeting, and in a few kind and encouraging words expressed his pleasure at being present and his delight with the spirit of brotherhood which existed among the different ministers of Peterborough. His Lordship was accorded a most hearty vote of thanks for his kind and helpful words.

PETERBOROUGH'S VERY COMPETENT TREASURER.

An Extract From Provincial Municipal Auditor's Report.

In connection with an article on municipal auditing, which appears in another column, the following extract from the report of Mr. J. B. Laing, Provincial Municipal Auditor to the Attorney-General for Ontario, should be of interest to Peterborough people:—

"This town has a thoroughly competent Treasurer, Mr. Felix Brownscombe, who has held office since 1896. His salary of $700, I understand, is to be increased, which is only fair to a man of his integrity and abilities. The receipts of the town for 1901 were $145,516.13, and the payments $150,-147.69. For 1902 the receipts and payments are both much larger. The community seems to be a prosperous one and full of enterprise. Assessment roll for 1901 foots up $4,597,490. Tax rate, 18 mills on the dollar."

THE CHURCHES.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Warren of Lakefield, conducted and preached at both services at St. John's church yesterday. It being the first Sunday in the month Holy Communion was administered in the morning. At the evening service the choir sang Farmer's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis. The anthem was "Send out Thy Light."

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

The pulpit of the George street church was occupied yesterday by the pastor, Rev. J. P. Wilson, who preached to large congregations both morning and evening. At the close of the morning service the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered, Rev. Mr. Kilgour assisting the pastor. A reception service for new members was also held, when some thirty-five persons were received into membership.

The morning anthem was "Prayer is the Soul's Sincere Desire." In the the evening the choir sang the anthem, "Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing," with solo by Mr. Mulligan. After the sermon Mr Mulligan sang "My Mother's Bible," in keeping with the pastor's discourse on "The Bible."

CONFIRMATION SERVICE AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH.

Bishop Sweatman Preaches Confirmation Sermon.

A Most Appropriate Address to Those Who Were Confirmed.

A confirmation service was held terday morning in All Saint's church, at which twenty-seven, many of whom were adults, were confirmed by His Lordship Bishop Sweatman. The church was crowded with people, for whom special seats had to be provided. The confirmation address was given by his Lordship the Bishop, who commenced by pointing out to those wishing to be confirmed, the seriousness of the step which they were about to take—a step which can only be taken with a pure heart. Speaking of good followers of Christ, his Lordship said that they could not become good and faithful followers of Christ unless they attended the Holy Communion regularly. Addressing the class his Lordship said that they had promised to renounce the world, the flesh and the devil. The world is transient; there will come a time when all worldly things will be left behind. Bitterness and remorse are the rewards for the fulfilment of your own desire. In speaking of renouncing the devil his Lordship said that temptation, if yielded to, only led to destruction, an example of which was when Satan attempted to destroy Christ in the wilderness. His Lordship said that Christ was Lord and Master of all, it was He whom they had chosen to serve, and He only should they serve, for "no man can serve two masters."

In conclusion the Bishop remarked if they had chosen in their hearts to serve God faithfully and diligently, and if they stayed by their decisions, then indeed they would never regret their choice, and would be able to look back to their confirmation day as the turning point of their spiritual life.

The solemn action of the laying on of the hands of the Bishop on the heads of the candidates then took place, during which proceeding his Lordship asked for God's blessing on each one.

During the offertory the choir sang "There is a Green Hill Far Away," Miss Mary Rush taking the solo part in her usual excellent manner.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. G. Y. Payne, of Detroit, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. Payne.

Mrs. S. Nelson, of Lakefield, has returned home, after spending a few weeks in London and Toronto visiting friends.

Mr. U. N. Smith, of Montreal, spent Sunday in Lakefield, the guest of his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Nelson.

His Lordship Bishop Sweatman, who celebrated the ceremony of confirmation yesterday, was during his stay in town, the guest of Mrs. J. Harris McClellan, No. 19 Gilmour street.

To-day's Globe contains a photo-gravure of Sampson Paul Robins, who has for more than 40 years been associated with education in the Province of Quebec. The Globe states that he began to teach in a log school house on the 4th line of Dummer in 1848.

SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—We as Canadians are accustomed to boast of our well-kept laws and our general regard for things which tend to uplift us in the scale of morals and of virtue. We boast of our well-kept Sabbaths and of our church-going, God-fearing people. Is our boast well-founded? One could hardly think so yesterday as train after train passed through our town, to the annoyance of our citizens and to the general disturbance of our boasted Sabbath quiet. Surely such traffic as was carried on yesterday fails to come under the category of "work of necessity or mercy." Is there not a law of man as well as a law of God to deal even with such iron hearts as these seemingly possessed by railway corporations? We read with horror of wreck after wreck taking place on our Canadian railways of late. Does it not seem as if a Higher Power who rules and overrules all things was in this way expressing disapprobation with the open violation of one of his holy commandments? Can our pulpits not do something? Has the Ministerial Association no power in this matter? Can the Lord's Day Alliance not see if this thing is still to be allowed? If we lose our much-prized Sabbath, a premium will be placed upon many other evils which will inevitably follow.

I remain, sir,

A LOVER OF SABBATH QUIET.

TWO BURGLARIES WERE COMMITTED

In Town, Since 10 o'clock Saturday Night.

Since ten o'clock on Saturday night two burglaries have been committed in town. The stores entered were, the Best Hardware Company's store, and Robert McWhinnie's shoe shop.

About ten o'clock on Sunday morning the cashier of the Best Store Company, went down to the store, where he found the till open, and about $2 missing in silver and postage stamps. The safe had not been tampered with. The first conclusion drawn was that the theft had been committed by boys, but this seems to be shaken, as this morning the stamp with which the firm's checks are signed, was found to be missing. There appears to be no clue as to how the thieves entered the building.

The other store entered was that of Mr. Robt. McWhinnie, on George street. At 11 o'clock last night the nightwatchman found the back door to this shop standing wide open, and at once informed Mr. McWhinnie of the fact. The nightwatchman states that the door in question was locked at 5.30 o'clock on Sunday morning. As far as can be ascertained the burglars only got away with 38 cents in coppers. The safe had been left unlocked, but this was not suspected by the thieves, who in meddling with the combination kindly succeeded in locking it. There is a single large foot-print visible at the back of the building.

As to the stamp with which the firm's checks are stamped, it would be advisable if such an article were put away in the safe with the firm's money as the theft of such a thing might lead to the loss to the firm of a large sum of money.

The Peterborough Y. M. C. A. Athletes Present—The Programme.

(Lindsay Post.)

The Athletic Carnival given last night in the Academy of Music under the auspices of the local Y.M.C.A. was attended by fairly large audience. The programme was divided into two parts and was chiefly an athletic performance interspersed with some music, and proved very interesting. Although the programme was lengthy, lasting till nearly 11 o'clock, with the exception of a few persons the audience remained till the finish.

The visiting Peterborough Y.M.C.A. athletes performed many clever and difficult feats on the horizontal and parallel bars. In this work Mr. Sanford Hall and Mr. Horace Ayres excelled. The latter is the physical director of the Y.M.C.A. in the Otonabee Town, and much credit is due him for training the boys so well. Mr. Hall is certainly a clever performer. He is light in weight and has abundant muscle to throw himself into almost any position. Mr. Hall's work in diving over a rope suspended seven feet from the floor brought much applause. But while this gentleman is an expert gymnast, Mr. Paine, who is a large man, showed his superiority over the others by making a leap over seven men, and was cheered. The running promenade at the opening of the programme, wand drill and fancy marching, were much appreciated. The calisthenic and dumb-bell drill put on by about a dozen of the Lindsay Y.M.C.A. under the supervision of Mr. Will Hall, was well done. The vocal solo, "Barque of Dreams," by Miss C. Belleghem, of Peterborough, was nicely rendered and greatly appreciated. She was recalled. The guitar and banjo duett, "Fitzgerald March," given by Miss Dobbin and Mr. Henderson, of Peterborough, merited great applause. The statuary performance was not so well done owing to the lights not being in working order.

During the intermission Messrs. Hall and Ayres gave an exhibition in fancing,each displaying considerable skill in that art. The honors were evenly divided. A pleasing solo "A Dream," given by Miss Belleghem, and the "Imperial Guard March," rendered on the guitar and banjo by Miss Dobbin and Mr. Henderson, were greatly enjoyed. The latter two responded to an encore. Mr. Halpany, Peterborough's leading comic singer, gave a pleasing selection entitled "When a Lady Leads the Band," and was recalled. Later in the evening he gave a recitation.

Miss Dobbin officiated as accompanist during the evening. The singing of the national anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

YOUNG CORBETT TO FIGHT IN NEW YORK.

Ben Yanger, of Detroit, to Meet him in That City.

According to Geo. Considine, Young Corbett's next battle of importance will be with Benny Yanger, in Detroit, in June. Considine's brother is the matchmaker of the Metropolitan A. C., where Jack Root and Kid McCoy fought the other night.

Considine says Corbett already has consented to fight Yanger there, and all that is required now to make the battle a fixture is for Yanger to agree, and this it is thought he will do as he is anxious to fight the champion. Corbett is due in the east in about two weeks. When he arrives here he may make another match. Consodine says his offer to pit Corbett against Terry McGovern again for $10,000 a side, provided Terry will agree to wager that sum, still holds good.

Umpires — Peterborough, Mr. R. Cameron; Millbrook, Mr. R. Chambers.

A. Moore and G. Ferguson were the bowlers for Peterborough, while Roy Dawson and Walker Mitchell took the ball for Millbrook.

The youngsters are teaching the older cricketers a lesson. On Saturday afternoon last the Junior Colts defeated the Millbrook Juniors by a fairly large margin, while as yet the other team have made no visible signs of organization. It is reported that a match has been arranged with Lindsay for May 25th, and a large attendance is requested at practice on Saturday afternoon next at Nicholls Oval.

GOLF.

The regular weekly handicap match and the pic-nic tea of the Ladies' Golf Club will be held on Wednesday evening next at 3 o'clock. All players who have not already handed in their scores are requested to do so before the end, of the week as the handicap must be arranged for the spring tournament.

* * * *

The scratch men of the Golf Club are getting up a competition amongst themselves, and each member has put up a basket ball. Capt. Ray says that he would like very much if the handicap men would get up a similar competition, and the green committee has promised the handicapped men all possible assistance.

Travis the champion has been defeated by young Reinhart by 3 up and 1 to play. It is stated that it was a very fine exhibition of golf and only goes to show how splendidly the younger players are progressing.

LAWN BOWLING.

Peterborough bowlers open the season to-night with the President vs. Vice-President match. A big time is expected.

FOOTBALL.

The Y.M.C.A. football team will practice at the Oval at 7 o'clock sharp this evening.

The Quaker Football Club wish to challenge the Auburn Football Club to a game of Association Footabll on the Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon next at 3 o'clock.

CANOEING.

A bystander witnessed a most exciting race a few days back between Mr. Roy's yacht "Rob Roy," and two canoeists. The latter won to the astonishment of the bystander, in spite of the energetic "vapourings" of the launch.

HOCKEY.

Peterborough has an athletic organization known as the Total Abstinence hockey club. Naturally one would expect a team composed of young men who lead sober lives, to win matches, and that is just what this seven have done. They won the championship of the Trent Valley League, which feat has earned for them a banquet and gold rings, the feasting and the jewelry being in evidence just the other night. What is needed in this country to improve athletics is not semi-professionalism but more total abstinence societies. —Arnprior Watchman.

MISCELLANEOUS.

TROUT FISHING.

The season for brook trout fishing opened Saturday, 2nd of May, and up to the hour of going to press the Examiner failed to see a speck of one of the brook beauties, although some of the "sports" have been away. Their presence or catch are not accounted for yet. Some got uneasy and took to lonesome places, as one or two did being of a tired feeling left it to the horse which they hired to convey them to the haunts of the trout, and when daylight loomed up after a weary drive—of miles unknown—they found themselves in the vicinity of Lakefield; the horse having gone to its former home. Another party was expected home last night, but the Examiner on enquiry found out they had taken provisions to do them a month.

LACROSSE.

In view of the fact that Lacrosse has shown signs of becoming very popular in Peterborough this summer it may be of interest to those who are now identified with the game to know something of lacrosse in Peterborough some years ago. The following clipping from the Examiner of July 2nd, 1885, gives some idea of the enthusiasm that prevailed in Lacrosse in Peterborough at that time.

Thursday last, being Dominion Day, was celebrated by the loyal town of Peterborough, in common with its sister towns and cities, by strict observance as a public holiday. Business in town was completely suspended, if we accept such useful establishment as the livery stables, which did a thriving business during the day, and such places of resort as Long Bros., whither youths and maidens resorted to tempt the fates with incomprehensible compounds of syrups rendered coldly seductive by the assistance of the Arctic Radiant. In spite of the fact that a man died in Washington the previous week from eating cherries, the rising generation bid defiance to the colic and kindred ills and went in for fruit in a manner highly gratifying to such publicists as Messrs. Chamberlain, Lemay and Bailey. With such recreation holiday-seekers during the forenoon were compelled to content themselves, excepting those who chose to take the trouble to walk over to the cricket grounds at Ashburnham, where a very interesting was in progress from 10 O'clock. Quite a crowd gathered here, the greater portion being of the feminine gender, to witness the match, which was very well contested and proved to be a most interesting event. An admission fee of ten cents was charged and it was highly edifying to observe the ingenuity of economy practised by a large crowd who, standing up in buggies, peering through knot-holes and crevices in the fence, clambering up the roofs of adjacent houses, hanging on telegraph poles and lamp-posts, and perched upon wood-piles and other classic eminences, feloniously and unlawfully participated in ill-gotten enjoyment of the national game. Our reporter noted with profound satisfaction that numbers of those enterprising individuals, in the salvage of the ten cents admission fee, sacrificed coat tails and pantaloons to convenient nails, and were put to a degree of personal discomfiture which was regarded with baleful enjoyment by the defrauded ticket-seller at the gate. We would suggest to the club, that prior to another match, a few hundred pounds of shingle nails be employed, and likewise a few first-class pick-pockets under honourable agreement to ply their trade outside the grounds. The club had hoped to be able to play the return with the Belleville club on Dominion Day, but were disappointed. Two teams were selected from our own club, thereupon, and a very good match ensued. The teams were as follows:—(Blue.) Captain, Robert Lee; J. Corkery, Goal; H. LeBrun, Point; M. Halpin, Cover Point; L. McNaughton, Home; J. Sheehy, Home Field; J. Joyal, Def. Field; J. Lynch, Field; T. Choate, Field; M. Macdonald, Field; J. C. Robertson, Field; M. Dunn, Field; A. Craig, Field. (Red.) Captain, James Dolan; Wm. Davis, Goal; Wm. Rudkins, Point; Wm. Sanderson, Cover Point; M. M. Hackett, Home; C. LeBrun, Home Field; W. Morrow, Def. Field; A. Moffat, Field; J. Mackisson, Field; T. McBain, Field; S. Henthorn, Field; D. Fitzgerald, Field; G. Scott, Field.

RUSSIAN HOCKEY TEAM MAY MAKE A TOUR.

St. Petersburg Seven may Visit This Country—Writes for Particulars.

Montreal Witness.

There is a possibility of a Russian hockey team visiting Canada within the next year or two, if negotiations now under way are successfully carried through. This will be interesting news to the hockey loving public of the Dominion, and Canadians will doubtless be pleased to welcome a team of hockey players from the land of the bear. About two months ago Mr. Louis Rubenstein received a letter from Mr. Lebeudff, of St. Petersburg, requesting full particulars as to the playing of the game in this country, and regarding rules, rinks and other features surrounding the sport as played by Canadian teams. Mr. Rubenstein in reply, sent the information desired, and at the same time he mailed to Mr. Lebeudff, a picture of the team, ex-champions of the senior hockey league. On Friday Mr. Rubenstein received an acknowledgement, and enclosed were several interesting souvenirs, one showing a picture of the St. Petersburg players in the heat of a contest, while on an engraved card the names of the officers and players of the club were signed.

Mr. Lebeudff thinks that the Canadian game is all right and he intimates that the St. Petersburg seven are anxious to meet our boys at some future date.

Mr. Rubenstein believes that such a meeting could be brought about if the different senior hockey clubs throughout the Dominion would come together and encourage the idea.

THE AMERICAN INDUSTRIAL INVASION.

How American Enterprise Finds Expression in Canada.

An American Tribute to Canada's Resources and Transportation Facilities.

What he calls the American industrial invasion of Canada is dealt with by Mr. Robert H. Montgomery, in The World's Work.

He paints the industrial boundary of the United States as running in a waving line across the continent, well north oft he Canadian boundary. Beginning at the Atlantic threshold, Mr. Montgomery tells of the wonderful development achieved by the Nova Scotia Steel and the Dominion Iron and Steel, and the Dominion Coal Companies. He says:

"When the works at Sydney are completed they will turn out half a million tons of steel a year, and already plans are on foot to begin shipbuilding there. Sydney is 1200 miles nearer European ports than Batimore the port nearest Pittsburg; 2,300 miles nearer Liverpool than Pensacola, the port nearest the Alabama iron district,; and through the fact not usually borne in mind, that South America lies far to the east of the United States, 600 miles nearer Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Ayres, than New Orleans and Mobile. It is also 900 miles nearer Cape Town than these Gulf ports are. In fact it may not be inaply termed "the nearest port to anywhere." Already fast developing, what shall this region of great natural wealth and easy communication with the world become in future?"

PULP INDUSTRIES.

Following his industrial line, Mr. Montgomery comes next to the pulp industries, whose resources are forty per cent. of the area of Canada, he says, and he touches upon the mills at Sturgeon Falls, Sault Ste. Marie, and Grande Marie:

'These corporations, whose limits aggregate many thousand square miles, and handle many millions of logs per annum, producing pulp which from its high quality, is driving the Scandinavian article from the markets of Europe, are supplying many mills in the United States and their product is largely used in Australasia, India and Japan. A single district, that of Lake St. John, north of Quebec, bears spruce equal to the entire forest area of Norway, and has 700,000 horsepower in its streams, waiting to be harnessed."

THE CLERGUE.

The gigantic enterprises of Mr. F. H. Clergue, backed by his Philadelphia syndicate at Sault Ste. Marie, are given considerable attention:

"Every dollar of the vast expenditure fort he construction and equipment of these works and transport lines came from the pockets of the syndicate. There is not a mortgage or bond of the concern in existence, and the funds at Mr. Clergue's command seem unlimited," he says.

Mr. Montgomery continues: — "I have here touched upon American industrial outposts located in portions of the Dominion widely separated from one another. But bear in mind that in the whole of her vast territory Canada has fewer inhabitants than t he state of New York; that the revenue by which the Government is sustained, great public works constructed, and the laws efficiently administered is less than the revenue of the city of New York. To a population so widely scattered, means of intercommunication are accordingly of exigent importance. Canada has the result of an enormous expenditure, a system of waterways by which sea-going vessels may penetrate almost to the heart of the continent. These were for a time sufficient, but years ago a few public men began the agitation for a policy of railway construction which was then largely in excess of the country's requirements. The Grand Trunk was the pioneer line, and for many years was alone in the field, increasing its Canadian mileage from two or three hundred miles in 1855 to three thousand in 1901. Butt hough the Grand Trunk for some time met the requirements of Eastern Canada and the Intercolonial Railway, a national undertaking, connected the Maritime provinces with Quebec, it was felt that until there was a comprehensive railway system from ocean to ocean, to bind the incoherent confederation together Canada could not become a nation. This was the inspiration that American experts crystalized as the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Under the successive supervision and management of Sir Wilham Van Horne and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the Canadian Pacific has grown to control railroads aggregating 6,874 miles within the Dominion, and owns fleets of steam ships on the great lakes and on the Pacific Ocean, royal mail liners to China, Japan and Australia. The company is now tendering for the project ed fast mail service between Canada and Great Britain. By rail and water it maintains a continuous transcontinental route, between Halifax, N.S., or St. John, N. B., to Victoria on Vancouver Island, British Columbia. the only single ocean to ocean railroad on the North American continent. So rapid has been the development of the country through which the Canadian Pacific runs that the Grand Trunk is now preparing to share in the prosperity of the Great West of Canada by extending its line to the Pacific. Nearly 3,000 miles of railway will be built across the continent, at an expenditure of from seventy-five million dollars to one-hundred million dollars."

EMPIRE'S GRANARY.

Mr. Montgomery desires to credit the development of the "Empire's granary" to the immigrating farmers from the United States, and predicts that this new cereal Eldorado will soon export double the American shipments of wheat of to-day.

"Careful enquiries and my own observation would go to show that forty per cent. of the American immigrants are not entered on the immigration commissioner's books, having trekked singly or in parties across the frontier, and not having entered by the ports of registration on the lines of rail. I should say that there are already 70,000 people of American extraction in that country," says Mr. Montgomery.

Referring to irrigation, which is essential only in exceptional years, he says that the average cost of it per acre has been $2.25, or less than one-half that of the cheapest system of United States.

"Though the recent progress of all this country, since the American discovery, has been phenomenal, it is but an earnest of a development unprecedented in the history of the country. Already the railroads are taxed to their utmost capacity to handle the crops, and despite the annual increase of branch lines, the construction of new cars, engines and elevators, transportation facilities still lag behind the demand. In 1901, with a crop of 50,000,000 bushels produced in Manitoba alone, that grain inspection district had an elevator capacity of less than half the requirements. More railroads and elevators are urgently needed, and it seems probable that Americans will build them."

Mr. Montgomery proceeds to mention the coal mines of Crow's Nest Pass, and the American mining achievements in British Columbia and the Yukon. In this connection he classes Mr. James J. Hill as an American. As Mr. Montgomery also classes Sir William Van Horne, who holds a British knighthood, and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, as Americans, he will probably concede Mr. Hill, a native of Zorra, Ont., to be a Canadian.

FITZSIMMONS ONLY HAS A HOME LEFT.

His Money has all all Disappeared no one Knows Where.

After more than 200 battles, covering a period of nearly twenty years, Bob Fitzsimmons, the old man of the prize ring, supposed by his friends to be worth at least $100,000, decided yesterday that he had no money left and that the house at Bath Beach, which was owned by his wife, represented his entire wealth. As Mrs. Fitzsimmons died without making a will, the title to this property passes to her children, and Lanky Bob is left with a life insurance only.

If Fitzsimmons' statement to his lawyer is true, all he has to show for his years of fighting is a home, that is, the right to live in a house for the rest of his life.

It has been generally known among Bob's friends for several years that Rose Fitzsimmons was "the business man" of the house. She managed all the financial affairs. After the death of Mrs. Fitzsimmons it was said that she had left no will and that the money and property believed to be at least $100,0000, would by law pass to her children.

CHEMONG PARK.

The situation of Chemong Park is well upon the high lands overlooking the shores of Chemong Lake—one of the most interesting sheets of water in Canada, surrounded with an infinite variety of scenic beauty—ten miles long by one in width.

The elevation of Chemong Park is 652 feet above Lake Ontario, and the cool air, rich with the resinous fragrance of the northern pine, exerts a tonic influence in the renewal of health.

Chemong Park is distant six miles from Peterborough, a thriving city of 14,000, and has all the advantages of daily mail, etc.

The hotel is in the centre of a beautiful park of about 270 acres, the trees of which are young pine, noted for their sweet smell as well as for their health-giving qualities.

Connected with the hotel is a spring of mineral water, possessing all the qualities of the most noted mineral springs of other lands. It is regarded by physicians as possessing restorative qualities, composed of sulphur, iron and calcium—three of the most noted minerals for health-giving effects known to medical men.

Many physicians have spoken in the highest praise of the benefits to be derived from a sojourn in this delightful spot, especially those subject to hay fever and all similar disorders.

The heat i snever felt as the ground rises high above the water and gets the benefit of every breeze that blows —no matter from what quarter.

Don't forget the concert in St. Luke's school room Monday evening, May 4th. A good programme, including Mr. Wildgust, Mr. Dawson, Miss Aggie Patterson and others. Tickets 10c.

IMPERIAL LIFE.
A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.
Toronto * * The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

A TRIP UP THE NILE

FASCINATIONS OF THE EGYPTIAN FATHER OF WATERS.

Strange Blending of the Old and the New—Ancient and Modern Modes of Transportation Seen on the Historic River and Along Its Banks—Camels and Camel Caravans—Irrigation Works.

Still the lateen and triangular sailed feluccas, dahabeahs and ghyassas criscross the heaving bosom of the Egyptian father of waters, still groan and creak and sputter the old water wheels that supply the irrigation ditches of the Nile fields; still the sandy hill mountains around ancient Thebes gleam yellow and pink and purple in the splendid tropical sunset, still wave feathery foliaged palm and tamarisk trees in the irragated groves that fringe the great river sea.

The temples and ruins of Egypt may be studied at home from guidebook, history and encyclopedia. Modern Egypt as pictured on the Nile to-day is greatly more interesting to anybody except an antiquarian than the Egypt of the pyramids and tumbledown temples. There is the strange mixture of past and present that makes the whole seem unreal, a phantasmagoria of which the new view comes on the scene before the former one has disappeared. The universal traveler and his wife—he in the latest British, she in the latest Paris clothes—sit under a machine woven canvas awning and look out upon the banks of the great river where camel caravans come down for water precisely as they did 5,000 years ago. Still the Arab men have their heads swathed in big white turbans, still the women are swathed all over and veiled in black, the most perspiration producing, torturing hue that can be worn in a tropical country. Their men keep the women mummied in the uncomfortable black probably because it serves them right for having had the presumption to be born females.

It is surprising how the women can walk, much less work, under their quantity of draping. But all along the Nile you will see them, black robed figures, not an outline of the form visible, move down to the river's edge with earthen jars upon their heads and fill and carry these away without spilling a drop. A white woman would have to practice a year before she could do it. Again you will see an Egyptian woman driving a number of water buffaloes down the Nile bank to get their morning drink and bath. These buffaloes are kindred to those in southern China, in India and the Philippines. The women plow and tend the soil; they move to and fro the rude machinery that turns the water wheels which pump water from the Nile River into the irrigation ditches. Their kind did it in Scripture times; they do it to-day with the same sort of rude lever and wheel.

These slow, ungainly beasts are fonder of a bath than some members of the human species are. For that reason are they called water buffaloes. They must have their bath every day or two or die. Perhaps it is a pity the human race is not built like them in this respect. While the Egyptian woman stands upon the bank, watching her buffaloes go to drink, the tourist discovers that though she seems to have no figure she yet has a tongue, if possible livelier even than the proverbially glib one of her sex.

The colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady
Are sisters under the skin.

The oxlike buffalo proceeds clumsily into the water and lies down. That is his way of taking a bath.

IRRIGATION PUMPING WORKS.

Nothing but his nose is visible above the surface. His brown skinned, black draped mistress orders him to come out. He does not budge. The woman shouts vociferously. Still he pays no attention. It is necessary to his health that he shall be thoroughly cooled off in this glorious Nile current. Yet more fearsomely shrieks the black robed Egyptian wife. She calls on all the old time divinities, the cat headed goddess, the dog headed god and the okapi headed one, to curse that obdurate brute, but the obdurate brute is not moved a hair's breadth. The woman cannot well wade in after him. Her drapery is too voluminous for that. She can only wait till the water buffalo gets good and ready. Then he grunts and comes deliberately out, lumbering up the steep banks, all unheeding the feminine blows that are rained upon his flanks.

To the steamer landings come laden camel caravans, with great bales of goods and baskets of figs and dried fruits. That, too, the camel caravans have been doing 4,000 or 5,000 years, only in the ancient times there were no Nile steamboats or Egyptian railways. A camel is not at all the patient, gentle creature you learned of in your school-books. On the contrary, though perhaps generations of bad treatment have made it so, it is stupid, stubborn and perpetually complaining aloud. When a camel is made to lie down to be loaded, it groans and rages audibly, as if it were about to be killed. When it is made to lie down again to be unloaded, it makes the same whining, groaning, scolding, protesting noise, as though nothing was right with it anyhow and whatever way it was treated it was imposed upon. It is always kicking mentally, always making known that it is abused and imposed on, yet always putting up with things as they are. In the caravans the pack camels are marched in a string. A rope or strap around the nose of one is fastened to the animal ahead of him, in turn another is fastened to this one, and so they move onward. A camel in the act of lying down is perhaps the awkwardest animal in creation. A writer describing the process says: "Creakingly, with many unoiled joints, the camel collapses in sections; grumbling, he rises again and allows himself to be led by the nose by the smallest child."

Other things than camels groan and creak perpetually as they work on the Nile banks. These are the rude pumping wheels. Sometimes in the early light their complaining is the only sound that vibrates above the silence. There are two kinds of pumping machines, if contrivances so rough can be called machines. The larger kind is called a "saggier." It is a wheel with a chain of earthen pots attached, and the lever that turns the wheel is worked by ox or buffalo power, like the one in the illustration. The other variety of water raising apparatus has a chain of leather buckets attached, and it is operated by mere man power. A boy may larrup the oxen around their path at the saggier machine; two or three men must sweat and bend to the working of the other, called a "shadouf."

Some of the Egyptian natives are brown skinned, the brown occasionally merging into almost black. Other natives are copper colored.

LORD ALVERSTONE.

Heads the British Board to Confer Respecting Alaskan Boundary.

The Hay-Herbert treaty submits the Alaskan boundary question to a joint commission for adjustment, and was signed by Secretary Hay and Sir Michael Herbert on January 24, 1903. The commission is to determine the interpretation to be placed on the treaty of 1825 between Great Britain and Russia, which defined the boundaries between British America and Alaska.

LORD ALVERSTONE.

The Alaskan boundary dispute relates to the actual boundary between British Columbia and Alaska. The British Commissioners are Lord Chief Justice Alverstone of England, and Sir Louis Jette, Retired Judge of the Supreme Court of Quebec, and Chief Justice Armour of Ontario.

The Folly of Breathing.

The declaration of Dr. Albert T. Atkins, lecturer on the principles of medicine of the California Medical college that electricity and not oxygen purifies the blood in the lungs, opens the way for hygienic reform of incalculable benefit to mankind. According to the learned doctor, no oxygen gets through the membrane of the lungs into the blood stream. The air cells secrete carbon, he tells us, and the nitrogen and oxygen of air coming int contact with the stored up carbon cause combustion, thus generating electric currents. It is the electricity that does the business.

The process is so simple that it is surprising that people will go on breathing in soft coal smoke and the dust of unswept streets when by simply connecting themselves with convenient batteries they might put their lungs out of commission and bid defiance to catarrh and the hangman. Breathing is foolish, to say the least. A vast majority of the world s wisest and greatest men quit it long ago, and all the rest of us will sooner or later drop the habit. Why not equip ourselves with pocket batteries that would cost perhaps but the trivial sum of $1.-25, thus supplying the system with ready made electricity in place of that generated by means of the combustion occurring way down in our interior economy every time we breathe?

This constant combustion is indelicate. Just think of a beautiful girl placidly looking a man in the face with oxygen, nitrogen and carbon combusting right along in her lungs. Besides, it is unnecessary and wasteful.

J. FLETCHER'S GLAD NEWS.
Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured his Lumbago and he is a Sound Man.
Granton Man Shouts the Good News that There is a Cure for Kidney Disease and that Cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Granton, Ont., May 3.—(Special.)—There is no uncertain sound about the statement of John Fletcher of this place. "I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me of Lumbago and now I am perfectly sound," that is the way he puts it. Questioned as to the particulars of his cure Mr. Fletcher said: "I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney Troubles. My urine was of a very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me. "I consulted doctors but they could not help me and I was not a very cheerful frame of mind when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. "But it was a lucky day for me when I did. Almost from the first they gave me relief and I was soon entirely cured. "Yes, my Lumbago is gone; my Kidney Complaint is gone and Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all."
Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure Kidney Complaint, whether that complaint takes the form of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back, etc.

HOW TO GAIN FLESH
The life of food is the fat within it—the more fat the more real benefit from the food; that is why cod liver oil is a powerful builder of flesh.
Scott's Emulsion of pure cod liver oil solves the problem of how to take cod liver oil. That is one reason why doctors have been prescribing Scott's Emulsion for all wasting diseases, coughs, colds and bronchitis for almost thirty years.

HOW A COLT GROWS.

From Ungainliness He Develops Grace and Beauty.

The development of a spindly legged colt into a full grown horse is an interesting process to watch. In "Horses Nine" the author describes an instance in this way:

And an unhandsome colt he was. His broomstick legs seemed twice the proper length, and so thin you would hardly have believed they could ever carry him. His head, which somehow suggested the lines of a bootjack, was set awkwardly on a ewed neck.

In time the slender legs thickened, the chest deepened, the barrel filled out, the head became less ungainly. As if to make up for these improvements, the colt's markings began to set. They took the shapes of a saddle stripe, three white stockings and an irregular white blaze covering one side of his face and patching an eye. On chest and belly the mother sorrel came out rather sharply, but on the rest of him was that peculiar blending which gives the blue roan shade, a color unpleasing to the critical eye and one that lowers the market value.

The Death of Kenith.

The death of Kenith, the half mythical king of Scotland, was one of the most remarkable in all history—that is, if it can consistently be called a historical fact. According to the story, Kenith had killed a son and brother of the warlike Fennella. She for revenge caused Wiltus, the most ingenious artist of the time, to fashion an automatic death dealing machine, a wonderful statue filled with hidden springs, levers, etc. When finished and set up, this "brazen image" was an admirable work of art. In its right hand it held a basin and in the left an apple of pure gold, both set with diamonds and other precious stones. To touch this apple was to dare death, it being so arranged that one guilty of such vandalism would be immediately riddled by poisoned arrows shot from loopholes in the body of the statue. Kenith was invited to come and inspect the wonder, and kinglike and just as Fennella had hoped he tried to pluck the precious imitation fruit. The moment his hand touched the incrusted jewel he was filled with poisoned arrows, dying where he fell.

How He Escaped.

Not long ago an English curate surprised his parishioners by marrying a widow considerably older than himself. The astonishment was still greater when the cause was known. The curate had become engaged to a young girl whose frivolous conduct soon led him to regret the step. He offered a settlement for his release, but it was refused. He endeavored in every way to break the engagement, but without success.

"Is there nothing I can do to escape this?" he exclaimed one day in despair.

"Yes," remarked the girl's mother, who was present and who had been the prime mover in the marriage negotiations, "by marrying me."

The curate decided, if he had to marry one of the two, he preferred the mother and accepted her. The young girl soon married a wealthy stockbroker.

Nightcaps.

For external application the nightcap is rarely seen. It is first mentioned during the time of the Tudors. In the inventory of Henry VIII.'s wardrobe we come across the following item: "A nightcape of black velvet embroidered." No wonder, with such gearing, that, as Shakespeare suggests, "Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown." Poor old Bishop Latimer was not content with one nightcap. Fox in his "Book of Martyrs" describes him as follows: "He held his hat in his hand, having a handkerchief on his head and upon it a nightcap or two and a great cap, such as townsmen use, with broad flaps to button under his chin." They evidently believed in keeping their heads warm in those days.—Health.

A Lucky Call.

"I don't mind telling you now," said young Dr. Frankly, "that you just called me in at the right time."

"Really!" exclaimed the convalescent. "I wasn't so bad as that, was I?"

"Bad! My dear sir, you were good. I was down to my last cent and needed the money!"

The Traveler's Ready Answer.

Mrs. Z.—Listen, George. The baby is saying "Oo-goo-ja-bo-oo-go." What does it remind you of?

Mr. Z.—H'm! Reminds me of a brakeman calling out stations.

Bronchial Colds and Chest Pains
Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Coughs and Colds Yield Promptly to
Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.
There are many reasons why you should use Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in preference to any other treatment for diseases of the throat and lungs. Of these the most important one is the fact that it has been tested for years and absolutely proven its right to first position.
Nearly everybody knows of the remarkable value of turpentine and linseed as remedial agents. They have been so combined with half a dozen other ingredients in Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as to form a most thoroughly effective and at the same time pleasant medicine.
As is frequently the case with an unusually successful article, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is imitated. There are now hosts of preparations with names similar to this, and some even go so far as to imitate the bottle and wrapper. It therefore becomes necessary for you to be very careful when buying. Insist on seeing the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the wrapper.
We know that Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will not disappoint you, because it has stood the test of time, and the sales, which are at least triple that of any similar preparation, are steadily increasing year by year.
As a positive cure for croup, bronchitis, asthma, throat troubles, and severe cough and colds, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has a reputation which cannot be stolen by the cheap and oft injurious cough mixtures which are offered in place of it by some dealers.
Even the consumptive, who has reached the latter stages of his insidious disease, finds ease and comfort in the use of this preparation, while it is impossible to estimate the countless number of less severe cases which it has actually cured. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle. Family size, three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 3

Dr. Wood's

Norway Pine Syrup
Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Croup, Asthma, Pain or Tightness in the Chest, Etc.
It stops that tickling in the throat, is pleasant to take and soothing and healing to the lungs. Mr. E. Bishop Brand, the well-known Galt gardener, writes:—I had a very severe attack of sore throat and tightness in the chest. Some times when I wanted to cough and could not I would almost choke to death. My wife got me a bottle of DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP, and to my surprise I found speedy relief. I would not be without it if it cost $1.00 a bottle, and I can recommend it to everyone bothered with a cough or cold.

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

"I shall miss you so much, Sir Karl!" she added, coaxingly. "Do not go. It lightens the day for me when I see you. I do not know how I could bear the long weeks and months if you were not here."

He could hear the vibration of passion in her voice; he saw that in her eyes which he had never read in any woman's eyes before.

"You will not miss me so much," he replied. "You have so many friends."

"I grant it—many friends; but none like you, Sir Karl. All of them put together are not equal to you. I—I Oh, do not go to Paris! I do not know what to say to you; but do not go!"

The beautiful face was all shadowed with pain, the dark eyes filled with tears. Whatever were her faults, Lola had a deep and sincere affection for Sir Karl.

He tried to speak carelessly, but he was touched by her emotion; yet the more sure he felt that she loved him, the more unconquerable was his feeling of distrust and vague dislike.

"You are very kind to think so much of me," he said lightly. "I must go to Paris, however. But I shall not always remain there. I shall come back to Scarsdale some day, I suppose."

"I hope you will not be away long," she said; and he saw that her lips were colorless and quivered with pain.

His impulse as a man hating to see a woman suffer was to speak kind, consoling words; but he reflected that any show of sympathy to her might be dangerous; and so they remained in silence for some minutes, until Lola had regained her composure.

When she spoke to him next it was in a quiet, matter-of-fact way; all emotion all agitation had vanished. She perceived at once that if she was to win him it must not be in that fashion.

"You are not thinking of going yet, Sir Karl," she said—"not just yet, I hope?"

"It will take me some little time to get my affairs in order," he replied; "but I shall go as soon as I can."

"We shall see you again, shall we not? I should like to give you one or two commissions in Paris, if you will accept them."

"I shall be well pleased to render you any service," he answered; and to himself he added, "except that of falling in love with you."

"Thank you. It is seldom we have a chance of getting anything from there. The name of De Ferras is proscribed in France. I will write out the list for you."

"But suppose that I am absent for some years?" he said. "Are they things that you want at once?"

The same tempest of emotions swept over her face.

"I will wait," she answered in a strange voice, "until you bring them You will come back some day—home must have some tie for you. You will come back, and it may please you to find me waiting for them—and for you."

Her voice was full of tenderness, full of passion, and love shone in her eyes. He was simple, frank, and honest. He said to himself that, if she really cared for him it was cruel to let her continue the delusion. He had better say something that would open her eyes at once to the truth; but in trying to be diplomatic he made a terrible mistake.

"I hope to find you very happy when I come back," he said, "In all probability you will be the wife of some wealthy, kindly man, mistress of a fine establishment, and a queen of society."

He paused, startled and awed by her manner. She stood beside him, and raised to his a face white and full of pain, with eyes half blinded with indignant tears.

"You wish me that?" she said. "You hope that, when you come home, I may be the wife of some other man—the mistress of some other home?"

"Certainly," he replied, deeply embarrassed, "What better fate could I desire for you?"

"You wish it? Remember this, and carry the memory of my words away with you. I would rather be dead than that such a thing should happen!"

Without another word she went away, leaving him alone.

Lola was in a whirl of emotion. She had gone to a pretty, white summer-house in the grounds, where she spent many of her leisure hours. She could not have trusted herself any longer in his sight.

"Cold and cruel heart," she murmured. "He must know that I love him, that I care for him as no other woman will ever care. that I love him as no other woman ever will, that I would give my life for him! He must know it, although my lips have never uttered the words. And why can not he love me? I can amuse him, while I have seen him tired and bored with others; I understand him thoroughly; why can not he love me?"

"I shall be successful," she said to herself, as she went back to the house. "It may be long years, but I shall win in the end; and then—then I shall be happy!"

With a resolute look on her face, which was never to leave it again, she went back to her mother.

"Has Sir Karl gone, dear child?" asked madame. "I had not finished my business with him."

"He was in a hurry to-day; he is going to Paris, mamma — to our beautiful France, and going soon."

Madame's countenance fell.

"Going away!" she said, slowly; and then she laid her hands lovingly on the dark head.

"Does it grieve thee, dear Lola, that he is going away? I have often thought that this sweet face was the brighter for his coming. Am I right?"

"He has been a pleasant friend, and I shall miss him very much," she replied.

"Nothing more, Lola?" said madame, gently. "Only a pleasant friend?"

"They are scarce enough, mamma," answered the girl, with a careless laugh. "I am sure that amongst our friends the bores outnumber the pleasant ones. Sir Karl is decidedly an agreeable companion. He understands one without the trouble of entering into a long explanation. Before I speak he very often seems to know what I am going to say."

"That is the quick intuition of sympathy," returned madame. "There are persons who hardly need to exchange two words; they seem to read each other's minds at a glance. When does Sir Karl go, Lola?" she added.

"He did not tell me. He said that he should not be here for the wedding festivities; and, as Dolores is to be married in a few weeks now, he will go soon, I should think."

Madame de Ferras had often said to herself that the master of Scarsdale was above all other men, the one she should choose for her daughter's husband. She liked his frank manner and his nobility of character.

"I would grieve no more," she would say to herself, for even my beautiful France, if I could leave my daughter in charge of a husband like Sir Karl."

She had never said anything about it to Lola; but this had been one of the greatest desires of her life, and most probably had been the reason why she had sent for him to give her advice on every imaginable subject. She had begun to believe and hope that her wishes would be fulfilled; Sir Karl seemed always so happy and amused when in company with Lola.

"Perhaps," she said to herself, "it is not the women who amuse that are always loved. Lola is not sentimental, and these fair-haired Englishmen love sentiment. If Lola had a little more sentiment, it would be all the better, perhaps, as she will have to marry an Englishman."

Madame de Ferras, who in spite of her gentle fashion, thought her daughter wanting in sentiment and romance, had no idea of the depths of tragic passion in her heart; and, if any one had told her that Lola was capable of such self-sacrifice as to give her life for love or revenge, she would have neither understood nor believed it.

CHAPTER VIII.

To go away from Scarsdale, away from the fair and gentle girl whom he loved, away from the beautiful French girl who cared so much for him, was now the one wish of Sir Karl's heart. He must act sensibly; so he said when he took himself to task. He had remained supine while another came and wooed and won the girl he loved. it was his own fault, and, if he had realized her value at first, all would have been well. As it was, he must go away and not return to his home and his duties until he had forgotten her. He must learn while he was away not to think of her as Dolores Chiefden, but only as Lady Rhysworth.

One day the Squire, feeling better, walked into Deeping with Dolores, and they were engaged in a round of shopping, when Sir Karl, who was driving through the town, met them. In his state of mind then it was perhaps the most unfortunate thing that could have occurred. He saw that the Squire looked tired, and he insisted on driving him home to Scarsdale, saying that after he had luncheon there he would drive them back to White Cliffe. Dolores had not seen Sir Karl since the evening on which she had sung her farewell to him. As the Squire felt fatigued, he was only too thankful to avail himself of the baronet's offer; but he would have declined it had he seen the pained look on his daughter's face. She would have given anything to refuse to accompany Sir Karl. As her father had accepted his service, it was impossible. She knew that the next hour or two must be full of pain for her, but she must bear it patiently.

Sir Karl had reason to be proud of his beautiful home, and his heart warmed toward it as they came within sight of it. If he could have made this fair-haired, sweet-faced girl its mistress, he would have taken no greater blessing from Heaven; but it was not to be. At luncheon he was all that was most courteous and kind: and when it was over, and the Squire seemed inclined to sleep, Sir Karl placed an easy chair for him, and asked Dolores if she would like to see the grounds. She answered with a frank smile:

"I should like it very much. I have never been over them."

"You will not be cold?" he inquired anxiously.

"You forget," she said, laughing, "that I spend half my time in the open air."

And then they went down the great flight of steps into the gardens.

"Let me show you my favorite nooks," he said. "Perhaps we may never be here together again."

She wondered a little at the gravity of his words. Why should they never be there again? But she offered no comment; silence seemed to be safest.

He showed her every nook and corner that was dear to him; and there was nothing but reverence in his honest heart for her when he said:

"I shall love every place the more for having seen you there."

She could not even affect to be angry; there was nothing but the greatest respect in his voice.

"You are very kind," she answered simply.

They came presently to a bright little parterre in the midst of which a fountain was playing. They paused under the drooping boughs of some noble trees, where seats had been placed.

"This is my favorite spot," he remarked. "I bring my cigars and papers here every day. The only thing I miss is society. It is very dull to be alone in a large house like this. I cannot tell you how I long for a companion. I should have been so thankful to have had my mother here and a houseful of brothers and sisters."

Her lips parted with a faint sound. but whether it was of sympathy or pain he did not know. The color rose in her fair face, then died away, leaving it white as a white rose. If he had but told her this some weeks ago! She rose from the seat where he had placed her—his favorite seat—and walked on slowly. He followed her. Had he grieved or surprised her? Ah, no, it was impossible! There was nothing in what he had said to do either.

"You see the little white gate there?" he said. "That leads into our wood, where there is a sheet of water about which there are many strange stories. It is called the Black Pool. Would you like to see it?"

"Yes, very much," she replied; and they went through the woodland until they reached the water.

For years afterward the scene haunted Dolores — the black, silent water, shaded by sombre-looking trees, not a sign of life near it, mysterious, weird.

"If you throw a stone into it," said Sir Karl, suiting the action to the word, "it seems to make no sound, and scarcely to cause a ripple." He turned away with a shudder. "It is enough to make one melancholy. Come away from it, Miss Chiefden."

A curious sensation, for which she could hardly have accounted, took possession of Dolores. It seemed to her as though this Black Pool had suddenly become part of her life, as though she had seen it before and should see it again—a curious feeling that made her shiver, turn cold, and feel faint.

"Do come away, Miss Chiefden," he implored.

He had walked on a few steps, and Dolores, still with that strange feeling strong upon her, rejoined him. He spoke without looking at her.

"I must have this place altered," he said. "There is a disused coalmine near here. It has long been closed, and almost all traces of it have been removed; but once there was a terrible explosion, and since then the ground about here has never been quite safe. There are deep, treacherous holes which, if a man fell into, he must meet the most horrible of deaths. Some of the openings have been filled up; others are terribly dangerous, as they are hidden by long grass and cannot be seen. Somewhere about here, or at the other side of the pool, is the mouth of what was once the shaft. I have never seen it; but I am told it is a terrible place. When I have time, all this shall be attended to. I should like to change the pool into a pleasant lake, and this place—which is really beautiful—into a pleasaunce. It would be a great improvement, would it not?"

"Yes," she answered, "it would be very much better. Let us get away from the pool," she added, hastily; "it makes me melancholy;" and in silence they walked on, side by side.

They went then to a little wooden edifice situated on an eminence, from which they could see one of the prettiest landscapes in England. Dolores uttered a cry of delight. Sir Karl smiled.

"I have different spots for different moods," he said, "When I want to dream, I come to this place. Some of my pleasantest thoughts have come to me here." A sudden pause seized him which he could not control. "The dream of my life — the sweetest, the brightest—is realized when I see you standing here in my favorite haunt."

Could Not Lie On Her Left Side.

WAS TROUBLED WITH PAIN IN HER HEART FOR SIX YEARS.

Expected Her Friends Would Find Her Dead.

Mrs. C. Bondreau, Campbellton, N.B., was completely cured by

MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills.

She tells of her experience in the following letter: "I was troubled with a pain in my heart and weakness for six years. Most of the time I could not lie on my left side. I consulted a doctor but got no relief and was completely discouraged. I did not think I would live long and expected my friends would find me dead. A friend brought me a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I took them to please her, not thinking they would do me any good. I had not used half the box when I commenced to feel myself getting better and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and can recommend them to all sufferers from heart trouble."

Just a glimpse of a woman's face is often all that is needed to tell the story of her daily suffering. No woman can endure for long the pangs of womanly diseases without falling off in face and form.

Women who have been cured of womanly diseases by the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, frequently refer with pleasure to the gain in appearance as well as in feelings, which has come with their cure.

"Favorite Prescription" cures irregularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence treated as sacredly private and confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Your medicines have done me so much good I feel like a different woman," writes Mrs. Mary Murphy, of Milton, Trimble Co., Kentucky. "Six months ago I began to think I would not see another well day, but had made up my mind to follow your advice and give Dr. Pierce's medicines a thorough trial. I have taken six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' six of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, two bottles of 'Smart-Weed.' Also some 'Lotion Tablets.' Have gained five pounds since last August. I will tell the good news to all suffering invalids, for it was a 'Heavenly message' to me when I found out what to do for relief."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

The Montreal Strike.

Montreal, May 2.—The teamsters of the city have gone out in sympathy with the striking longshoremen, and the teamsters employed by the freight forwarding companies refused to work on the wharves yesterday, resulting in the goods being left on the quays up to a late hour last evening. There was no trouble on the wharves, the strikers closely following the advice given by their chief by maintaining a sullen silence.

Despaired of Being Cured.

Mrs. W. E. Jeffries, 44 Hicks avenue, Kingston, Ont., states: I suffered agony with itching piles. In fact, I don't believe that any person who has not had piles can realize what I endured. The first application of Dr. Chase's Ointment brought relief and it has since entirely cured me. I hope that this testimonial will be the means of bringing comfort to other sufferers by making known the great power of this ointment.

Mr. Tait's New Task

The Victorian State Railways are managed by a commission, of which Mr. Thomas Tait of the C.P.R. has just been appointed Chairman. The Victorian railways present problems of their own, the most difficult being to get a fair day's work in return for the fair day's pay that is given by the State. One of the recent experiments has been the appointment of scouts, a species of glorified spotters, who keep the staff up to the mark by constant espionage. Here is how a Melbourne poet puts the situation in The Argus. His verses show that Mr. Tait will have troubles of his own:

"I'm Bos of the servis nex to Bent,
The very latest xperiment
Of the permenent casual soart,
Al muteny, loain, and sulks I quel;
I'm a terrier to wurk, and I oanly spel
When indicting a fresh report.

Of a oaverloaden trunk sent throo,
It hant eskape the skout,
If a dog spiks loose for a singel day,
Of a way-bill rout in a kureless way,
I'h serten to find it out.

"The district swopers to me kootoo,
An drivers and greesers an poarters ta,
Ah tremmel beneath my swa.
From stashun to stashun the signel runs,
Now of with your koat and work grate guns,
Fer the skouts ar out to-day.

"The stashun master hoos puft with pride,
An spels korektly, an puts on side,
Is the bloak I lik to dout.
"Ere, you with the goold lace kap!' I yel,
Just shift yer Trilbees and ring that bel—
Do you ear, I'm the blooming skout.'

"I'm igher hup than the flyin' gang,
I'm down on thair ends when the doors
they bang,
I point the servis red.
And the labourin men who repair the trak
All pik up rox when I turn me back,
To bounce em orf me ead.

"It's intelick rools the wurld to-day,
And the soart of kovey to mak things pay
Is the brainy block no dout.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, May 4th, 9.45 a. m. — Saturday's bank statement favourable except for increase in loans. Crop damages expected to be light. Gold shipments in some quantity probable Banks gained from Sub.-Treas. since Friday $56,000.

DOW, JONES & CO.

London comes steady but featureless. There was very little borrowing demand for stocks at close Saturday except for M.R. which loaned at 1-2 and P.A. at 1 p.c. There was good supply of others Statement was considered favourable except for inc. in loans which was due to transactions of Erie syndicate. There is nothing to indicate anything better than a narrow traders' market and we believe good stocks may be bought for a small turn on any declines.
M. & M.

New York, May 4th.—Before long, it is understood, the Atlantic Coast Line syndicate which underwrote the Louisville and N. collateral trust bonds will be called upon to put up about, $7,000,000 on account of the purchase.

New York, May 4th.—There is great buying of the Mex. securities and they will sell very much higher; the tone of the market is distinctly bullish and we look for a steady improvement in values for some time to come. Would rather buy when they look weak on slight reactions.

HENRY CLEWS' LETTER.

Messrs. Henry Clews & Co., of New York, have the following:—

New York, May 2nd, 1903. — Wall street is in a restful and generally hopeful mood. It is not making any superfluous display of energy just now, many of its leading spirits being absent or inactive at the moment, but it is calmly putting its furniture in order, cheerfully accepting the inevitable and making ready to adjust itself to forehand to the known favourable and unfavourable situations which may have to be faced between now and the close of the year.

Chief of all influences is the understanding that next fall an active money market may be encountered. With such a contingency prudent man are careful about entering into distant financial engagements; bankers are unwilling to unduly lock up their resources, and all through financial circles a spirit of moderation prevails that promises well for the future and is the surest safeguard against subsequent difficulties. Behind this disposition to caution there is a feeling of reasonable confidence, inspired of course by the numerous tests values have successfully endured, and by the probability of another good business season should the harvest turn out satisfactory.

Bank reserves are rising as usual at this season, so that if speculative excesses are prevented easy conditions seem likely to prevail until crop demands begin. The construction of trust company reserves will necessarily make some demands upon the money market, but these have been so carefully anticipated that no derangement should follow. Some slight uneasiness has been exhibited over gold exports, though these need occasion no alarm. Gold usually goes abroad at this season but if the precious metal is required here, it will probably stay; for our credit abroad is improving and we can undoubtedly borrow in Paris or elsewhere, if needed, without difficulty. Fortunately our exports continue heavy, and the crop failures in Europe coming when our own wheat crop promises to be unusually large make it almost certain that we will enjoy another season of large exports, therefore, nothing adverse in our international trade or financial relations to cause anxiety; and moderate gold shipments would do no harm so long as bank reserves continue to rise.

The franchise tax decision of the Court of Appeals had little injurious effect. This was because the verdict had been partly anticipated, while other financial conditions were generally sound. Following to close upon the decision against the Northern Securities Co., this was emphatic testimony of the strength of the general market. That values have lately met a whole series of adverse events without flinching can only be explained by the facts that stocks are in strong hands, that all bad conditions have been amply discounted by the fall since last summer, and by the continued large volume of general business. Nothing but easy money is now required to allow the pendulum to swing in the opposite direction. Railroad earnings show gratifying increases, indicating the growth and activity of trade; labour agitation though still prevalent is less rampant than formerly: the masses are well employed at good wages; immigration is surpassing all records; there is plenty of work in sight for all, and should the harvest prove satisfactory one more season of large business is almost certain. Another good feature is the subsidence of the consolidation craze in the industrials. Schemes of this class now find no encouragement in Wall Street, unless financed on the soundest and most conservative lines, and even then bankers are more anxious to close out existing deals than to enter upon fresh ones. It is quite likely that the winding up of some of the older syndicates will afford more relief to the money market than any other source.

All things considered, the market offers safer and better trading opportunities than usual. For some weeks to come good stocks are likely to be a purchase upon all sharp declines, or equally good sales upon pronounced advances. It is evidently the policy of the big leaders to allow the market to harden itself by natural processes and thus establish a new basis of confidence. There are no indications of an extreme bull market in sight, but good support is noticeable against all bear attacks. The prospects, however, favour increased activity and a higher range of prices. A few individual stocks show exceptional strength; the indications pointing to a specialty market for the present at least as the most feasible under present conditions.

The building and completion of the new Stock Exchange has been coincident with the advance of New York city to the foremost rank as a financial centre of world-wide influence and power. The building itself, in beauty and completeness of construction, is a further evidence of the great strides of our whole country towards a prosperity never before equalled in the world's history. American energy and enterprise are large factors in this great result, and the members of the New York Stock Exchange may claim no small share of praise for their part in the progress. The spaciousness and equipment of the new structure invite the trade of the world to a market that seems destined soon to be the leader of the world's finance.

MARTIN SHOT HIS BOY.

Father's Terrible Error Results in Death of Four-Year-Old Son.

Bloomfield, May 4—A very sad accident occurred in this vicinity Saturday at the farm of George Martin, Ridge Row. Mr. Martin while at work thought he saw a woodchuck hiding behind a stump, some distance from him. He spoke to the man working with him, who also felt confident as to Martin's suspicions. Martin ran for his gun, but no sooner had he fired than he heard a scream from his little four-year-old son, whom he had shot through the back of the head. The little fellow had a brown velvet hood on, and the sun shining upon it, evidently was the cause of the fatal mistake. The child lived only a few hours.

Mrs. Matten Drowned.

Brockville, May 4.—Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock two lads, Devine and Donovan, playing on the river shore near Mallory's wharf, at the east end, discovered the body of a woman floating in the water. They at once gave the alarm, and it was removed to Swartz's undertaking rooms. The body was identified there by a nurse from the General Hospital as that of Joanna Hatton, aged about 55, who had been a patient at the hospital for nervous trouble. She was of a good family and possessed of considerable property. An inquest is being held.

Priest Charged With Murder.

Lorain, O., May 4.—Rev. Ferdinand Walzer, well known Catholic priest, is in jail charged with the murder of Miss Agatha Reichlin. The prisoner was the guest of a brother priest, Rev. Charles Reichlin. The host was called away. When he returned his sister was dead. Her head had been beaten to a pulp with a stone. Walzer was at a neighboring Catholic institution. Bloodhounds went from the scene of the crime direct to the room of the priest and he was arrested. He claims his innocence.

Charged With Arson.

Springfield, Ont., May 2.—John Johnston was held for trial yesterday on the charge of arson. Sunday night's fire of clearly incendiary origin destroyed $20,000 worth of property. Provincial Detective Murray was sent for and soon had young Johnston under arrest. It developed that the oil from the Michigan Central supply house had been used to start the blaze.

Accorded Magnificent Reception.

Paris, May 2.—King Edward arrived here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was accorded a magnificent reception by republican France.

Suicide by Gas.

Toronto, May 4.—Death by gas was the choice of Samuel Guest, a young mechanic, who has been rooming at 5 Peter street. On Saturday evening he was found lying on the floor of his room dead, from asphyxiation. For some time he had been a sufferer from melancholia, induced by sustained poor health. The body was removed to Bedson's undertaking establishment.

Nature's Curious Tree Law.

Let us observe a law common to all trees. First, neither the stems nor boughs of the maple, elm or oak taper except at the point where they fork. Whenever a stem sends forth a branch and a branch sends off a smaller bough, bud or stem, they remain the same in diameter, and the original stem will increase rather than diminish until its next branch starts. No bough, branch or stem ever narrows near its extremity except where it parts with a portion of its substance by sending off another branch or stem.

All trees are alike in this respect, and if all the boughs, branches, stems, buds and blossoms were combined and united without loss of space they would form a round log the same in size and diameter as the trunk from which they spring. This is one of nature's inperative laws and never fails to prove true.

BIRD ARCHITECTURE.

Titmouse Earliest Builder in England—Everything Goes Into Their Nests.

With the exception perhaps of the missel thrush, the raven, and an owl or two, the long-tailed titmouse, or bottle-tit, is, I believe, about the earliest of English nesting birds.

I watched two pairs of long-tailed titmice building on March 16 and 16. Once you know the ways of these little creatures and their haunts, it is easy to find a nest or two before the leaf is out. A sure sign that there is a nest at hand is vociferousness. Such fuss and chatter even among the fussy family of titmice are rare.

Of the two nests I found, one is in a whitethorn, about three feet from the ground; the other in a spruce fir, at about the same height—rather low for the species.

The nest in the spruce fir is practically pendent, like a gold crest's. It rests on no stable basis, and is simply kept in place when the wind roughly rocks the bough to and fro by the perfectly skillful way in which the birds have attached it to the drooping fir twigs. It is glued, as it were to these twigs here and there all round, at the top, the bottom, and the sides.

Unfortunately I was not able to get near enough to watch the birds attaching this nest to the twigs. But I was lucky in seeing a good deal of the way in which the nest in the whitethorn bush at the edge of the coppice was built.

And first let me say that the nests of all the long-tailed titmice I can recollect at this moment have always had entrances facing south or southwest or west—but I think a southerly aspect is much more common than a westerly. I cannot recall finding a nest facing north or east, though I do not want for a moment to lay down a general rule and say that these birds never build nests facing either of those quarters.

Bird Sharers of Labor.

The whitethorn nest, when first I noticed it, was about a quarter built, and it closely resembled a chaffinch's in position, material, and shape. A bird-nesting boy with me said "Chaffinch." But I felt sure it was a titmouse's, and lying flat down, about three yards off, I watched and waited.

Presently the tits arrived, sure enough. One had its beak full of lichens. It chattered all the while, saw me, and flew a little way off. The other did likewise. I waited quite still, and presently was rewarded. One of the birds, the hen, I believe, flew into the bush and entered the nest.

At first its movements within the nest seemed to me delicate and gingerly, as if much action would do harm to the structure. But upon the next visit of the bird I noticed a display of considerable vigor. The little creature rummaged about in the nest, tail (which was pushed upward, of course), body and head all going hard.

While the beak built up the sides, the body, unless I am very much mistaken, was all the while molding and pressing the inside of the nest. It was curious to notice the way in which the builder worked its way round and round the nest, touching up now one side, now another.

Once, to my joy, I saw it drag a scrap of material off the edge of one side of the nest and place this elsewhere. As a result of this method of building, the sides grow up quite level. I was so delightfully near that I could see the tiny beak pushing and weaving and pressing the building materials together with intense energy.

Both birds built. The cock long-tailed titmouse does not merely attend the hen and encourage her, as the cock linnet or the cock tree-creeper does. He works with a will himself. Is it because the nest is such a long and difficult undertaking that he shares the labors, or is the long and difficult nest the result merely of this energy on the part of both hen and cock?

A minute inventory of the nest, so far as it had gone, showed that the following materials were in use: Moist moss, small tree lichens, flattish, green-gray on the upper, and dark, boot-leather brown on the under side; silk from the cocoons of some insects, cobwebs, one feather (worked into the side; the great mass of feathers used for lining are not laid in till the nest has been domed over), some tiny strips of thinnest birch bark; some very fine dried grasses.

As the birds flew about their home they looked like scraps of wind-borne fluff. "Exquisite" is a poor word with which to describe them. It makes one tingle with pleasure to watch.—Correspondence of London Express.

A Failure.

"Yes, I consider my life a failure."

"Oh, Henry, how sad! Why should you say that?"

"I spend all my time making money enough to buy food and clothes, but the food disagrees with me, and my clothes don't fit."

Wiser.

Jerry—Is the world getting better?

Jack—It's getting wiser. I have an awful time trying to borrow money.

"Don't pretend." People will catch you at it and think less of you, and they think little enough of you now.—Atchison Globe.

CAPTURE OF SOKOTO

BIG TERRITORY ADDED TO THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The Once Great Fulah Empire at an End —Conquered Region Contains 500,000 Square Miles—Methods by Which the Mother Country Obtained This Big Accession of Territory—Wrath of Rivals.

Very little attention has as yet been paid in this country, or, for that matter, even in England, to the announcement made in the House of Commons on March 30 that Sokoto had been occupied by a British force on March 15 after a slight skirmish. Four days after the fall of the city Sir Frederick Lugard, the Commissioner of Northern Nigeria, arrived at Sokoto.

And yet this little expedition is little only in the sense that it has not been expensive either in money or men. The fall of Sokoto means the end of the once great Fulah Empire, and the different States which constituted this powerful Mohammedan confederation will in future be under British control. It is stated that the slave traffic between Lake Chad and the seacoast may now be regarded as utterly at an end. The capture of Sokoto, following the fall of Kano, places 500,000 square miles of territory under the rule of the white man, and the population of this territory is estimated at no less then 20,000,000.

The Fulah Empire.

The Fulah Empire was founded by Othman Dan Fodio a hundred years ago. He preached a religious war on the borders of Lake Chad, and, after subduing and converting the existing kingdoms, firmly established his sway at Sokoto. He bequeathed two empires to his sons. To the elder he left Sokoto itself, and to the younger Gando and its dependent States, which have ever since recognized the supremacy of the Great Fulah. Six years ago Sir George Goldie dealt a crushing blow to the Fulah by the defeat of the Emir of Nupe, the strongest and most warlike of the kingdoms tributary to Gando. The position of the Great Fulah was at that time compared to that of the Great Mogul during the decay of the Mohammedan Empire of Delhi.

British Methods.

The British followed the example of the East India Company, and avoided a direct challenge to the Fulah by administering their conquests indirectly through native feudatory Princes. After causing some trouble the Fulah formed an alliance with Great Britain, rejecting the advances of the French. Later he began to intrigue against the British, and the expedition which has now been brought to a successful conclusion under the leadership of Sir Frederick Lugard followed.

Sir Frederick has been heartily congratulated by Mr. Chamberlain and other officials of the British Government on the success of the expedition, and it is probable that he will receive some further honor as a result of it, possibly a peerage. His work has immensely improved the opportunities for opening up Central Africa to trade.

In an editorial article on the fall of Sokoto The Pall Mall Gazette sang a song of triumph of the kind which is so intensely irritating to some of the Continental nations. It spoke of "the wrath of our rivals" over the continual enlargement of the British Empire, referred to Egypt, the Soudan, and South Africa, and added:

A Song of Triumph.

"And now, even before our German friends have had time to recover from the shock of the South African Customs Convention, with its preferential treatment of British industry, there comes this morning another blow—a blow not, of course, unexpected, but still, and equally, of course, entirely unwelcome. That is the news that Sir Frederick Lugard has occupied Sokoto. And what, and where, pray, is Sokoto? If we are not much mistaken there must be thousands of quite superior persons who must have asked that question this morning in the spirit of the rustic who, when informed of the death of the Duke of Wellington, merely said, 'Who wur 'ee?' Or, if somewhat more precisely informed, they will, perhaps, have opined, as in the case of Rhoda, who ran a pagoda, and sold tea and ices and soda, in 'San Toy,' that Sokoto has something to do with 'Africa or Fashoda'; and having been confirmed in that luminous opinion these quite superior persons will straightway forget all about it. Verily, it is a weird thing, is the British Empire, and we who run it are, surely, not less weird.

Meaning of the Occupation.

"Well, what is Sokoto, anyhow? And what does its occupation mean? Sokoto is, to put it briefly, the capital of a great empire, an empire much larger and richer than some sovereign States of Europe, and containing, in the way of population, a trifling matter of about twenty million black bodies, each with a soul inside it, which is, however, not much blacker, maybe, than the souls of some of our products of Christianity in this boastful isle. Into the effective occupation of this mere territorial trifle (it is only 500,000 square miles in extent) we have just entered, or are about to enter, by the capture of the capital city of Sokoto, following on that of the ancient and important commercial centre of Kano. For this we have to thank the bold initiative of Sir Frederick Lugard, a typical specimen of the sort of tool of empire-building which is, perhaps, the one product of British industry which our rivals cannot imitate."

A Pack of Cards.

The ordinary playing cards of today are derived from a stick game supposed to have originated in this country. Fifty small sticks are a pack. The "game" was originally for the player to divide the sticks rapidly with his two hands, the opponent guessing which hand held the larger number.

Owners of sticks spent rainy days in carving them. The Asiatics borrowed the game and carved more elaborate counters out of ivory. Those with different carvings grew to have different values. Arranging them in groups of fours made it necessary to add two to the original number. Then thin slabs of ivory began to be used.

For centuries after this all playing cards were hand painted, at first on ivory or metal, afterward on cardboard. The pictures, at first legendary heroes and ladies, gradually became the fixed, wood faced caricatures we now know, and these, coming back to America in their westward journey around the world, find our Pacific coast Indians still jugging the same kind of sticks their forefathers used.

We introduce this week for the first time, a very old and familiar delt design—and yet a new decorated scenic novelty—in Willow Cretonnes. Here's how the verse-maker describes the interesting scenic pattern :—

"Two swallows flying high,
A little boat passing by ;
A little church standing near,
Twice a week they worship there,
A little bridge with willows over.

Three little men going to Dover,
A Chinese mansion,
This trees handsome—
A tree with apples on,
And a row of railings on the sun."

GAMEY'S STORY CONTRADICTED.

Utterly Discredited by Hon. Mr. Stratton's Evidence in Witness Box.

AN ABSOLUTE DENIAL.

Hon. Mr. Stratton Never Paid Gamey Money, Directly nor Indirectly.

MR. BLAKE'S FISHING EXPEDITION.

Mr. Stratton Knew Nothing of the Sullivan-Gamey Deals—Gamey Visited Provincial Secretary's Office Only Once in September.

Toronto, May 4.—Interest in the Gamey charges investigation culminated to-day in the examination of Hon. J. R. Stratton and his cross-examination by Mr. Blake. The direct examination of the Provincial Secretary was not very long, only a little over two hours, with luncheon in between. It amounted to an absolute contradiction of the story of the Manitoulin man in every particular respecting the objects for which the commission was appointed. The cross-examination began at ten minutes to three and was not over when the court adjourned. The latter part was interrupted by a long argument as to whether the whole question of an election fund should be investigated in the hope of throwing some light upon the subject, and the Judges took the matter into consideration until to-day.

The first witnesses examined were a Mennonite minister from Manitoulin and Mr. Walter J. Boland, a solicitor.

MR. STRATTON CALLED.

Once more the proceedings took on new interest to the comfortably filled court-room when Mr. Johnston said: "Call Mr. Stratton."

Examined by Mr. Johnston, Mr. Stratton said he had been Provincial Secretary since October, 1899. Previous to that time he had been simply member for West Peterborough.

Q.—With reference to the relative positions of the parties in the House at the close of the last election, what would you say? A.—The contest was a close one; the majority of the Government twas one or two.

Q.—Did anything affecting the situation occur shortly after? A.—The member for North Renfrew died, leaving that vacant. He was a supporter of the Government.

Q.—How many protests were in? Do you remember? A.—Perhaps 15 or 20 on each side. I don't remember exactly.

Q.—Were you taking this matter as a crisis in the Government's history at all? A.—No.

Q.—You have had some experience in the past when the Government was barely sustained? A.—Yes, I have. After the elections in 1898 there were 45 Conservatives and 46 Liberals; two constituencies not heard from, and one election not held (Russell County).

Q.—After that election the Government had a majority of what? A.—Of six on the first vote. Invariably when a Government are sustained they also carry the by-elections.

Q.—The last election was held on the 29th May. Where was the Premier shortly after that? A.—Perhaps two weeks after the election the Premier left for the Coronation and did not return until the last week in August. The Attorney-General left either a day or two before or after the Premier, and did not return until about the same time.

Q.—Was the Minister of Crown Lands there? A.—Part of the time.

Q.—The Minister of Education? A.—Most of the time.

Q.—And Yourself? A.—Nearly all the time.

Q.—Mr. Dryden? A.—Part of the time.

PROTESTS SAWED OFF.

Q.—Did you have anything to do with the protests? A.—When the Premier left for the Coronation, he left the matter of protests in my hands; I met representatives of the Opposition.

Q.—Who were they? A.—Mr. Foy, Mr. Bristol, and Dr. Beattie Nesbitt.

Q.—Who met them with you? A.—The first time my colleagues were out of the city, and I was alone; the second time with Mr. Latchford, and the third time with Mr. Harcourt. Mr. Grant was there for the first meeting.

Q.—Was anything definite arranged? A.—Yes; it was understood that no protest should be entered against Mr. Whitney, Mr. Foy, Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, nor against the Premier, myself, nor Mr. Latchford.

Q.—The majorities in these cases were all large? A.—Yes. Mr. Whitney's about 400. Mr. Foy's was a good majority, and mine nearly 1,200.

Q.—Nothing else done definitely? A.—At a subsequent meeting there were quite a number of constituencies placed against one another, in which it was agreed that no protests should be entered.

Q.—Had you anything to do with the Manitoulin protest? A.—No; after the third meeting I declined to have anything more to do with the protests.

Q.—When did you first know about the Manitoulin protest? A.—I saw it in the paper; I could not tell the exact time, in July or August.

Q.—Did you know anything about the settlement of the protest? A.—No.

Q.—Until when? A.—I saw in the paper that the application had been transferred to Toronto.

Q.—As a politician that meant to you what? A.—That the thing would likely be dropped.

Q.—When was this? A.—In October some time.

NEVER SENT AGENT TO GAMEY.

Q.—Now during all this, until the time the friction occurred in June, did you have any consultation with Mr. Grant about protests? A.—Nothing whatever.

Q.—Anything about their being gone on with or being dropped? A.—No, only about their being entered.

Q.—Did you ever employ anyone to see Mr. Gamey with reference to patronage or any other matter? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you ever employ Jones, Frank Sullivan, or John Sullivan, to see Mr. Gamey or approach him in any way? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you ever talk to these men to approach Gamey either as regards protest, patronage, or in any other way? A.—I did not.

Q.—You had heard from Gamey as to his position, you knew he had been elected as a Conservative? A.—I saw that he was classed with the Conservatives.

Q.—How did he come to see you, do you know? A.—I do not.

Q.—Did it come at your suggestion in any way? A.—No, it did not.

Q.—Had you any knowledge of anyone having sent him or spoken to him in any way about the interview? A.—Not the slightest.

HAD HEARD RUMORS.

Q.—Had you any reason up to that time in September when he called at your office to trust or mistrust him? A.—Nothing particular, although I had heard rumours.

Q.—What rumors? A.—I had understood that had said he was going to support the Government.

Q.—Did you know on the 9th of September or previous that he was coming to see you? A.—I did not.

Q.—Now your department is a very large department, embracing many heads? A.—Yes, License branch, Board of Health, all the public institutions of the Province, the outlying jails, marriage licenses, births, deaths, and marriage department, incorporating of companies, and occupies about one-fourth the office space in the building.

Q.—The justices of the peace — are they in your department? A.—In the Attorney-General's.

Q.—The returning officers—are they in your department, and how appointed? A.—In Council, generally.

Q.—The returning officers for the referendum? A.—Their appointment was by an order-in-council.

GAMEY GOT NO PATRONAGE.

Q.—The recommendation made by Mr. Gamey affected, according to his story, a lock-up keeper, marriage license, and the license branch. Was anyone appointed in your department whom he recommended? A.—None whatever.

Q.—You would be the one upon whose recommendation these classes of officers would be appointed to office? A.—Yes.

Q.—So that of all the patronage we have heard about, not one application made to your office was acceded to, and only two justices of the peace and an officer for the referendum were appointed? A.—Yes.

SLIGHT KNOWLEDGE OF SULLIVANS.

Q.—Do you know Captain Sullivan? A.—Not well. I met him at the Soo some years ago, on my way back from the coast. I stayed at the Soo over Sunday. Sullivan was then in the employ of the Government as forest ranger, I think.

Q.—You were not in the Government then? A.—No.

Q.—Subsequent to that time, what intercourse had passed between you? A.—None at all, before or since.

Q.—About Frank Sullivan? A.—I met him on the same occasion as when I met his father. Captain Sullivan and his two sons were at an adjoining table at the same hotel.

Q.—Your department ever employ Sullivan? A.—Not since I have had charge.

Q.—Was Frank Sullivan ever in your room except on the occasion in September? A.—Not to my knowledge.

Q.—Has he relations on the island, the north shore? A.—I don't know.

Q.—The first you heard of Gamey was an introduction of Frank Sullivan? A.—Yes, on September 9th.

Q.—Where had you been previously? A.—At Peterborough. I went to my cottage on Stony Lake on Saturday, returned to Peterborough on Monday, and came back to Toronto Tuesday morning. I was in my office at ten o'clock or a few minutes later. Mr. Gamey and Frank Sullivan came in shortly after.

Q.—Who showed them in? A.—Mr. Costello.

Q.—Were Gamey and Sullivan ever there before, singly or together? A.—No.

Q.—Just before the introduction, was anything said? A.—Frank Sullivan was shown in in advance. He said Mr. Gamey wanted to see me, and asked me if I would see him. I said I would, and Sullivan brought Mr. Gamey in, introducing him to me as the member for Manitoulin.

Q.—Did you have any conversation? A.—Mr. Gamey and Sullivan who seemed to be friends took seats and sat down. We spoke of Manitoulin, its development and so on.

Q.—Spoke of railways? A.—Yes, we spoke of the Algoma Central and Manitoulin and North Shore. Mr. Gamey seemed satisfied with the progress Manitoulin was making.

Q.—As to the policy of the Government? A.—He said it was satisfactory to the people. It was not the policy, but the administration by some of the officials, that was complained of.

Q.—As to appointments? A.—He asked why the Government had not appointed Mr. Flesher justice of the peace. I said it was not in my department, but in the Attorney-General's. He gave reasons why Mr. Flesher should be appointed, and I inferred when he left me that he would write the Attorney-General.

Q.—Instead of that he wrote you? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was the first letter you received from him? A.—Yes.

GAMEY MENTIONED HIS CHANGE.

Q.—What else occurred between you? A.—He said he had arrived at the conclusion that he would best serve the interests of his constituents by supporting the Government. He had consulted a number of constituents, and his campaign had been so conducted as to enable him to do so. Some half-dozen or so, he said, who thought they were the party, might oppose, but the majority would approve. Manitoulin was his politics, Mr. Gamey said, and he was going to do as Mr. Beattie of Parry Sound had done.

Q.—Anything else? A.—Mr. Gamey spoke of being fully decided. He had said so, not only on the platform, but had told members of both parties. He had no doubt the Government would be sustained. By-elections always went with the Government. Mr. Gamey spoke highly of Premier Ross, but not so complimentary of the Opposition leader.

Q.—Did he complain about the mining regulations? A.—He complained about the way the officials administered the law, and suggested a few amendments, but found no fault with the general mining law.

Q.—Was there any mention of his protest? A.—Yes, Mr. Gamey wanted to know what stand the Government would take. I told him Mr. Grant and Mr. Aylesworth had charge of elections, the Government did not deal with these matters. He intimated it might be made easy or dropped. He did not say so much as he implied. He said he did not care to call to see Mr. Grant, but would go to see Mr. Aylesworth.

Q.—What after that? A.—He suggested an interview on the morrow. He said he would go to see him about ten o'clock if an appointment was made.

Q.—Did you make any undertaking as to Mr. Aylesworth? A.—I saw Mr. Aylesworth.

Q.—Was there any mention of any officers? A.—He did not think sheriffs and magistrates should be appointed as returning officers, as they already got sufficient. I said the matter would be considered by the Government. He asked me to communicate with him before the matter was settled. I said I would.

Q.—You did subsequently. A.—I did subsequently.

THE "CONSIDERATION" TALK.

Q.—Was patronage mentioned? A.—Yes. He asked me if he would be considered now that he was to support the Government. I said that when he supported the Government, I had no doubt the Government would give him the same consideration as other Government supporters.

Q.—Was that all? A.—Yes, and he seemed satisfied.

Q.—Was there any mention of the License Commissioner? A.—No.

Q.—How do you identify the date as September 9th? A.—By the fact that I closed my summer house at Peterborough the day before.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Aylesworth? A.—I met him that afternoon accidentally in the corridor. I told him Mr. Gamey had told me he would support the Government, and he wanted to see Mr. Aylesworth about the protest. Mr. Aylesworth asked me what evidence I had. He thought it would be well to get it in writing. I did not think much more about it, except to think that it would be a good thing.

Q.—Had you spoken to any of your colleagues as to Mr. Gamey's position. A.—Yes, in a casual way that he had told me he was going to support the Government.

THE BOLAND INTERVIEW.

Q.—On the following morning, did you receive a letter from Mr. Boland? What did you do? A.—I asked Mr. Burrows to make an appointment with Mr. Boland. He made it for 11 o'clock, and he came up about the time.

Q.—This was about the Sapphire Corundum Company? That was an important matter to you? Tell us how it was important? A.—Mr. Boland and I had been asked to become directors with Mr. Coffee and Mr. Kelly. This was on account of the mine being in my county. I consented on the understanding that nothing was to be done without the consent of the Canadian directors. Then, without any consultation, we learned that the company had been floated at a capital of £1,000,000, and were surprised to see such a large capital floated on a proposition of the character I knew that to be. Mr. C. D. Warren of the Metropolitan and I had both been induced to accept, and we decided to attend a meeting in Ottawa to learn what we could about the affairs of the company. When this word about the £1,000,000 came out, we decided to resign.

Q.—Which you did? A.—Which I did.

Q.—And who was the Mr. Morrison mentioned in this letter? A.—He was manager and engineer. I had met him on the train, and he had given me some information regarding the misrepresentation that had been going on. He said it was confidential, but I placed it before the board.

Q.—It was a critical matter? A.—We desired to withdraw.

Q.—And what connection had Mr. Boland with the company? A.—Mr. Boland had spoken to several gentlemen, Mr. Speaker Brodeur, Mr. Caron, and others, about going on the board. I had said that I thought we ought to communicate with these gentlemen, and we had been discussing what we should do.

Q.—It was, at all events, a question of grave importance to you? A.—Yes.

Q.—And you wanted an interview with Mr. Boland? A.—Yes.

Q.—You saw him on the 10th of September? A.—Yes, about 11 o'clock.

THE AYLESWORTH LETTER.

Q.—What did you do while he was there? A.—I dictated a letter to Mr. Myers.

Q.—Why did you dictate that letter, which is known as the Aylesworth letter? A.—I dictated it at the instance of Mr. Aylesworth, who thought we ought to have some evidence that he was going to support the Government.

Q.—What about the subject matter of that letter? A.—It was the pith of what Mr. Gamey had said to me the day previous. I put it in the form of a letter at Mr. Aylesworth's suggestion. It was merely a tentative lotter, to be submitted to Mr. Aylesworth as solicitor for the Liberal Association.

Q.—As far as you were concerned was it intended to bind Mr. Gamey? A.—No. I did not address it. It was merely an outline of his conversation to me, and handed over to Mr. Aylesworth for his judgment.

Q.—Had you at this time any knowledge of the Manitoulin protest or of the evidence? A.—None whatever.

Q.—Then on the 10th of September, how long did Mr. Boland remain with you? A.—He remained with me until I went down to the Victoria at the door.

Q.—And we have it that the Victoria called there at 12.25? A.—Yes, that would be about the time.

Q.—You were going to see Mr. Aylesworth? A.—Yes. I had telephoned to him. He wasn't in. They told me he was in the Court of Appeal at Osgoode Hall, and I thought I had better drive down and see him.

Q.—And the time, as shown by the cabman, is right? A.—I think so.

Q.—Then, Mr. Boland was with you

A prominent Southern lady, Mrs. Blanchard, of Nashville, Tenn., tells how she was cured of backache, dizziness, painful and irregular periods by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gratitude compels me to acknowledge the great merit of your Vegetable Compound. I have suffered for four years with irregular and painful menstruation, also dizziness, pains in the back and lower limbs, and fitful sleep. I dreaded the time to come which would only mean suffering to me.

"Better health is all I wanted, and cure if possible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought me health and happiness in a few short months. I feel like another person now. My aches and pains have left me. Life seems new and sweet to me, and everything seems pleasant and easy.

"Six bottles brought me health, and was worth more than months under the doctor's care, which really did not benefit me at all. I am satisfied there is no medicine so good for sick women as your Vegetable Compound, and I advocate it to my lady friends in need of medical help."—MRS. B. A. BLANCHARD, 422 Broad St., Nashville, Tenn.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

A Severe Case of Womb Trouble Cured in Philadelphia.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been cured of severe female troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was nearly ready to give up, but seeing your advertisement I purchased one bottle of your medicine, and it did me so much good that I purchased another, and the result was so satisfactory that I bought six more bottles, and am now feeling like a new woman. I shall never be without it. I hope that my testimonial will convince women that your Vegetable Compound is the greatest medicine in the world for falling of the womb or any other female complaints."—MRS. MAY CODY, 2660 Birch St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Her address is Lynn, Mass., Her advice is free and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it.

TUESDAY, MAY 5, 1903.

GAMEY'S STORY CONTRADICTED.

from 11 to 12.25? A.—Yes, and we talked a minute on the steps before I got into the carriage. I asked him to drive down with me, but he said the had business in the Crown Lands Department.

Q.—Where did you drive? A.—To Osgoode Hall.

Q.—You saw Mr. Aylesworth? A.—Yes.

Q.—What was the case he was on? A.—A Sarnia breach of promise case.

Q.—Where did you see Mr. Aylesworth? A.—I saw him in the hall at one o'clock.

Q.—You gave him the letter? A.—Yes. He put it in his pocket, and said he was going down to the office.

Q.—Did you tell him that Mr. Gamey was going to call on him? A.—He knew that the night before.

Q.—Had you made any corrections in the letter? A.—Yes, after the first draft I added the words, "considered by you as a vote." That was the only correction.

Q.—You intended the letter to be only as a guide to Mr. Aylesworth? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you give Mr. Aylesworth any instructions? A.—No.

Q.—What else did you do that day? A.—There was a council meeting in the afternoon ,and I drove Mrs. Stratton to the Exhibition. We had dinner at a friend's in the evening.

Q.—Was Mr. Gamey in your office on the 10th. A.—No.

Q.—Do you remember something that happened on the 10th Sept.? A.—Yes. I met Mr. Boland that day.

Q.—But a party meeting? A.—Oh, yes, there was a Conservative caucus on the afternoon of the 10th. I saw it the following morning in the papers.

Q.—Did you notice anything in the report of the caucus that struck you particularly? A.—I noticed that Mr. Gamey had been there, supporting Mr. Whitney.

Q.—Did you know then what had happened between Mr. Gamey and Mr. Aylesworth? A.—No, I had not heard from Mr. Aylesworth.

Q.—When did you first know of what happened between them? A.—When Gamey came to my office later he asked for a copy of that letter. I didn't hear before that time what had taken place in Mr. Aylesworth's office.

Q.—Were you exercising any control in these matters? A.—None whatever.

Q.—Of course you knew the position Mr. Gamey was evidently taking; with you on the 9th and the Conservative caucus on the 10th? A.—Yes; I usually read the papers first thing in the morning. I could hardly understand why he had been there.

Q.—Were you at that time relying on Mr. Gamey's support? A.—No.

Q.—Were you at any time? A.—No; I never had any confidence in him.

Q.—Then Mr. Boland came in on the 11th? A.—Yes; he called me up before breakfast to make an appointment; and called in to see me on his way down to his office, about 10, or a few minutes after.

Q.—What did you want to see him about? A.—The Nova Scotia Eastern Railway.

Q.—That was an important matter—important enough to take you to Halifax later in the month? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you remain in the building when Boland came? A.—No: I told him we would confer with Mr. Coffee; we had a proposition to lay before the Government of Nova Scotia with reference to a subsidy.

Q.—What position did you hold in this company? A.—I was president, Mr. Boland was solicitor, and Mr. Coffee a director. Mr. C. Kloepfer is a director, and Mr. Geo. McCormick and the late Mr. Angus McLeod were also.

Q.—You did discuss the matter at the buildings? A.—Yes, but we couldn't do it satisfactorily, as we hadn't the correspondence there.

Q.—What time did you leave the buildings? A.—A few minutes after 10.

Q.—What time did you get to the Trust Company? A.—A few minutes before 11, I think. We were there before Mr. Coffee had his correspondence finished.

Q.—Was Gamey, or Frank Sullivan, one or both, in your office on the 11th? A.—Neither on the 10th nor the 11th, while I was there.

Q.—Did you see Gamey again in your office until the time in October? A.—No, I did not.

Q.—Was he there on two consecutive days? A.—No, never.

Q.—Was he there twice on any day in September? A.—No.

Q.—Did you have anything to see either of them about? A.—Nothing whatever.

Q.—You remained at the Trust Company from 11 until what hour? A.—I remained there until after 1 o'clock. When I went in there I met and shook hands with Mr. Holland; had a talk with Mr. Coffee; I signed some documents there and then went through into the Dominion Permanent, and signed some there. I left about half-past one and went across to Guiane's to get a pair of shoes. Mr. John Guiane waited on me. I left my old ones there, and told him to give them to some one. I got back to the buildings about 2 o'clock; had luncheon, and got back to my office about 2.30, dictated some letters, and closed up the correspondence for the day.

Q.—Now let us be perfectly straight—did you on the 9th, 10th, or 11th of September pay Mr. Gamey any money? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you pay any person money for him? A.—I did not.

Q.—Did you give Frank Sullivan $3,000 to divide between him and Gamey? A.—No; nor three cents.

Q.—Did you send a man with a parcel to the smoking room with instructions as to what should be done? A.—I did not.

Mr. Johnston then picked up volume No. 1 in the evidence and asked: Did you know anything at that time, or at any time, of the talk between Mr. Gamey and anyone with reference to the Algomas? A.—No

Q.—Do you know anything about D. A. Jones? A.—No; I have had no conversation with him for two years nor have I received a letter or memo from him.

Q.—Had Frank Sullivan or Captain Sullivan any authority directly or indirectly expressed or implied, from you? A.—No.

Q.—If these letters were written by either Jones or Sullivan, would you know anything about them being written? A.—No, not until the matter came out in the House, or Legislature, rather.

Q.—Did you ever see any agreement or any proposition of any kind about Mr. Gamey really intending to support the Government except the letter you sent to Mr. Aylesworth? A.—No.

Q.—Were you ever seen and an effort made to convince you that Mr. Gamey would support the Government? A.—No.

Q.—Now, Mr. Gamey says on page 69 that "he (Stratton) understood that I was talking about supporting the Government, and that I would get the patronage, and the election petition would be withdrawn." The word consideration is used. A.—It was explained by me that Mr. Gamey would get the consideration in the question of patronage that other members who supported the Government usually got.

Q.—He says that you were not ready on the tenth to carry out the agreement talked over by Sullivan, and he said you spoke of wondering who would handle the parcel? A.—This is not true, and nothing was said in this connection whatever.

Q.—Was Vance's name mentioned? A.—No.

Q.—It was said that Vance's name was mentioned to the effect that he would be a good man to handle the parcel? A.—There was nothing said at any time whereby this could be so construed.

Q.—He says that there was some discussion regarding the License Board for the riding. A.—He said something about the constituency having been changed and wanted to know if there would be inspectors or commissioners appointed for the various ridings.

Q.—Did you have a conversation with Gamey on the 10th? A.—I did not see him.

Q.—He (Gamey) says you told him on the 9th he might make appointments to satisfy his friends on the island, as it would be necessary? A.—Pure invention; I never mentioned them.

Q.—He says you weren't ready to carry out the full extent of the deal that day, that he (Gamey) would have to sign a letter. Signing of the letter was part of deal, and payment of the money was to follow? A.—There is no truth in it at all.

Q.—He says he saw the letter in your place first? A.—He did not do so.

Q.—He says by arrangement with Frank Sullivan he called on the forenoon of the 11th, the day after the agreement was signed. Went into Stratton's office; Stratton was not in, but came in. Stratton said everything was arranged and seemed to be in a hurry to get through? A.—It is not true.

Q.—Took out an envelope, said it would be carried down into the smoking room. He said to me, Gamey, "Any appointments you want, you write me, and I'll look after them. Come in and see me any time you like." Is that true? A.—It is not true.

Q.—Did you ever make a single appointment at his request? A.—I never did.

Q.—Was he ever in your office on any day in September, except on September 9th? A.—He was not.

NO TROUBLE TO GET MONEY.

Q.—In reference to $3,000, if you had wanted it you would have had no difficulty in getting it? A.—No; nor $30,000.

Q.—Of your own money? A.—Of my own money.

Q.—Did Frank Sullivan see you at all after the 9th? A.—Yes; he saw me the day before the House opened.

Q.—Up to that time? A.—No.

Q.—His letters speak of relations with the Minister? A.—Not true; Frank Sullivan had no relations at all with witness.

The commission adjourned for luncheon at this point.

GAMEY TRIED TO GET LETTER BACK

After luncheon Mr. Johnston resumed his examination of Mr Stratton.

Q.—On the 9th, 10th and 11th of September who were employed in your office? A.—Mr. Costello, as messenger, Mr. Burrows, Mr. Myers, and occasionally Miss Durkin.

Q.—Is that all? A.—In my private office.

Q.—When was the next time you saw Mr. Gamey, taking his date as the time? About October 3 or 4? A.—About that time.

Q.—How did he come to see you? A.—I do not know; on his own motion, I suppose.

Q.—At no suggestion of yours? A.—No.

Q.—Were you alone in the room? A.—I cannot say definitely; some of the deputies may have been there.

Q.—I mean outsiders? A.—No; certainly not.

Q.—What was the conversation? A.—He spoke in a general way, and then said he wanted to get back the letter he had given the premier. He told me that after his conversation with me on the 9th he had seen Mr. Aylesworth, and signed the letter, and then had gone to the Conservative caucus against his own wishes because some Conservative friends had come to the hotel for him and urged him to go. He wanted to send the premier another letter at a date after he would be at home, about the 27th.

Q.—What did you say? A.—I told him I had not seen Mr. Aylesworth. He said he was embarrassed by the date on the letter being before he had attended the Conservative caucus. He said after that meeting he was more firmly convinced than ever that Mr. Whitney would not lead the Opposition to victory. I said that I would try and get the letter. After some more general conversation he said he would call a meeting of his constituents and tell them what position he intended to take. I told him that that was the proper course to take.

Q.—Was anything said that day about appointments? Q.—Not particularly. The matter about the letter he had sent the Premier was the main thing.

Q.—Was anything said about Crown lands? A.—Yes; he desired to get a position for his brother. He didn't want one on the inside, because it might cause trouble among the Conservatives. If he was on the outside they might not find it out.

Q.—What did you say? A.—I told him that was a matter for the Commissioner of Crown Lands.

Q.—Do you as a matter of fact, interfere with other departments? A.—If you will ask my colleague I think they will say I do not.

Q.—Was anything said about money or consideration or patronage? A. A.—Nothing whatever.

THE JANUARY INTERVIEW.

Q.—Your next interview was on January 18. How did he come to see you? A.—About that time. I do not know.

Q.—He says you wanted to see him. Did you send for him? A.—I did not. I did not know of his coming till he arrived.

Q.—Was anyone with him? A.—He and Vance came at the same time. I saw Gamey after I had seen Vance.

Q.—Did anyone come into your room with Mr. Gamey? A.—Mr. Costello showed him in, and Mr. Myers came in with the letters, for which I had just rung.

Q.—What was your conversation? A.—He complained that the lock-up at Little Current was kept by the hotel-keeper. It was, he said, a case of fill them up, lock them up, and let them out. I rang for Dr. Chamberlain, and he came up. Mr. Myers was still there.

Q.—Did you discuss the lock-up before Dr. Chamberlain? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was there anything further? A.—Mr. Gamey thought the keeper ought to be removed and the lock-up rebuilt. He had a Mr. McEachern he wanted for the position. I asked Dr. Chamberlain to look over the matter and make a report to me.

Q.—Was anything discussed? A.—Yes, about License Inspector and Commissioners. I listened to him, and he gave me advice.

Q.—Did you tell him who would be appointed? A.—I said not till after the opening of the session.

Q.—What were you going to do? A.—After the session opens we have visits from prominent Liberals and Conservatives from outlying districts, wanting everything under the sun. At this time and Order-in-Council had been passed relative to appointments of inspectors and License Commissioners for the constituency, that had been divided into three. Mr. Gamey said to witness, "Why don't you do something for my brother?" Witness told Gamey to see the Commissioner of Crown Lands.

HIS DISTRUST OF GAMEY.

Q.—Did the political situation come up? A.—When I said we would have to confer with our political friends, he asked, "Don't you consider me a supporter of the Government?" Witness remarked that Gamey had a peculiar way of showing his support, instancing what Gamey had said to Mr. Stratton, Gamey's letter to the Premier, Gamey's attending the Conservative caucus, Gamey's desire to withdraw his letter to the Premier, and now Gamey had just returned from North Perth.

Witness again told Gamey, "We consult our friends."

Gamey did not like Mr. Stratton's tone, and, by way of explanation, said he had been persuaded to go to North Perth. However, Gamey did not think he had done either harm or good. Witness observed that evidently Gamey had done no harm.

GAMEY SUGGESTED INTERVIEW.

Mr. Stratton said he reminded Gamey that the letter had said he would call a public meeting of his Manitoulin constituents, and state his position. Gamey said he had spoken to a number of his constituents, and they endorsed his course. Gamey added that his best way was to give an interview.

Witness asked Gamey why he didn't place himself fairly and frankly before the people.

Q.—He agreed to do so? A.—Yes. Gamey asked witness if he would prepare an interview. Witness told him to prepare it himself. Gamey said he didn't know how. Witness said it was not difficult, that any paper would publish it. Gamey replied that he wanted it made definite, and again asked witness to draft it. Witness said he took notes of what Gamey said. Then Gamey said, "I had better confer with my friends."

Q.—Did you take notes of what he said? A.—Yes, with lead pencil.

Witness denied that the protest had anything to do with the date of the letter that Gamey wanted changed. On the contrary, it was in connection with the Conservative caucus.

Q.—You were next interviewed on January 28? A.—No, Gamey telephoned me. I was in my office in the forenoon. Mr. Myers said that Gamey desired to speak to me. I made connections, and spoke. He said, "Mr. Gamey is speaking. I would like to see you." I told him I could not see him that day, as I had an annual meeting of the Trusts and Loan Company to attend, but would see him next day at 2 p.m. He asked me if I had the interview ready, and I said I would have it ready.

Q.—Did he see you on the 29th? A.—Yes.

Q.—When? A.—After I got back from luncheon.

Q.—In the meantime, what had you done with reference to the so-called Globe interview? A.—I asked Mr. Yokome to come into my office, and I dictated the interview, practically as it is on file in the court. When he had it extended I told him to have Mr. Myers make a duplicate copy of it, and it was on my desk when I returned in the afternoon from the meeting of the Trust and Guarantee Company.

Q.—Then you saw Mr. Gamey about the 29th? A.—He came to see me about the 29th.

Q.—Who is this Mr. Yokome? A.—He is in my employ at Peterborough. I frequently have him come to Toronto to do special work—newspaper work and so on—for me.

GAMEY GETS INTERVIEW.

Then on the 29th you saw Mr. Gamey? A.—Yes; about 2 or 2.15. He came in and asked if the interview was ready. I gave it to him and he thought it was a little too strong, going a little further in his support of the Government than he would care to go. He said he would take it away and make some alterations and see me during the afternoon. I told him I would not be able to see him until after the meeting of Council. He took it away with him.

Q.—Did you see him again that day? A.—About a quarter to six or six o'clock. He brought back the interview. It was changed and altered.

Q.—You saw it then? A.—Yes, when he brought it in he said that he had modified it. I looked at it but did not express either approval or disapproval.

Q.—What did he do then? A.—He went out and gave it to Mr. Hammond, I suppose.

DID NOT GIVE SULLIVAN MONEY.

Q.—Did you see him again that evening? A.—No.

Q.—Was Frank Sullivan there that evening? A.—Not to my knowledge; I didn't see him.

Q.—Did you have any parcel or money or bills of any kind that you gve to Frank Sullivan that evening—or an envelope—for Mr. Gamey or any person? A.—None whatever.

Q.—As far as you are concerned there was no money passed directly or indirectly between you? A.—No.

Q.—When did you next see Gamey? A.—In the Legislature.

Q.—Did you see Frank Sullivan before you saw Gamey in the Legislature? A.—I saw Frank Sullivan—I think it was the day before the house opened.

Q.—Where? A.—I saw him in the corridor. I was going to the Premier's office. He motioned to me, and I stopped. He said, "I don't believe that fellow Gamey is going to support the Government." I said I didn't care whether he did or not; I never expected that he would, and passed on.

LETTER TO PREMIER COPIED.

Q.—What took place with reference to that letter of September 10 with regard to the copy? Where did you get the letter? A.—I went to the Premier's office to see the Premier——

Q.—About 27th October? A.—About that time.

Q.—Did Gamey say anything about how the Premier got the letter? A.—He left the impression that he had sent it to the Premier.

Q.—You knew nothing about that? A.—I knew nothing about it.

Q.—The Premier was out? A.—A.—Yes, I got the letter from his private secretary.

Q.—What was done? A.—I got a copy of the letter made and gave it to Mr. Myers to mail to Mr. Gamey.

Q.—Who made the copy? A.—Mr. Ford. As I came out of the Premier's office I met Mr. Ford and asked him to make a copy of this for me, as my secretary was busy.

Q.—Was it a fact that he was busy? A.—Yes.

Q.—You got the copy? A.—It was on my desk when I came back.

Q.—Any other reason for getting Ford to make the copy? A.—None whatever.

Q.—It had no significance? A.—None. Mr. Ford has done considerable work for me, and at that time the Attorney-General was away.

Q.—What did you do with this copy? A.—I gave it to Mr. Myers to send to Mr. Gamey. The original was sent back to the Premier's office.

Q.—Did you know anything of any timber deals or mining concessions as regards the Sullivans? A.—No.

CONTRADICTS GAMEY AGAIN.

Q.—On the 29th of January Gamey says that he went back to your office after six o'clock, and that you said something about "'fixing up that money question?" A.—That's not true; that's absolutely untrue.

Q.—He says you spoke with him in the vestibule? A.—That's not true.

Q.—He says he told you the denominations of the $1,000 in bills? A.—That's absolutely untrue. I did not give anything to Frank Sullivan any manner, shape or form.

Q.—Gamey says that Sullivan says you got $250 out of the Attorney-General's Department. Is there any money kept in the Attorney-General's Department? A.—I once tried to get a $5 bill changed there and could not. No money is kept in that department.

Q.—He says that you told him he ought to write to Mr. Whitney, telling him of his decision? A.—Mr. Whitney's name was not mentioned; I wasn't troubling about Mr. Whitney.

Q.—When he asked about the License Commissioners, what did you say? A.—I told him the appointments would not be made until the House met. Regarding the jailer at Little Current we had not yet had a report from Dr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Johnston then led the witness over the correspondence beginning with the letter of September 29th last in which Mr. Gamey recommended the appointment of Thos. Fisher as J. P., and enclosing a petition from a lumber company for the same appointment. The letter and the petition were transferred to the Attorney-General's Department.

Mr. Johnston—Did you make any efforts to get him railway passes? A.—No; I referred him to the proper authorities.

Q.—Then you wrote to him, asking him if he would approve of the appointment of the former returning officer as R. O. for the Referendum. Why did you do that? A.—When he called on me I told him I would write to him about that matter, and I did.

Q.—Then he wrote on October 7th, recommending E. S. Jackson as returning officer, and that letter was acknowledged? A.—Yes.

GAMEY'S DESIRE FOR A LOAN.

Mr. Johnston then referred to Mr. Gamey's letter in which the latter asked for a loan of $2,000.

Mr. Stratton said—I did not pay any attention to this letter, never knew that it was answered until I found out afterwards that my secretary had acknowledged it.

Q.—Did Mr. Gamey know your position with financial institutions? A.—I don't know; he wanted $2,000, but I had no $2,000 to lend him.

Q.—Now with reference to the let-

CALL OUT REGULARS

Dominion Government Will Substitute them for Militia.

THE TORONTO CORPS READY.

Six Hundred Teamsters Went Out at Montreal on Monday in Sympathy With the Longshoremen—Freight Badly Congested—Labor Outlook Is Very Disturbing—Strikers Refuse Terms.

Montreal, May 5.—The Royal Garrison Artillery at Quebec ordered to prepare to proceed to Montreal.

Six hundred teamsters on strike yesterday congests freight on wharves and in railway sheds.

Government intervention will be requested.

Cartage companies affected: The Dominion Transport Co., C. P. R., 250; The Shedden Forwarding Co., 225; miscellaneous, 150.

The Grand Trunk has 500 cars of freight awaiting cartage here. The C.P.R. is not so badly congested, and the exact amount on hand could not be given.

Toronto, May 5.—Col. Otter, D.O. C., last night received instructions to hold a squad of 50 men of the Royal Canadian Dragoons in readiness to proceed immediately by special train to Montreal on receipt of further orders, The men and the special train were immediately prepared for the journey. Major Williams is in command, with Capt. C. T. Straubenzee and Lieut. Douglas Young with him.

Some of the Strike Details.

Montreal, May 5.—"The strike is as far from settlement as ever, and understand the men have rejected my proposal that they accept the same clause as did the Street Railway men a few weeks ago, the same giving a partial recognition of the union." This statement was made close on midnight by Mayor Cochrane.

The longshoremen have been very quiet all day, but the teamsters of the city are out. Fifteen hundred men are added to the army of unemployed. No cargo is being moved from the wharves; the movement of heavy freight in the city in connection with the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Grand Trunk, the Intercolonial and the various steamship companies, has temporarily ceased. This strike is in sympathy with the longshoremen.

THE BRITISH COMMONS.

John Redmond, Irish Leader, Speaks on the Irish Land Bill.

London, May 5.—The Irish Secretary, Mr. Wyndham, yesterday formally moved the second reading of the Irish Land Bill in the House of Commons.

John Redmond, the Irish leader, supporting the motion, said never before, since the Act of Union, had an English Minister had such a chance as Mr. Wyndham had now. The landlords and tenants were in complete agreement on almost all the essential points. If the bill was rejected, the Irish people would be driven back into the "old hell of warring passions and conflicting hopes." With all his heart, he prayed that such a state of things would not arise. It would be little short of tragic were the Government to throw away the golden opportunity, which, once lost, might not return for a lifetime.

Mr. Coghill (Conservative) and Sir George Bartley (Conservative), having respectively moved and seconded the rejection of the Land Bill.

Premier Balfour spoke in support of the measure. They had resisted Mr. Gladstone's bill, because it was inextricably bound up in Home Rule. The bill was simply intended to substitute a good system of land tenure for a bad one, and to cure a festering sore.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, said the terms of the bill should be closely investigated in committee. They were not satisfactory as set forth in the bill.

Mr. Russell, Liberal-Unionist, supported the second reading, although he disliked some of the complicated arrangements of the bill.

The debate was then adjourned.

GREATLY ALARMED.

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. H. P. Burbeige, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., has been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough, which he says "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first stages of consumption." Mr. Burbeige, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it. "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the 25 cent kind was permanently cured. Sold by all druggists.

B. C. LAND GRANTS.

Government Is Determined to Bring Out All the Facts.

Victoria, B.C., May 5.—The British Columbia Legislature has adjourned for a week in order that the charges of corruption in connection with the proposed grant of valuable lands in Southeast Kootenay, to the Columbia and Western Railway, the bill repudiating which was yesterday assented to by the Lieutenant-Governor, may be fully investigated. The Government is determined to bring out all the facts in connection with the deal, and counsel will be engaged to aid the work of the special committee appointed for that purpose.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

DYSPEPSIA.

The Miseries of This Terrible Disease Cured by Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure.

"Dyspepsia is the parent of failure and the harvester of blasted hopes."—Munyon.

FAREWELL TO FRANCE.

King Edward Quits France Amid Acclamations of Enormous Crowd.

Paris, May 5.—King Edward left the Invalides Railroad station on his way to Cherbourg before noon yesterday, amid the booming of 100 cannons and the acclamations of an enormous crowd. The ceremonies at His Majesty's departure were on the same elaborate and spectacular scale as on his arrival here. President Loubet, in a state coach, called at the British embassy and drove with the King through the avenue, on both sides of which troops and large crowds were massed. His Majesty wore the uniform of a British admiral.

The station was sumptuously decorated with crimson and gold hangings, and the British and French colors. The band of the Republican Guard, stationed on the platform, played "God Save the King," at the moment of His Majesty's departure. The final adieus were extremely cordial. The King will spend the night on board the royal yacht, which will not sail for England until this morning.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

WAS DRAGGED ALONG BY A FREIGHT TRAIN.

Little Walter Noyes was Seriously Injured.

Limb Will Probably Have to be Amputated—His Sister Miraculously Escaped.

A serious accident occurred this morning shortly after 10 o'clock, as a result of which Walter Noyes, a young boy, received serious injuries. It transpired that a freight train drawn by engine No. 457, the property of the Grand Trunk Railway, was shunting at a point where that company's line crosses King street. The boy refered to was playing at the crossing and, having his back turned towards the train, did not notice its approach. His clothing was caught by the shunting tender and he was dragged along the ground for some yards, sustaining severe laceration of his right leg. Dr. Bradd was immediately summoned and the ambulance was soon on the scene of the accident. The child was taken to Nicholls Hospital accompanied by his mother and Dr. Bradd.

It is said that the injured lad, who resides at 145 Rubidge street, was playing with his sister when the accident occurred and that it is only next to a miracle the latter was not either killed or seriously hurt.

It is stated that the injuries are of such a serious nature as will probably necessitate the amputation of the limb. The boy is a son of Mr. John Noyes, a foreman at the Cordage Works.

MRS. E. M. POUSSETT'S LAMENTED DEATH

Occurred Yesterday After a Week's Illness.

The death of Alice Meade Poussett, wife of Mr. E. M. Poussett, which took place at the family residence, No. 207 Stewart street, yesterday afternoon under circumstances of peculiar sadness, brought the deepest grief to, and evoked the liveliest sympathy of, the friends of her family, her wide circle of personal friends and the community generally. When the intelligence of her distressingly sad passing away became known, the expressions of sorrow over the loss of one of the most attractive young matrons of Peterborough, and of sympathy with her bereaved husband—whose happy wedded life of only two short years was so tragically closed, were heard on every side.

Mrs. Poussett's last illness was only of a week's duration, and it was hoped by her friends yesterday that she had passed the critical stage of her illness and it was thought that there was some improvement in her condition. During the afternoon she took a turn for the worse, however, and sank gradually away surrounded by those who were dear to her.

The late Mrs. Poussett's maiden name was Alice E. Meade. She was a daughter of the late Richard Meade, of town, and late of Her Majesty's Imperial Forces. She was 24 years of age and had always resided in Peterborough. On October 29th, 1901, scarcely two years ago she was united in marriage to Mr. E. M. Poussett, who together with a little daughter only one week old, is left to mourn her demise.

The deceased was a faithful member of St. Luke's church, and was exceedingly popular in church and in social circles in Peterborough.

The arrangements for the funeral have been completed. A service of a private nature for deceased's relatives will be held at the family residence at 2 o'clock, to-morrow afternoon. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, Rector of St. Luke's, will conduct the service. The cortege will then proceed to St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, where a public service will be held and will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Trinity College School, Port Hope, formerly Rector of St. Lukes, assisted by Rev. J. C. Davidson, of St. John's, and Rev. E. A. Langfeldt. Interment will then take place at Little Lake Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Poussett leaves two sisters, Miss Kathleen, and Mrs. W. T. Hall, of town.

Canada's Spurt Forward.

The principal factor to consider is that the centre of agricultural development will be transferred to Canada. This means a great deal to the Dominion. It implies new railroads and the opening of a now practically unknown and unsettled territory. Railway building will throw open areas of virgin forest lands in the north, and make accessible deposits of mineral areas which are known to exist beyond the reach of present industry. Even the mysterious Hudson Bay region, now regarded as a frozen, inhospitable terra incognita, will be made to yield the wealth it possesses in minerals and timber, and the line of civilization will only halt when it touches impossible conditions. The rush to Canada is not a temporary craze. It will continue because the farmer finds there some of the finest wheat lands in the world, and as was the case with the Western United States, there will be no cessation until the free territory is exhausted. The future of Canada, once regarded as unpromising, has suddenly assumed a brighter phase. Those who express doubt as to the permanency of the agricultural migration, because of different forms of government, do not grasp the situation. The extent of the present flow of United States population to the Dominion will be checked only by isothermal, and not political or boundary lines.—New York Financier.

Not a Crow.

Dr. Temple, the late Archbishop of Canterbury, had an intense hatred of verbosity. On one occasion a clergyman sought his permission to add a second living to the one he already held. "What is the distance between the two places?" asked the Archbishop. "Only fourteen miles as the crow flies, my Lord," was the eager reply. "You aren't a crow; you can't fly. You shan't have it!" snapped Dr. Temple.

DIED.

POUSSETT.—At the family residence on Monday, May 4th, 1903, Alice E. Meade, wife of E. M. Poussett, aged 24 years. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) leaving the family residence, No. 647 Stewart street, at half past two o'clock, proceeding to St. Luke's church and thence to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

BOARD OF WORKS' REPORT.

Some Heavy Correspondence Disposed of.

Alderman Shortly in Harness as Acting Chairman of Board of Works—Discussion re Economy.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough town council, which was held last night, there were present His Worship Mayor G. M.Roger, and Aldermen J. Corkery, J. Batten, R. Clinkscale, R, F. McWilliams, J. Finnie, D. O'Connell, H. Rush, B. Shortly, M. A. Morrison, and James Edgcumbe.

COMMUNICATIONS

were received and disposed of as follows:

From A. E. Dixon, calling attention to the conditions contained in a conveyance from himself to the Corporation, dated May 15, 1893, of the property east of Benson street, known as Dixon Park and particularly described in the deed, which was given on trust that the inhabitants of the town should expend on the improvement of the lands for park purposes not less than $250 during 1893; and also in 1894, and should hereafter suitably maintain the park. These conditions had not been complied with. Mr. Dixon requires reconveyance of the property to himself, according to the conditions of the former conveyance.—Property committee.

From R. F. McGregor, Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, stating that a demonstration is to be held in town on Labor Day next, and asking for a grant of $300 to assist in carrying out the proposed program.—Finance committee.

From property owners pointing out that a 4 foot granolithic walk on the north side of Gilmour street would be ample, instead of a five foot one as originally agreed upon.—Board of Works with power to act.

From the Fire Brigade, pointing out that while the force had numbered sixteen last year, the Council, it was understood, refused to pay for more than fifteen firemen this year, and that the brigade should be increased instead of cut down.—Fire, Water and Light committee.

Chief Roszel asked that provisions be made for summer uniforms for the police.—Committee on Appointments.

From property owners on Dublin street, asking that the concrete walk between Aylmer and George streets be constructed outside the tree line.—Board of Works.

Property owners on Bethune street applied for a pipe sewer between Smith and Edinburgh street, along the latter to Aylmer street and thence to Dublin street.—Board of Works.

From property owners applying for a pipe sewer on Simcoe street, from Aylmer to Bethune street.—Board of Works.

From D. W. Dumble, notifying Council of an injury to Campbell Hodgens on March 30th, owing to the breaking of the bridge at the waterworks dam; also that Hodgens was at the time of the accident in the town's employ.—Legal committe and Water Commissioners.

From Dennistoun, Peck and Stevenson, on behalf of Wm. Irwin, owner of land on east side of the extension of Gladstone avenue to Lake street, and asking that a portion of the road, say 400 feet, be graded as early as possible.—Board of Works with power to act.

From F. W. Doan, local manager of the Bell Telephone Co., asking permission to erect eight poles on the north side of Sherbrooke street, west of Park street, and two at the end of the present lead of Park street, near Sherbrooke street, in order to supply service.—Board of Works.

From property owners on Hunter street, between Aylmer and Stewart streets, petitioning against the construction of a sewer on said streets.—Board of Works and Board of Health.

From property owners, petitioning for a granolithic walk on the east side of Stewart street, between McDonnel and Murray streets.

From the Water Commissioners, asking that a bylaw be passed, authorizing the Commissioners to use the revenue for the amount of $5,000 in making extensions and improvements as was done last year.—Finance committee with power to act.

From the Board of Health, recommending a sewer on Rubidge street, from Charlotte to Rink streets.—Board of Works.

From Edward Vinette, on behalf of the residents of Lisburn street, asking to have the roadthere put in better shape.—Board of Works.

From Rev. J. Bastow, asking that the street cleaning operations be extended to McDonnell street.—Board of Works.

From A. Comstock, asking permission to move his frame houses to King street, and to erect a brick building in their place.—Town Engineer.

From T. Q. Quartermaine, secretary Board of Trade, enclosing a resolution passed at a recent meeting with reference to the street railway.—Received.

From the Thos. Bradburn estate, asking that the license fee of the opera house, which can now only be used as a concert and lecture hall, be reduced to $25.—License committee.

From the Bruce Mines and Algoma Railway Co., enclosing a resolution to be endorsed by the Council, favoring the granting of a subsidy to this railway by the Government.—Received.

From property owners, asking that Sherbrooke street be watered between Rubidge and Reid streets.—Board of Works.

From S. F. Houston, secretary Toronto Home-Comers' Festival, suggesting that as a Toronto Old Home gathering will be held in that city from July 1st to 4th, Peterborough arrange for a meeting of its Old Boys on the 4th and 5th, so as to permit of Peterborough Old Boys taking advantage of the reduced railway rates and spend Sunday at home.—Received.

From Harry P. Dill, U. S. Consul at Port Hope, stating that the State Department at Washington, D.C., has advised him to send an invitation to the Mayor and Aldermen to attend the International Good Roads Congress at St. Louis, Mo., from April 27 to May 2, 1903.—Received.

From J. S. Carstairs, B.A., asking for financial assistance toward the erection of the Laura Secord Memorial.—Received.

From the Municipal Council of St. Marys re-petitioning for Provincial legislation providing that wheels of vehicles designed to carry loads of one ton or over shall have tires of at least five inches wide.—Received.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS.

The Committee on Electric Light and Franchise reported as follows:

Gentlemen.—Your Committee on Electric Light and Franchise beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That the Council offer the Peterborough Light and Power Company a contract, for ten years from the time of the expiration of their present contract, for supplying 120 or more 2,000-candle power arc street lights in the present Town of Peterborough, at $50 a lamp per year, the company to pay the Town $400 a year rental for the privilege of having their poles on the streets and the contract of $50 per lamp per year to include Ashburnham in case the municipalities are united or any other additions to the Town, provided that the other details of the terms of the contract are arranged to the satisfaction of the Council.

2. That the Council offer the Peterorough Radial Railway Company the street railway franchise of the streets of the Town, except Crescent street, for thirty years, the Company to build and equip at least five miles of railway in the town, including the old street railway line and extensions to the River Otonabee, on Park street and a spur line to Jackson Park, provided the other details and terms of the franchise are arranged to the satisfaction of the Council.

3. That the following be a committee in regard to legislation: The Mayor, Aldermen Morrison, O'Connell and McWilliams and the Solicitor and Clerk, with authority to attend the Legislative Committees at Toronto, and that the Treasurer be authorized to pay their expenses on the certificate of the Mayor or the Chairman of the Committee.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. A. MORRISON,
Chairman.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The Property Committee, through its chairman, Alderman Batten, reported as follows:

1. That this committee be authorized to have a shed built on lot 11, north of Murray street and west of George, which lot is owned by the town, in which to store the town's vehicles and road roller.

2. That this committee be authorized to have a two story wall built at the town offices.

3. That the Street Commissioner be authorized to purchase a wagon for use in carrying coal for the steam roller and tools.

J. BATTEN,
Chairman.

Ald Batten in submitting the above report made an earnest appeal for the erection of a new fire hall. He said it was time that Peterborough made a move in this direction.

The report was adopted without an objection of any kind.

BOARD OF WORKS.

The Board of Works reported as follows:

1. That the chairman of this Board be authorized to employ a man to run the steam roller.

2. That the following parts of the streets be dressed with broken stone: Aylmer from Brock to London; Water from Charlotte to McDonel; Hunter, from the creek to Aylmer, Simcoe street, from George to Water; and Park street from Hunter to McDonel streets.

3. That the Street Commissioner be authorized to purchase 500 yards of gravel for use from McDonel street northward at the best price he can secure it for.

4. That the Street Commissioner be authorized to purchase 200 yards of gravel for repairs to streets throughout the town if he can make a satisfactory bargain, and that he be instructed to repair Brock street between Aylmer and Bethune streets.

5. That the Town Engineer be authorized to have the granolithic sidewalk in front of Mr. Justice Dunn's raised to a proper level.

6. That Mr. R. Shearer be paid $5.75 for gravel in accordance with a certificate of the town engineer.

7. That the Street Commissioner be authorized to purchase surplus gravel from St. Paul's mission, if he can do so satisfactorily.

8. That the application of the Bell Telephone Company to move eight poles from the west to the east side of Water street between Murray street and the Boundary be granted, subject to the approval of the Town Engineer.

9. That $200 be appropriated for expenditure on Park street between the G.T.R. track and the southern boundary provided the township of North Monaghan co-operate to the satisfaction of the Town Engineer, and that the township be advised to this effect.

B. SHORTLY,
For Chairman.

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The following report of the Committee of the Whole Council was presented by Ald. Corkery:

To the Council of the Town of Peterborough:—

Gentlemen,—Your Committee of the Whole Council beg leave to report and recommend as follows:—

1. That Aldermen Rush, Best, McWilliams, Edgecumbe and Shortly be a committee to make any necessary arrangements for the visit of the Toronto "Peterborough Old Boys"

2. That a grant of $2,000 be made to West Peterborough Agricultural Society.

3. That upon Mr. T. J. Moore laying a granolithic sidewalk in continuation of the sidewalk on Belmont Avenue and in front of lot 3, plan 94 under the supervision and to the satisfaction of the Town Engineer he be paid 40 per cent. of the cost thereof at the rate of 13 cents per square foot on the certificate of the Town Engineer.

4. The Otonabee Power Company's application for permission to place more poles on the streets be granted in so far as it is approved of by the Town Engineer in his report thereon, on condition that the company file a plan showing the location of the poles and that they satisfy the Town Engineer that they have contracts that cannot be carried out without the poles.

5. That no future application for pole rights from any company be entertained until such company shall have satisfied the Town Engineer that the poles applied for are necessary to fulfill existing contracts.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN CORKERY,
Chairman.

The report was adopted.

SOME DISCUSSION.

At this stage of the proceedings a discussion of an unusual kind arose. Ald. R. F. McWilliams brought up the matter of the town's rate of taxation, which this year is 19 mills and which, of course, is one mill more than last year's rate. He was at a loss to understand why there should have been an increase of a mill and he felt that something should be done to keep the expenditures of the town within the estimates at least. To all appearances the expenditure of the town was going up by leaps and bounds. He quoted figures to show that the town's rate would next year be 20 mills unless they practiced economy in the different departments. He held that in the past one of the greatest arguments in favour of Peterborough had been our low tax rate, but there was no need of the town spending money each year whether it really needed the improvements or not, but simply because there was certain sums placed in the estimates. Ald. McWilliams pointed out that we were soon to be encountered with such propositions as the erection of a new Collegiate Institute, an isolation hospital, new civic buildings, which he termed as capital expenditures. We must economize to meet these expenditures. Again there was five thousand dollars extra revenue this year that they could not reckon on next year. This was a surplus from the year before and a revenue from the Water Works.

Ald. Rush, as chairman of the Finance committee, replied that every member of the Council was sorry to see the rate raised, but the estimates had been carefully gone into by the Finance committee, who decided to submit the matter to a Committee of the Whole Council. Ald. McWilliams was notified, as was every member of the Council, but he failed to attend the meeting. That Committee of the Whole was unanimous in recognizing the necessity for fixing the rate at 19 mills. Subsequently the by-law was read three times in Council, and that was the time for Ald. McWilliams to object. Ald. Rush also explained that he had personally consulted several large property owners on the question, and they had expressed their ready acquiescense in the increase. Mr. Wm. Bradburn, who pays $2,400 a year in taxes, or nearly 140th of the whole taxes of the town, agreed that it was perfectly in order to raise the rate to 19 mills.

The Mayor did not think it fair for Ald. McWilliams to make a comparison with Toronto, as the only matters we dispose of by frontage tax are sewers and sidewalks, which are provided for in the city by a general tax. This is a growing town, and our expenditures naturally increase; the demands for school purposes, by the Town Trust Commissioners, wages, and salaries of Town Officials are increasing year by year. He ventured to say that Peterborough compares favorably with any municipality in the country. He also asserted that the Board of Works had more money for expenditure in past years with a 17 mill rule than they have this year with our 19 mills rate.

Ald. Morrison said he believed the people are satisfied to have the rate at 19 mills, providing the money is well spent. Ald. McWilliams appears to assume that each committee is going to spend the whole of its appropriation. This need not necessarily be the case. The Committee on Franchises will probably only spend $200 of the $800 appropriated for its use; this will mean a saving of $600 and other Committees may find themselves in a similar condition. We have an extraordinary expenditure to make this year on wooden sidewalks which have been sadly neglected. These walks will be put in good shape and will then need very little attention for some time. Then the outlying streets are in a dilipidated condition and must be looked after this season. Then the Board of Works have an heavy expenditure to make for the construction of storm-age drains on Hunter street to protect our sewer system. Taking all in all, he thought the ratepayers are well content to pay 19 mills providing they get value for their money. Continuing, he remarked that an old resident had characterized Peterborough's streets as better than those of any town he had ever been in. Then Peterborough compares exceedingly favorably with other towns in the matter of its assessment; the rate for Lindsay is 28 mills; Port Hope 25 mills; Belleville 25 or 28 mills; Collingwood 23 to 25 mills; and all assessors are sworn under the same oath to assess property at its full value. He understood that some property in Port Hope is assessed above its value. "I am prepared, to stand by our rate, and I can't see why Ald. McWilliams should bring this matter up at this time, when he does not know where we will stand at the end of the year."

Ald. Shortly was appointed to act as Chairman of Board of Works in the absence of Ald. Best.

Four by-laws to provide for borrowing money to pay for sewers on Rubidge, Harvey, Water, Smith, Walton and Dalhousie streets, and Babb's lane and Homewood avenue passed their several readings.

The council then adjourned.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets.

THERE is no remedy equal to these Tablets for removing all poisons and impurities from the blood, and giving health, strength and vitality.

They cure blood humors, skin eruptions, headache, backache, sideache, dragging pain in the loins, feeling of weariness and depression, torpid liver and all dangerous and distressing kidney troubles.

They are small, chocolate coated and easily taken.

Mrs. L. J. Shaver, Chalmers Street, Galt, Ont., says: "I think I have always had backache more or less ever since I was a child, until I used Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets. They have cured me, not only of that constant pain in the small of my back, but of that depressing weariness that the slightest exertion seemed to produce. I sleep well nights, the languor has disappeared, and I am not easily fatigued as formerly. These Tablets have given me the greatest relief, I have not had headache or backache since I used them. I feel buoyant and vigorous, and consider these tablets a truly valuable remedy."

The price of the Tablets is 50c. a bottle, at druggists or by mail. The Dr. Hess Pitcher Co., Toronto.

SPRING, THE MAGICIAN.

Now she waves her wand. The crocus
Rises—charming hocus pocus!
And the robin's tuneful fancy
Flows—delicious necromancy!
Wonder follows wonder fleetly,
Each enthralling us completely,
All in ravishing connection—
Sights and sounds of resurrection.
Look! Earth bursts her tomb asunder,
Clad in green—the crowning wonder!
No magician oriental
Should be mentioned with this gentle
Goddess. Deeds she not in frightful
Marvels; hers are all delightful,
And she works them for us gratis.
Bow your thanks before too late 'tis,
For she soon must say "good-by" to Us, and other lands must bie to.
But (where is thy sting, December?)
She will come again. Remember!

NOW IS THE TIME

To Replace Unhealthy Blood by a Fresher and More Highly Vitalized Fluid.

Paine's Celery Compound

Is the Only Medicine That can Purify the Life Stream and Repair Shattered Strength.

The sleeplessness, nervous prostration, general debility, weakness, functional irregularities and despondency from which thousands of women, young and old, suffer, can be quickly removed by properly feeding the nerves and replacing the unhealthy blood by a fresher and more highly vitalized fluid. The happy change from ill-health and misery to true womanhood and happiness, can only be effected by the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

The present spring demand for Paine's Celery Compound, woman's friend and life giver, is enormous in every province of the Dominion. This fact alone amply proves that the great compound possesses virtues and powers unknown to other remedies. Dear wife and mother, do not procrastinate; listen to-day to the voice of reason and the pleadings and testimony of the thousands of your sex who have been made well and strong. Mrs. S. J. McKinlay, Chelmsford, Ont. says:

"I wish to let you know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I was afflicted with nervousness, sleeplessness, debility and general weakness for five years and during that time I was doctored and spent a great deal of money for medicines without any good results. A friend advised me to use your Compound, and I am happy to state that it has completely cured me. I now eat well, sleep well, and am as strong as ever before. I am sure I would have died had not Paine's Celery Compound come to my aid. I wish every woman to know about your wonderful medicine."

Pope's Line Exemplified.

"A little knowledge is a dangerous thing," to use the popular misquotation of Pope's line, and so Stewart Arthur Williams has found it. Mr. Williams is an ingenious gentleman of fifty-six, who actually hit upon a new, and for a time successful, form of fraud. He was an attentive reader of that useful but somewhat dry publication, The London Gazette, and particularly of the advertisements emanating from executors for the creditors of the estates of deceased persons. Williams, when he saw a likely advertisement of the sort, would send in an account either for dentistry or for wine supplied. He would make the bogus account seemingly due to some well-known firm, to be paid to himself as accountant either at an address in Finsbury pavement or at Hounslow. Generally he got the sums he applied for, but at last he was tripped through having that dangerous thing only "a little knowledge." He knew a certain lady was dead and that she died wealthy, and this knowledge inspired him to send in a bill for tooth-stopping. What he did not know the lady's executors did, namely, that she had not had a tooth in her head for years. So his application led to inquiries, and these to his appearance at Middlesex Sessions the other day, where he received eighteen months' hard labor.

He Didn't Need to Be Told.

Sir Robert Ball, the English astronomer, recently was showing a visitor a double star through a telescope, and since his friend was not an expert, Sir Robert thought to improve the occasion by a word or two of information. "One of those stars goes round the other," was his remark.

"Yes I saw it," said the visitor. As a matter of fact, the star in question takes a little over 900 years to revolve around its fellow.

MESSAGE ON AN EGG.

Led to Marriage of Englishman With a Widow of Manitoba.

In regard to the story which has been going the rounds of the papers lately, as to a Liverpool man finding a message written upon an egg by the packer, a widow in Manitoba, whom he ultimately married, many true incidents of the same kind could be related, says The London Daily Chronicle. In 1889, a message was found in a barrel of apples that had come from New Zealand. In this message the packer of the fruit, a young woman, stated that her ancestors, whose names were given, came from Kent, and she asked the finder to ascertain if any of her name and family still remained in the county. As stated in the papers of the time, the finder was able to give her full particulars as to surviving relatives. But Mr. Tew of Leeds, a member of a Yorkshire banking family, had at one time a collection of these "messages in merchandise," some of them being very tragical and being a survival of the days when peaceful traders were caught by Algerian pirates and sold into captivity and slavery. One such message had been written in blood on a coarse canvas bag that had contained gum-arabic; another appeared as a sort of tatooed stain on a large cork that had fastened up a vessel containing attar-of-roses.

In England these messages are most common in the hat trade, the girls working at the huge factories near Manchester being fond of putting bits of paper in between the lining and the substance of felt hats. A few years back there was a sensational wedding, reported in the newspapers, at Guide Bridge, near Manchester, between the finder of one such message, a young Dalston cabinet-maker, and one of the mill-workers, who had put a tiny "gem" portrait of herself and her name and address inside the lining of a bowler. The girls who work in Cuban cigar factories are fond of sending these messages in merchandise out to the world, and the present writer saw one of these lately that had been found by a gentleman who got the cigar at the Carlton Club. A small needle had been placed in the cigar, and to this was attached, by a tiny thread, a thin strip of paper, on which was a message, in very good Spanish, addressed to the finder, and stating that the writer was young and beautiful, though poor.

APSLEY HOUSE.

Sale of Former Residence of the Duke of Wellington.

The London Express says:— Apsley House is to be sold if no great objections are raised in certain quarters. The news will come as a shock to the many people who still believe that the famous house at Hyde Park Corner was presented to the great Duke of Wellington by the nation. As a matter of fact, the Iron Duke purchased Apsley House in 1820, when it was the residence of his elder brother, Marquis Wellesley. Originally a plain brick mansion, Apsley House was built about 1785-6 by the Adams for Henry Bathurst, Baron Apsley, Earl Bathurst and Lord Chancellor, who died in 1794. In 1828 the house was cased with Bath stone, and a gallery, a suite of rooms, and the present portico were added, at a cost, it was then stated, of £130,000. The house contains a wonderful picture gallery, where a Waterloo banquet was held annually until 1852, and which still contains precious works of art; a wonderful china room full of fine bronzes and interesting relics, of the great Duke, and a small, ill-lighted room, in which the famous general slept on a narrow bedstead. The late Duke of Wellington was very anxious to sell Apsley House some years ago, but he met with opposition from an exalted quarter on the grounds that such a sale would be an indignity to a great name. As the present Duke represents the fourth generation, and no longer receives an annual grant, it is believed that no opposition will be made to the sale, so that before very long a "prince of finance" may be ensconced at the house which a foreigner once aptly described as "No. 1, London."

J. FLETCHER'S GLAD NEWS.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured his Lumbago and he is a Sound Man.

Granton Man Shouts the Good News that There is a Cure for Kidney Disease and that Cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Granton, Ont., May 3.—(Special.)—There is no uncertain sound about the statement of John Fletcher of this place. "I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me of Lumbago and now I am perfectly sound," that is the way he puts it. Questioned as to the particulars of his cure Mr. Fletcher said: "I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney Troubles. My urine was of very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me. "I consulted doctors but they could not help me and I was not a very cheerful frame of mind when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. "But it was a lucky day for me when I did. Almost from the first they gave me relief and I was soon entirely cured. "Yes, my Lumbago is gone; my Kidney Complaint is gone and Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all."

Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure Kidney Complaint, whether that complaint takes the form of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back, etc.

Pen Picture of a Beautiful Horse.

A pen picture of a beautiful horse is to be found in one of Sewell Ford's stories in "Horses Nine." Here it is: In the stalls at Gray Oaks stables were many good hunters, but none better than Pasha. Cream white he was, from the tip of his splendid yard long tail to his pink lipped muzzle. His coat was as silk plush, his neck as supple as a swan's, and out of his big, bright eyes there looked such intelligence that one half expected him to speak. His lines were all long, graceful curves, and when he danced daintily on his slender legs one could see the muscles flex under the delicate skin.

Keep your Stomach Healthy.

When you get up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth that the tooth brush will not remove, a coating on your tongue, and a general "out of sorts" feeling, don't blame it on what you had to eat the night before. A healthy stomach would be able to look after that. It's poor digestion that makes you feel so badly. A teaspoonful of Abbey's Effervescent Salt in half a tumbler of water at rising will make you feel better—will cure you if you follow directions. Abbey's revitilizes every organ of the body—it clears away fermenting matter and refreshes and cleanses the stomach. It prevents the suffering that often follows a pleasant evening.

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

SMART TRIMMINGS.

Laces Dyed to Match Gowns—The Useful Black Lace Coffee Coat.

The greatest innovation in the way of trimming is the fashion of dyeing lace to match or contrast the material. Thus motifs of pale green lace are inserted or applied on brown cloth or pale blue on a deeper blue. It is decidedly original in effect, but the lace loses much of its daintiness and softness in the dyeing process.

The black lace coffee coat is unfailingly useful for home evening wear. It can be worn over colored blouses which are a little shabby, and if the collar band of the blouse is removed and a small V turned down in front quite a pretty demitollet effect may be produced.

Fashion ordains that the well dressed woman should match her hats to her gowns, and this is comparatively easy in these days of ready made frames artistically covered and of trimmings all ready to slip on the hats.

The cap or pelerine effect is here to stay for some time. All the fashionable coats are made with it and quite a few of the bodices. For instance, a blouse of lace will be ornamented with a large cape effect of lace and applied silk, with touches of the same silk on the cuffs.

One of the most fashionable sleeve models is the three-quarter bell sleeve curved wide over a puffed sleevelet. This is a charming vogue for the lighter wool stuffs, and it works out prettily in voile. The whole affair is made on one foundation.

The cut shows a gown of black crepe de chine with the collar, epaulets and cuffs of ivory guipure.

DOES GOLD GROW?

Seems to, In Its Wild State, but Not After It Has Become Civilized.

Some reasons for answering this question in the affirmative are given by "Popular Mechanics," which warns the reader, however, that he must not expect to grow gold eagles from dollars. Says the writer:

"It has been found that gold nuggets under favorable conditions actually increase in size. Gold is known to have grown on mine timbers which have long been immersed in mine water. In the California State Mining Bureau museum there is a specimen of a piece of jointed cap and post taken from the Comstock, where it had been under water for years, in which gold has formed in the joints and pores of the wood. Gold is constantly being formed in rocks and veins and placers. Just what it is that the baby gold formation feeds on to effect its growth is not known. If it were, a new and wonderfully lucrative industry might be born, and all other kinds of farming save the growing of gold might temporarily be abandoned. The formation and growth are due to mechanical and chemical action. As in the case of the animal or vegetable the gold has existed in some other state before assuming its present form. Waters which percolate through the earth's crust are said to contain substances from which gold is formed. Thus gold, like the animal and vegetable, must have water in order to thrive. The gold in the water is deposited when it meets the proper precipitant. The precipitant may be an earth current of electricity, some vegetable growth or chemical in the rocks. It has been claimed that the nuggets found in placers are the formations from the waters that percolate through the gravels, and are not from decomposed quarts, as generally supposed. Those who so contend cite the fact that in the center of nuggets can be often found a small grain of iron sand. This was the nucleus around which the earth current of electricity created or deposited in electroplating. During long ages this influence was at work causing the gold to form around the little grain of iron ore and then grow to become a bright, shining nugget of gold much larger and purer than any ever found in the veins of ore."

Many Doctors Have Many Minds.

But No Doctor Can Deny the Extraordinary Restorative Powers of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great food cure is composed of a number of the most potent blood builders and nerve restoratives that is known to medical science.

It is thoroughly scientific and prepared in such proportions as Dr. Chase found most effective after years of testing in his own extensive practice.

While doctors naturally prefer that you go to them for treatment, there is yet to be discovered a single case where a doctor when asked his opinion of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has not spoken of it in the highest terms of praise.

The evidence which is most satisfactory, however, is that of the persons who have been cured of such serious ailments as paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous prostration, nervous exhaustion and all the accompanying ailments by the use of this preparation.

When you find yourself losing energy and vigour, becoming easily tired, subject to headache, neuralgia, indigestion, faintness and dizziness, despondent, discouraged and unable to sleep or rest, it is time to be warned of approaching nervous collapse. These are unmistakable indications that your nervous system is being undermined, and that you must seek such assistance as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food alone can give.

By noting your increase in weight while using this great system-builder you can prove that new, firm flesh and tissue is being added to your body. Fifty cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 4

SUFFERED FOR THREE YEARS.

HEADACHES AND RUSHING OF BLOOD TO THE HEAD.

APPETITE WAS GONE.

TRIED MANY DIFFERENT REMEDIES BUT

CURED

MRS. WALTER MARTHORNE, BROOKLYN, N.S.

She says: "I suffered for three years with terrible headaches and rushing of blood to my head. I lost my appetite and became very thin and weak. I tried many different remedies and consulted doctors, but all in vain until I started to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I had not taken more than two bottles when I began to feel better, my appetite improved wonderfully and I increased rapidly in weight. I took altogether four bottles and am new as well as can be, for which I owe my thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I can recommend it to all those suffering as I did."

The real reason for the instant success of Gold Seal Lager is the fact that it is different to others—and the points of difference are all good points.

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

She shrunk from him with something of distress in her face. She must not listen to such words now, but, if he had said them weeks ago, how different life would have been! He caught the glance, and said quickly:

"Nay, do not hurry! I will not say one word to distress you. We shall never, in all probability, stand here together again. Do not take from me the only gleam of happiness that can ever reach me."

A great fear came over her as to what he meant, as to what he was going to do. He had said before that they would never be there together again. Fear overcame prudence; she turned and looked him straight in the face.

"What do you mean, Sir Karl? We shall be neighbors. Why do you say that we shall never meet here again?"

"Perhaps it will be better for me to tell you," he replied. "Will you let me explain?"

She bowed her head in silent assent.

"The reason why I say we shall probably not meet again, is that I am going away from Scarsdale, and the time of my return is uncertain; it may be never."

The sweet face of the girl by his side grew paler, and her lips trembled; but she spoke no word.

"I could not remain here," he went on, with a tremor in his voice, "and hear all that I should have to hear. Let me tell you why I am going, will you? I will not say a word to displease you, but the confession will ease my heart. I await your consent."

She gave it in the same fashion as before, with a bend of her graceful head.

"You will always remember, Dolores—you will let me call you Dolores this once?—that, in telling you, I ask for no response, for no opinion, that I sought to win from you not even one thought that belongs to another. You will acquit me of any intention of the kind, I am sure, I am going away because I — I find that I love you! I do not tell you this with the faintest hope of any return, with the least wish to win from you a word or thought you should not give me. You believe that, do you not?"

"Yes," she said faintly.

"Then let me tell you once more, that I love you. I did not know that I was learning to love you with the best and dearest love of my heart until I heard that you were going to marry Lord Rhysworth. The sudden shock startled me into discovering the truth. I found then that I loved you so well that to lose you would darken all my life, and make it almost worthless to me. You were going to speak," he added, for she had looked up to him with parted lips and eyes, which asked a question.

"Yes. I am wondering if this be true, why you chose the red rose in preference to the white one on that night at Beaulieu? It seemed to me as though you made a deliberate choice between Lola and myself."

The circumstance, all important to her, had been of so little moment to him that he had almost forgotten it; but now, as she referred to it, he looked at her horror-stricken.

"Do you mean to tell me, Dolores, he said, "that anything in my manner gave you the impression that I liked Lola better than you?"

"I assure you it was so," she answered. "Lola thought the same thing, I know. I have never doubted it until now."

"And now you know it is quite untrue. So far as I remember the circumstances, you had done something that piqued me, and I merely took what I thought a little playful revenge. I never dreamed that you would magnify it into anything half so serious. But it is too late to undo the evil now."

"Yes," she replied, "far too late."

"I am not the first man," he continued sadly, "who has lost all chance of happiness from a little caprice, or from not knowning his own mind. If I had not been so heedless all would have been different. I must be grateful, however, that I alone suffer, and that you are spared."

He looked keenly into her face as she spoke; but no emotion was there; it was grave and still.

"I have found out my mistake now," he resumed, "but it is too late to remedy it, and I must pay the penalty. I am glad that I have had the chance of telling you this. Do you think I am doing right in going away?"

"Quite right," she replied, firmly. "I think it is the only thing to do."

"The one gleam of brightness about it will be your approval," he said. "Thank you for listening to me, and thank you for coming here to-day; it will be a sweet memory to me always, that of seeing you in my home."

She looked up at him with a curious expression on her face.

"Promise me one thing," she said—"that you will keep away from the Black Pool."

"I will," he answered. "You do not like the place, and we will forget it altogether. And you, Dolores, you who, without loving me, are my only love, you are not displeased that I have told you my story? I hope you will be happy in your future life; there is no one who could desire your happiness more than I do."

"I am sure of that and I am grateful to you," she said, gently.

"You have no word of comfort to say to me, Dolores?" he asked.

"Yes, I have. I think you a noble man; I appreciate from my very heart the compliment you have paid me, and I wish you well."

Her voice faltered, and she turned her pale, sweet face from him; something in her manner struck him.

"Great Heavens, Dolores!" he cried in a voice hoarse with emotion, "I believe you care for me!"

When she looked at him the pallor of death was on her face.

"Hush, Sir Karl; you must remember honor always! Never mind what I think or feel. I am Lord Rhysworth's promised wife: you are bidding me fare — let no word pass between us that either will regret."

But he could not regain his composure.

"I believe you care for me," he persisted. "If I were sure that such was the case, I would—"

He stopped abruptly, for her hand was laid upon his arm.

"You will not forget," she said, "that in a few weeks I shall be Lord Rhysworth's wife? I—I am willing to say farewell to you kindly; but you must not speak to me in that way."

He was silent. She went on:

"If I have a secret, Sir Karl, you must try not to force it from me; you must respect it."

"I will," he said, bravely. He knew that she loved him; but it mattered little, since the knowledge came too late. His eyes lingered on her face. It had never appeared so beautiful to him; the secret she had locked in her heart was all told there; the look was on her face that only one man ever brings to the face of a woman, and that is the man she loves. She might try to hide it, but he could read her secret.

"I think," she said gently, "that I must go back. My father will wonder at my long absence."

"Dolores," said he—"forgive me if I still use the name—you will never again be Dolores to me—this is our farewell. True. I shall drive you home, and perhaps spend an hour with you there; but, standing face to face, soul open to soul, as will never happen again, this is our farewell. Will you kiss me once before we part?"

She drew back from him with shy, sweet grace, remembering her words when Lord Rhysworth had kissed her, "I will never give even one thought to any other man."

"Do not be angry with me," she said—"I cannot. My word is plighted, my kisses are no longer mine to give."

He bowed, respecting the decision of her pure heart.

"Any man may safely place his honor in her hands," he thought.

Then she held out her hand to him.

"Good-by, Sir Karl," There was tears in her eyes and in her voice.

"Must it be good-bye?" he asked a feeling of despair stealing over him. "Must it be farewell?"

"Yes, while we are both strong and have nothing to regret," she answered. He took her hand in his and held it.

"I pray," he said solemnly, "that I may meet you in a happy hereafter."

Then he kissed her hand, and they went back to the house together without speaking another word.

In silence he drove her home, and in silence he left her again. Both their hearts were too full for words. The present was full of misery, and the future all dark.

CHAPTER IX.

It was the evening before his journey, and Sir Karl sat alone in his library. He could not go to Beaulieu. He could not forget his irritation and annoyance at what Dolores had told him of the manner in which his choice of the red rose had been taken; it was an incident so trivial that he had not thought it worth remembering. That the happiness or misery of two lives, his own and Dolores', should have depended upon such a trifle was almost incredible to him. While occupied with his sad thoughts he heard the sound of wheels. It was quite late in the afternoon, and he marveled much who could be calling at that hour. He was still more surprised when the servant came in to say that Miss de Ferras would be glad to see him for a few minutes; she had been shown into the morning-room.

"You have forgotten these books, Sir Karl," said Lola, as the baronet entered the room. "Mamma thought, as I was driving past, that I might leave them here—she meant at the lodge; but I thought that I might take the opportunity of saying good-bye."

She spoke in a careless tone; but as he took the books from her hand, he saw that the usual brilliant bloom had left her face, and that it was very pale; there was even a quiver of pain on it.

"I have something to say to you," she went on presently, then paused, and added impetuously, "You are not angry? If I had thought you would be angry, I would not have come."

"Why should I be?" He was touched by her emotion. "You would not seek me, I am sure, unless you have something very particular to say."

But she seemed to be in no hurry to speak. Her lips parted once or twice, but the words died on them. He looked at her in wonder. Why should she ask to speak to him, and then stand silent, as though she had nothing to say? At last, in a low voice, she resumed—

"You said, when you were at Beaulieu, that you would come over to say good-bye to us, that you would see me again before you started on your journey. Yesterday you wrote to mamma, saying that you would not have time to call. Why did you change your mind? What was the reason? Why are you leaving without coming near us?"

"I had a reason," he answered, his face flushing; "besides which, I wrote the simple truth. I had no time. I am leaving England sooner than I intended."

"What was the reason?" she asked.

"I cannot explain," he said proudly.

"Do you think any reason would justify your going away without saying farewell to old and true friends?"

"My farewell was none the less genuine for being written instead of spoken, Miss de Ferras."

She came nearer to him, and with a passionate cry of pain held out her hands.

"Do you judge me by yourself?" she exclaimed. "Do you think that a few coldly written words of farewell would suffice for me, even if they did for you? They did not; therefore I am here."

He had not one word to say. The beautiful, passionate face and ringing voice bewildered him. He was not prepared for a scene of this kind.

She laid her hand upon his arm, as though she would compel his attention.

"Do you think so little and so lightly of our friendship that you could go without having seen me again? I could not let you go so; I could not even bear the thought that you should leave England without my having seen you again. How could you do it? Oh, Sir Karl, how could you do it?"

The dark eyes were drowned with tears. Although he did not love her, and never would, he could not help being touched by her sorrow. What man could resist a beautiful face shadowed with grief, and lovely eyes dimmed with tears for his sake? Sir Karl was but human; he took the white hand from his arm and held it in his.

"I am afraid," she said, smiling through her tears, "that, even if I had not the books for a pretext, I should have come just the same. Do you think it is very wrong of me to have come?"

Sir Karl looked uncomfortable.

"What am I to answer?" he said, with a forced smile. "I cannot say that it is right, and it seems unkind to say that it is wrong."

"Promise me this, at least, that you will forget what you may think of the imprudence, and remember only the—interest in yourself which prompted me to come. Will you promise me that?"

"Yes," he replied. "I may safely promise that. I am sure you meant it kindly."

He seemed to treat the whole matter as a friendly interview, and this did not please Lola.

"Kindly!" she repeated, bitterly. "What a word to use to me! I am not kind to you. In coming to say good-bye to you, I have been kind to myself."

She drew a little nearer to him, her warm, white hand lying still in his.

"How could you, Sir Karl, be so cruel as to write that note? Tell me honestly, can you no idea of the trouble and sorrow it would give me?"

"I know you are always very good to me," he replied; "but I could not possibly think that the going or coming of a mere acquaintance like myself would be of any moment to you."

He said this purposely; to show her this was no love scene in which she had forced him, as it were, to take a part. She withdrew her hand suddenly from his clasp, and stood before him erect and haughty.

"Do you mean that you look upon yourself as nothing but a mere acquaintance—nothing nearer or dearer? Is that the end of all our happy hours together—a mere acquaintance—while I have been so proud and happy in thinking you my friend?"

He was again somewhat embarrassed. The passion in her face and voice startled him. What was he to do? He looked gravely at her.

"The word 'friend' is a sacred one," he said; "it implies a great deal—affection, fidelity, forbearance, and loyalty."

"And will you not give those to me?" she asked.

There was silence for some moments. He found that, so far from having extricated himself from a false position, he had increased his difficulties.

The Dog Knows

That there is something wrong with his master. They have no more romps and rambles. He tries in vain to coax the listless youth from his chair.

When the lungs are diseased, physical weakness soon begins to show itself and the active outdoor life is given up. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the lungs and other organs of respiration. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bleeding lungs, emaciation and other conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated may find a fatal termination in consumption.

"After using about five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery my boy seems to be all right," writes Mr. J. W. Price, of Ozark, Monroe Co., Ohio. "He was very bad when I commenced to give him the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' The doctors claimed he had consumption and we doctored with them until he was past walking. It has been ten months since he stopped taking your medicine and he is in good health. We are very thankful to you for saving our son."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood, and lungs. Substitution means a little more profit for the dealer but a loss for you.

GAMEY'S STORY DISCREDITED.

ter regarding Thos. Fisher. This is re the appointment of a Justice of the Peace at Spanish River? A. — I don't know anything about it; he might have been appointed.

Q.—Then the next letter of January 13 is about the appointment of Mr. Flatt as issuer of marriage licenses? A.—Yes.

Q.—No personal correspondence? A.—No; he wrote me about that. But there were already two issuers of marriage licenses at Gore Bay, and I didn't see there was any necessity for a third man, and I did not make the appointment.

Q.—We have a letter put in here. No doubt you have heard of it or seen it; signed "E. Y. Z." written by Frank Sullivan. Do you know anything about it? A.—Nothing whatever.

Q.—Did you ever hear of it? A.—Not until after the affair in the House.

Q.—Do you know anything about instructions given by Mr. Gamey about a meeting of the 16th? A.—No.

Q.—Had you anything to do, directly or indirectly, about the Frank Sullivan letter to Mr. Gamey? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know they were being written? A.—No; he never conferred with me in regard to them.

Q.—Did Gamey ever tell you that he had received letters from Frank Sullivan? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Then you heard Mr. Gamey's statement in the House? A.—I did.

—Q.—Shortly afterward you sent your resignation to the Premier, which was not accepted? A.—I did. I sent it to the Premier on Friday.

Q.—This affair in the House took place on Wednesday? A. — On Wednesday.

Q.—In your relations with Mr. Gamey from the time you first met him down to the present time, has there been in any way, quite apart from the dates which we have been discussing, has there been any monetary or other consideration passing between you and him? A.—Nothing whatever.

Q.—Has there been anything so far as you are concerned of any corrupt nature—you know what I mean—between you and Mr. Gamey, with reference to protest, patronage, money, or anything else? A.—No.

Q.—Now in the statement in the House Mr. Gamey says Sullivan said you were afraid of him? A.—No, I was never afraid of him? I never expected he would support the Government. He came in to see me for patronage. I never had any agreement at any time with Mr. Gamey.

Q.—Did you ask him where the letter was and why he had altered it? A.—I did not know it had been altered.

Q.—Did Dr. Chamberlain leave the room before Mr. Gamey? A.—No; he remained, and we discussed the coal problem for some of the public institutions.

Q.—Did you give him particulars of a coalition deal? A.—I gave him no particulars.

CROSS-EXAMINED AGAIN.

This concluded Mr. Johnston's examination, and Mr. Blake began his cross-examination with quick firing.

Q.—You said you were not depending on Mr. Gamey for support for the Government? A.—I was not.

Q.—Was it because of the difference in his statements to you and to the Conservative caucus? A.—Partly so.

Q.—Nothing could be more different? A.—They were entirely different, as reported.

Q.—You say there were some other elements in your mind why you were not depending on him? A.—Yes.

Q.—What were they? A.—I had understood that Mr. Gamey was somewhat doubtful in his actions.

Q.—His actions, politically or otherwise? A.—Otherwise.

Q.—What do you mean? A.—I mean I had on various occasions been told not to rely on his statements.

Q.—Other than political? A.—Yes.

Q.—You know there are men whose statements in other affairs you can rely on, but not in political matters? A.—I have heard it said.

Q.—Perhaps you have experienced it. You are not a child? A.—I do not know that I have.

Q.—You were warned not to rely upon him, to what extent? A.—To some extent.

Mr. Blake repeated his question. Mr. Stratton repeated his answer.

Q.—That is not an answer. A.—As good an answer as your question.

Q.—Well, I want a better answer than my question. A.—I had been told he would be doubtful politically.

Q.—But you said otherwise? A.—Well both.

Q.—How long before the meeting in September did you know this? A.—Perhaps some months.

Q.—Drop the perhaps. A.—Well, two months.

Q.—You say on oath that within two months before you had been told this? A.—Yes.

Q.—Therefore, you knew when you saw him you were dealing with an utterly unreliable man? A.—I have found him so since.

Q.—You knew then? A.—You can't frighten me.

Q.—No, no, but you knew it then? A.—I would not put it so strong.

Q.—He was not to be trusted? A.—I was told to be careful of him.

Q.—He told you he was going to support the Government? A.—Yes.

Q.—And next day, at a Conservative caucus denounced the Government? A.—So I believe.

Q.—You never let him into your office again? A.—We do not prevent any person from coming in there.

Q.—You do not employ anyone to kick such people out? A.—No. It is a public office.

Q.—It is a public office, no matter what is done in it. Now, you said the protests had been left in your hands? A.—Yes.

Q.—On whose authority? A. — The Premier's (making the first e long.)

Q.—You prefer Premier (long e) to Premier (short e)? A.—Well, Premier (short e), if you like.

Mr. Riddell—Another case of Gamey or Gam-my.

Mr. Blake—Is the Premier supreme in these matters? A.—Before leaving the Province the Premier asked Mr. Harcourt to act for him, and he requested me to give attention to the protests.

Q.—This was known generally to the other Ministers? A.—I suppose so.

Q.—You held two or three meetings, in which you arranged to drop a number of the petitions? A.—Yes.

Q.—How many? A.—I cannot say distinctly. I would think about 30 on each side.

Q.—Mr. Gamey was not in those? A.—No.

Q.—There was a petition against him and agents were sent into the riding? A.—Not at that time.

Q.—But there was at some time? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you know Mr. Stanton? A.—No.

Q.—Didn't you pay him some money in North Grey personally? A.—No.

Q.—Or cause to be paid him? A.—No.

Q.—Or know it was paid him? A.—No, or nothing of the kind. You are absolutely misinformed.

Q.—You stated that you were not treating this as a crisis? A.—No.

Q.—Would you treat anything as a crisis unless you were absolutely defeated? A.—From what we know, we had no reason to believe that the Province was opposed to the Government.

Q.—You were not treating it as a crisis—let us get at that? A.—If we had, the Attorney-General would have gone away.

Q.—He was running away from the trouble? A.—He did not run away.

Q.—Well, he was speedy in getting out of the way? A.—He is speedy when he gets after things, but he was not running away.

Q.—From July 8 to October 23, the Government majority was only one? A.—From the date of the Lennox decision with one seat vacant.

Q.—And that might have reduced the majority to zero? A.—It was not likely to.

Q.—Was might have known if you had issued the writ? A.—You know the difficulty.

Q.—I don't know any except the crisis. And the writ is not yet issued? A.—. Not yet.

Q.—Do you know the difficulty now? A.—Perhaps this (referring to the commission).

Q.—At all events, with your majority of one, when you chose your Speaker the two parties would be equal? A.—There were the by-elections.

Q.—As it stood then, that was the result? A.—The Legislature did not meet that day. Perhaps the courts might find how seats had been won from the Liberals.

Q.—South Oxford? A.—No, I was thinking of North Perth.

Q.—Not a serious crisis? A.—No.

THE COALITION STORY.

Q.—It was so serious that you considered the subject of coalition? A.—No.

Q. — I understood coalition was brought up as a solution? A.—There was some talk in the press, and among the people.

Q.—Let us get near home? There was no private talk of Ministers? Was it discussed? A.—On the streets.

Q.—Perhaps it came from the Ministers to the streets. Passing over some matters, to which I will return later, were you surprised when Mr. Frank Sullivan said, "That fellow is not going to support the Government"? A.—Not in the least. I never expected he would.

Q.—Not surprised that Frank Sullivan a clerk, should speak to a Minister? A.—No.

Q.—A clerk to a Minister? A.—I know Sullivan and Gamey were together early in September.

Q.—Not surprised that a clerk should speak in such a way to a Minister? A.—How?

Q.—By being surprised, of course? A.—I wasn't surprised, because of Gamey's actions.

Q.—Not by the means? A.—I had no reason to be.

Q.—Whether you had or had not, you weren't surprised? A.—I wasn't surprised, Gamey having said he would in Sullivan's hearing.

Q.—You weren't surprised that Frank Sullivan, a clerk, should speak to a Minister? A.—I was not surprised; neither was I alarmed.

Q.—Very likely; you have said much that has surprised me, but it has not alarmed me.

Q.—As to the officers in your department? A.—There are Mr. Lumsden, Mr. Christie, Mr. Noxon, Dr. Chamberlain, and Dr. Bryce.

Q.—Without all that inspection, we ought to be pleased? A.—You approved of it for a good many years, Mr. Blake.

Q.—But it has increased. There's Dr. Bryce, for instance? A.—He has been there for fifteen years.

Q.—Has each department a stenographer? A.—In some cases, there's a combination. One stenographer does work for Mr. Noxon and Dr. Chamberlain.

Q.—How many stenographers are there? A.—Five or six, perhaps, outside my office.

Q.—Clerks that can copy? A.—I can't tell you from memory.

Q.—From twelve to twenty in all? A.—Fifty to seventy-five in the entire department.

Q.—All under your jurisdiction? A.—Yes.

Q.—Plenty of material to do your work? A.—Not always.

Q.—When? Sometimes, it is not convenient to obtain a stenographer from another department? A.—I have had Mr. Lumsden come to me for special assistance.

Q.—I know it; estimates show it. What assistance did you have? A.—Miss Dent and Mr. Aikens.

Q.—When and where? A.—I can't give you that.

Q.—Have you ever asked Ford to do light work, and if so, when? A.—Not often light work to be done.

Q.—Any other light work? A.—I have no other.

Q.—Date of any work Ford did? A.—During July and August. Mr. Ford was in my office nearly every day during the Attorney-General's absence; pertaining to that department.

Q.—Other Ministers back in September? A.—Yes.

Q.—When did the Premier leave for England? A.—Two weeks after the elections I think, and returned the last week in August.

Q.—Attorney-General? A.—About the same time.

NEVER LET UP THE FIGHT.

Q.—When was it determined to fight? A.—We never let up with the good fight.

Q.—When did you decide to have a fight and blow away coalition? A.—You refer to the Premier's speech; you had better ask him.

Q.—His first public address? A.—Yes.

Q.—When? A.—At Newmarket, I guess.

Q.—Was it ten days after he returned? A.—Later.

Q.—Was it before or after the interview in September? A.—To the best of my belief it was later. Perhaps you can help me.

I can't pump it into you and then get it out of you later.

Mr. Blake suggested that the witness look up the date.

Q.—There are letters relating to your own business and letters marked private and confidential that would not find their way to the departmental files? A.—Some letters coming to me I might find it necessary to keep in my desk for a time, but as a rule all letters coming to my department are placed on file.

Q.—Where do you draw the line between letters sent to you in your department and those that find their way to the files? A.—All departmental letters are placed on file.

Q.—What class does not find its way on to the files? A.—I would not say that absolutely every letter is placed on file, but it is the invariable rule that they are.

Q.—What discriminates between those that are and are not filed? A.—Perhaps those referring to my business affairs; letters relating to public matters are all filed, except there is some special reason for their not being filed.

Q.—You do not get private letters in your department? A. — Sometimes I bring letters from Peterborough.

Q.—Do many letters come to you in your department which are personal and are not filed? A.—They are generally placed on file.

Q.—When they do not come within general rules what is done with them? A.—They are given to the private secretary to file. Mr. Myers takes charge of them.

Q.—What books of accounts do you keep? A.—I don't keep any personally.

Q.—How do you keep track of your accounts? A.—I have my bank books and the books of my business at Peterborough.

Q.—Nothing other than these? A.—None whatever.

Q.—Where would you enter accounts that you receive as president of companies? A.—I would deposit it in my bank account, and it would be entered in that way.

Q.—The only books that would show such accounts are your bank books and the books of your Peterborough business? A.—That is all.

Q.—Have you produced these books? A.—I have not.

Q.—Why not? A.—There is nothing in them that has to do with this this case.

WANTS PRIVATE BOOKS.

Mr. Blake addressing the court, claimed that those books were a source of information and should be produced.

Mr. Johnston—We are quite satisfied, my Lords, to have Mr. Ritchie examine these books with Mr. Riddell. We have given the reason for their not being produced.

Mr. Blake—That is quite satisfactory.

Q.—All your receipts in the shape of profits in stock and all moneys you receive will be found in one or other of these books? A.—Yes.

Q.—No other place of any memorandum? A.—None whatever.

Q.—In regard to your being left in charge of the protests, whence did the funds come which were paid when these 17 or 18 protests were entered, the $17,000 or $18,000?

Mr. Johnston here objected that the fact that money might have been put up by either of the petitioners, or some other Liberals was not relevant to this enquiry.

Mr. Blake —But it is the important matter that we find where the money came from.

Chancellor Boyd—Perhaps if we allow the witness to answer your question Mr. Blake, it would help us in coming to a decision.

To the question whence did the protest funds come, Mr. Stratton then answered, "I don't know."

Chancellor Boyd then pointed out that the enquiry was on the charges made by Mr. Gamey as to the payment by him of money by Mr. Stratton; on the one side there was Mr. Gamey's word that he had received the money from Mr. Stratton, and on th gother, Mr. Stratton's denial; Mr. Gamey had gone so far as to give the particular dates and events connected with the handing over of the money. Certainly, if Mr. Blake could prove that the money was paid out of any source, it would be a material thing.

Mr. Blake—That is the length that I propose to ask the court to go, as to whether it was paid out of any source.

DOESN'T KNOW TREASURER.

Q.—Who was the treasurer of the funds collected for election purposes from February, 1902, onwards?

Mr. Johnston arose to object, but the witness answered the question saying, "I don't know."

Q.—Was there any treasurer? A. — I would suppose there was.

Q.—I am not asking you what you would suppose. Do you know? A.—As a matter of fact, Mr. Blake, I do not know.

Q.—Where are we to look, if not to you, for information of this nature? A.—To the Liberal Association I think.

Q.—Who is the President of that Association? A.—I don't know. I never belonged to it.

Q.—Who is the treasurer? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Who is the secretary? A. — I don't know.

Q.—Do you know of any large sums of money being sent in for election purposes?

This proved to be the question that occupied the attention of the Commission for the 20 minutes that intervened between the time it was first put and 4 o'clock when an adjournment was made.

Mr. Johnston raised objection as soon as the question was put. He argued that the issue before the Commission was a simple one, It was, did Mr. Stratton pay sums of $3,000 and $1,000 respectively to Mr. Gamey. There was no necessity to trace the fund from which it came if it was proved that it was paid. If there was to be an inquiry into election funds, it should apply to both sides. He had as much right to say the money came from an election fund that might exist on the other side, as Mr. Blake had to say that it came from an election fund that Mr. Stratton would have knowledge of. And if he was not permitted to take evidence on that point surely Mr. Blake should not be permitted. Mr. Blake was asking to go back to February, 1902. That was before Mr. Gamey was in existence politically, and this investigation had to do with Gamey.

WANTS TO PROBE ELECTION FUNDS.

Mr. Blake said he had gone back purposely. This election fund had not come into existence in a day, nor had it a single purpose. If he could trace this money to that fund he thought he should be allowed to do so. He was not troubled as to its being shown that it came from money on the other side. He asked for power to investigate the various dealings in connection with that fund.

Mr. Johnston affirmed that this same question had been raised by motion in the Legislature, and that the House had refused to grant the Commission the power which it was now asked to assume.

Mr. Blake challenged this statement.

Chancellor Boyd said that the charge had not been made by Mr. Gamey in the House that a fund of this kind existed. His charge was that the money came from Stratton.

Mr. Riddell said that this same question had been raised repeatedly during the Parnell investigation, and that the Commissioners had always ruled it out.

The Chancellor suggested to Mr. Blake that he take up some other line of evidence until he and his brother on the bench could arrive at some decision on the point.

Judge Falconbridge asked if it was the existence of a fund before the election that Mr. Blake sought to investigate.

Mr. Blake answered that in addition to such a fund as that there had been at least $19,000 raised for protest deposits. In many of the localitiess it would be impossible to raise the $1,000 required, and so he argued there must be general subscriptions.

The Chancellor pointed out that Mr. Blake had rested his case without following that point up. He had had Mr. Grant in the box, but had not seen fit to follow his evidence up. "If," said the Chancellor, "it was perfectly clear that the money had been paid Gamey, it would not be necessary to investigate any particular source."

Mr. Blake suggested that it had never been argued or suggested that the $3,000 came out of Mr. Stratton's own pocket.

The Chancellor said it would be certainly widening the scope of the commission to go back years to investigate an election fund.

Mr. Blake argued that as the commission had given permission to have Mr. Stratton's private accounts examined they should also consent to the accounts of the Liberal Association being examined.

The Chancellor repeated—If the money was paid, you don't need to trace the source.

Mr. Blake—But we want to prove it was paid.

At Mr. Stratton's suggestion, Mr. Blake began to question him again.

Q.—Are you aware that the American Lumber Company sent a subscription of $28,000? A.—Never heard of it before.

The Chancellor again apparently baulked at the idea of going back several years, and Mr. Blake said he would like to ask concerning this fund during August and September last, and would crave the privilege of going back some years.

The Chancellor—Perhaps Mr. Stratton can tell us if there was a fund during August or September last.

Mr. Stratton—Not to my knowledge.

Mr. Blake—Who would know? A.—Well, I don't think there is any secret about the protest fund. It is subscribed to by Liberals all over the Province, London, Ottawa and elsewhere.

Mr. Blake—Is there any other election fund for general purposes, such as protests, bye-elections, etc., that you are aware of?

Both Mr. Johnston and Mr. Riddell jumped to their feet and told the witness not to answer.

It being 4 o'clock the Commission rose.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

Housewifely interest in re-decorating and replenishing of the home seems to be intensified this season, judging by the active demand for Housefurnishing Goods at the Golden Lion.

We are quite sure we are making it pleasurable and profitable for our patrons to consult us in reference to new Carpets, Art Squares, Rugs and Linoleums ; new Lace Curtains, Sash Curtains, Draperies, Furniture Coverings, Cretonnes ; new Silk Dress Skirts, Ladies' Neckwear, Millinery, Wrappers, Kimonas and Dressing Sacques.

We introduce this week for the first time, a very old and familiar delt design—and yet a new decorated scenic novelty—in Willow Cretonnee. Here's how the verse-maker describes the interesting scenic pattern :—

"Two swallows flying high,
A little boat passing by ;
A little church standing near,
Twice a week they worship there,
A little bridge with willows over,
Three little men going to Dover,
A Chinese mansion,
This trees handsome—
A tree with apples on,
And a row of railings on the sun."

BLAKE FAILS TO SHAKE STRATTON

Seven Hours of Rigid Cross Examination Leaves Mr. Stratton's Evidence Unimpaired.

EVIDENCE UNSHAKEN.

Mr. Stratton's Examination-in-Chief Withstands Mr. Blake's Vicious Attacks.

SOME VERY SHARP CROSS-FIRING.

Mr. Blake Gets a Roland for His Oliver—Mr. Stratton's Evidence Concluded—The Gamey Story Thoroughly Discredited.

Toronto, May 5.—The cross-examination of Hon. J. R. Stratton by Mr. Blake was resumed at ten o'clock this morning, and concluded at 3.10. The main features of the examination were Mr. Blake's palpably evident effort to make his inquisitorial attack as formidable, searching and vigourous as his well known powers as a counsel could accomplish, but his patient plodding, yet strenuous and at times rigourous and almost vicious, but at all times unsuccessful attempts to weaken or discredit Mr. Stratton's evidence-in-chief met with failure. He went over and over the events in which Mr. Gamey has been involved, jumping from one topic to another with rapidity, and then coming back to the points previously touched, as is the way of cross-examinations. Mr. Stratton adhered closely to the evidence he gave in his examination-in-chief, and his great anxiety appeared to be, not that Mr. Blake would make him contradict himself, but that he would colour his questions so that an unguarded answer might send out a wrong impression. Passages between the witness and the counsel were frequent, much to the delight of the audience, whose merriment had to be frequently checked.

The event was recognized as a notable one, and the court room was crowded ,the proportion of ladies increasing as the trial proceeds. A number of the members of the Legislature were present, some of them accompanied by their wives and daughters.

MR. STRATTON RE-CALLED.

Mr. Stratton then stepped into the box, and Mr. Blake resumed his cross-examination as follows :

Mr. Blake—I presume that under the ruling of the court, which I submit to, I may ask to whom you gave any subscriptions to the party funds which you yourself made.

The Chancellor—Between August, 1902, and March, 1903.

The witness—Personally, I did not give any.

Q.—Whom would you have made them to if you had made any? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Whom do you ordinarily give subscriptions to? A.—I don't ordinarily give subscriptions.

Q.—Where would such subscriptions appear? A.—In my bank account.

Q.—In which bank would it appear? A.—I don't know of any case.

Q.—In which bank would it appear? A.—Which ever bank had the funds. The Bank of Montreal in Peterborough, or the Dominion Permanent.

Q.—Was your resignation in writing? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was the answer in writing? A.—Yes.

Q.—You have copies of both? A.—I have a copy of one and the original of the other.

Q.—Was either written after a conference with your colleagues? A.—Neither.

Q.—Did you know what the result of your resignation would be? A.—No.

Q.—Until you received the reply on Friday? A.—I wrote the resignation on Friday ; the reply came on next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Q.—Regarding the 10th of September letter, did you prepare it? A.—I prepared it.

Q.—Was it from a stereotyped form or was it original? A.—I dictated it.

Q.—Was it a stereotyped form? A.—No.

Q.—Was it the first of the kind you had prepared? A.—It was.

Q.—I believe Mr. Gamey can write? A.—I suppose he can.

Q.—It was not therefore the writing but the matter that bothered Mr. Gamey? A.—I don't know what he wanted.

Q.—Why did he ask you to write it? A.—He didn't ask me to write it.

Q.—Was this letter altered? A.—After it was dictated, I added the words, "Considered by you as a vote." That was the only alteration.

Q.—This letter seems to provide for two things. First, what the Government desired, and, second, how Gamey was to be treated? A.—Yes.

Q.—These were your two thoughts? A.—They were his two thoughts as expressed to me the day previous.

A.—What did he give you the day before? A.—His ideas.

Q.—Did it make any difference if the proposal came from him or from you? A.—I would suppose that it did.

Q.—Now it was either so or not, that Mr. Gamey came to the Government and said, "If you will give me the patronage I will give you my support"? A.—He did not say that.

Q.—What does the letter say? A.—You have the letter before you.

Q.—What is your difference? A.—The letter states that he had decided to give his support to the Government.

Q.—On what condition? A.—His own condition.

Q.—The Government was to do something if he was to give his support? A.—The Government was to give the same consideration, that is, that it gives others who support the Government.

Q.—Do you give less consideration to a supporter of the Government than others? A.—We give a more favourable consideration to them.

Q.—Well, he would have more favourable consideration than those in Opposition. A.—It depends upon circumstances.

Q.—As a rule, do you give more consideration to supporters of the Government than those opposed to it? A.—We certainly do.

Q.—Therefore, supporting the Government he was to receive a larger measure of consideration? A.—Having said that he would support the Government, all that he asked was that his recommendations would receive the same consideration as any other Government supporter.

Q.—According to the letter that was to be given to him? A.—That depends upon what Mr. Aylesworth had to say.

Q.—Never mind ; according to that letter—no matter whether Mr. Aylesworth would approve or the reverse, it makes no difference to the conditions contained in it? A.—According to the contents of the letter Mr. Gamey said he would support the Government, and asked for some consideration.

Q.—These are the words penned in this letter? A.—Mr. Gamey's words were merely repeated.

Q.—You must answer my question! A.—These are the words that Mr. Gamey said, and I dictated them.

Q.—You adopted them? A.—I did carry anything out in that letter.

Q.—When did you ask Mr. Aylesworth to attend to that letter? A.—I did not do anything.

Q.—Is he wrong when he says you asked him to get the letter signed? A.—I don't think I asked him to do that.

A LITTLE BY-PLAY.

Q.—When was Mr. Gamey sent to Mr. Aylesworth's office? A.—He was not sent ; he went there. You should put your question right.

"I will put the question not as you ask for. You are not counsel. You are just Mr. J. R. Stratton in the witness box."

Q.—Now, what was he sent there for? A.—He went about the petition.

Q.—He was troubling about the petition. Do you mean to say that this letter sent down was not to be used? A.—That would depend upon Mr. Aylesworth's judgment.

Q.—So the two things arranged in the office would be the election protest and the signing of the letter? A.—I was not having anything done.

Q.—What did you intend having done with that letter? A.—I gave it to Mr. Aylesworth as counsel for the Liberal party, to see Mr. Gamey, to use his own judgment concerning it.

Q.—It went from you a finished document? A.—Not a finished document, but a tentative letter to Mr. Aylesworth.

Q.—It was so much finished that that letter was used at a subsequent date? A.—I don't know what you refer to.

Q.—Was there not a letter of subsequent date sent down from Gore Bay to the Premier? A.—Yes.

Q.—That was an exact copy of this? A.—No.

Q.—What alterations were on it? A.—I have learned since the investigation that Mr. Gamey made certain amendments or changes from the original.

Q.—Do you know what they were? A.—I don't.

Q.—Do you know, that it is typewritten exactly the same as the one you prepared? A.—I think he said so.

Q.—Do you remember your letter was taken as a basis with only two alterations? Looking at it in a prima facie way, it would look like a letter written by Mr. Gamey of his own motion and free will to the Premier of Ontario? A.—It would look like it.

Q.—If they did not know what was done in your office they would take it for granted such was the case? A.—Yes, it would look that way.

Q.—When did you prepare the letter? A.—On the morning of the 10th.

Q.—Solicitor was present? A.—He was in the room.

Q.—Did he make any suggestions? A.—None.

Chancellor Boyd—Who was he? A.—Mr. Boland.

Q.—He takes considerable interest in politics? A.—I don't know that he does. He's a Liberal, I think.

Q.—You would not say you know he is? A.—I know he is.

Q.—He's so deeply interested in politics you would not say how far? A.—I don't know.

Q.—No one is more deeply interested? A.—Yes, many are more interested.

Q.—The letter prepared by you and sent down to be accepted if approved by the solicitor, where was it next found? A.—I don't understand you. If you mean where did I next see it, the next time I saw it was when I obtained it from the Premier's private secretary.

Q.—Got it in Premier's private office? A.—Yes.

Q.—Before it was prepared, did you consult members of the Council? A.—No.

Q.—You sent Gamey down? A.—I did not.

Q.—Well, then, he went down? A.—Yes.

A clash occurred between Mr. Blake and Mr. Stratton.

"Answer my questions," demanded Mr. Blake.

"Put them fairly," retorted Mr. Stratton.

"Kindly reciprocate by answering," returned the counsel for the prosecution.

These asides having subsided, the enquiry dialogue was resumed.

Q.—The letter being in the hands of the Premier, I ask you if you had any commission other than the one mentioned yesterday? A.—I had no commission.

Q.—The Premier must have known the letter came from him? A.—Not originally, and I got it from the Premier's private secretary.

Mr. Blake insinuated that the witness was wasting time.

"The Province is to pay for these notes," remarked Mr. Blake.

"There's a large surplus," said Mr. Stratton, with a smile.

Q.—The Premier must have known about the letter? A.—I should suppose so.

Q.—The letter having been prepared, you had the day before seen Mr. Aylesworth, and mentioned that Gamey would support the Government. (Reading from Mr. Aylesworth's evidence.) Gamey was very anxious about the petition against him? A.—What else?

Mr. Blake—I must charge you. I am not the counsel on your side.

Q.—You asked him how he knew the fellow would support the Government? A.—I did not. That's Mr. Aylesworth's expression.

Q.—Well, then, he asked you. You remember your answer? A.—I said there was no guarantee.

Q.—Your answer? A.—I said there was no guarantee.

Q.—Your answer.

Mr. Riddell objected to Mr. Blake's attitude, charging him with misrepresentation. Mr. Blake denied the allegation.

Q.—Was not the question, "What guarantee have you that the fellow will"? A.—My recollection is that Mr. Aylesworth asked what evidence I had of Gamey's good faith that he would support the Government. I said I had none. Mr. Aylesworth suggested the letter.

Q.—It was suggested that Mr. Aylesworth write it, but he said you had better do it yourself? A.—Yes.

Q.—You asked Aylesworth if he would see Gamey if he came, and get such a letter from him? A.—Gamey wanted to see him.

Q.—And get such a letter? A.—Yes.

Q.—Reading Mr. Aylesworth's testimony, "I thought he had better obtain a letter"? A.—He seemed to think that, having had a conversation with Gamey, I could condense what he said.

Q.—We are past that. Mr. Aylesworth says you said, "Gamey will probably go to you about petition, and, if so, get such a letter"? A.—Yes. Witness left the letter with Mr. Aylesworth to do with it as he saw fit.

Q.—Did Aylesworth say it was easy to dismiss the petition? A.—I did not discuss the petition. The only expression Mr. Aylesworth made use of was he supposed if Gamey supported the Government, there would be little difficulty about the petition.

Q.—Will you tell their Lordships how a letter Aylesworth was commissioned to get and could not get was got from Gamey? A.—Aylesworth shoved the letter back.

Mr. Blake—Because of some condition affecting the propriety of the matter? A.—On Gamey's part.

Mr. Blake—I did, not say it was on yours.

Q.—Will you say how that letter Aylesworth couldn't get was got? A.—I don't know.

Q.—How many license commissioners are there in Manitoulin? A.—Three and an inspector ; they are usually appointed any time after the first of the year.

Q.—What was suggested as to their appointment? A.—Nothing ; only Gamey stated he would like to name a couple of commissioners, to have a voice in their appointment.

WHAT GAMEY WANTED.

Q.—There is a difference between having a voice in, and naming? A.—Well, I think he was out for everything in sight.

Q.—Did he want to be Minister? A.—Of mines.

Q.—Of your department? A.—No.

Q.—He asked for the naming of three? A.—Only two, perhaps, and the inspector.

Q.—Did he name anyone for inspector? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Or any commissioners? A.—I don't remember. The appointments were made after the opening of the session.

Q.—Did you say anything else about patronage on that occasion? A.—He spoke of a referendum returning officer. He said that the officials in his riding were getting too officious.

Q.—What else happened? A.—I think that is all. He didn't recommend anyone in particular as referendum officer.

Q.—Are you sure no name was mentioned? A.—No, no name was mentioned.

Q.—Who had been returning officer at the general election? A.—Sheriff Jackson, I have learned since.

Q.—Shall I correct you? A.—Oh, yes, I am wrong ; it was the registrar.

Q.—Anything else discussed? A.—I think that is all.

Q.—You were taking him pretty well into your confidence on the strength of that letter? A.—There was no such letter spoken of at that time.

Q.—It sounds to me that it was leading up to the letter? A.—I can't help how it sounds to you ; there are some minds that are very suspicious.

Mr. Blake—Yes, very suspicious.

Chancellor Boyd—This is not evidence, Mr. Blake.

Mr. Blake—Yes, my Lord. That is not evidence, Mr. Stratton.

Q.—You left the matter in that way? A.—Yes ; when I say that, I mean that Gamey asked me to let him know before any appointment was made. I said I would write him if I thought of it.

Q.—This was the first time you ever met him? A.—Yes.

Q.—You had heard that he was an unreliable man? A.—Well ,I don't want to emphasize that too strongly.

Q.—No, but emphasize the truth ;

THE NEW WOMAN.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell, 620 Louisiana Street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"For the past five years I have rarely been without pain, but Peruna has changed all this, and in a very short time. I think I had taken only two bottles before I began to recuperate very quickly, and seven bottles made me well. I do not have headache or backache any more, and have some interest in life."—Emma Mitchell.

The coming of what is known as the "new woman" in our country is not greeted by everyone as if she were a great blessing. But there is another new woman whom everybody is glad to see. Every day some invalid woman is exclaiming, "I have been made a new woman by Dr. Hartman's home treatment." It is only necessary to send name, address, symptoms, duration of sickness and treatment already received to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and directions for one month's treatment will be promptly forwarded.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 6, 1903.

BLAKE FAILS TO SHAKE STRATTON.

you had heard that? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was Sullivan present at this conversation? A.—Yes, he came in and introduced Mr. Gamey.

Q.—After you heard Mr. Gamey had been at the Conservative caucus, and had heard previously that he was an utterly unreliable man, didn't you have nothing more to do with him? A.—I didn't have anything to do with him; I didn't communicate with him in regard to his actions.

Q.—But did you resolve that the dust, so to speak, was to be shaken from your feet? A.—I made no resolve.

Q.—But the world is wide—didn't you resolve that he should take one side of the street and you the other? A.—The world is wide—I made no resolve.

Q.—But on the 2nd October you wrote him a letter beginning "My dear Gamey"? A.—Yes; that is extraordinary.

A LITTLE FAMILIAR.

Q.—It is, we concur in that; and to my mind it is more marvellous that on the 29th of September he begins his letter, "My dear Stratton"? A.—That happened in this away. I usually give my private secretary simply the pith of my letters and Mr. Gamey's letter having been addressed "My dear Stratton," he would begin my letter, "My dear Gamey." I remember speaking to Mr. Burrows and asking him if that was not a little familiar; I think you will find that subsequent letters to him are not so familiar.

Q.—But you might have got Ford to write another letter? A.—Yes, I might have.

Q.—Mr. Gamey says, although a certain appointment I sin another department, he wants to do business with you. How is that? A.—I don't know, unless, as he stated in the House, it was part of his game.

Q.—Mr. Gamey asks you again to have the Minister of Public Works let Mr. Boyd know in a quiet way that he should consult him (Gamey). What does he mean by "in a quiet way"? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Did you see the Minister of Public Works? A.—I see him every day, but I never spoke to him in regard to roads in Manitoulin.

Q.—You transferred this recommendation for road grants to the Commissioner of Public Works? A.—My recollection is that I said I would speak to him when the road estimates were being brought down.

Q.—You didn't discontinue negotiations? A.—No; I continued leaving him in a friendly position.

Q.—Did you see the Attorney-General about the Flesher appointment? A.—No; the recommendation of the lumber company was transferred to his department with Mr. Gamey's letter, but that was all.

Q.—You asked the Attorney-General to approve the recommendation of Mr. Gamey? A.—The recommendation of both.

Q.—Did you see the Attorney-General on his return? A.—No.

Q.—Was Mr. Flesher appointed? A.—I believe he was.

Q.—Then what did you say to Mr. Latchford about the road estimates? A.—I said in the letter what Gamey expected, and he could use his own judgment.

Q.—At the interview on the 9th of September, what did you say about the appointment of a returning officer? A.—I said that I would write to him before an appointment was made.

Q.—You did write to him? A.—I did.

Q.—You were in favour of the former returning officer being appointed for the referendum? A.—Well, I was under the impression that Sheriff Jackson had been returning officer.

Q.—You wrote to Mr. Gamey, and what about his reply? A.—I left instructions that any reply should go tot he Premier in my absence, so that he should have all the papers. I do not think you would suppose there would be anything suspicious in it, or I would not have sent it on to the Premier? If there was any corrupt bargaining, why would I send it to the Premier?

Mr. Blake responded by a Latin quotation.

Mr. Blake—Then it was on Mr. Gamey's recommendation that a J.P. was appointed? A.—I don't believe it is absolute condemnation of a man who applies for a position as J. P., to be endorsed by an Opposition member. These are not political appointments. Mr. Gamey was supposed to know the men in the district.

Q.—You wrote to the Attorney-General, "Be good enough to have the matter attended to." Not hostile at all. Then Mr. Gamey wrote recommending Mr. Jackson as returning officer? A.—I never saw the letter until it appeared in print.

Q.—This letter would possibly have been forwarded to some other department in your absence? A.—To the Premier, according to my instruction.

Q.—"I would recommend very strongly the appointment of Mr. E. H. Jackson, the sheriff. Can you keep the appointment for the next week, and make it then? By doing this you will oblige me very much." This seems to be kindly terms. A.—I never saw the letter.

Q.—How do you account for that? A.—Any letters that come to me that can be attended to by my private secretary are taken care of by him. If I saw everything that came addressed to me I would have to have more help or a day four times as long.

Q.—Or else a good Minister, who could work more quickly? A.—I don't know as you would find that.

GAMEY'S RECOMMENDATIONS.

Q.—Now, do you know what action was taken on that letter? A.—I don't know, but Mr. Jackson was appointed.

Q.—That was the person named by Mr. Gamey? A.—This is the person appointed, but not necessarily because he was named by Mr. Gamey.

Q.—Didn't he name Mr. Flesher? A.—He forwarded a petition asking for his appointment, with his recommendation, and as a result of an examination, and as a result of the petition, and not from Mr. Gamey's letter was the appointment made.

Q.—The appointment was made? A.—But not on the recommendation.

Q.—Mr. Jackson, the sheriff, was also appointed returning officer.

Mr. Johnston—This question has been asked very often, and we admit it.

Mr. Riddell here rose.

Mr. Blake, referring to Mr. Riddell—When this fighting puck gets through, I will go on.

Q.—Well, the recommendation was made, and the appointment made? A.—Yes.

Q.—Is there any other appointment for which Mr. Gamey asked during the interview on the 9th of September, which was refused? A.—There was none made in my department.

Q.—I am not asking you in your department. I am asking was there any appointment asked for by Mr. Gamey from the 9th September until March, which was refused? A.—Yes or no, would not be a fair answer, because recommendations had been made prior to Mr. Gamey re Mr. Flesher's appointment.

Q.—From the 9th of September until March were there any requests for appointments to positions made by Mr. Gamey, which were refused? A.—There was none made in my department, and you will have to enquire from the other ministers about theirs.

Q.—Name one request that was refused? A.—I don't know what goes on in the other departments. A justice of the peace was appointed.

Q.—I am not asking the names of those appointed. I want the names of those refused? A.—I do not know the names of any appointed on Mr. Gamey's recommendation.

Q.—I want the names of those refused? A.—I cannot name any of those recommended.

Q.—I am not asking for those recommended? A.—Say "endorsed;" that would be better.

Q.—What is the difference? A.—There is quite a difference.

Q.—Well, use the words to suit yourself. Can you tell me the names of any that were endorsed by Mr. Gamey that were refused? A.—Yes; license inspector, license commissioners, and he wanted his brother appointed.

Q.—Who did he want for license inspector? A.—I forget the name.

Q.—So do I. Who did he want for commissioners? A.—I don't know the name.

Q.—A lock-up keeper? A.—Yes; a man named McEachren, I think.

Q.—How about a man named Swanson being appointed J.P.? A.—I don't remember; I don't think he was appointed.

Q.—The letter of the 27th? A.—I am dealing with that, too.

GAMEY CAME FOR LETTER.

Q.—How did it come into existence? A.—Gamey came into my office on Oct. 23rd or 24th, and asked me to obtain the letter he had sent to the Premier on September 10th.

Q.—You prepared the letter? A.—Do you mean who typewrote it?

Chancellor—I think we know all about that.

Q.—This letter of Oct. 27th, who prepared it? A.—It is only a copy of the letter of September 10th.

Q.—Who prepared it? A.—I did, the original, at Aylesworth's suggestion.

Q.—That letter? A.—I am dealing with it.

Q.—Those alterations in the letter of the 27th? A.—They were made after it was prepared.

Q.—Wasn't that letter prepared in your office? A.—That's a copy of the letter of September 10th, dictated by me.

Q.—I am asking you whether it was prepared in your office? A.—Gamey asked for it.

Q.—Prepared in your office? A.—It was not prepared. Explain what you mean by prepared. Gamey asked me to obtain the original letter of September 10th. I could not do that, so gave him a copy.

Q.—You handed this to Gamey? A.—I did not. I gave it to Mr. Myers, who mailed it to Gamey.

Q.—Those alterations? A.—I don't know. They were made after the letter of Oct. 27th left my office.

Q.—Did you warn Gamey of his position when he made such an arrangement? A.—What arrangement?

Q.—Shown in the letters of Oct. 27th and September 10th? A.—I did not.

Q.—You had a protest against him on September 10th, and by this you agreed to hand his constituency over to the Liberals. Would that not mean ruin? You have heard what Dr. Arthurs, Dr. Strouthers, and others thought of his conduct? A.—I have nothing to do with what they think or say. Gamey told me he would call a meeting of his constituents and place the matter before them. I said it would be the proper thing to do.

Q.—Did you suggest, Mr. Stratton, he ought to resign? A.—Gamey said he would hold a meeting of his constituents. He said, also there was nothing in his campaign to prevent his supporting the Government.

Q.—Did you recommend his resignation? A.—There was no necessity of a recommendation. Consequently, I did not recommend. He told me he could support the Government.

Q.—This letter of Oct. 27th? A.—I have not seen it since it left my hands.

Q.—Then, why was not the letter of Sept. 10th used instead of re-writing it on Oct. 27th? A.—Gamey wanted to obtain original. Then he asked me to get him a copy. I got the original from the Premier's private secretary, and a copy was made, I have nothing to conceal.

Mr. Blake—Did I suggest such a thing?

Q.—I ask you why the original letter would not do? A.—He asked me for the original letter.

Q.—Would a copy do him any good? A.—It seemed to answer the purpose.

Q.—Who was present when instructions were given as to making a copy of the letter? A.—I met Mr. Ford in the corridor, and asked him if he would make a copy.

Q.—Anyone present? A.—Mr. Ford and myself.

Q.—When had you the first communication with the Hon. Mr. Latchford regarding Gamey? A.—I don't think I had any, unless the department transferred a letter.

Q.—Were you not seen regarding a letter on January 3rd from J. F. Boyd to Mr. Latchford? When did you hear from Mr. Latchford? A.—In the House.

Q.—Was this letter referred to in the House? A.—I think the date was.

Q.—This may remind you (reading from Mr. Boyd's letter): "Mr. Gamey expects some patronage in making appointments." Was that made public by you, Mr. Stratton? A.—It was not.

Q.—How did it become known? A.—Mr. Boyd explains in the witness box, I think.

Q.—That, I think, was not made public in the House? A.—I think it was; I read the letter.

Q.—You did not tell Latchford you had decided to give the patronage to Gamey? A.—No.

Q.—Did you know anything of the telegram sent on the 27th January by Frank Sullivan to Mr. Gamey? A.—Nothing more than I have heard in court. It was not sent through any direction or knowledge of mine.

Q.—But the Globe interview was on the 29th. Is that not strange? A.—Just a coincidence, I suppose.

Q.—I was merely citing it to give you an opportunity of explaining? A.—I have no explanation to make. I know nothing of it.

Q.—You gave the information to the Globe reporter that Gamey would be down? A.—No; I don't say so. I don't think he said I did.

Q.—You have been going over this very carefully? A.—Not at all.

Q.—You corroborate what he says? A.—Not absolutely; if you will allow me I will explain.

Q.—But you were trying to get Gamey to give an interview? A.—I have no doubt that Mr. Hammond gave his evidence to the best of his recollection, but there are some things that he doesn't recollect.

Q.—Is that right, "Stratton was trying to get Gamey to give an interview"? A.—No; that is not absolutely correct.

Q.—"That it would have some weight in the bye-elections then pending"? A.—That was referred to; there would be North York and Centre Bruce pending about the 20th of February.

Q.—How often was Gamey with you at that period? A.—On the 29th he was there in the afternoon and in the evening.

Q.—Was he there on any day other than the 29th? A.—He was there, as he says, on the 18th, and at the end of January.

Q.—Why did he come twice on the 29th? A.—He came by appointment on the afternoon of the 29th, saw the interview, said it was a little too strong, took it away with him, made the alteration, and returned it in the evening.

Q.—Hammond, before he saw Gamey, said you had an interview you wished to get from Gamey? A.—I first spoke to Hammond on the evening of the 28th; I had the interview prepared then.

Q.—You didn't show it to Gamey until the 29th? A.—No; I had made some alterations, reconstructed a paragraph here and there.

Q.—It was an interview you had prepared? A.—Yes, at Mr. Gamey's request.

Q.—These letters, interview, and so on, were all brought into existence by you; couldn't Gamey write? You were not undertaking to give him lessons in composition, were you? A.—I think he can write; I wasn't teaching him composition.

Q.—Are these interviews stereotyped, or is this the first one you have prepared? A.—I have never seen any stereotyped.

Q.—Did any of the members of the Cabinet know of this interview? A.—I didn't speak to them about it; I didn't suggest that it would be a good thing in the bye-elections.

Q.—Did you tell them of the letter of October? A.—I told the Premier that as Mr. Gamey had asked for the letter, I had taken the liberty of getting it from his secretary and having a copy made, which Gamey said he wished to substitute for a letter sent him on the 10th, because of his having been at the Conservative caucus on the same day.

ROSS DIDN'T TRUST GAMEY.

Q.—What did the Premier say? A.—He said he didn't have any confidence in Mr. Gamey; he didn't say anything about my course.

Q.—Would it not have been an easier thing to have destroyed the letter? A.—Perhaps that is why Gamey asked for the original.

Q.—But it would have been an easier way of doing it? A.—Yes, it's easier to sit down than stand up any time.

Q.—Will you take a seat? A.—I have no desire to; perhaps my learned friend will. I got the letter because Gamey said he wanted it.

Q.—In the matter of this Globe interview, did you suggest to him how dishonest it was to his constituents to hand them over to the Liberals? A.—There was no occasion for doing so.

Q.—You made this Globe interview stronger than he was willing to go, and he added the words, "an independent support"? A.—He altered it certainly. Any interview that is prepared by another would likely be altered.

Q.—You didn't put in the other side in this interview? There is nothing about patronage? A.—There is no other side to it.

Q.—Then this letter of January 1 was sent to the Minister of Public Works? A.—By me?

Q.—By Mr. Gamey? A.—I don't know anything about it.

Q.—This letter says, "I am anxious that all my recommendations go through this year, as it will help me,' and so on? A.—I never saw it.

GAMEY'S WORRIES.

Q.—Do you recollect receiving letter of February? It begins, "There is certainly a row on, it is going to be hard to satisfy the people"? A.—Is it addressed to me? Let me see it. Is there any reason why I should not see?

Mr. Blake—No.

The witness—Will you let me see it, please?

Mr. Blake—I thought you might recollect this letter by its beginning. Do you remember it? A.—Yes.

Q.—Had you up to this time advised him to resign? A.—No. I wasn't worrying.

Q.—Do you mean to say that you left him in the lurch? A.—I wasn't his political godfather.

Q.—But you had been giving him lessons in composition. You surely didn't leave him alone up in Gore Bay to struggle away himself? A.—I left him absolutely alone.

Q.—What would you have liked him to do? A.—I can't say what I would have liked.

Q.—What did you do with the letter? A.—I suppose that I kept it.

Q.—Who else knew of its contents? A.—Mr. Myers.

Q.—Anybody else? A.—Nobody else, unless Mr. Myers showed it to them. I don't think he ever does show letters.

Q.—Do you know what file that letter went on? A.—No.

Q.—Or where it was found? A.—No, Mr. Myers searched.

Q.—You don't know whether it went on the regular file or not? A.—No.

Q.—Were you in the city from the 7th to the 12th of February? A.—Yes, but I may have been away a day.

Q.—What did you do with the letter? A.—I handed it back to Myers.

Mr. Blake then took up the letter of the 11th of February, sent anonymously to Mr. Gamey, signed XYZ and enclosing instructions.

Mr. Blake—Did you know of any person who knew that a letter asking for information was sent by Mr. Gamey? A.—I think Frank Sullivan swore in the box that he did. But it was not from my department, that I know of. I positively know no means that he could get it from my department.

Q.—This typewritten document, which is advising against resignation? A.—The XYZ one?

Q.—That is what I have, and this is the enclosure? A.—Is that what is supposed to be the brief sent to him?

Q.—I am referring to the typewritten letter enclosed in the letter. A.—What do you wish to know?

Q.—The information conveyed in this letter is such that no one should be able to convey it except as from the office? A.—Yes, none.

Q.—Did you prepare this? A.—I did not.

Q.—This was to prevent a deadlock? A.—I did not know what it was to prevent. I never suggested, never indicated never knew anything about it, and if there is any more emphatic way of expressing myself on this matter, I wish to do so.

Q.—At the same time you did not want a deadlock? A.—I did not want anything. If you will look it over, you will find it very amateurish.

Q.—Compared with yours? A.—With yours.

Chancellor Boyd—This is not evidence.

Q.—Did you leave this in other hands to do? A.—I did not.

Q.—You swear receiving a letter of the 7th of February, which calls for an answer, and you swear that you had nothing to do with this answer? A.—I do.

Q.—How did Mr. Sullivan get his instructions? A.—There was no communication, directly or indirectly, in this matter with Mr. Sullivan.

Q.—Or others? A.—I do not know how about others.

Q.—Do you know a man by the name of Sims? A.—Yes, I have met him.

Q.—What position did he occupy? A.—President of some Liberal Association.

Q.—Where? A.—Manitoulin.

Q.—You met him? A.—Yes, once or twice in my office.

Q.—About when? A.—January or February.

Q.—1903? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you know Spencer of Little Current? Had he been down? A.—Not to my knowledge. We have had correspondence.

Q.—With a man named Lewis down? A.—No tto my knowledge.

Q.—Had you correspondence with him? A.—No.

Q.—You did not meet him? A.—I do not recollect.

Q.—Had any suggestion beeen made that he should be license inspector? A.—No.

Q.—You never heard his name in connection with it? A.—Let's see, I don't know whether his name was mentioned by Mr. Gamey or not.

Q.—Do you want me to help you again? A.—I wish you would.

Q.—In connection with an inspector being appointed? A.—If Mr. Gamey says he mentioned his name, perhaps he did.

Q.—By what means would Mr. Frank Sullivan know the names of Mr. Sims, Mr. Spencer, and Mr. Lewis? A.—He might have obtained them from the office.

Q.—He is a clerk in the department? A.—I understood he was a friend of Mr. Gamey.

Mr. Stratton—He came from that district.

Chancellor Boyd—From the district.

Mr. Blake—You mean Captain Sullivan. How long since Frank Sullivan has been there?

Mr. Stratton—Oh, he would be up and down, on and off for two years past. I enquired from Mr. Myers if anyone got the information from the office, and he said no.

Q.—This is not information. A.—I will withdraw.

Q.—Had you anything to do with fisheries? A.—Yes.

Q.—Through whom? A.—Mr. Latchford.

Q.—Now there was a correspondence about a License Inspector Spencer? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was the person appointed? A.—Yes.

Q.—He was recommended strongly by Mr. Gamey? A.—Not to me.

Q.—Sure? A.—Might have been recommended in a letter.

Here Mr. Blake read a letter which was from the applicant for the position, quoting Mr. Gamey as being one of his references, and quoting Mr. Gamey's eulogistic remarks concerning the writer.

Q.—Had you determined not to appoint an inspector until Mr. Gamey came down A.—We determined not to appoint one until after the opening of the Legislature.

Q.—Did you not think that it would be a good thing to have the names of the license board and the inspectors down? A.—No, we had no intention of appointing anyone until after the House opened.

Q.—Then what date do you remember in the early part of January that you saw Mr. Gamey? A.—I saw him about the 13th of January.

Q.—You accept that date? A.—Yes, it was about the 13th, 14th, or 15th, the only occasion that I saw him was early in January.

Q.—What was the object of the meeting? A.—He spoke of the lockup.

Q.—What did you say as to the suggestion? A.—Nothing. I sent for Dr. Chamberlain, who is inspector of lock ups.

Q.—Discuss anything? A.—The lock-up and its condition.

Q.—Before Dr. Chamberlain came in? A.—No.

Q.—Anyone mentioned when Dr. Chamberlain came in? A.—If any name was mentioned it was McEachern's.

Q.—Any other? A.—So far as the department was concerned, there was no intention of acting immediately.

Q.—You had a report from Dr. Chamberlain already? A.—Yes, but it did not mention Mr. Gamey's complaint.

Q.—Had that report to do with Mr. Gamey's suggestion? A.—Not as to the name.

Q.—State of repair? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was not the Perth election discussed first? A.—No.

Q.—What next? A.—Gamey spoke of the license inspector and commissioners and wanted information as to the Government's intention.

Q.—As to name? A.—Intention and name.

Q.—Did he suggest any names? A.—Yes.

Q.—What next? A.—bout his brother's appointment.

Q.—Yes, what next? A.—I said we would confer with our friends.

Q.—Yes, and what else? A.—He said: "I am a supporter of the Government." I said he took a peculiar way of showing it. In September he said he would support the Government; he attended the Conservative caucus on the 10th; obtained copy of letter sent to Premier; said he would hold a public meeting of his constituents; he went to North Perth to assist the Conservative party in the bye-election. I said to him: "You now come and want the patronage. We propose to confer with our friends."

Q.—You regarded him as an irregular supporter? A.—Erratic, I should say.

Q.—Dr. Chamberlain says you upbraided him? A.—I spoke emphatically, as I sometimes do.

Q.—What answer did Mr. Gamey make A.—His reply was he had been written to by Toronto Conservatives to assist in the bye-elections. They told him the Government would be defeated, that their organization was so especially strong that the Government could not survive. He went, expecting the Government to be defeated.

HE JUST STRAYED.

Q.—He came back into the fold? A.—He said he never went out, that he just strayed.

Q.—You treated him nicely. You always had hopes of this bad, erring boy? A.—If he would support the Government the people would not expect me to club him out.

Witness had seen from the papers that certain petitions were to be dropped; they were set down for trial in CORRUPTION IN B. C.

C.P.R. Counsel Charges Wells First Broached the Subject.

Victoria, B.C., May 6.—At yesterday morning's session of the Commission to enquire into the deal in connection with the proposed land grants to the Columbia & Western Railway, W. J. Taylor, who was acting for the Canadian Pacific Railway in the matter, charged W. C. Wells, Commissioner of Lands and Works, with having broached the matter of taking a share in a company formed to acquire the South Kootenay lands in question, which are rich in coal and oil. Mr. Taylor gave a flat denial to what Mr. Wells was alleged to have told ex-Premier James Dunsmuir, as stated at Saturday's sitting of the enquiry. Counsel has been retained by the Government to prosecute. Duff represents the Commission, and C. C. McCall for Mr. Wells.

The King Welcomed Home.

London, May 6.—King Edward received a great, popular welcome on his arrival in London from Portsmouth. The railroad station was closed to the public, but the approaches were thronged by large crowds, and the road to Buckingham Palace, which was gaily decorated with flags, was thickly lined with people. His Majesty appeared to be in excellent health.

Paris, May 6.—President Loubet telegraphed to King Edward at Portsmouth, thanking him for the good will manifested toward the people and Government of France as expressed in His Majesty's despatch to the President from Cherbourg Monday.

The Radical Socialist group in the Chamber of Deputies has adopted a resolution urging the immediate negotiation of a treaty of arbitration between Great Britain and France.

Inventor Harvey Inspects Canada.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 4.—Inventor Harvey, whose process of hardening steel has revolutionized the armoring of modern battleships, paid a flying visit to this town last week. Mr. Harvey is an Englishman, and is in this part of the country with an eye to business. He is greatly taken with the Sault, and it is possible he may transfer his energies here. Mr. Harvey is a wealthy man, of course, and can interest millions of capital. He was Mr. Clergue's guest while in town.

20 PEOPLE DROWNED

Disastrous Collision Off the Virginian Coast.

STR. SAGINAW CUT THROUGH.

The Knife-Like Prow of the Liner Hamilton Cut Away the Entire Rear of the Ship — Lifeboat Swamped as It Struck the Sea and All Its Occupants Were Drowned— The Rescue Work.

Norfolk, Va., May 6.—A collision at sea that cost the lives of 20 or more people and the sinking of the Clyde steamship Saginaw by the Old Dominion Steamship Company's liner Hamilton, occurred between Winter Quarter Lightship and Fenwick Island Lightship on the Virginia coast, at 4.40 o'clock yesterday morning. The Hamilton left New York Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, for Norfolk, and the Saginaw passed out the Virginia Capes at 9 o'clock Monday night, bound from Richmond, and Norfolk for Philadelphia. A dense fog settled along the coast shortly after nightfall, and, while going through this fog at reduced speed, the Hamilton crashed into the Saginaw's side about 20 feet from the stern. The scene of the collision is about 18 or 14 miles off the shore, and between 180 and 200 miles south of New York, and between 125 and 140 miles north of Norfolk.

According to Captain Boaz of the Hamilton, his ship was making about 9 knots an hour, and the Saginaw about 10. The fog was so thick that objects a ship's length away were invisible, and, when the two crafts hove in sight of each other, bow on, there was but a moment's interim before they met.

The Saginaw veered, as did the Hamilton, but they had not time to clear each other, and the knife-like steel prow of the southbound vessel struck the Clyde ship on the port quarter, about 20 feet from her stern, cutting the entire rear of the ship away. Engines already reversed were put full steam to the rear, and the Hamilton circled to the scene of the wreck, at the same time lowering two lifeboats.

There was consternation among the passengers of the Old Dominion ship, and the first thought was for their safety, but, so soon as it was discovered that the ship was undamaged, except that some bow plates were stove in, all efforts were directed to the rescue of those on the Saginaw.

When the Saginaw was again sighted her stern was under water, and her bow high in the air. Panic-stricken people rushed over her decks and scrambled toward the bow. Lifeboats were lowered, and into the first 15 colored women were placed, according to Second Officer Morris, who was in command. The boat was swamped as it struck the water, and its occupants were thrown into the sea. All were drowned except the second officer, and the colored stewardess, and she died before the small boat reached the Hamilton, more from injuries received by the impact of the collision than by drowning.

In the meantime the rush of water into the bow of the Saginaw had caused the decks to burst from their fastenings with a roar like the report of big guns, and tons of friegt of all description soon littered the sea.

ACCEPT THE TROOPS.

Strike Situation at Montreal Becoming More Grave—Regular Troops.

Montreal, May 6.—The city yesterday decided to accept the Government's offer to replace the Montreal militia by regular troops from St. John's, Quebec, Kingston and perhaps from Toronto.

It was announced yesterday that another strike of considerable dimensions had taken place. This time it is the employes of the sash and door factories, who, to the number of 400, have quit work.

The situation may be briefly summed up as follows: The first break in the ranks of the longshoremen took place yesterday afternoon, when several of their foremen returned to work. The shipping men are determined in the stand they have taken, and their position has r t changed. Even if the whole trade of the country is tied up, they will stick to their guns to the very last. They have done all they intend to do in the way of conciliation.

There is no talk of further conference between the opposing forces, and Mr. Robert Bickerdike, who succeeded in bringing masters and men together on Sunday, said yesterday that negotiations have not been renewed, and that everything is in statu quo.

Toronto Troops Withdrawn.

Toronto, May 6.—The Government has withdrawn order for the troops here to go to Montreal, it is said, because trouble is feared locally ere long.

Replace Striking Switchmen.

Ottawa, May 6.—Yesterday a gang of 75 Swedes were sent up to the Western Division of the Canada Atlantic Railway, on the regular train, to replace the striking trackmen on the different sections.

I.C.R. Employes Happier.

Halifax, May 6.—General Supt. Price yesterday announced that the Intercolonial had decided to grant all the men employed in the mechanical department between Truro and Sydney an increase of ten per cent. in wages. Fifteen hundred men are affected.

Priest Not Guilty of Murder.

Lorain, O., May 6.—At 8.15 o'clock last night, after the inquest, the authorities released Rev. Father Walser, who has been under restraint in connection with the murder of Agatha Reichlin.

A HARD FOUGHT BATTLE.

Both Sides Suffered Severely at Okrina on May 2.

Salonica, May 6.—In the engagement between Turkish troops and revolutionists at Okrina, May 2, seventy revolutionists were killed and ten officers and six men wounded.

After an interview with the Governor-General, the British and Italian Consuls have expressed themselves as satisfied with the precautionary measures taken. All foreign consulates and banking establishments are guarded by troops, while the streets are patrolled constantly.

May Rip Up Streets.

Ottawa, May 6.—In the Supreme Court yesterday the city of Ottawa lost its appeal in the celebrated railway crossing cases against C. P. R. and C.A.R. By this judgment an order of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council is sufficient for a railway company to rip up streets and put down level crossings without the consent of the municipality.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

Wash greasy dishes, pots or pans with Lever's Dry Soap a powder. It will remove the grease with the greatest ease. 36

Are You Looking for Dunlop Coins?

Of the original 171 Canadian coins, stamped with the Dunlop Trade Mark—a pair of uplifted hands—sixteen have been returned and the lucky finders have been rewarded. As the fifty-cent piece was placed in circulation again there are still one hundred and fifty-six to look for. Find these coins, return them to us and receive the following rewards:

$50.00 for the Fifty-cent Piece

We originally offered a reward of $100 and a Dunlop Rubber Mat for this coin, and it was returned to us and the reward paid. It has been put in circulation again and a reward of $50.00 is offered for its return.

$5.00 and a Pair of Dunlop Bicycle Tires for Each of the 25-cent Pieces

Of the twenty 25-cent pieces four have been returned and the finders rewarded. We offer $5.00 and a pair of Dunlop Bicycle Tires for each of the sixteen now in circulation.

$2.00 and a Pair of Dunlop Comfort Rubber Heels for Each of the 10-cent Pieces

There were twenty 10-cent pieces, of which six have been returned. We offer two dollars and a pair of Dunlop Comfort Rubber Heels for the return of the 14 now in circulation.

NO. 4 COMPANY TO HOLD A "SMOKER"

On Monday Night Next at the Crown Hotel.

On Monday evening next No. 4 Company will hold a "smoker" in the Crown Hotel at 8 o'clock sharp, which all members of the Company are requested to attend. Word went round among the men present last night to the above effect, and the Examiner was asked to make it public in order that those who were unable to attend drill last night might be present. From all appearances the "smoker" will be a genuinely successful one. The promoters are in dead earnest and say that they mean to make it a grand success. The scheme is an excellent one as it will promote friendliness in the Company, which is essential when men are working together side by side. The non-coms., for it is they who are the chief promoters, are being materially aided by the company officers, which in itself is sufficient guarantee for a most enjoyable evening.

It is sincerely hoped that the company will turn out to its full strength.

An Old Feud Buried.

That ancient feud between the farmer and the bicyclist has been settled pretty much in the same way those two Kentucky families settled their's, when the son of the leader on one side married a daughter of the opposing host on the other side. The farmer has taken to riding the bicycle himself. When wheels first came into vogue the farmer looked askance with a jealous eye at what he considered the eventful displacement of the horse. But he has learned that the bicycle has not displaced the horse—that it has merely enabled hundreds of thousands of quondam pedestrians to ride quickly instead of walking slowly. And to-day the farmer leaves his tired horses to rest after a long day's work while he wheels to the post office for his mail in the quiet of the evening.

A Bit of Scotland in Canada.

At a point 145 miles north of Toronto on the Grand Trunk Railway System is reached one of the most magnificent districts in the Highlands of Ontario known as the Lake of Bays District. The region comprises a series of connected lakes, over which large steamers are navigated. What greatly adds to the Lake of Bays value as a health-giving and sportsman's resort is the unmatched purity of the air one breathes upon its heights. The visitor forgets his ills under its reviving influence in less than a week, and sees life's problems in a smoother light, enjoying the good things in this life which Nature and Providence have prepared for him. Its bracing morning breeze which rivals the celebrated atmosphere of Pike's Peak, Col., impart new lung power and fresh vitality.

SPENT A SOMEWHAT RESTLESS NIGHT.

Walter Noyes' Condition Regarded as Critical.

Little Walter Noyes, who had his leg so fearfully lacerated through being dragged along the ground by a shunting freight engine yesterday, and who is at present in the Nicholls Hospital, is reported to have spent a somewhat restless night. His condition is still regarded as critical, but it is said that he is much better than he was at midnight last night. He is however too weak to undergo the exceedingly severe operation of having his leg amputated, which, it is feared, will have to be done eventually. Notwithstanding his serious condition the highest hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The injured lad is the only son of Mr. John Noyes, who is employed at the Cordage Works.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mr. J. M. Wood of Millbrook, was in town yesterday.

The many friends of Mrs. P. Alexander, Sr., will be pleased to see her around again.

Mr. Fred Whitcroft's many friends will be pleased to see him out again after an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. George Buchanan of Havelock, and Miss Nellie Carter, of Hastings, are visiting their sister, Mrs. Ross, Payne, this week.

The many friends of Mr. R. C. Hayward, of the local Bank of Commerce, will regret to hear that he has been transferred to Toronto Junction.

Miss Belle Duff of town has succeeded in passing with first class honours in every subject at her second year examinations at Queen's University.

Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Port Hope, former rector of St. Luke's church, is in town to-day assisting in the funeral of the late Mrs. E. M. Pousett.

The members of the Bar are tendering Mr. E. B. Stone a banquet prior to his leaving town for London. The banquet will take place at 9 o'clock in the Crown Hotel to-morrow night.

Lieut-Col. J. W. Miller has expressed his intention of accepting the invitation of No. 4 Company to their smoker on Monday night, if it is in his power to do so.

Mrs. F. M. Vanderwater is leaving shortly for Toronto and Bala Falls, Muskoka, for the summer, while Mr. Vanderwater will repesent Mr. Thos. Barrie on the road as traveller.

Mr. and Mrs. John Goodhew and their little son, Jack, who have been staying with Mrs. Edwards, Sherbrooke street, for the last few last four months, left on Friday last for Montreal, where they take passage for Liverpool, and thence to London, their home. Mr. Goodhew has been employed at the Canadian General as a machinist for over six months, but owing to ill health was compelled to abandon his position and return home. It is their intention, after a rest in England, to go to New Zealand, where he hopes the climate will be more congenial to his health. While here they became excamne exceedingly popular amongst a wide circle of friends. Mrs. Goodhew's voice will be greatly missed in the musical circles of Peterborough. Mrs. Goodhew is also an accomplished pianoforte player and pipe organist. Their friends will all join in wishing them a safe journey and all future prosperity.—Com.

A large number of factories through their representatives present or by communication to the secretary of the Board, signified their intention of engaging the services of Inspector Ward.

The Board adjourned for two weeks.

Mr. E. M. Elliott, Vice-President of the Board handled the chalk and gives promise of developing into an expert in that line.

OBITUARY.

Death of the Father of Mr. William Henry, Caretaker of the Shelter.

The remains of the late James Henry, of Fenelon Township, father of Mr. William Henry, caretaker of the Children's Shelter, was brought to Peterborough on the 11.45 G.T.R. train, Tuesday morning, and interred in the Little Lake Cemetery. This was done in compliance with the wish of deceased, shortly before he died, and accordingly the body now rests in the burial plot of his son, William. Rev. Dr. Torrance officiated at the burial.

The late James Henry was one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Fenelon, having lived there nearly half a century. He was born in Scotland and came to this country when 34 years old, and has resided ever since in the township, farming being his occupation. He was 83 years old. His wife, two sons, Mr. Alex. Henry, who is living at home, and Mr. Wm. Henry, of town, and three daughters, Mrs. T. Maunder, Little Britton; Mrs. Robt. Douglas, Lindsay, and Mrs. J. Bryson, Camcron, survive him; three of his children predeceased him. He had been sick for only a week previous to his death.

The late Mr. Henry was a staunch member of the Presbyterian church, and led an upright and conscientious life. He was a life-long Liberal in politics and took a live interest in municipal and public affairs.

A Warsaw Marriage.

A pleasant affair transpired here on the evening of Wednesday, 27th April, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Jackson, being the marriage of their second daughter, Miss May Ellen, to Mr. Edward McDonald, of Warsaw. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. McQuade, in the presence of a goodly company of guests, among whom were friends from Peterborough and Toronto. After the ceremony a bountiful repast was served and a pleasant evening spent, after which the young couple repaired to the future home, which had previously been set in order on Mutual street. The bride was the recipient of handsome and appropriate wedding gifts. All join in wishing "bon voyage," etc., through life.

MR. E. B. STONE IS LEAVING TOWN.

He Will go to London—Town Loses Good Citizen.

The many friends of Mr. E. B. Stone, barrister, will regret to learn that he is about to leave town to enter upon the practice of his profession in London, Ontario.

Mr. Stone has been offered a partnership in one of the leading legal firms of that city, the inducements being such that he could not very well decline. He will leave for his new home at once.

In the removal of Mr. Stone from Peterborough the town loses a prominent citizen and the bar one of its most brilliant members. He has been a resident of Peterborough a long time, and has formed a wide circle of personal friends. His genial manner will be missed by many.

The best wishes of a host of friends will follow Mr. and Mrs. Stone and family to their new home.

"Royal Muskoka."

"THE ROYAL MUSKOKA" Hotel is the largest and most magnificent summer hotel in Canada. Location unsurpassed in the centre of the famous Muskoka Lakes District, Highlands of Ontario, (1,000 feet above the sea level), about six hours journey north of Toronto.

The grounds include an area of 130 acres, containing pine and hemlock groves and many beautiful walks and points commanding lovely views. There are Tennis, Golfing, Bowling, Fishing, Bathing, Croquet, Bowling Green, and many enjoyable water trips. First class in every respect. Excellent transportation service.

57TH REGIMENT'S WEEKLY DRILL.

Results of Non-Coms' Examinations—Company Drill Last Night.

There was a large turn out of men to drill last night. It is understood that the stentorian tones of an officer of a certain company attracted a large number of young ladies.

Most of the companies went out to the green where company drill was conducted. Some of the companies carried arms and were put through their rifle drill.

The following orders for the week were read by Captain D. Walker, Adjutant.

Headquarters, Peterborough.
May 5th, 1903.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

A Poser.

Little Dorothy Perkins was usually a very truthful child. When she was not truthful, she was plausible.

Coming in from her walk one morning, she informed her mother that she had seen a lion in the park.

No amount of persuasion or reasoning wavered her statement one hair's breadth, so at night, when she slipped down beside her knee, her mother said, "Ask God to forgive you for that fib, Dorothy."

Dorothy hid her face for a minute; then she looked straight into her mother's eyes, with her own shining like stars, and said, "I did ask him, mamma, dearest, and he said: 'Don't mention it, Miss Perkins. That big dog has often fooled me.'"

THE ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING.

Of All Saints' Church Held on Monday Evening Last.

The Rector's Report—Meeting Showed a Very Satisfactory State of Affairs.

The adjourned vestry meeting in connection with All Saints' church, was held on Monday night, there being a large attendance of the members. The chair was occupied by the Rector, Rev. W. L. Armitage, and the proceedings were opened with prayer.

The auditors' report stated that the statement of the Church Wardens had been examined and had been found to be correct. The report recommended that the statement be printed and distributed among the members of the congregation. This statement was referred to in detail by the Examiner in the report of the vestry meeting a couple of weeks ago. It showed that $2,200 of an income had been derived by the church during the past year, some of which had been applied on the church debt. There had been a large increase in the Synod collections over previous years.

Mr. R. E. Layfield, who had been elected People's Warden, regretted owing to pressure of business, he found it impossible to accept the position. He regretted that he could not act, but expressed his appreciation of the honour the congregation had done him in electing him to the position.

Mr. Jas. Edgar was unanimously chosen as People's Warden, and from his experience of two years in that capacity he will undoubtedly accomplish good work.

The various societies reported and all showed substantial progress both in regard to membership and finances during the year. The Sunday school has done excellent work, the largest attendance of the year being 214.

The Rector, Rev. W. L. Armitage, then submitted his report for the year showing that there had been 149 services during the year, 122 of which he had personally attended. There had been a large increase in the number of communicants especially at the mid-day service. The number of communicants at Easter was the largest in the history of the church. During the year there had been 59 baptisms, 40 persons confirmed, 10 marriages and 15 deaths. The Rector spoke of the loss the church had sustained by the death of several prominent workers. Reference was also made to the death of Mrs. Beck, who evinced a constant interest in the progress of All Saints. It was decided to prepare a resolution of condolence on behalf of the congregation and forward it to the members of the deceased's family. Reference was also made to the departure from the parish of R. W. McFadden, who for 4 years had been Warden and was a faithful church worker.

The year's work on the whole had been a heavy one, the Rector stated, but there had been many encouragements in it. They had made great progress financially as could be seen from the statement of the Church Wardens, notwithstanding many additional expenditures. New families had joined the church and the services throughout the year were well attended. In the matter of charity the congregation had excelled themselves and much good had been done. The Rector urged greater interest in the choir and a committee was appointed to co-operate with the choir to see that the necessary funds are provided for the choir and proper encouragement given.

Altogether the adjourned Vestry Meeting was most enthusiastic and showed that All Saint's is in a healthy condition.

"Work and Play."

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the Highlands of Ontario, about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. This district is composed of lakes and rivers innumerable and is situate 1,000 feet above sea level. Good fishing and hunting are assured. Ample hotel accommodation at all points on the lakes is provided to suit the purses of everyone. Excellent transportation service.

Copies of handsome descriptive literature relating to this country, can be had free by applying to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G. T.R., Toronto.

TEN CARS OF WHEAT WRECKED YESTERDAY.

Freight Train From Midland Meets With an Accident.

A Broken Axle Derailed a Car, and the Result was a Mass of Wreckage.

(Lindsay Post.)

As the result of a broken axle caused by an overheated fire box, a serious accident about 8.30 o'clock this morning on the Midland division of the G.T.R., about a quarter of a mile west of Mr. Duncon's residence on the northern boundary of the town, caused several thousand dollars' worth of damage.

The train was a double header extra freight carrying Manitoba wheat en route from Midland to Belleville, and was in charge of Conductor Edward Harding and engineers Geo. Peacock and Fred. Jarvis. It comprised about thirty cars and it was while coming down the grade east of the Fenelon crossing at a pretty good speed that the accident occurred. A broken axle on one of the cars caused the truck to leave the track, and before the crew knew what was happening ten cars had been derailed and piled high in the air. Two cars were thrown completely across the track, and the others were pitched to both sides. The track for about one hundred yards was completely torn up. Fortunately the brakesmen did not happen to be near the cars involved and so escaped injury.

The ten cars wrecked were situated about the centre of the train. They carried nearly 100,000 bushels of wheat, but with the exception of a couple of thousand bushels the balance can be saved. Several of the cars had their trucks removed from under, but were not broken up.

The auxiliary train and crew were despatched to the scene about half an hour after the accident, and at nine o'clock the gang at work were joined by the Peterborough and Omemee section men in charge of Foreman Geo. Clark, Peterborough, and Foreman Robert Graham, Omemee. The work of clearing the track occupied nearly all day. The train from Coboconk and freights from Midland reached town via Blackwater.

Insane on One Point.

Erskine mentions a case where a person who had been confined in an asylum prosecuted his brother and the proprietor for imprisonment and false duress. The prosecutor, himself a witness in support of the indictment, was put into the witness box and examined. When Erskine came to cross examine him, he tried to discover some lurking alienation of mind, but during a cross examination, conducted with all the skill and sagacity of which he was master, for nearly an hour he was completely foiled.

But a gentleman who had come accidentally into court whispered in Erskine's ear that the witness thought he was the Saviour of mankind.

On receiving the hint Erskine made a low bow to the prosecutor, addressed him in terms of great reverence, respectfully begged to apologize for the unceremonious manner in which he had treated a person of his sacred character and called him by the name of Christ. The man immediately said: "Thou hast spoken truly. I am the Christ."

The Original Carnation.

The original carnation was a five petaled bloom native in the south of Italy. It was imported into England about the time of the Norman conquest. As early as 1619 horticultural works gave minute directions for the cultivation of the flowers in winter. The carnation industry has risen to considerable importance during the last ten years, according to Town and Country. As 2,500,000 of young carnation plants are sold each year and florists produce an equal amount grown by themselves which are not sold, the entire production of young carnation plants approximates 5,000,000 and upward a year. These plants are grown under glass during the winter time for cut flower purposes, producing an annual average of more than 100,000,000 blooms. What becomes of this enormous number of flowers is somewhat of a mystery. They are put to innumerable uses.

Spiders Eat Their Mothers.

One of the most unnatural things in nature, if the expression is allowable, is the manner in which the young of the common wolf spider treat their mother. After the little creature has laid her eggs she envelops them in a silken covering, so as to make a ball about the size of a pea, and this she carries about with her wherever she goes and will defend it with her life. When the young are hatched, they climb on her back, giving her a monstrous appearance, and ride about until nearly half grown, and as soon as they discover their strength they fall to and devour their mother. As a rule the maternal relation is recognized in the animal and insect world only as long as the necessity for protection exists, but instances of the young actually devouring a parent by main force and common consent are extremely rare.—London Nature.

Queer Way to Kill Fish.

Natives of the Torres strait have an original method of killing fish. In places where turtles and large fish are wont to congregate they erect platforms, and as soon as a great turtle or fish appears the man on the nearest platform throws a harpoon and almost invariably strikes the animal. After this is done one of the other men jumps from his platform with a rope, which he fastens around the tail of the captured fish. One end of this rope remains tied to a platform, and thus the fish or turtle is soon safely secured. It is likely, however, to plunge about a good deal, and therefore those men who are within reach of the rope are obliged to take care that it does not trip them up with it.

THE POOR DYSPEPTIC

Is the Most Miserable of Mortals—Only Similar Sufferers can Understand his Hours of Agony.

There is no mortal more miserable than the poor dyspeptic. He is never healthy, never happy—always ailing, always out of sorts. Every mouthful of food brings hours of distress—every moment of the day is spoiled and soured.

If you are a dyspeptic, you know the signs; the coated tongue, the dull headaches, the heartburn, the billiousness, the persistent torment after meals, the hopeless despondency. Any one of these signs points to indigestion. The one sure cure for indigestion is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new blood—that's the whole secret. Through the blood they will brace up your strength waken your liver and set your stomach right. If you ask your neighbours you will find proof of this right at your own home. Mr. Charles Wood, Mars, Ont., one of the thousands of dyspeptics cured by the use of these pills, says:—"For upwards of twelve years I was a great sufferer from indigestion and nervousness. Everything I ate tortured me, I doctored almost continuously, and used almost everything recommended for this trouble, but never got more than temporary relief until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Words cannot express the good these pills have done me. I am in better health than I have enjoyed in years before, and I have proved that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail."

Bad blood is the mother of fifty diseases, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure them all, because they convert bad blood into good, rich, red blood, without which there can be neither health nor strength. Don't be persuaded to try something else—take nothing but the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Origin of "Budget."

It is difficult to realize that the term "budget," now so often in every one's mouth, is a term less than 200 years old, the earliest mention of the word dating no further back than 1733. We borrowed it from the old French language—bougette, meaning a small bag, in which in former times it was the custom to put the estimates of receipts and expenditures when presented to Parliament. Hence the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in making his annual statement, was formerly said to open his budget. In time the term passed from the receptacle to the contents, and, curiously, this new signification was returned from this country to France, where it was first used in an official manner in the early part of the nineteenth century.

IMPERIAL LIFE.

A Year of Unexceptional Prosperity and Achievements.

Toronto * * The Executive Officials of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, report that the year just ended has been one of exceptional prosperity and achievements. It is a well known fact that the Imperial Life's past record has been unequalled in life assurance experience in Canada, but the most sanguine of its numerous policy-holders and active representatives throughout the Dominion will be surprised to learn of the following magnificent results:—Applications for assurances aggregated over $4,500,000; the policies actually issued exceeded the large amount of $4,000,000; cash income totalled over $500,000; the accumulated assets reached $1,650,000, while the entire policies of assurance in force exceed $13,500,000. It was also stated that the interest income from investments was again more than sufficient to pay all of the death claims of the year.

FRANK FISSURE WIDER.

Powder to Be Used to Blow Down All Loose Rocks.

Blairmore, N.W.T., May 5.—There was very little sign of life in Frank yesterday. The police maintained a rigid guard over the place, allowing no one to enter except those having property to look after. Another party ascended the mountain to observe the progress of disintegration going on, and found that the break of crevice from which a second slide is expected has widened greatly since the observations Sunday, and the receipt of this information has created fears that another slide is not far distant.

As soon as all personal property has been removed it is proposed to experiment with powder and try to blow down all loose rocks and any that show signs of breaking. This attempt to render the mountain safe will be made by the Government.

Most of the merchants had decided Sunday not to move their stocks, but all have now decided to do so. H. L. Frank, majority owner of the coal mining property, arrived yesterday with General Manager Gebe, but had no statement to make as to his intentions regarding the property.

Avalanche Kills Two Men.

Sydney, N. S., May 5.—Two men, Nathaniel March and George Lambert, natives of Kennedy's Bay, Newfoundland, were killed, and five others had a miraculous escape from an avalanche of 5,000 tons of stone, which slid down the side of George's River above the steel company's quarries at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

WATERFORD SCORCHED.

$17,000 the Total Loss and One Man Badly Hurt.

Waterford, Ont., May 5.—A disastrous fire broke out at 5.40 p.m. last night. The fire originated in the American House stables and spread to the east, totally destroying the large evaporating factory owned and operated by J. Matchett, private banker. On the west it took in the American Hotel, which is a total wreck. In removing the effects from the American House, one man was badly injured by a fall from a one-storey veranda. On the south, it took in three barns, while on the north the wind was directly from the south and drove the flames against E. Edmonds' fine three-storey block, which was occupied by Mr. Edmonds as a flour and feed store, while John North, who managed the business, occupied the upper storeys as a dwelling. Next came U. J. Chambers' jewelry store, dental office and dwelling, and the other, I. E. Chambers' residence, and also his stock, which comprised a large stock of tinware and stoves. Tenche's saw mill escaped with a bad scorching. Total loss, $17,000; partly covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin.

Boy Dragged to Death.

Winnipeg, Man., May 5.—Joseph Lehin, a lad of 16, came to a terrible end at Eagle Hills, near Battleford. He was riding a stallion that had a rope on his neck, and when running away the boy was caught in its coils and dragged a considerable distance. When the body was recovered, life was extinct.

Farmer Hangs Himself.

Hamilton, May 5.—Early yesterday morning Jay Quidder, a Saltfleet farm hand, went out and hanged himself in the barn of his employer, Major F. M. Carpenter. Why he did it is a mystery. He was a man of very steady habits.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

Her Plan.

"I intend," she said, "to give in charity as much as I spend on dress. It's such a grand idea, so ennobling!"

"It's a good plan," he admitted. "I think you spend too much on dress anyway."

"What's that got to do with it?" she demanded.

"Why, you'll divide your wardrobe money, won't you?"

"Certainly not. I expect you to double it."

Canada's Woods.

The impression that British North America is covered with valuable timber is fallacious. Black walnut, red cedar and white oak are not found north of Toronto. A line drawn from the city of Quebec to Sault Ste. Marie will designate the northern limit of beech, elm and birch. The north shore of Lake Superior will mark the northern boundary of sugar hard maple.

Ancient.

Robson found Smith engaged in vigorously polishing his shoes. "What are you doing that for?" he asked. "I always thought you wore patent leather."

"These used to be patent leather," replied Smith, painfully bringing his spinal column into its normal position, "but the patent on them has expired."

Its Exclusiveness Its Charm.

"What is the object of your society?" said the serious little woman.

"Why," answered Miss Cayenne, "the same as that of any other society—to enjoy the satisfaction of knowing that there are a lot of people who want to get in and can't."

Her Answer.

"What kind of letter did your husband write when he was away?"

"He started 'My Precious Treasure' and ended by sending 'love.'"

"How did you answer?"

"I started with 'My Precious Treasurer' and ended with 'Send me $20.'"

There is less room at the top than is popularly supposed. They who are there are few, but large.—Puck.

THE FEMININE FIB.

A Judicious Blend of Black, White, Gray and Chinese Lies.

A distinguished preacher once divided lies into "black lies, white lies, gray lies and Chinese lies." The feminine fib is generally a judicious blend of the white lie and the Chinese lie. For the benefit of those who have never graduated in the special mendacity tripos it may be explained that a Chinese lie is, as a rule, purely ornamental, being of the nature of embroidery, which is intended to add beauty and color to the plain object on which it is used as trimming.

The Chinese lie is prompted by the very highest and noblest of motives—namely, a desire to give pleasure to others, many a plain, dull fact being served up and made quite tasty and appetising by a little judicious garniture of Chinese—er—embroidery. Directed into the proper channel, a Chinese liar becomes a skilful writer of fiction and turns her gift to profitable account. But the everyday feminine amateur, who has not this outlet for her tarradiddular talent, turns her attention to the afternoon tea table and adds a spice to whatever gossip is going by a gentle peppering of fibs.

Unfortunately this gift of imagination is often accompanied by a defective memory, whereas to make a good—er—prevaricator nothing is so essential as a good memory. Without this the employer of the Chinese method is almost certain to get found out sooner or later—generally sooner—and then she has the mortification of finding that her little efforts to please quite fail in their effect. And not only that; but, what is more trying still, she even finds that when from lack of material for fictional purposes she does for once serve up the cold, ungarnished truth her hearers have so got in the habit of disbelieving her that her plain statement is received with incredulity. That is why any one who aims at distinction in the fibbing world must carefully cultivate a good memory and so follow the Golden Rule to avoid being found out.

J. FLETCHER'S GLAD NEWS.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured his Lumbago and he is a Sound Man.

Granton Man Shouts the Good News that There is a Cure for Kidney Disease and that Cure is Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Granton, Ont., May 3.—(Special.)—There is no uncertain sound about the statement of John Fletcher of this place. "I am glad to let the public know that Dodd's Kidney Pills have cured me of Lumbago and now I am perfectly sound," that is the way he puts it. Questioned as to the particulars of his cure Mr. Fletcher said:

"I had been troubled for a year with Lumbago and Kidney Troubles. My urine was of a very bad colour and I could get nothing to help me.

"I consulted doctors but they could not help me and I was not a very cheerful frame of mind when I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"But it was a lucky day for me when I did. Almost from the first they gave me relief and I was soon entirely cured.

"Yes, my Lumbago is gone; my Kidney Complaint is gone and Dodd's Kidney Pills did it all."

Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure Kidney Complaint, whether that complaint takes the form of Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lame Back, etc.

The Word "Starvation."

The word "starvation" was introduced into the English language by its coiner, Henry Dundas, afterward Viscount Melville. It was originally used by him in a speech in parliament on the American debate in 1775 and was immediately caught up and applied to himself in a political nickname, so that he was known thenceforward as "Starvation" Dundas."

"I shall not," such was his declaration, "wait for the advent of starvation from Edinburgh to settle my judgment."

Before the time of Dundas "starve," "starving," "starved" and "starveling" were in use, but hunger or famine represented the state of starvation.

Although this word has now an established place in our vocabulary, it was at first vigorously opposed by many, and on just grounds, as of hybrid formation. The root "starve" is old English, while the ending, "ation," is Latin. It does not appear in any English dictionaries until the year 1800.

Deep Sea Fish.

Great forests of seaweeds cover the bottom of the ocean and reach from the greatest depths to the surface. In these forests there is life more diversified than in the primeval forests of the tropics. Spiders and wormlike animals of enormous size, infusoriæ, crabs, sea urchins, shells, crustaceans, starfish, turtles and millions of other living things of all kinds find their food in the equally varied plant life of the deep sea.

A curious circumstance connected with deep sea fish is that none of these has ever been brought up alive. Recent deep sea explorations reveal the fact that the ocean still contains immeasurable treasures which await development and utilisation by human inventiveness. The most fertile acre of cultivated land is a sterile desert compared with one acre of the surface of the deep sea bottom.

Wet Shoes.

The usual—and the wrong way—of treating wet boots is to take them off and put them on the fender or the radiator to dry. This method spoils the boots. Too much heat cracks and hardens leather.

Another wrong way is to stand them on their soles anywhere to dry.

The proper way is to place the boots, soles upward, near enough to the fire to dry slowly and properly, but not to steam during the drying.

The soles should always be turned upward, even when the boots are only a little wet, for this way enables the air to reach the wettest part of the leather first.

A COUGH CONUNDRUM

When is a cough more than a cough?

When it's a settled cold. When it hangs on in spite of all you can do. Cough mixtures won't cure it because they are merely for a cough and this is something more.

Scott's Emulsion cures the cough because it cures the something more. It heals and repairs the inflamed tissues where the cold has taken root and prevents its coming back.

FASHION HINTS.

Light Tones in Cloth and Sibeline. Dull Pastel Blue Tints.

Very light tones in cloth and sibeline will be worn this spring, and these are most attractive with a touch of black in the shape of a tulle boa.

A pale dull blue of the pastel order will undoubtedly be much worn, and just now a combination of light and dark blue is greatly in request and a welcome change from the black, emerald, brown and green which have been so general.

The all over lace waist will be much worn this spring and summer. The texture of the lace is somewhat heavier than last year. Little lace coats or blouses, the lace coarse of quality or bold of pattern, tinted to harmonize with neutral toned cloth skirts, will be among the season's most distinguished creations.

Soft satin is quite a popular fabric for evening gowns, and chiffon is the favorite trimming, although much lace is worn. Ribbons are used for a variety of purposes and chiefly for choux, which are now very large and often of two or three colors. Ribbon sashes are arranged on many of the new gowns.

The flowers on evening dresses are all mixed up with loops and trails of ribbon, and baby ribbon is still much used on net gowns.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Pocketing a Fee.

For a whole year the famous English physician, Dr. Radcliffe, attended a friend without a single fee passing between them. As he was leaving after his last visit the patient said: "Here, doctor, is a purse in which I have put every day's fee. You must not let your kindness get the better of my gratitude; so please take it." The generous physician put out his hand to reject the purse, but the chink of the gold was too much for his amiable resolution, so he put it in his pocket, saying, "Singly, sir, I could have refused them forever, but all together I am afraid they are irresistible."

The Roman Aqueducts.

The Roman aqueducts were marvels of architecture. The Ahlo was forty-three miles long; the Martio forty-one, of which thirty-eight were on 7,000 arcades seventy feet high; the Claudia was forty-seven miles long; the arches 100 feet high. The Roman aqueducts brought 40,000,000 cubic feet of water daily into the city, and the various sections of the metropolis were supplied with water by 13,594 pipes.

His Weight in Gold For the Poor.

"A Hindoo stood in a scale, and his weight was measured in goldpieces. That," said a traveler, "was the strange spectacle that I once beheld in India. There was a great crowd looking on, and it took a great many goldpieces to equal the Hindoo's weight, for he was fat. Finally, though, the big scale balanced, and then everybody began to shout: "Tulabhara! Tulabhara! Tulabhara!" The fat man got out of the scale. He and his friends took the gold, and, going through all the poorer quarters of the town, they distributed it among the destitute. This, I was informed, was a kind of religious ceremony among a certain sect. Every male at the time in his life when it was thought his weight would be greatest was put in a scale, and gold to equal him in bulk was measured out and distributed in alms. As a rule, each man was forty-seven when his weight was taken. They hold in India that at forty-seven a man is at his fattest."—Philadelphia Record.

A Story With a Bad Moral.

In a prosperous town in Mexico lives a merchant whose wealth grew out of a combination of good luck and drunkenness. An uncontrollable desire for drink cost him position after position, and he drifted down to Mexico and became a news agent. He sold lottery tickets. He had to report on drawing day what unsold tickets he had and forward them. He got drunk the day before one of the big drawings. Two days later he sobered up and found himself in possession of several hundred dollars' worth of unsold tickets. He did not possess $10 in the world. He examined the list and found that a number of the unsold tickets had drawn prizes aggregating $35,000 in gold. He collected the winnings, paid for the unsold tickets and took an oath of perpetual total abstinence. That was years ago. He has never touched liquor since and is today a wealthy man. The moral is bad, but the story is too good to suppress.

Physicians and Hospitals.

During the past twenty years, millions of bottles of Angier's Petroleum Emulsion have been sold, and nearly all upon doctors' prescriptions. It is also extensively used in hospitals, especially for consumption, and wasting diseases of children. A good reason why you should use it.

Legend of the Looking Glass.

Who ever heard it stated that the looking glass was first invented to spite a pretty woman? And how would it be possible to spite a woman by showing her a perfect reflection of her own dainty self? Well, according to Japanese mythology, the deity presiding over the sun and furnishing light to the world became infuriated at some trifle and hid herself away in a cave, thus depriving humanity of a very necessary element. In order to induce her to come out the mirror was invented and placed in the cave. The beautiful goddess, seeing another beautiful goddess within those narrow confines, immediately departed, and the people took care that never again should she enter the precincts of a cave. And so that most valued of woman's treasures was invented for spite, but for what a different purpose has it served!

Old Coins From Old Mints.

The "mint house" in Boston existed about thirty-four years. All the coins issued from it bore the dates 1652 or 1662, the same dies being used probably throughout the thirty-four years of coinage. Some coins had been made in Bermuda for the use of the Virginia colony as early as 1644. Copper coins bearing the figure of an elephant were struck in England for the Carolinas and New England in 1694. Coins were also struck for Maryland bearing the effigy of Lord Baltimore. A mint was established in Rupert, Vt., by legislative authority in 1785, whence copper cents were issued, bearing on one side a plow and a sun rising from behind hills and on the other a radiated eye surrounded by thirteen stars.

Baldness Not Due to Modern Flour.

The human race was afflicted with baldness and toothlessness centuries before white flour was known. It is possible that both these afflictions are less prevalent now than in the olden times. All the olden time pictures and statues of the dead races showed up a good percentage of bald heads, and tooth pulling and filling and even artificial toothmaking were practiced away back in history. Out of the ruins of Pompeii and Herculaneum are taken whole sets of false teeth along with loaves of bran bread.

The Ideal and the Real.

Uncle Joe—This is a queer world.

City Man—What makes you think so?

Uncle Joe—Well, a painter feller came down to my place last summer and while he was loafing about painted a picter of my dog. I heard afterward that he sold it for $50, so I brought up the dog, thinking I could get at least a cool $100 for him; but, by jingo, I can't even give him away!

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

"That is much to ask," he answered, gravely. "I must consider the question in all its bearings."

"What!" she cried. "Do you hesitate when I ask you?"

"I do not hesitate. I say it is a very serious question. A pledge of friendship given and taken in that fashion is as grave a matter as——"

He paused; for the words that rose to his lips would, he knew, lead him into greater complications.

"I know what you mean," she said, with a sigh and a smile that was irresistible—"you mean that it is as grave a matter as a promise of marriage."

The splendid dark eyes raised suddenly to his face seemed to suggest the idea. Why did he not make that? He read the question in one glance, and he felt afraid of himself.

"Of course it is a solemn pledge," she continued, "but it is one that I think you need not be afraid of. What can one wish for more than to have a true friend? A man who rejected an offer of friendship would not be wise."

"I do not reject it, Miss de Ferras."

The smile that flashed back to him from the girl's beautiful eyes rendered him almost speechless.

"So you say, Sir Karl; but you do not seem to be in any hurry to accept it."

"I repeat," he said, "that you are very good to me. You know what the poet calls friendship—'love without wings.' Your offer of it may be doubly valuable to me for this reason—I am not what is called a marrying man. I will tell you in all confidence that I loved once, and most unhappily. I have no heart to give; and, knowing this, I ought to value doubly the friendship of a woman."

Her face paled at first as she listened; then a gleam of proud defiance came into her eyes, which, if he had seen it, would have put him on his guard.

"You are right," she said; "if you are never to know the love of woman, friendship is the next best thing. I should not have believed, Sir Karl, that you were one to love in vain."

"I did not love in vain," he answered, sadly.

"Perhaps," she said, "some day, when we know each other better, you will tell me the story."

"I think not," he replied, all his former distrust returning. "The past is buried."

The gleam of defiance deepened in the dark eyes.

"Perhaps you are right. I shall always respect your confidence, and never ask any questions. I am glad you have told me this—I shall understand you better. And from now we are to be loyal friends, Sir Karl—from this day constant and faithful friends, loyal to each other at all times and in all places. Do you consent to this?"

How could he resist the sweet, thrilling voice.

"Yes. You honor me," he replied. "How can I help sealing such a compact gladly?"

She placed her hand in his.

"Swear to me that so long as we both live you will be my true friend."

"I swear it," he replied.

"That in your sorrow you will come to me, and in your joy you will seek me."

"I promise," he said, carried away by her beauty and her enthusiasm.

"You will not think of me any more as Miss de Ferras, but as your true friend Lola? Will you say those words to me?"

"My true friend Lola," he said, smiling; and the lovely face was almost transfigured with happiness.

"You must promise me that from this very hour I shall take part in your life; that you will think of me often; that you will tell me your tastes, your likes and dislikes; that when you are absent, you will write to me regularly with your address, so that I may write to you. Promise to do this, holding my hand in yours."

"I promise," he replied, thinking that her ideas of friendship were very elastic, and then reproaching himself for the thought.

"Now I am happy," murmured Lola. "Let me tell you—and do not be shocked at me saying it—that I would far rather have you friendship all my life than the love of any other man."

"But," he said quickly, perceiving the danger at once, "my friendship will not supply the place of love."

"You do not know," she rejoined; "your friendship is worth more to me than the love of any other man can ever be. It makes me the happiest woman on earth, and it makes earth heaven to me."

"But, Lola, how am I ever to repay you or thank you? What am I to do in return for this wealth of affection that you lavish upon me?"

"You must repay me in kind. You have trusted me; I will trust you. I, like yourself, have loved some one so well that, if that some one never loves me, I shall go unmarried to my grave. See what comfort we can give to each other! This is the happiest day of my life, Sir Karl."

"You are very good, Lola, to say so. If I have added to your happiness, I am well pleased."

"You have not added to it; you have made it," she declared. "And now, Sir Karl, with the fear of all the offended proprieties, I must go." Still she held his hand fondly clasped in her own. "I am so glad I came," she added, "I hesitated long about it. It was I who persuaded mamma that those books must be of importance to you. She said the servants could take them; but I told her that as I was passing the lodge I might leave them; and then I did not think that there would be any harm seeing you for a few minutes to say farewell. I shall always be glad that I came."

She looked so happy that he could not find it in his heart to reproach her.

"How long will you be away from England?" she asked.

His heart turned with loyal allegiance to Dolores, for whose sweet sake and for love of whom he was going into exile. He would come back when he had ceased to love her, but not until then.

"I cannot tell exactly," he replied. With undisturbed good humor she asked:

"You will think of me very often when you are away? I wonder whether it will make you any happier to know that one faithful heart will go with you everywhere. Will it comfort you to know that?"

"Yes," he replied, almost hating himself because he could not feel more grateful for all this kindness.

"I must say good-by," she said, with lingering regret. "It is hard as death—I have found you only to lose you. Good-by, Sir Karl. Say to me some kind word which will keep my heart warm while you are away."

"The kindest words I have for you," he answered, "are the title you have given yourself—my true friend Lola."

"When you return will you promise to come and see me before you see any one else, Sir Karl?"

"Yes, I will, Lola; I can easily promise that."

"And now it must indeed be good-by," she said. "Good-by!"

Her hand lingered in his; the beautiful face was upraised to his; the dark eyes and fresh, sweet lips invited a caress; but he was resolved that there should never be anything more than friendship between them. He did not touch with his lips either the white brow or the white hand.

"Good-by, Lola," he said. "I will see you safely into your carriage."

But as the girl still held his hands tightly clasped in her own, he saw that tears were falling down her face.

"It is no pain for you to part with me," she said. "To me it is more bitter than death."

"Nay, not that, Lola."

"Yes, and more than that. You do not know, you do not understand! Do you think if the pain had not been more than I could bear, that I should have come here to see you, have risked so much and dared so much to spend these last minutes with you? If I could tell you all that is passing in my heart now, you would not go away."

"I must go in any case, Lola," he said, firmly. "Now let me see you to your carriage. I am afraid it will be dark before you reach home."

She lingered with him as long as she could; the arrangement of the rugs and wrappers afforded an excuse for keeping him by her side. It was so sweet and pleasant to her that he should interest himself in her comfort. Then the groom took his place, and there was no further excuse for delay.

"Good-by, once more," she said.

The little ponies started off, and she had seen the last of him.

"He will be mine yet," she soliloquized. "I shall win him. How many a heart is caught in the rebound! Who was it that he loved, and loved in vain? I wish I had been in that woman's place. How I love him and how foolish I am? Yet I will win him, if love and patience can do it. People laugh at love and think it weakness or a girl's sentimental folly. Why, it is the strongest of human passions."

When she came to think over her interview with him, she was not dissatisfied. She felt a certain hope that when he returned it would be to her. She smiled at her own beautiful image in the glass.

"I must not repine or be dull while he is away," she said to herself. When he returns! Ah, Heaven is good, and he will not be long away from me!"

CHAPTER X.

Sir Karl Allanmore had gone, leaving Scarsdale to the care of servants; and the one topic of conversation in the county now was the wedding at White Cliffe. Lord Rhysworth had made great preparations at Deeping Hurst. A beautiful suite of rooms had been re-decorated and refurnished for his young wife, containing everything that taste could suggest and money furnish.

The day fixed for the wedding came at last—a fine, bright day, near the close of autumn. The little church at Deeping was prettily decorated for the occasion, and the school children were there with flowers to throw before the bride. The Squire, in the pride of his heart, had invited almost more guests than White Cliffe could accommodate. The elite of the county were present at the ceremony. The bridesmaids wore costumes of cream-color and pale blue, and were remarkable for their beauty. The Squire, erect and handsome, seemed to have grown twenty years younger—so all declared; the bridegroom's appearance was high-bred and aristocratic; but the bride attracted the most attention. Dolores had never looked so lovely. The fair, flower-like face was not rosy with blushes; it was pale, with a calm, steadfast expression; the violet eyes did not droop, nor did her voice falter when the solemn words were uttered which bound her heart, life, and love, to another.

After the wedding-breakfast, Lord and Lady Rhysworth departed for Deerhurst Manor for their honeymoon. Lady Fielden kindly consented to remain at White Cliffe to superintend the ball which the Squire intended to give in honor of the event.

Lola had acted as chief bridesmaid, and on her dark face there was a look of triumph. All was safe now that Dolores was married; there would be no likelihood that Sir Karl would let his thoughts wander in that direction again. She had spoken a few words to Dolores before she started for Deerhurst.

"It has been a pretty wedding, Dolores," she said, as she followed her to her room to bid her farewell. "Indeed I may say more than that. I have never seen a more beautiful one. I shall tell Sir Karl all about it when I write." She wished to let Lady Rhysworth know that she corresponded with Sir Karl. "He will be greatly interested in it," she continued.

But no crimson flush of pain or embarrassment rose to her friend's face—only a calm, sweet smile; and Dolores' fervent response disarmed Lola.

"I am sure he will."

Still Lola was not quite satisfied. She kissed the fair face and said—

"I hope you will be happy, Dolores, I never thought you would be married first. It is stealing a march on me; but I will forgive you. You must not be surprised if you hear of a marriage when Sir Karl returns."

She had the satisfaction then of seeing the sweet face grow pale; and, with a kiss, Lola withdrew.

To the day of her death Dolores remembered the close of her wedding—the chiming of the bells at Deeping, the cheers of the crowd, the hall of the old house lined with friends and servants, the pretty group of bridemaids, with Lola prominent among them, the white head of her father, the shower of old slippers and rice, the dear, happy home she was leaving forever. She recalled it all through a mist of tears—tears which her husband kissed away.

"You shall never regret it, Dolores, my darling," he said. "This shall be the beginning of a new and happy life."

And it was a happy life. When the honeymoon was over, Lady Rhysworth declined to go abroad as her husband suggested, and they came back to Deeping Hurst. There was a series of brilliant wedding festivities, to which half the country were invited; and Lord Rhysworth, in his anxiety to please his young wife, pressed her to invite Lola de Ferras to remain at Deeping Hurst until they were ended.

"You would like a young companion, Dolores," he said, "and I was much struck with the high spirit and vivacity of Miss de Ferras."

He little guessed how his young wife in her heart longed for rest and peace—nothing more. Her husband's wish was however law to her, and she never, even in thought, rebelled against it. He wished her to invite Lola; she did so at once; and the beautiful French girl was only too pleased to accept the invitation.

"May and December," she said to herself. "May finds herself lonely, and December would rather have me there to amuse her than intrust that task to a fine jeune homme. I go to Deeping Hurst in a kind of missionary capacity."

Lola never heard a word of disagreement between husband and wife. There never was the least coolness. On one side were devoted attention and lavish love; on the other was cheerful obedience.

"It is not my notion of a married life," thought Lola. "I should feel compelled to quarrel with my husband at times, just for the pleasure of making it up."

"LUCKY"

Is often the name given by careless and thoughtless people to those who are careful and thoughtful. "What a lucky woman," is said of one whose health and beauty proclaim her free from womanly diseases. The luck often consists in her having thoughtfully considered the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and proved its ability to cure the diseases peculiar to her sex.

"Favorite Prescription" is a reliable medicine for the cure of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"I had poor health for nine years," writes Mrs. Armintie Watkins, of Acme, Kanawha Co., W. Va. "Had female weakness, was very irregular and would suffer untold misery. Our family doctor did not do me any good and I concluded to write to you. When I wrote I had no idea that I would ever get well, but when your letter reached me I began to have hope. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines as directed and began to improve in strength. I was soon able to do the work for my family of six. I took eight bottles, three of 'Favorite Prescription' and five of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pellets.'"

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills CURED.

Read what Miss L. L. Hanson, Waterside, N.B., says: "I feel it my duty to express the benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. A year ago last spring I began to have heart failure. At first I would have to stop working and lie down for a while. Then I got so bad I had to give up altogether and go to bed. I had several doctors attend me but they did me no good. I could get no relief until urged by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before I had used three quarters of a box I began to feel the benefit and by the time I had taken three boxes I was completely cured."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills cure nervousness, sleeplessness, palpitation of the heart, skip beats, and all troubles arising from the heart or nerves.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

How Flies Are Able to Taste.

The proboscis of the fly and the tongues of bees and ants are furnished with numerous delicate hairs set in minute pits. These are perhaps connected with the organ of taste; but, though the exact locality of this sense in insects is uncertain, we know that the groups of cells in the tongues of animals called taste bulbs form in part the ends of the organ of taste. These vary in number, increasing in the higher animals. They are very close and exceedingly numerous in man, while the tongue of even the cow has some 35,000 taste bulbs.

It would be interesting to know whether each special taste excites a special group of nerves and that only, thus corresponding to the auditory nerves. These taste bulbs were discovered in 1867. Each one consists of two kinds of cells, one set forming an outer protective covering, through an opening in which project from five to ten of the true taste cells. Though important, they are not apparently an essential part of the organ, for birds and reptiles have none, but neither have they a keen sense of taste, except perhaps the parrot.

Concerning the Letter "Y."

A writer in Science denies that the letter "y" is a lineal descendant from the Roman "Y," which in the time of Cicero was borrowed from the Greek alphabet to represent upsilon in the translation of Greek names. The latter is only used, he says, as a vowel to transliterate upsilon in loan words either direct from the Greek or indirectly through Latin or French. In a great majority of cases the English "y" is a semiconsonant corresponding in value with the continental "j." Along with the other Roman letters, "y" was adopted by the Anglo-Saxons from the Latin alphabet, with a value approximating to that of "i." In fact, he claims that there is not a lineal descendant of the Anglo-Saxon "y" now in existence. The letter "y" in modern English words is, curiously enough, he claims, not a "y" at all, but a lineal descendant of the Anglo-Saxon "g," which was the Roman "G" evolved by the Romans out of an earlier "C."

Emaciated by Kidney Disease

Suffered Greatly From Backache, Sleeplessness and Headache—Now Enthusiastic in Praising

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

One feature of kidney disease is the gradual loss of flesh and wasting away of the tissues of the body. Slowly and surely the victim feels strength and vigour ebbing away and realizes his awful condition. The following letter suggests a remedy which has brought back health and happiness to thousands of sufferers from kidney disease.

Mr. William E. Halditch, Port Robinson, Ont., states: "I was for several years a great sufferer from kidney trouble from which dread disease I am now happily free. I had all the usual symptoms in an aggravated degree and at times was completely incapacitated with pains in the back, biliousness and headache. I had little or no appetite, insomnia resulted and my condition was really wretched. I became emaciated and grew despondent and hopeless of relief as I had taken treatment from doctors to no avail.

"Finally on the advice of a friend, I began using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and, after using a few boxes I was again enjoying health and vigour as the worst symptoms had entirely passed away. When I think of my present good health in comparison with my miserable condition of three years ago I would not go back to my former state for any amount of money. I may be considered enthusiastic over Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, but, considering the benefit derived from them, I have every reason to be."

Messrs. Haight & Freese, Stock Brokers, submit the following:—

New York, May 6th — Temporarily it will be well to trade for quick profits. The market is narrow and movements even in specialties are restricted within most narrow limits. The opportunity should not be lost to buy for turns. There is good buying of Atchison, Pen, Reading and St. Paul. These will sell very much higher within a reasonable period, and should be taken hold of on any little recessions. Specialties. Buy N.Y.C., sugar; hold Mexicans. Disregard gold exports.

JOSEPH.

New York, May 6th.—The outlook for to-day seems to favour an irregular stock market with a good undertone, in as much as gold exports near purchases should be made with the idea of buying on a scale down and in the event of reaction which would not be more than temporary. We believe the Goulds are about to engage a bull campaign, and we advise the purchase of W.Z., M.O.P. Among the safest issues are Atch., B.O. There are strong bull points out on A.C.P.

TOPICS.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, May 6th, 9.45 a. m. — Americans dull, fractionally lower; business very light.

M. & M.

Crop reports indicate winter wheat little injured but corn planting late. President Ramsay says Wabash will not abandon important work. Sale of San Antonia and Ark pas by S. not effect latter's guarantee of bonds. Banks gained from treasury since Friday $94,000 J. G. Gates leaves for Europe to-day. $500,000 gold for Buenos Ayres to-day.

DOW, JONES & CO.

An additional assessment of 25 p.c. on the inter-urban stock has been called due June 10th. This makes total payment of 50 p.c. and will call for $7,500,000. This is regarded as somewhat bullish on M.R. stocks as it tends to further assure the payment of div. which is guaranteed by the Met. sec. Co. but is rather bearish on the latter stock. We look for repetition of yesterday's narrow traders market, and would take profits on bulges.

M. & M.

New York, May 6, 10.35. —Market very dull, some traders inclined to sell on absence of any outside buying. Paris on London (up 1 centime, now 29 francs 17 1-3 centimes which equals 10 point fluctuation in our demand sterling rate and this will probably prevent gold shipment. Sub-treas. statement shows banks gained $521,000 since Friday. There is better class of buying coming in now any general market becoming active and stronger. M.O.P. looks like doing better.

BLAKE FAILS TO SHAKE STRATTON.

Toronto. As to rumours that Gamey was to support the Government, it was evident they had come to Mr. Whitney's ears, from what he said. Messrs. Conmee and Marter had told witness of such reports.

As to letters regarding the office of justice of the peace, and for which Mr. Blake had asked, he was rather surprised to learn they were already on file as exhibit. Mr. Gamey said people of the district complained of the officials who carried out the Government's policy, rather than the policy itself.

Witness had had nothing whatever to do with election protests.

With reference to correspondence alleged to have passed between the Provincial Secretary and Duncan Bole, Mr. Stratton said he had no knowledge of it; if he had received such a letter it would, no doubt, be acknowledged.

Mr. Johnston—"My Lords, I got a letter from Mr. McPherson asking for such correspondence; I at once had a search made, but could find no such letters."

WHEN HE TOLD COLLEAGUES.

Q.—Was it on the 9th or 10th that you informed your colleagues that Gamey was going to support the Government A.—I think on the evening of the 9th; we had a council meeting that day at which the Premier, Mr. Gibson, Mr. Latchford, Mr. Harcourt, and myself were present.

Q.—I got a letter, Mr. Stratton, stating that you had said that if the Attorney-General were asked where the money came from, he could say? A.—That is not true; I made no such statement.

Q.—Up to the present moment are you able to state how the letter of the 10th September got to the possession of the Premier? A.—I am not, of my own knowledge.

Q.—Did he speak about the letter of the 27th Oct. when he got it? A.—He did not; not until the statement in the House.

Q.—Were you aware that it had been received? A.—I was not.

Q.—Did you suppose that Gamey had no intention of sending it from Gore Bay? A.—I was not thinking about the matter at all; I sent the later as he asked, and dropped it from my mind.

Q.—Did Mr. Gamey mention to you who were the friends with whom he wished to confer before the Globe interview came out? A.—His political friends in his constituency, I understood.

Q.—Had he not conferred with his friends before? A.—Yes; I understand so—with reference to his actions.

Q.—In connection with this interview, did he say he would have to confer with his friends? A.—With more of his friends.

At this point the court rose for luncheon.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

Promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon, Mr. Stratton again stepped in the box, and Mr. Blake resumed his cross-examination.

Q.—Mr. Gamey told you that he was going to confer with his friends. Did he give you any names? A.—No.

Q.—You say he telephoned to you the day before the Globe interview was given. Why did you not see him on that day? A.—There was the annual meeting of the Trust Company on that day, and when he telephoned me I told him I could not see him that day.

Q.—Was the interview prepared at that time? A.—As a matter of fact it was not.

Q.—Then either reason would have been sufficient? A.—Yes.

Q.—At what hour did he see you on the next day? A.—After luncheon. A little after two, I should say.

Q.—Did he explain in what respect the interview was a little too strong? A.—No; he said he would take it away and look it over.

Q.—Well, if it was too strong for him to give it was too strong for you to take? A.—Well, if he was willing to support the Government, I was willing to let him.

Q.—Did you postpone preparing the interview until it had been discussed in Council? A.—No.

Q.—You were keeping it as a surprise, so that your colleagues would say, what a great man Stratton is? A.—No.

Q.—Stratton couldn't be any greater? A.—Oh, I don't know.

Q.—Did you have an interview with anyone about three weeks before the House opened, in one of the corridors. Think that over. My memorandum states that you had an interview with Frank Sullivan at that time? A.—I had no interview with Frank Sullivan at that time.

Q.—Did you have an interview with Mr. George a few weeks ago in connection with these events in your office? A.—Mr. George, of the Mail? He had several interviews with me.

Q.—Did you send a note asking him to come and see you? A.—No.

Q.—How did he get the information that you wanted to see him? A.—I recollect speaking to Mr. Myers—I just forget my exact words. At all events Mr. George came in.

Q.—You sent for him? A.—I suppose I had conversations with him almost every day. I asked him on several occasions to come in.

Q.—Do you remember the occasion of your desire to see him? Had it anything to do with Mr. Burrows? A.—Now you have refreshed my memory. I was told that Mr. George had gone to Kingston to inquire about Mr. Burrows, and that he had been saying certain things. I wanted to ask him if it was so. He said it wasn't. He denied that he had been to Kingston.

Q.—Oh, well that is a small matter. Some go to Kingston voluntarily and some involuntarily. What passed with regard to that visit? A.—I with regard to that visit? A.—I can't recall.

Q.—Who told you that Mr. George had been to Kingston? A.—I don't know.

Q.—Is it a rule of your office that whenever anybody goes to Kingston you inquire about it? A.—No.

Q.—Then why did you ask Mr. George? A.—A mere inquisitiveness perhaps.

Q.—What did you ask him? A.—I understood that the Mail and Empire had sent Mr. George to Kingston with regard to Mr. Burrows. He said it wasn't so, and that was all there was to it.

Q.—Was Gamey's name mentioned? A.—I think it was.

Q.—What was said about Gamey being bought? A.—That was not true.

WHERE HE GETS MONEY.

Q.—Did you get any money from your solicitors, Messrs. Stratton & Hall, of Peterborough, during August or September last? A.—I am getting money from them all the time.

Q.—Any in September last? A.—Yes; my checks would show; I have no objection to you examining my accounts fully.

Q.—No other records but the checks? A.—No.

Q.—On the 9th of September you informed your colleagues about Gamey's interview with you? A.—Yes.

Q.—On the 11th you had a discussion with your colleagues in reference to the Conservative caucus? A.—At breakfast.

Q.—Who were present? A.—Mr. Harcourt, Mr. Dryden, Mr. Latchford, and perhaps Mr. Gibson.

Q.—What was said? A.—Merely a reference to Gamey's attitude at the caucus.

Correcting Mr. Blake's impression, Mr. Stratton said that he had not said that Mr. Gamey's support had been discussed in council; there was a great difference between merely mentioning it in the Council Room and in Council.

Q.—What took place there between you and your colleagues on the 11th? A.—Well, at breakfast I said that I saw Mr. Gamey had been at the Conservative caucus yesterday; it was mentioned more in a jocular way than anything else.

Q.—You referred simply jocularly to a man who was one thing on the 9th, and another on the 10th? A.—Yes.

Q.—And the letter was not referred to then? A.—No; I don't suppose they knew anything about it; life is too short. You take the thing more seriously than we did.

Q.—Isn't it strange that nothing was said about the letter either on the 9th or 11th? A.—No; I don't think so. The matter was in the party solicitor's hands.

Q.—On the 9th September Mr. Gamey could not have known the kind of a letter you were wanting from him? A.—He didn't know at any time that we were wanting a letter from him.

Q.—He was thrusting the letter on you? A.—No; I told you quite frankly that we treated him merely in a friendly way.

Q.—Why was the letter of the 27th October post-dated? A.—Gamey said he would be home about the 27th, and he wanted to mail it from his home in Gore Bay, and to make it of that date.

Q.—He could have put the date on himself? A.—He asked me to have it post-dated. You can see now why it was done. He wanted to post-date his letter so that he could make this statement. He no doubt thought that the evidence would be stronger if it were so dated, that it was for the object of having his petition dropped.

Q.—Was that matter discussed at that time? A.—No; it was not.

Q.—Because Mr. Grant had said that the protest was as good as dropped on the 4th October? A.—That is what he said; I dated it as he requested.

Q.—What good did it do him to leave the original and to send in another incriminating letter? A.—I am not prepared to say—ask Mr. Gamey.

Q.—What was discussed on the 9th, if the letter was not? A.—The justice of the peace; then his position with regard to supporting the Government; then license inspector and license commissioners.

Q.—And what followed after that? A.—And the referendum officer.

Q.—Did the Globe interview come in opportunely? A.—It came in on the 10th of January.

Q.—That was opportunely, was it not? A.—It depends on how you look at it.

Q.—But bye-elections are according to the strength of the Government? A.—As a rule.

Q.—And if you got the interview the position of the Government would be a help in the bye-elections? A.—I suppose everything of that kind.

Q.—It was opportune that this came out in the Globe? A.—You may put it in that way.

Q.—You will not contradict it? A.—It made no difference.

Q.—No? A.—It was not done with that particular object in view.

Q.—Oh, no, I don't say that, but here were the elections of February, and this getting in the paper on the 30th of January told that you had another supporter? A.—There were no serious elections coming off in February.

Q.—In what terms did Mr. Gamey refer to the letter of the 10th, when he asked you about it? A.—He asked me for the letter that he had sent to the Premier.

Q.—Why didn't he go to the Premier or to his department? A.—I suppose because he had spoken to me before about it, and spoken on political topics, and, perhaps, because I was the only member of the Government he was acquainted with.

Q.—Then all the reason you can assign for it is that he was on better terms with you than with any other member of the Government? A.—He knew me.

Q.—I should have thought that the letter being written to the Premier, he would have gone to the Premier. Did he give you any reason or make any excuse for coming to you? A.—He simply asked me to obtain the letter for him.

Q.—Give any reason? A.—No.

Q.—I didn't catch your reason for saying you didn't answer that letter when he requested a loan of $2,000? A.—I was absent, en route either to or from Halifax. When I came back Mr. Myers placed the letter before me, and I told him I had no money to loan Gamey.

Q.—You sent no letter of reproof? A.—Why should I reprove a man who wanted to borrow? I have loaned money before.

Q.—To Mr. Gamey? A.—No.

Q.—At all events it did not surprise you enough to take it up and give an answer? A.—I thought Mr. Gamey might have thought that because I was connected with a bank and two companies, he might have wanted me to procure a loan.

Q.—Why did you not refer him to these financial institutions? A.—I was not doing his business.

Q.—His composition? A.—No.

Q.—However, when it came to financial usiness you did not answer his letter? A.—No.

NEARLY DONE WITH STRATTON.

Q.—Now, to close the examination, you don't know where the money came from? A.—No.

Q.—It would save us the trouble? A.—I would like to save it you.

Re-examined by Mr. Johnston:

Q.—Do you know whether on the 23rd or 24th of October last Mr. Gamey was acquainted with the Premier? A.—He was not.

Q.—The Globe interview of the 30th preceded two bye-elections? A.—North York and Centre Bruce.

Q.—Had you previous to that time more important bye-elections? A.—Yes, North Perth, North Grey, and North Norfolk.

Q.—What do you say with reference to the value of an interview before these three elections rather than before the two bye-elections? A.—The interview would be more valuable before the three bye-elections.

Q.—The Government numerically had 5 majority at this time after three bye-elections? A.—Yes, five majority.

Q.—Before the Bruce and North York elections took place on the 26th February, your position was about five majority? A.—With the Speaker.

Q.—If the two bye-elections had gone against you, would you have had a Government majority? A.—Of three.

Q.—Did you send for correspondence? A.—Yes.

Q.—If a prominent supporter should come to you about appointments, about which you had correspondence, would you place correspondence before him? A.—A man so prominent in the party as Mr. Simms would be taken into our confidence. This would be done in his case.

Q.—Then you heard Frank Sullivan give evidence as to the X Y Z letter of February 11th? A.—Sent to Gamey by Sullivan, with enclosure.

Q.—You remember what he said with reference to information?

Mr. Blake objected.

Chancellor Boyd—We have the evidence.

Q.—You were asked whether Mr. Sullivan had seen the letter of the 7th, "Row On"? A.—Gamey's letter to me. I had not.

Q.—Then regarding the X. Y. Z. letter and enclosure, what was the first you heard of these documents? A.—In the Legislature.

Q.—My learned friend put into your answer by his question these words, "Sold my people." Were they ever used? A.—No.

Chancellor Boyd asked for the connection.

Mr. Johnston—As to Gamey's using that expression.

Q.—Was there any conversation between you and Mr. Gamey regarding the constituency being sold? A.—No.

Q.—Or any explanation as to why the people were to be sold? A.—No.

Q.—Explain the public meeting talked about. A.—Gamey said he had been conferring with friends. They agreed with him that he would support the Government. He said a public meeting would be held at which he would state his position.

MEETS BOTH SIDES.

Q.—Your position as a public man brings you into contact with men of both sides of the House as to the wants of their constituents? A.—Yes.

Q.—Do you ever occupy a hostile position whether they are Conservatives or Liberals? A.—I never do.

Q.—Then in reference to appointment of justice of the peace, about which a good deal has been said, do you remember a petition that came in? Give us the date? A.—I can't without looking.

Q.—From the Huron Lumer Company and others? A.—September 20, 1902.

Q.—Letter written to you on September 29th, enclosing petition, was the first communication you had from Mr. Gamey? A.—Yes.

Q.—On October 2nd, about the time you received it, you wrote this letter. It's to your colleague, the Attorney-General, and refers to the appointment of Thomas Flesher as a justice of the peace. Was that all your intervention in the matter? A.—Yes.

Q.—On October 2nd, 1902, you answered the letter which enclosed the petition. On the same day you write referring to returning officer. With the exception of these two letters written on the same day, you did not write to Mr. Gamey? A.—No.

Q.—Both written on October 2nd? A.—Yes; one in the morning, and the other at night.

Q.—Of all the correspondence he had with you, he only received two letters from you? A.—Yes.

Q.—So excepting the two letters, no letters were written to him by you? A.—None.

"MY DEAR FOY."

Q.—In the first letter you begin, "My Dear Gamey"; and in the other, "My Dear Sir." Any special reason for that? A.—None. Sometimes a letter is addressed "My Dear Foy."

Mr. Blake—It would be better if witness remembered he was on oath.

Q.—Mr. Gamey writes you on November 4th, "My Dear Sir." On November 6th, "My Dear Sir." On January 13th, "My Dear Sir."

Witness said he knew nothing of Captain Sullivan's interview in Ottawa.

Q.—In Mr. Whitney's letter of that date, he said, "My Dear Gamey." Later, it was "My Dear Sir." Coming to the question of License Commission, any salary? A.—None. Only $1.00 or $2 while sitting, and expenses. The Inspector is paid a salary.

Q.—A good deal has been said as to Gamey wanting, and the Government desiring. Was there any request made by you or your Government to Gamey to support the Government? A.—None.

Q.—Was it held out that his support would be of benefit to Government? A.—No.

Q.—Rather, benefit to his constituents? A.—Yes.

Mr. Johnston—Apart from the letter dealing with personal matters, there would not be any of your correspondence that would not go on file? A.—No.

Q.—You have been asked about your typewriters. Have you any typewriters in offices adjacent to your own, except those in use in your own office? A.—There are some in the same corridor.

Q.—What branches of your department are they? A.—The public institutions. Mr. Christie, Mr. Noxon, Dr. Chamberlain are there. Mr. Lumsden is on the main corridor, Dr. Bryce upstairs.

Q.—You said that when Mr. Ross went away he left the protests in your hands? A.—Perhaps that was scarcely correctly expressed. He authorized me to deal with any protests that might arise.

Q.—To what extent? A.—To the extent of deciding what might or might not be done with certain constituencies.

Q.—At the three meetings you attended, was anything done with regard to protesting any riding? A.—No. We dealt with only those constituencies in which there were to be no protests.

Q.—And the remainder? A.—There was no decision as to how they were to be dealt with. The party solicitors could deal with them as they thought best.

Q.—From that time on did you have anything to do with the protests? A. Nothing either directly or indirectly.

Q.—Mr. Caleb C. Platt was mentioned as an issuer of marriage licenses? A.—Oh, yes, that was the man. He was not appointed.

DEFINITION OF PATRONAGE.

At this point Mr. Johnston sat down, having completed his re-examination of the witness. The Chancellor asked Mr. Stratton what he understood as the patronage of the riding. Mr. Stratton said he understood it to mean the privilege of making recommendations to fill the important offices in the riding as they fell vacant. The Chancellor asked if there was any convention as regards patronage under which each party treated it in the same way. Mr. Stratton said he did not know of any such convention. The practice as far as the present Government was concerned was that the applicant had to receive the endorsation of the Government's friends in the riding. The friends might be the member or the defeated candidate or private individuals. Other things being equal, a friend of the Government was appointed.

MR. STRATTON FINISHES.

Mr. Stratton stepped out of the box at 3.16 after seven hours and a half's examination.

Mr. Arthur J. VanNostrand, Provincial land surveyor, was the next witness. He produced a plan of the Parliament buildings, and was asked regarding the light at the west entrance and the acoustics of the lavatory.

Cross-examined by Mr. McPherson, Mr. VanNostrand could not speak of the condition of the lights, etc., in September and January last. The wash-room was a large room, and it might be difficult to overhear a conversation carried on at one side of it.

Mr. Johnston then asked that the court adjourn until to-morrow morning in order that he might have time to call witnesses required in answer to rebuttal evidence.

The court then adjourned until to-morrow at 10

GAMEY COMMISSION.

Evidence Closed and the Argument on Tuesday Next.

SUMMARY OF ARRANGEMENTS

Mr. James Conmee, M.P.P., on the Stand Tells of His Conversations With Mr. Gamey and of the Manitoulin Protest—Questioned About Liberal Campaign Fund — Rebuttal Evidence.

Toronto, May 7.—The evidence in the Gamey case was practically finished yesterday, and the Commission adjourned at 2.50 until Tuesday morning, when, after a few matters have been disposed of, Mr. Blake will begin the argument for the prosecution. Neither side has yet decided whether or not to recall Mr. Gamey, but the Chancellor said the commission would require his presence on some points.

A Non-Suit.

The names of the other Ministers having been mentioned, Mr. Johnston said that they had not been called because there was nothing for them to answer. The Chancellor remarked that he supposed, so far as they were concerned, there would be a non-suit if it were a civil investigation.

What Commissioners Want.

The judges also stated that they desired to have two matters on which evidence had not been presented, cleared up. One was the matter of the letter sent to Gamey by Mr. D. A. Jones, of Beeton. The Chancellor announced that they would call Mr. Jones and take his testimony themselves.

Another matter which they thought it necessary to clear up was the question of how Gamey's letter of Sept. 10 came into the hands of Premier Ross. Mr. Johnston demurred at this, and said he hadn't thought it worth while to call other Cabinet Ministers for there was nothing material on which they could testify. The Chancellor insisted that this must be cleared up, and it is likely that the Premier will be called. The judges also alluded to the fact that Captain John Sullivan had not been called; but, after consideration, did not deem it necessary, as it was not shown that he had broached anything to Gamey.

Yesterday morning there was a secret examination of the Ontario Bank's books by judges and counsel, Mr. Walter Barwick, K.C., representing the bank. Nothing was revealed as to what took place. When the court rose at 1 o'clock it was agreed that some expert accountant nominated by the court should look over the entries in the books of the revenue-producing branches of the Government on or about the dates involved.

At the opening of the Gamey Commission yesterday morning the first witness was Mr. James Conmee, M. P.P. Both before and after the elections he spoke with Mr. Gamey about mining and other matters. They discussed starting a smelter, and whether the Government would grant a subsidy. Between the 4th and 11th of June, in the Rossin House, Gamey again discussed the smelter, and he told Gamey that the Government was favorable to some form of assistance. Gamey mentioned a water-power which could be used in connection with the smelter, and said he thought he could raise $10,000 to put into it. In the conversation Gamey said that Mr. Whitney, in a speech at Sudbury, showed ignorance of mining matters.

Gamey said that if the Ross Government carried out its policy he would give it an independent support. About the end of June he met Gamey again on the train, and Gamey said he had made up his mind to give the Ross Government his support. The protest was mentioned, and Conmee said he did not think it would be pressed if he (Gamey) were going to be a Government supporter. His attention was called to the denial made by Mr. Gamey in his evidence that he said he would support the Government. Mr. Conmee was positive Gamey did say so, and, moreover, that it was understood at nomination that he would be independent. Gamey further told him that he was not bound to support any party, and that he had tried to put his party right on these matters.

In cross-examination Mr. Conmee said he had been urging the Government to establish a customs smelter, but none was yet built. The Government was a little slow about the matter. He had urged it upon Mr. Hardy, both as Commissioner and as Premier. He reminded Mr. Gamey that if the Government was not very fast his political friends were very bad in opposing such a policy. After the election Gamey told him that, though he ran as a Conservative, he was not a strict party man. Though he was anxious to see those districts go the right way, he had no charge over them.

Gamey asked him if June if his being a Conservative would be a detriment to the enterprise of starting a smelter or prevent the Government from giving assistance. He said he did not think so, for his experience was that the Conservatives frequently got the best of it. The Conservatives got favors that the Liberals ought to get, Mr. Conmee said in a bantering way. He thought it would do the company no harm if he (Gamey) continued a Conservative.

It was then Gamey said he was not a strict party man, and would give the Government independent support. He told Gamey that he was an independent supporter and told the Liberal convention that if he accepted the nomination it was on condition that he might reserve to himself the right to judge for himself any measures that might be proposed. He himself had voted against the Government many times, but not under Mr. Ross' Premier-

THE RURAL DEANERY OF NORTHUMBERLAND

Was Held at Campbellford on Tuesday and Wednesday Last.

The quarterly meeting of the Rural Deanery of Northumberland was held in Campbellford on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. There were present, Rev. Rural Dean G. Warren, and the following reverend gentlemen :—Messrs. A. J. Reid, J. C. Davidson, E. A. Langfeldt, W. Creswick, E. R. James, J. Mc. McLennan, W. R. Tandy, A. S. Dickson and W. L. Armitage, secretary.

Rev. Mr. Coleman, of Stirling, was an interested visitor.

Dr. N. W. Hoyles, K.C., of Toronto, gave an excellent Bible reading on Tuesday afternoon on Acts 1; 1 to 8. In the evening the Bishop of Toronto was present and held a confirmation, there being twenty-four candidates. The service was fully choral and was much enjoyed by the members of the Deanery. On Wednesday a celebration of the Holy Communion at 7.30 o'clock, and morning prayer at 10 o'clock, after which the Deanery assembled for business in the rectory.

A very interesting paper was given by Rev. W. Creswick on Hort's Hulsean Lectures, "The Way, the Truth and the Life." This was followed by discussion.

Arrangements were then made for the next meeting in September, the place and date being left to the Rural Dean and the Secretary. Papers will be read by Rev. A. J. Reid on "The Life and Times of Archbishop Magee," and by Rev. W. R. Tandy on "The Atonement."

A committee consisting of the Rural Dean and Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, and Rev. W. L. Armitage, was appointed to allot the assessments on the various parishes in the deanery to raise the sum of $1,125.

Rev. A. J. Reid was appointed to organize a Rural Deanery book club.

A paper was then read by Rev. J. Mc. McLennan on "Priestly Blemishes," which was greatly appreciated, but owing to the lateness of the hour there was no discussion.

The meeting then adjourned.

THIS MORNING'S POLICE COURT.

A Man Charged With Creating a Disturbance.

At the police court this morning, before Police Magistrate Dumble, a man was charged with using profane language and creating a disturbance, near the corner of George and Dublin streets.

Several witnesses were called and all gave evidence to the effect that last night the accused came home the worse of liquor and abused his wife and family. His vile words were heard a hundred yards away, and attracted the attention of quite a number of persons.

The accused's wife gave evidence to the effect that the accused of late had been drinking to excess. In fact so unpleasant had the home become that she and the family had decided to leave him and make another home.

He was sent to jail for fifteen days.

There are very few cleansing operations in which Sunlight Soap cannot be used to advantage. It makes the home bright and clean. 18

Miss Alice M. Smith, of So. Minneapolis, Minn., tells how woman's monthly suffering is permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain and could find no relief, but one day while visiting a friend I run across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change."—Miss ALICE M. SMITH, 804 Third Ave., South Minneapolis, Minn. —$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Many women suffer silently and see their best gifts fade away. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes the entire female organism healthy.

SOME HAPPENINGS IN THE NORTHERN TOWN.

Personal Mention and Other Happenings of Interest at Lakefield.

Lakefield, May 5th.

Mr. T. Z. Webster has installed a beautiful up-to-date and thoroughly equipped soda water fountain in his store here, and visitors to Lakefield in the hot summer months will be able to pay a visit to the fountain and be cooled.

The first boat to go down the canal this spring was the Government boat which went down to bring the dredge up to this section to begin dredging the shoals.

Miss C. Strickland, of New York, is home visiting her father, Mr. R. C. Strickland.

Mr. Obas. Boswell left last week for Cleveland, Ohio, to visit his mother who has been ill.

Contrary to the usual order of things the Methodist church choir was composed solely of male voices on Sunday evening. The sermon by Rev. McLeggott was interspersed with selections by the choir. Mr. Wm. Boidge, of Peterborough, who was spending Sunday with his parents in the village, rendered a solo entitled "Homeland," which was much appreciated by the large gathering.

The singing in the Presbyterian church on Sunday was especially good. At the morning service Miss Rubbie Sanderson sang a solo, and in the evening a duet was rendered by Mesdames Campbell and Avery in a very pleasing manner.

Mr. R. B. Roger was in the village this week.

Mr. C. B. McA er was in the village on Monda

Mr. Smythe, has been attending Queen's versity, Kingston, during the wi r is back to the village for the mmer.

Mr. John Thompson, of the Dickson Company, has a gang of men making preparation for the opening of the sawmill.

Mr J. Harry Sherin is in Toronto this week on business.

Mr. John Craig is cleaning and putting everything in ship-shape at the Craig House for the accommodation of summer visitors.

KEENE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Mr. M. Kennaley was in Orillia on Friday attending the funeral of Mr. P. White.

The many friends of Jas. Carey will be pleased to learn that he is proving a success as operator at Trout Creek.

Mr. D. Moore is suffering from a severe cold.

Messrs. Clegg and Greer of Peterborough were here on Monday estimating the cost of an electric light plant.

Mr. R. J. Bolin an old time boy of the village, and now of the Rochester Light and Power Company staff, was renewing acquaintances here on Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. J. B. McWilliams visited son son Dr. Victor McWilliams on Monday.

Messrs. T. O'Neal and J. Ryan of Hastings were in the village Monday.

The citizens of the village observed Friday as Arbour day and the male portion, both boys and men, turned out and rid the streets of all the loose stones, and winter's accumulation of rubbage, and now the streets look spick and span with their new coats of grass on the boulevard. A number of trees were planted and now if we had new walks we would undoubtedly have the prettiest village in the County.

Mr. A. Bryce lost his valuable mare last week.

Rev. D. D. McDonald and Mr. J. McNeil attended the induction service of Rev. McClennan at Norwood on Thursday.

Mrs. Pie is making extensive additions to her residence.

Mr. D. McFarlane with a large force of men and teams is again at work on our roads making them as they should be.

FORTY-SECOND EDUCATIONAL CONVENTION

Held in University Buildings, Toronto.

LOCAL DELEGATES REPORT.

Dr. Gordon's Very Eloquent Address.

Public Ownership of School Textbooks —Present System of Writing Condemned.

The following report was submitted by Mr. J. J. Hartley at the last regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education:—

To th eChairman and Members of the Board of Education:—

Your delegates appointed to attend the 42nd annual convention of the Ontario Educational Association, held in Toronto on April 14th, 15th, 16th, beg to report.

The Convention was held in the University buildings, and was a large and representative one. Tuesday the first day of meeting, was taken up principally in registering delegates and receiving reports of Committees appointed in 1902. On Tuesday evening a most successful Converzezione was held, and a vey pleasant hour was spent by those present.

Wednesday morning was spent in the Trustees' Department. Several matters of importance came up for discussion, such as, 1st., When pupils attend a High School or Collegiate Institute, from outside the School District, to what extent is the county liable? The statutes on this matter were considered quite satisfactory. 2nd., Can the present scheme of apportioning the legislative grant to schools be improved, and if so, how? This evoked itvely discussion, especially when a motion was made to apportion the grant according to equipment, salaries paid, certificate of teachers and average attendance. This would of course be decidedly in favour of the wealthy districts, and very properly was voted down. This subject was not finally disposed of.

Perhaps the question which concerned the delegates as a body more than any other, was the proposed changes in the public and high school courses and in the departmental examination system

Realizing what these changes meant to school boards, a large number were anxious to have the matter

THOROUGHLY DISCUSSED.

at the meeting, but owing principally to lack of time, this was not done. A committee was appointed to carefully consider the proposed changes and to confer with other committees appointed from other sections.

The changes proposed are the extension in the public schools of nature studies, manual training and domestic science; omitting from the high school course the subject of Latin, which would not be required for non-professional examinations; to retain the system of examinations only when they were absolutely necessary, (such as the high school entrance and teachers' non-professionals); to separate the teachers and the university entrance examinations. Many other changes were proposed, but Principal Fessenden or Inspector Walker, can better explain those to your Board, than we who are less acquainted.

We might say here that in the evening the Hon., the Minister of Education explained briefly these changes, and expressed himself as being anxious that teachers and School Boards should aid him in the matter, that it was not his intention to make any change unless it had first been generally approved, and with that object he had submitted a draft for consideration. He asked the Association to appoint a thoroughly representative committee who would discuss the whole subject, and make such modifications as they deemed desirable, and recommend for adoption.

On Wednesday afternoon no session was held in the trustees section, so as to give that body an opportunity to visit other departments.

Your delegates were much interested in an address delivered by Mr. Parkinson, of Toronto, on the "Consolidation of Rural Schools." The speaker evidently had given a great deal of time and thought to the subject, and appeared to be in full sympathy with the movement. The advantage is that, by better buildings, better equipments, and better teachers, could be had, as better salaries could be paid; on the other hand that when children were taken to and from school by public conveyance, increased and more regular attendance was insured, and in this way better and much more satisfactory results would be attained. The speaker showed by figures that the movement was rapidly gaining ground, in the United States, and gives the greatest satisfaction wherever introduced.

In the evening we listened to an eloquent address by Dr. Gordon, Principal of Queen's University, Kingston. His subject was the "Goodly Fellowship of Teachers." In the course of his address he showed that if a teacher had done nothing but develop the pupil intellectually, he ha' failed in his duty. He claimed that he had a duty towards the child's moral nature, that the personality of the teacher had an immense influence on the pupil, and would remain with him through life. He instanced the influence of a teacher over his pupils, by referring to the late Dr. Tassie, whan at his funeral, one of the finest tributes ever paid to a deceased teacher, was paid to him by his pupils who assembled from far and near to do honour to his memory. He believed that in Canada we were inclined to put too much stress on the results of the examinations and too little on the development of the higher nature of our pupils. If we neglected this in our Public Schools we would find that the moral fibre of our nation had been seriously weakened. Dr. Gordon also addressed the Trustees on Thursday morning and referred particularly to the small salaries generally paid to teachers, and gave that as the reason why so small a percentage of Public School teachers were men. He advised paying more liberal salaries in order to keep men in the profession, and his remarks were well received by all present.

Thursday morning a paper on writing was read before the Public School teachers, and one of your delegates was present. The speaker gave it as his opinion, that altogether too little time was given in our schools to this important subject. The blame could not be as they both in preparing for their position and filling it, complied with the requirements of the Department. Teachers should be required to attain as high a standard in writing as any other subject before receiving their certificates. At present, writing is, to a large extent, taught from headlines, which do not appeal to the pupil. The only way to teach writing effectively, is from examples given by the teacher in charge. This acts as an incentive to the pupil, as he generally has sufficient ambition to make him believe he has at least a chance of doing what he sees another do. The vertical system was condemned, on the ground that it was neither natural nor practical, and what seemed rather remarkable, not a word was said in its favour by any of the large number present. The variety of questions asked the speaker showed the great lack of knowledge on this important subject, by the majority of our public school teachers.

The last subject discussed on Thursday morning was "Free Text Books and Supplies." This system has been in use in the Toronto schools for about ten years, and has given the greatest satisfaction. Kingston is introducing it, in fact has for some time, supplied all stationery. Whilst the term "Free Text Books and Supplies" is generally used, the term is a wrong one, as the pupil pays at the beginning of each term, or each year, his or her share of the cost of these books and supplies. The pupil pays his own expense as independently this way as under the present system, but the cost is less for two reasons. First, because the purchasing price is less; second, because books and stationery last much longer—a statement was made that some text books had been in use ten years in Toronto—to say nothing of the advantage gained by the excellent training the pupils would receive.

In 1901 the cost to each pupil in Toronto was less than 21 cents each, and this year they expect that 15 cents will cover the cost.

In Kingston it now costs 80 cents for each pupil and they expect to be down to 25 cents in a few years. They supply sewing material and woodcarving material, also all text books up to the third and fourth classes, for this price. Next year they expect to supply everything for all the classes at a lower fee.

The introductory cost would of course be greater than that of any other year, and greater than either case mentioned, but your Committee is satisfied that there is an advantage in it to our people, and would recommend the subject to the favourable consideration of your Board. We would also recommend with the approval of the Inspector, that the present system of writing, in our schools, be changed to one more natural and practical.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

WARSAW.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Potter visited Warsaw on Tuesday, and assisted in organizing societies that will help in the spiritual life of the congregation. On invitation Mrs. Potter accompanied Mrs. (Rev.) Atkinson, to Cottesloe, where a very encouraging Women's Foreign Missionary Auxiliary was formed, with Mrs. Atkinson as president and Miss Robson as secretary. In the evening a strong and promising Mission Band was organized in the manse at Warsaw, of which Miss Maggie Middleton will prove an efficient secretary.

Rev. Mr. Atkinson and Rev. Mr. Potter organized a Young Men's Guild. Rev. W. L. Atkinson is Hon. Secretary, and the representative elder, Mr. John Rose,, and Mr. Donald McIntosh, chairman of the Board of Managers, are Hon. Vice-Presidents. Mr. Roland Kidd is the President; Mr Charles Calder Vice-President, Mr. Bert Kidd, Secretary, and Mr. Richard Smith, treasurer. By an unanimous vote the following were elected on the Executive Committee: Wm. Bell, Geo. Forsythe,, the latter representing the South Church. It was decided to make definite arrangements for a programme of meetings to begin early in the fall.

OMEMEE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Omemee, May 5th.

The weather has been excellent for completing seeding, and vegetition has opened up.

The farmers are now sowing their sugar beets and Mr. J. D. Thornton, the local agent has been busy distributing it.

Large catches of suckers have been made this season.

Fishery Inspector Brady had a lively chase from Bobcaygeon to Omemee on Pigeon Lake and Pigeon River, after a person whom he suspected to be indulging in illegal fishing.

Rev. Mr. McPherson, late of Halifax, a noted Devine, is to occupy the Presbyterian pulpit here at 2.30 p.m. next Sunday.

Division Court sittings here Friday, May 8th. There is quite a docket reported by the clerk.

We have not had so much money in circulation with the farmers for years, and none want to change or break up Government in their hearts.

The 25th of May promises to be a big day here; football and baseball tournament.

VILLIERS.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Villiers, May 5th, 1903.

May came in with a snap. Some of our old residents claim they have never seen such hard frost.

The milk wagons are on the road again.

Mr. W. S. Cameron spent Sunday with friends in Roseneath.

Miss Clara Parker, who has been under the doctor's care for the past few weeks, is improving.

The Rev. D. D. McDonald gave a very interesting and profitable address on the "Schemes of the Church," at Westwood on Sunday.

Mr. Geo. Bathgate spent Sunday at home.

Miss Nellie Renwick, of Peterborough, is spending a few days with friends here.

Mr. William Renwick, who has been a resident of California for the past 35 years, is renewing old acquaintences of his boyhood days in and around Villiers.

Rev. Mr. Seccombe held devine service in Villiers school house on Friday evening.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, 2Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

Slater Shoe Advertising.

Shoe Cost.

Short talks by the Slater Shoe ad man, No. 1.

It costs less to advertise and sell the "Slater Shoe" than it costs to sell ordinary shoes without advertising.

If a thousand people know a shoe is good more people will want that shoe than if only ten people know it.

If the "whole city" knows it more people will want it than if only the people passing the store where it is sold, know it merely by hearsay.

The "Slater Shoe" makers, knowing the "Slater Shoe" will back up the expense of advertising it, give it wide publicity —they tell the "whole city" about it.

It follows then as the "Slater Shoe" is better known through advertising than unadvertised shoes, that more "Slater Shoes" of equal grades are sold, which is a fact.

So the fixed charges of manufacturing, wholesaling and retailing are divided among a greater number of pairs of shoes than is the case in unknown shoes of smaller sales.

For instance:—Take a salesman's salary at $2.00 per day:—if his sales are only ten pairs per day the cost of retailing alone is 20 cents per pair.

But if advertising will enable him to sell fifty pairs per day the cost is only four cents per pair and thus such fixed expenses as rent, light, taxes, salaries, interest, etc., are reduced and divided.

So the wearer as well as the maker is benefited by the liberal and judicious advertising of a good article like the "Slater Shoe"—and it would be rank folly to risk a large amount of money to advertise a shoe which the wearers would not buy a second time.

GAMEY COMMISSION.

ship, but hoped he was still in the Liberal party.

"And hope to be Minister of Mines?" asked Mr. Ritchie.

"I don't know."

"If it was offered to you you might accept."

"And I might not."

"You might."

"Well, I think it would be very doubtful."

The Chancellor—You would take it into your serious consideration.

Continuing, he was asked if Mr. Brodie, who was on the train with Gamey, was a politician. "A candidate," said Mr. Conmee.

"Oh, I see; a candidate, but not a politician," replied Mr. Ritchie. Continuing, he said that at this interview on the train Mr. Gamey said that many Liberals had voted for him and seemed more resolved to support the Government.

Some time afterwards he told Mr. Stratton what Gamey said. He also told it to Mr. Grant who had charge of the election protests. He was asked by Mr. Fraser, the Liberal candidate, to see Mr. Grant about the Manitoulin protest. He had promised Mr. Fraser that, if necessary, he would put up the deposit. He did put up the deposit about the end of June. It was not by check, but by parcel. He was not sure now much he drew in Toronto. He had drawn a couple of thousand dollars in connection with some lands, and as the other partner did not show up he carried the money in his pocket. Some of it was in express orders and the balance, $800 or $1,000, from the Ontario Bank.

Bulging With Money.

For about a month he kept this $2,000 either in his pocket or his trunk. He had often carried more and for a longer time. He did not remember the denominations, of the bills—"they were not very small; it wasn't a big parcel." Fraser has not yet refunded him the money. He could not recollect the date on which he paid Grant the $1,000.

He paid Mr. Grant in his office, but he did not know the denominations of the bills. He did not take a receipt.

"Trusting and confiding about that?" asked Mr. Ritchie.

"Quite so," Mr. Conmee answered.

Mr. Conmee, continuing, said he had accounts in the Ontario Bank and the Home Savings & Loan Company. He had drawn money from the Ontario Bank in June. He recollected a conversation with Sheriff Jackson in September at the Rossin House, but he did not recollect having any conversation with Capt. Sullivan then. He did not say to Sheriff Jackson, "Don't worry. We have got Manitoulin all right." He said that he understood Gamey was going to support the Government, but did not use those words. He knew the petition was dismissed, but did not know the $1,000 deposit was paid back to Mr. Grant. He thought it would go back to Mr. Fraser, and that was why he did not ask Grant. He had not seen Fraser since, and so far has not got any of it back.

The Manitoulin Protest.

When Gamey spoke to him about the protest, he knew he had furnished the deposit and that Fraser intended going on, but he did not know that the protest had been entered until Mr. Gamey told him so. He did not make any statement to Mr. Gamey about the protest, except to express the opinion that if he were a supporter of the Government, as he said he was, it would not be pressed. He thought he had said to Mr. Grant before the 7th of July that Gamey was talking as if he was going to support the Government. He thought it was about this time that he paid Mr. Grant the deposit money.

He was asked if he had put up two other deposits of $1,000 each, and declined to say.

Mr. Ritchie—I was going to follow it up by asking whether these moneys came from the general campaign? A.—I will answer that; any money I put up was my own.

Q.—Take it from August. Did you know there was a general campaign fund in August? A.—I did not.

Did Not Know of It.

Q.—So that you do not say you did not have information about it? A.—I have no knowledge.

Mr. Riddell—I object.

The Chancellor—It is assumed there is a campaign fund, and the enquiry is the condition of it in August, September, and down to March.

Re-examined by Mr. Riddell.

Q.—Are you in the habit of carrying large sums of money? A.—Yes.

Then followed the discussion about adjourning till Tuesday, the evidence to be submitted, etc., between the court and counsel summarized at the beginning of to-day's report, and the court adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Last Defence Witness.

At the afternoon session of the Gamey Commission Miss Carrie Jeffreys, who in September last was Acting-Secretary for Premier Ross, was called, and testified that she first saw the letter of Sep. 10 signed by Mr. Gamey in Mr. Aylesworth's office, early in the month mentioned. It came in through the mail in the usual way, and was deposited in the Premier's private drawer.

What particularly recalled the circumstance to her mind was the fact that Mr. Ross directed her to place it in this drawer. Very few letters were kept in this depository; the only other ones she recalled having placed there being communications from Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Richard Cartwright. She knew nothing of the letter sent from Gore Bay on October 27. It was her custom to glance over all the letters, so that she could tell the Premier the purport of them in case he asked her. In this case he did not ask.

To Mr. Johnston she said she was only acting as private secretary from the time of Mr. Percival's return until about the 6th of October.

Chief Justice Falconbridge—When did you surrender the key? A.—I put the key back in the drawer when Mr. Percival came back.

The Chancellor—That closes your case.

Mr. Johnston—Yes, except that I am considering with my colleagues certain questions.

In Rebuttal.

Robert A. Campbell, Registrar of Deeds for the County of Renfrew, and formerly member of the Legislature for South Renfrew, said to Mr. Ritchie he knew Mr. Alex. Barnet, lumber merchant, of Renfrew, and also his son, J. E. H. Barnet. He could not say whether the latter was interested in his father's business. He heard there was a claim made by the Government against the Barnets for trespass upon timber limits. On several occasions he assisted Mr. Barnet in defining the boundary line between a timber limit he held and Government property. He did not know what amount was claimed by the Government for the trespass, and never received any moneys from the Barnets for transmission to the Government in that connection. Mr. Barnet and he came to Toronto on a few occasions to discuss the boundary line with the Commissioner of Crown Lands. No money or trespass was mentioned at the last meeting with the Commissioner that he heard. He did not know the date, but the Palmer House register would tell that. He had nothing to do with any money paid directly or indirectly with regard to this trespass claim.

J. E. H. Barnet, who purchased the timber limit in question, said there was no claim against him for trespass, but there was a notice sent him by the Assistant Commissioner of Crown Lands to the effect that there was a considerable trespass. He considered it an insult, and he told Mr. Campbell so. No sum was mentioned nor particulars of the claim given. He never admitted there had been a trespass, and didn't believe there is a trespass yet. The claim had not been settled and there never was an amount discussed for settlement neither directly nor indirectly with the Government or anyone else.

Flourished Some Money.

Q.—Do you recollect making a statement to anybody when you produced a roll of fifty dollar bills, that were the last bills in connection with a settlement with the Government, and that you guessed Gamey was the one that got them? A.—I made a statement that those were the kind of bills Gamey is supposed to have received.

Q.—How did you make that statement? A.—Because I was approached and asked for money for what is supposed to be, what I have heard spoken of as a corruption fund, and I did not wish to subscribe any money to that, I thought I could use my money to suit myself better.

Q.—You were jollying? A.—I was jollying; and I will further state that I had used the expression that the Crown were holding a trespass over my head, and not to ask me to subscribe any money, that I did not want to, and they might possibly get me into trouble.

Q.—At all events you may have made these statements, and if they were made they were not true? A.—I won't say I made statements as you say.

Q.—The result is, apparently, you made some statements that have given you a trip to Toronto? A.—I have had a trip to Toronto, much to my displeasure.

The Commission then adjourned to 10 a. m. on Tuesday next, May 12th.

SCANDAL IN B. C.

More Testimony About Wells' Alleged Connection With the Deal.

Victoria, B.C., May 7.—At the investigation into the alleged scandal in connection with the repudiated land grants in South Kootenay, which were to have been awarded to the Canadian Pacific Railway as the Columbia and Western subsidy, W. J. Taylor of Eberts & Taylor, when recalled yesterday, said he was impressed that W. C. Wells, Minister of Land and Works, expected personally to get something out of the deal when he took the land grants to Montreal to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. Taylor had been in Montreal on private business and was not connected with the C.P.R. nor with the land grant matter in any way, when Wells spoke of the matter to him. His impression of that conversation was that Wells had gone to Montreal with a proposition to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and that Wells expected something personally.

ITCHING BURNING SKIN.

Disfiguring Humors and Eruptions Permanently Cured.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment.

Diseases of the skin inflict intense pain, suffering and disfigurement. If not cured in time, they end in the decay of the bones, a pallid complexion, loss of strength, and a gradual wasting away of the body. Dr. Agnew's Ointment is an absolute specific in Scrofula, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Ring Worm, Barbers' Itch, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Liver Spots, Prurigo, Psoriasis, and all sores and disfiguring eruptions of the skin. An old soldier, S. E. Buckman, residing at the National Soldiers' Home, Grant Co., Ind., writes: "I was a constant sufferer from skin complaints. Last summer a disfiguring eruption appeared on my face, and I decided to try Dr. Agnew's Ointment. I was relieved after the first application, and in a remarkably short time absolutely cured." 35 cents.

TRAIN HIT TWO BOYS.

One Killed by International Limited Going West From Prescott.

Prescott, May 7.—A fatal accident occurred about three miles west of Prescott on the G. T. R. Fred Lane and his brother, Rollin, sons of Reid Lane of Augusta, aged 13 and 15 years, were returning home from town, walking on the track, when Rollin stepped out of the way of a freight train going east, did not notice the International Limited going west at the same time, was struck by the engine and so seriously injured that he died before he reached Brockville. His brother Fred was only slightly injured. The boys were living with their mother about four miles west of here.

Gen. Baden-Powell Denies It.

London, May 7.—Baden-Powell has arrived in Plymouth. Interviewed as to his criticism of the United States cavalry he said: "The statement is entirely false. My position would prevent me from giving any opinion as to the efficiency of foreign troops."

Stabbed to Death.

Sydney, C. B., May 7.—A crowd of men were tormenting an Italian Tuesday night, when the goaded man stabbed John Kelly in the breast, inflicting a wound causing almost immediate death. The man escaped.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely, and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Pattens Mills, N.Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string, and handed me a dollar saying 'Give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'" Decrey's farewell to Peterborough, as she is leaving very shortly to continue her musical career in Lisbon, Portugal.

LITTLE WALTER NOYES PASSES AWAY.

The Very Tragic Ending of a Young Life.

The tragic death of little Walter Noyes occurred early this morning, at 1 o'clock. It will be remembered that the deceased lad was dragged along the ground by a shunting G.T.R. engine on Tuesday morning last. The young lad's right leg was fearfully mangled. Had the child lived the attending physicians are agreed that the amputation of the lacerated limb would have been a necessity. This was not done as it was very obvious that the patient would not have been able to take chloroform owing to weakness. The deceased is the only son of Mr. John Noyes, who is a foreman at the Cordage Works, residing at No. 147 Rubidge street, and was 12 years of age.

The deceased was taken to the Nicholls Hospital as soon after the accident as possible.

It is felt assured that the community will fully sympathize with the parents of the late boy in this time of dire distress.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3.00 o'clock to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

MR. E. B. STONE WAS HONOURED

Prior to Leaving Town for London.

Members of Albany Club Present Mr. Stone With an Appropriate Gift.

In view of Mr. E. B. Stone's pending departure from Peterborough to take up his abode in London, Ont., the members of the Albany Club, of which institution Mr. Stone has been an energetic working member, presented him with a gold headed walking cane, together with an appropriate address.

About nine o'clock last night, Mr. H. Meldrum, the president of the Club, took the chair and in a few excellent sentences referred to the widespread regret caused by the knowledge of Mr. Stone's intended departure to London. He spoke of the good wishes of the community, especially of those belonging to the Albany Club, which Mr. Stone would carry away with him.

Mr. Meldrum then read the following address:—

Dear Mr. Stone:

We, your fellow members of the Albany Club, are desirous that you should not leave us without a word of farewell.

We are sorry that the official circle has been broken so soon after its organization, particularly when the break is caused by the departure of one who has done so much for its rapid rise to success as you have.

A short three months of social intercourse and you are gone! But still 'twere better to have come and gone than never to have come at all. We hope that your change of habitation will be for the better, and that your future will be as bright as your fancy paints it. We hope to hear of your success in the legal fights and forensic battles around London and its suburbs.

In conclusion allow us to express the hope that you will always have a tender feeling for the bantling you are leaving behind—the tender infant you are deserting. In order to keep a lien on you we herewith hand you something on which you are to lean.

Signed on behalf of the Albany Club, of Peterborough.

W. H. MELDRUM,
President.
W. SAILSBURY,
Secretary.

Mr. Sailsbury, the secretary of the Club, then presented Mr. Stone with the handsome cane, on the handle of which the following words were engraved:—"To Mr. E. B. Stone, from the members of the Albany Club, Peterborough, 1903."

In reply to all the honour bestowed upon him Mr. Stone said that he was indeed grateful to the members for their most handsome presentation and flattering address. He would, he said, look back in future years to the very many happy hours he had spent in the Albany Club. He remarked that he had no wish to leave Peterborough where he had lived for 18 years and in conclusion said he was unable to express his thanks to the members in words.

On the conclusion of his speech His Honour Judge Weller and Messrs. W. H. Robertson, W. Sailsbury, John Green, W. Bunton, T. Brightman, Geo. Elliott, G. K. Martin, W. K. Hall, Geo. A. Cox, and others made a few remarks pointing to the universal regret caused by Mr. Stone's approaching departure.

Mr. Gliddon's orchestra added greatly to the success of the very pleasant evening.

THE PETERBOROUGH GUN CLUB'S ANNUAL.

Held Annual Meeting Last Night at Kingan's Hardware Store.

Last night in Mr. Kingan's hardware shop the Peterborough Gun Club held their annual meeting at which the following officers were elected for the year:—

Hon. President—D. Hughes-Charles.
President—R. Tivey.
Vice-President—J. M. Brooks.
Secretary-Treasurer—C. Woods.
Captain—L. Hall.

It was resolved to hold the first shoot of the season this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock at Riverside Park.

The prospects of the Club for the future seem very bright indeed. The Club at present consists of 25 members.

"Work and Play."

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the Highlands of Ontario, about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. REV. W. J. JOLLIFFE INVITED TO REMAIN

As Pastor of Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

At a regular meeting of the Quarterly Official Board of Charlotte street Methodist church, held Monday night, the pastor of that church, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, B.C.L., was invited to remain another year. In doing so many of the officials spoke in a very encouraging manner with regard to Mr. Jolliffe's successful work during his first year's stay amongst us. The congregation and membership showing a decided increase over above that of any year in the history of the church. In accepting the reverend gentleman expressed satisfaction at the manner he had been supported by the officials and also the kindly feeling that existed throughout the whole church.

Mr. James Sutherland was for the fourth time elected a delegate to the annual conference.

Bicycle vs. Horse.

A bicycle can be bought for at least one-fifth the cost of a horse and his appurtenances, harness, buggy, etc. Its cost of maintenace amounts to nothing in comparison with the trouble and expense of the equine; in fact, the expense of owning a horse compels most of us to do without one. Yet the cost of a modern bicycle places a wheel within reach of nearly everyone who wants one. And the wheel to-day is so solidly built and simply constructed that it lasts for years and gives satisfactory service. No doubt these are reasons why there are to-day in use more bicycles than ever, though we hear less about the bicycle than when it was comparatively a rare novelty.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE MRS. E. M. POUSSETT.

It Took Place Yesterday Afternoon—Largely Attended.

The funeral of the late Mrs. E. M. Poussett took place yesterday afternoon, from the family residence, No. 607 Stewart street, and was attended by a large number of sympathizing friends and relatives.

At the house, just previous to the family service, a solemn and pathetic ceremony was performed, the baptism of the little motherless child, slightly over one week old. Beside the casket, in which lay the little darling's dead mother, the child was baptized, "Alice Meade." The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Symonds, of Trinity College School, Port Hope, assisted by Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's, who conducted the family funeral service immediately after the baptism.

The cortege then left the house and proceeded to St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, where a public service was held. A large number of Peterborough's prominent business and professional men followed the remains to the church, and from there to the Little Lake cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Harold and Frank Burnham, Harry Rogers, Percy Price, Frank Bradburn, and Llewellyn Hall.

The funeral service, although naturally solemn and suggestive of the sadness the fact and thought of death begets, was brightened by the light of hope which the remarks of Rev. Dr. Symonds threw about it, when he showed that the saddest bereavements, the deepest wounds, which death inflicts, have their divine compensations, death being merely the portal to a brighter world; and the retrospect of a useful life spent in earnest deeds of good for God and the Church, for home, and friends and society, suggested that a chastened spirit of rejoicing was not inconsistent with the natural sorrow and sense of desolation and benumbing despair that marks the first moments after the stroke of the grim reaper. Therefore, the service was to a certain extent, of a cheerful character; the hymns had a note of the triumph of Christ over death. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt and Rev. J. C. Davidson assisted Rev. Dr. Symonds in the services, and the church was filled with the friends of the deceased family.

Rev. Dr. Symonds took for his text the words, "Then cometh the end," I Cor. 1,15. After setting out what should be the end of life, Dr. Symonds paid a warm personal tribute to the memory of the deceased. He spoke of her faithful work in the church, her efforts on behalf of the Sunday school, the choir and various other auxiliaries of St. Luke's. Dr. Symonds said that he was not a believer in the principle of passing sweeping eulogies upon deceased persons on an occasion of this kind, but he expressed a desire to bear his testimony to the fidelity to the church of the life that had just departed. He referred to her bright and cheerful readiness and willingness to assist in church work. Her entire life had been spent in St. Luke's. Her good work will not be lost. She has fulfilled the particular duty for which she was sent into the world.

The floral offerings were numerous, many friends of the deceased contributing to the last tribute of love to one who was so widely esteemed.

CONSERVING INLAND WATERS.

Engineering Commission to be Appointed.

An Ottawa despatch says:—

Mr. J. H. McClellan of Peterborough is here urging the Government to appoint a board of competent engineers, as was asked for last year by a large deputation from Peterborough and the surrounding towns, to examine into and report upon the best means of conserving the waters of the Trent District. He asks that the Board be appointed at once, and suggests that the commissioners to be appointed in fulfilment of the Premier's promise to examine and report upon the best means of conserving the waters of the Ottawa River, should be commissioned to do the same thing for the Trent, as the waters of both rivers are used for manufacturing and power purposes.

MUNYON'S RHEUMATISM CURE.

A Wonderful Case—A Permanent Cure Effected—The People Are Enthusiastic in Their Praises of the Great Doctor's Medicine.

"There is no punishment too severe for those who deceive the sick."—MUNYON.

Rheumatism is having a hard time in this locality these days. Ever since the great free distribution of Munyon's Rheumatism Cure—the largest distribution ever before held in the city and by far the most successful—cures have been made, cripples have thrown away their crutches, stiffened arms and legs have been made well, lame backs relieved, and many men and women restored to health. It is indeed a wonderful demonstration of a wonderful remedy; given absolutely free by Prof. Munyon, who knew positively and surely that it would cure, and cure permanently. "My remedy neutralizes the acid," said Prof. Munyon, "enriches the blood and drives every vestige of the disease from the system." And so it does. Statements are being received every day from the people Munyon's Rheumatism Remedy has cured. Investigate each one. Drop a postal card and find out if they are absolutely true, if they have been actually cured. Prof. Munyon says, "I would not ask a more convincing way of letting you know the value of my remedy."

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM CURED.

Mrs. J. Stewart, 166 Franklin street, Toronto, says: "One year and six months ago I was a sufferer from Inflammatory Rheumatism, chiefly affecting the ankles. The pain was excruciating, accompanied by great swelling and tenderness, and I was unable to walk. After one month's trial of different remedies I heard of Munyon's cures. After using two bottles of his Rheumatism Cure I was entirely well and have remained so ever since.

"Too much cannot be said in favor of Munyon's wonderful little pellets, and I have often recommended his cures since that time, and will do so whenever opportunity offers."

MUNYON'S REMEDIES.

Munyon's Cold Cure prevents pneumonia, and breaks up a cold in a few hours. Price 25c.

DR. BRIDGLAND DEAD.

Member For Muskoka Succumbs to Bright's Disease—Practicing Physician Since 1870—Prominent Liberal.

Toronto, May 7. — Dr. Samuel Bridgland, one of the most popular members of the Ontario Legislature, died yesterday evening at his home in Bracebridge of Bright's disease, after an illness of six months. Notwithstanding his failing health he was in attendance at the Legislature this session up to the time of the adjournment in March. He was far from fit, however, and would have been at home had the Opposition not refused to permit pairing at the opening of the House. He took alarmingly ill ten days ago, and lay in a critical condition for some days at the house of his brother-in-law, Mr. Aubrey White. He was apparently, improving, however, and Saturday last was able to go home to Bracebridge.

LATE DR. BRIDGLAND.

Dr. Bridgland was born in 1847, in Toronto, where his parents, natives of Kent, England, had settled two years before. They later removed to Newmarket, and it was at the Grammar School at the then capital of North York that their son was educated. He studied medicine at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and graduated from Queen's University, Kingston, in 1870. He at once settled in Bracebridge, where, until his death, he continued to practise his profession, and was for many years one of the most widely known and busiest physicians in the north country. A man of broad sympathies and kindly manner he was everywhere beloved and universally popular.

As President of the Muskoka Liberal Association for many years, Dr. Bridgland was a prominent politician, and at the general election of 1898 was elected to the Legislature, and was again returned by a majority of 88 at the last election.

Three years after settling at Bracebridge Dr. Bridgland married Miss Emma Fraser, a daughter of Mr. Henry Fraser of Barrie, and leaves besides his widow, three daughters, all of whom are residing at home. His other surviving relatives are his father, his sister, Mrs. Aubrey White, Toronto, and a brother, who resided with him.

Dr. Bridgland was a member of the Church of England, and a prominent Free Mason, Past Master of the Muskoka Lodge. He was known also as a curler, and the Bridgland Cup has for years been an annual prize among the curlers of the north. Announcement of the funeral, which will take place at Bracebridge, will be made later.

The Ontario Assembly.

Toronto, May 7.—In the Legislative Assembly yesterday, a number of bills were sent to various committees. Mr. Powell's bill to restrict the number of hours of employment to 54 a week and to enable municipalities to pay laborers for Labor Day was lost on its second reading. Mr. Pettypiece's bill to provide for the more equitable assessment of railways and other corporations, despite considerable opposition, was read a second time and sent to the same select committee as has charge of the municipal taxation bill. A number of bills were considered in committee and some questions of local interest answered.

Fall Kills Four Workmen.

St. Hyacinthe, Que., May 7.—Four bricklayers, employed at the new St. Hyacinthe Distillery, were working on a brick chimney, when the frail scaffolding gave way at one end. The four fell a distance of about 63 feet. J. A. Roy and his son, from La Providence village, were instantly killed; the other two, Hobert and Pariseau, were picked up in an unconscious state, and will die.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

Fawn and pearl gray tones are even more popular than ever this spring.

The goods for dressy wear are of smooth surface, while those employed for the little walking costumes are of rough cheviot or Scotch materials.

The flat stoles of feathers which are seen in the shops at present will not retain their popularity, for they are utterly unsatisfactory as wraps and too flat and hard to be either graceful or becoming. This summer we shall see elaborate editions of the cape ruffle in velvet or lace and chiffon and in glace silk with tiny borders of feathers or chenille.

For those who dress their hair high and adopt the present mode of flat shoulders something fussy round the neck is absolutely necessary. The new hats with spreading brims in front also make the broad ruffle indispensable.

Gilbert's Well-Learned Lesson.

When W. S. Gilbert in his early days as a playwright had completed a short play, entitled "Dulcamara," for T. W. Robertson, says The London Tit-Bits, he took his manuscript to Mr. Emden, Mr. Robertson's manager, for approval.

"This will do," Mr. Emden said, after glancing through the play. "How much do you want for it?"

"Thirty guineas," the young dramatist diffidently suggested.

"Make it pounds and I will take it," answered Emden, a proposal to which Mr. Gilbert eagerly assented.

"Now," said Mr. Emden as he handed over the check, "let me give you a piece of advice. Never sell such good stuff for thirty pounds again."

"And," continued Mr. Gilbert, when telling the story, "I never did."

Wisdom Suggests Prompt Action, and There is no More Effective Treatment Than

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

Sneezing and running at the nose, stuffed up feelings in the head, sore throat, tickling in the throat and coughing, and soon the cold reaches the bronchial tubes and works its way into the lungs.

This is the natural development of what is in the beginning "only a cold." It is the way in which scores and thousands are allowing colds to develop into bronchitis, pneumonia, consumption or some equally fatal lung trouble.

If colds were promptly cured there would be no need for sanatoriums and hospitals for consumptives. There would be little consumption. Because people have weak lungs they need not become consumptives if they will but guard against colds and cure them promptly by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

This great medicine has proven its right to a place in every home by curing croup, bronchitis, whooping cough, asthma and all sorts of coughs and colds. Its record of sales is phenomenal, and increases year by year as it becomes better known and is recomened from one person to another.

When buying Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine be sure to see portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on the bottle. This will protect you against imitations. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Family size three times as much, 60 cents. At all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. 6

A WORD OF CAUTION.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are prepared from the prescription of Dr. Zina Pitcher (formerly Professor of Materia Medica and Genito-Urinary Diseases, Michigan College of Medicine, Detroit, Mich., U.S.A.), which he used with wonderful success for over twelve years in private practice in the Western Hospital, Detroit.

They contain specific ingredients not found in any other kidney remedy, and it is not surprising, therefore, that they make cures in very many cases where other remedies had proved altogether ineffectual.

We would caution you in purchasing the Tablets to see that the accompanying cut, printed in green ink, and Dr. Pitcher's portrait and signature, are printed on the package. Refuse substitutes and imitations, as these are sure to disappoint.

The price of the Tablets is 50c. a box, or three boxes for $1.25, at all druggists, or sent by mail by addressing the Dr. Zina Pitcher Co., Toronto, Ont.

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

CHAPTER XI.

Two years had passed, and few changes had come with them. The old Squire, a rich man now through the generosity of Lord Rhysworth, declared that he was growing younger; he was so thoroughly happy that Dolores felt every time she saw him, she could have made a sacrifice twice as great for him. He thoroughly enjoyed his life, and began to take his favorite rides and walks. His was indeed a new existence.

Sir Karl had not returned to England. Scarsdale was still in the hands of the servants. Lola, whose letters interested him because they were always full of news about Deeping Hurst, heard from him often; but in none of his letters was there even the faintest allusion to his coming home. At Deeping Hurst itself there had been one event. Dolores had presented her husband with a little daughter, a tiny, beautiful child whom she idolized; and Lord Rhysworth had been nearly beside himself with joy. After his long, loveless life to have a sweet wife and infant daughter—it seemed a marvel to him that Heaven had blessed him so. His loving fondness for his daughter was beyond conception; that there had been, was, or could be such a baby he refused to believe. Little Kathleen was not like Dolores; she had the Rhysworth face, dark eyes and hair, and a mouth like a rosebud. It was touching to see the old Squire with his little granddaughter—to him she was Dolores in her sweet, helpless infancy over again.

The child thrived, and everything at Deeping Hurst seemed to promise uninterrupted prosperity and happiness. Lord Rhysworth, in his devoted love and affection for his little daughter, settled Deerhurst Manor with a handsome yearly income upon her. Deeping Hurst was entailed, and would go to his son, or, if he had no son, to the next of kin; but Deerhurst Manor and Burbage Grange were his own, and he could leave them to whom he pleased. Many a description of this wonderful baby had Lola sent over the sea to Sir Karl; but when the little one was just a year old, able to call Lord Rhysworth by name, and to gladden the heart of Dolores by saying "Mamma," a terrible and unforeseen event occurred. One November evening Lord Rhysworth was caught in a thick mist, and, being at some distance from home, he was compelled to remain in his wet clothes; the consequence was, he caught a bad, feverish cold. Like most healthy men, he laughed when Dolores begged him to give up outdoor sports for a time and take care of himself. It was all right, he affirmed; a cold was nothing. It would not hurt him.

The result was that one day he was unable to rise from his bed; inflammation of the lungs set in, and he was soon brought to the very verge of death. Then the noble character of Dolores shone forth. From the first hour of her husband's illness until the last she never left him. What rest she was compelled to take she took in his room. She was the most assiduous and careful, the most gentle and loving of nurses.

"You make even death seem sweet, Dolores," he whispered to her, while the death-damp gathered on his brow. "We have not been long together, but you have made me very happy."

His little daughter was brought to him, and he passed away with his head on the breast of the wife whom he had loved so dearly and so well.

His death, so sudden and unexpected, coming in the midst of his great happiness, and so soon after his marriage, created a profound sensation in the county. People could hardly believe it at first. Its effect on Dolores was terrible. It seemed to her that she could never bear the common routine of life again. It was a mystery to her, far above her comprehension, this sudden coming of death into the midst of life; this awful wrenching of a great human tie. She stood with weeping eyes by her husband's dead body. Was this indeed the man who had loved her with such lavish love? Where was the light that had shone in his eyes for her; where the kindly, tender smile? The grim, terrible mystery filled her with awe and wonder. She had never seen death before; it had been but an empty word to her. She bent down to kiss the silent lips.

"I have been true to you, my dear, in thought, word and deed," she said. "May we meet again in heaven!"

The funeral of Lord Rhysworth was an event long remembered in the county. There was not one present whose heart did not go out in warmest sympathy to the beautiful young widow.

The Squire was deeply affected by his old friend's death.

"Who would have believed that I should out live him?" he said; and in his heart he knew that, but for the dead man's generosity and kindness, he would not have been alive.

They buried him in the old family-vault, where all the Rhysworths for many generations had slept. When the will was read it was found that he left all that he had to his wife—Burbage Grange, with an income of five thousand per annum, which at her death was to revert to his daughter Kathleen, together with a large sum of ready money and several valuable investments which made her wealthy for life. To his beloved daughter he had already given Deerhurst Manor, with two thousand per annum, the money to accumulate until she attained the age of twenty-one.

Deeping Hurst, with its revenues, went to the next of kin, Walter Irving, now Walter, Lord Rhysworth, who was in India, where he had held an office under Government. A year at least must elapse before he could come home; so he wrote to Lady Rhysworth, asking her as a great favor to remain at Deeping Hurst until he returned to England.

Sickness and death had somewhat awed Lola. She did not care to go to Deeping Hurst for the very breath of death was horrible to her. While the three months of rigorous mourning lasted, she wrote frequently to Lady Rhysworth, being always very careful to mention the fact that she had just heard from Sir Karl; but she made no attempt to visit her. Only when the Deeping Hurst carriage had been seen in town did she venture near the place.

Dolores was pleased to see her. She was young, and the long isolation had begun to tell upon her. It was cheering to see a bright face and to hear the sound of a laughing voice. Almost her first words to Lola were an invitation to the nursery to see baby Kathleen; and Miss de Ferras' first remark was—

"What a great pity, Lady Rhysworth, it was not a boy."

"Why a great pity?" asked the young mother, reproachfully. "Could anything be fairer or sweeter than my little Kathleen?"

"No, but a boy would have succeeded to his father's estates, and you need never have left Deeping Hurst."

"I would rather have my daughter," said Dolores, clasping the child to her breast, and Lola laughed.

"Sentiment is delightful, but a large income is better. Dolores, do you ever think about the future? It seems a strange fate to have married so well, and to have lost your husband so soon. Do you ever think of the future? You have the best part of your life before you."

"I have not thought of it," answered Dolores, in a clear, low voice; but her lovely face flushed and her lips trembled. "My only thoughts have been of my loss and my sorrow and my beautiful baby. I have had neither time nor inclination for anything else."

But Lola, looking steadfastly at her, repeated—

"The best part of your life lies before you. You are still very young; you are beautiful and wealthy; you have all the prestige without the burden of your husband's rank; and you have only one child. I say that your future will be more brilliant, if you choose to make it so, than even your past has been."

CHAPTER XII.

Fourteen months had elapsed since the master of Deeping Hurst was laid in his grave; and one bright, sunshiny morning Lady Rhysworth took her book and called to the nurse to bring little Kathleen to her favorite nook under a noble cedar. The Squire very often came over to see his daughter and to smoke his cigar under the cedar-boughs, while Dolores read the newspaper to him and his little granddaughter played was Lola de Ferras who had ridden at his knees; but on that morning it over. She had not slept well, she said, and fancied that the air of Deeping Hurst would do her good.

On this fair morning Lola had looked more thoughtful and watched Dolores with more keenness than usual.

"How beautiful the shade of this old cedar is!" she said. "Your ornamental trees are twice as large as ours, just as everything here is twice as beautiful as in any other place. You will be sorry to leave it?"

"Yes," answered Dolores. "And from all that I can hear, I have not much longer to remain. Lord Rhysworth is expected home at the end of this year."

"I wonder," said Lola, "how you can mention the man's name! Were I in your place, I could not."

"Why not?" asked Dolores, smiling. She was growing accustomed to Lola's flights of fancy.

"Think of all he will take from you, Dolores!"

"It never was mine, and it is by right his own. Why should that annoy me?"

"I knew it would anger me," rejoined Lola. "I should do one of two things—either hate him or marry him."

"It is not so easy to marry a man," said Dolores.

The words were simple enough, and had no particular meaning, but Lola's face flushed crimson as she heard them. She knew it was not easy to marry whom she would. She changed the subject.

"You are still very young, Dolores."

"I am but too cognizant of the fact; why do you remind me of it?"

"Because, if the new Lord Rhysworth should marry, you will be the Dowager Lady Rhysworth. I call that nothing short of a calamity."

"It would not disturb me; besides, he may not marry," returned Dolores.

"Rely upon it that he will. I am quite sure that Lady Fielden intends him for her eldest daughter — she speaks of him in such tones of approbation."

"It would be an excellent match," said Lady Rhysworth. "I should like him to marry some nice girl from the neighborhood. It would be the best thing he could do."

"Would you not feel jealous of another Lady Rhysworth? I should!"

"No. I should feel terribly jealous if any one could take even one thought of mine from my baby; but of Deeping Hurst I could never be envious."

Lola looked thoughtfully at her.

"Dolores," she said, "why not marry him yourself? You would lose nothing then."

Lady Rhysworth raised her beautiful eyes in wonder.

"I?" she said, "my dear Lola, nothing in the world could ever make me marry him."

"But he was hardly related to your husband—nothing more than second or third cousin."

"He was hardly a third cousin; but he was the next of kin," replied Lady Rhysworth. "To me it seems just as though he had been my husband's brother. Such a marriage would be an utter impossibility to me."

Lola sighed. She saw that that idea was out of the question, and it once decided upon changing her tactics.

"I was merely jesting; of course you would not marry him. It would not be at all fair of you to monopolize two Lords of Deeping Hurst. Lady Fielden would never allow that."

(To be continued.)

Six Doctors Failed to Cure Him.

ERYSIPELAS AND SALT RHEUM WAS THE TROUBLE.

Burdock Blood Bitters

DID MORE THAN SIX DOCTORS COULD DO.

Mrs. Theo. Newell, Argyle Sound, N.S., expresses her opinion of this wonderful blood remedy in the following letter:

"It is with the greatest gratitude that I can testify to the wonderful curative powers of Burdock Blood Bitters. For years my husband suffered terribly with Erysipelas and Salt Rheum. He was so bad at times that he could no sleep on account of the itching and burning. He had been under the care of six different doctors, but they failed to do him any good. I had read different times of the wonderful cures being made by Burdock Blood Bitters, so advised him to give it a trial. He did so, and after taking five bottles was cured without a doubt. I would strongly advise any person troubled with blood disorders to give B.B.B. a fair trial for I am sure it will cure them."

"LUCKY"

Is often the name given by careless and thoughtless people to those who are careful and thoughtful. "What a lucky woman," is said of one whose health and beauty proclaim her free from womanly diseases. The luck often consists in her having thoughtfully considered the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and proved its ability to cure the diseases peculiar to her sex.

"Favorite Prescription" is a reliable medicine for the cure of womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"I had poor health for nine years," writes Mrs. Armintie Watkins, of Acme, Kanawha Co., W. Va. "Had female weakness, was very irregular and would suffer untold misery. Our family doctor did not do me any good and I concluded to write to you. When I wrote I had no idea that I would ever get well, but when your letter reached me I began to have hope. I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicines as directed and began to improve in strength. I was soon able to do the work for my family of six. I took eight bottles, three of 'Favorite Prescription' and five of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pellets.'"

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

Market Weak During Most of the Day.

The Quotations of the Leading Stocks —Market Letters.

The Wall Street Stock Markets opened this morning a shade stronger than last night's close.

The feature of to-day's transactions was M.O.P., which gained half a point on last night's close. This stock opened at 111 1-2, went to 112 1-4 and closed at 111 5-8.

The market was strong until about 11 o'clock, after which a tendency to sag was discernable. This weakening continued until late in the afternoon, when the market began to rally, closing however at some of the lowest prices of the day.

The following quotations were obtained from Messrs. E. M. Poussett & Co.:

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

Miller buying U.P. and M.O.P.; Webb and Scott selling L.N. London selling some stocks, and some selling around room by traders with commission house business very light. Coalers and Gould stock strong; general list continues to drag, particularly S.P., U.P. and B.O. Action of St. Paul disappointing. Subtreasury statement shows that banks gained $429,000 yesterday; total $650, 000.

M. & M.

New York, May 7, 9.45 a.m.—Revived rumours of R.I. Frisco merger. Talk of dividend on R.I. common on completion of first fiscal. On recent scale earnings M.O.P. would show 12 per cent. this year. Crop reports continue favourable. Banks gained from sub-treasury since Friday $221,000. Norfolk will earn 7 1-2 per cent. on common this year. No increase in L. & N. dividend likely. Believed that practically all of R.G. 2nd and 1st prfd coming on market in last ten days has been bought for P.A. and Lake Shore joint account.

D. J. CO.

There may be some further rally today in which event we think it would be best to secure profits with view to buying back on declines. Foreign exchange closed strong to-day, 488 1-8 for demand sterling; gold could be exported direct to London at 488 1-4. Trading element seems to disregard this feature, and there was some Gooding buying yesterday especially in R.I., on which there is talk of a dividend on common. Money easy. Foreign exchange brokers expect some further strength to develop in foreign exchange rates here but no one seems to expect gold shipments immediately.

GOLF.

LADIES' WEEKLY GOLF MATCH.

The flag was again floating over the pavilion at the golf course yesterday, on the occasion of the weekly golf match amongst the ladies for golf balls presented by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun.

Great enthusiasm has been aroused over the matches, and the ladies turned out in strong numbers to try to win the coveted trophy. The weather was ideal for golfing, and the course being in splendid order, several good scores were handed in. The honour of winning the prize fell to Mrs. R. R. Hall, with a score of 56, very closely followed by Mrs. Hill, Miss Gwen. Hall, and Miss Dennistoun, who were only a few points behind.

The golfing of the ladies was a great improvement on what was played two weeks ago, some handing in scores 30 strokes lower than they had ever handed in before.

It is to be hoped that when the flag is again hoisted it will not be flying upside down, as it was yesterday, a recognised sign of distress.

As is usual in these matches tea was provided, and was partaken of by the ladies and some of the gentlemen.

The first round of the gentlemen's scratch tournament for Haskell balls was played yesterday between Mr. J. H. Burnham and Mr. J. Lawrence. After a stiff match Mr. Lawrence beat his opponent by 5 holes up.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The fourth annual meeting of the C.G.E. Angling Club was held in the T.A.S. Rooms on Saturday evening for the purpose of electing new officers and arranging for the season's work. The secretary's report was read and showed that the club was in good financial standing.

Three new members were initiated into the mysteries of the club. The members are very anxious for the opening of the season, when they can commence operations. Every man has a good assortment of fishing tackle, viz., rods, pikepoles, grappling irons, frying pans, silver baits, and tomato cans.

The following officers were elected for the season:

Commodore—J. A. Sharpe.
Sec.-Treasurer—R. H. Shepherd.
O. L.—Jos. Begley.
Guide—John Wilson.
Scullion—John O'Brien.
Cook—John Trombley
Bard—N. Munro.
Cabin boy—John Williams.
Executive Committee—A. W. Patterson, J. Wilson, J. McCabe, W. Hill, T. Moldon.

Before the meeting was brought to a close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the T.A.S. for the use of their beautiful rooms. The Angling Club wish them every success in their noble work.

FEW CHARRED BONES

All That Remained of 12 Men in Burning C. P. R. Car.

OTHERS TERRIBLY BURNED.

They Were Members of a Construction Gang Whose Car Was Telescoped in a Collision—Dead Men Are Almost All Foreigners — Doctors and Nurses Rushed to the Scene of the Wreck.

Winnipeg, Man., May 8.— Twelve men were killed and eight fatally hurt yesterday in one of the worst accidents in the history of the Western railroads of Canada.

The disaster occurred at 1 o'clock yesterday morning on the main line of the C.P.R., near Dexter Station, 52 miles east of Fort William. A tie train, running at a high rate of speed, was derailed and thrown wholly into the ditch. In the boarding car attached to the rear end of the train, and filled with employes, twelve men were burned to death, being unable to extricate themselves from the upturned caboose. Eight others were so seriously injured and burned that a number may die.

Advices of the terrible affair were rushed to Fort William, and all the available medical aid, with nurses and appliances for the relief of the injured, were despatched to the scene, arriving about 4 o'clock. The injured were given first aid, and then taken to Fort William Hospital. The scene was appalling in the extreme.

The cries of those confined in the burning car were plainly heard, but the fierceness of the flames made all attempts at rescue abortive. For a time it seemed that all the occupants of the car were doomed, when, by some accident, one of them fell through a window, and he was quickly followed by six or seven others. All of them were fearfully burned, and their recovery is doubtful. It is very difficult so far to get details. Those who accompanied the injured here can offer no cause for the wreck. They all agree, however, that the victim suffered very little, some of them being dead before the flames reached them.

The wrecked train had been distributing ties along the track, and was coming back, when, about a mile out of Dexter Station, a boarding car, with 20 men on board, jumped the track. The cause is supposed to have been a broken wheel. A flat car telescoped the boarding car, which overturned and caught fire, the flames spreading so rapidly as to hamper any rescue. Not a sound of pain was heard.

Dr. Hamilton, the C.P.R. surgeon, went up immediately by special train, and two more doctors followed after, but, later, returned on the delayed express, without reaching the scene of the accident, there being no need of their services.

List of Killed.

Fred Fulk, G. D. Angluck, Ivan Hudena, Murg Kuruc, A. Watin, G. Sunmark, F. Bystrom, L. L. Larson, F. Hokman, A. Johnson, E. Rickson, A. Kundell.

Injured.—Joe Dupont, head hurt; E. Eliard, half scalp torn off, very weak from loss of blood; J. Gagne, back and side hurt; B. K. Udell, leg broken; E. Jakobson, badly scalded on face, arms and body; A. N. Olin, badly hurt back and spine; S. R. Walsh, hip dislocated.

All the above were employes of the tie gang.

HAVELOCK VILLAGE WANTS FIRE PROTECTION.

The Citizens Have Sent in a Petition to the Council.

At the council meeting on Monday night a petition was presented from 74 ratepayers, asking the council to provide some system of fire protection at once. As a result the council have instructed the clerk to advertise in the Toronto papers for a good second-hand hand fire engine. The council will also have a consultation with Mr. Shipman, C.P.R. mechanical foreman and endeavour to obtain joint fire protection with the railway company. The council is to be complimented on the promptness of their action in this respect, and they may rest assured of the hearty support of the people of Havelock.—Havelock Standard.

REV. DR. SYMONDS IS LEAVING PORT HOPE.

Will Become Vicar of Christ Church, Montreal—Regret of School and Town.

(Port Hope Times.)

Dr. Symonds, Headmaster of Trinity College School, is relinquishing his present position to become vicar of Christ Church Cathedral, Montreal. He will leave at the end of the present term. Since Dr. Symonds has been headmaster the school has largely increased in numbers and has been in a thoroughly efficient and flourishing condition, and his resignation is causing great regret, not only at the school, but also in the town, where Dr. Symonds is very popular and where he has been of much assistance in church work. Dr. Symonds is a remarkably eloquent and brilliant preacher and his scholarly sermons have always attracted large congregations whenever it was known that he was to preach. It is expected that Dr. Symonds will be succeeded at the College school by Rev. Dean Rigby, of Toronto.

A COCKNEY'S COMPLAINT.

He Objects to too Much "Chaff" Amongst Oratorical Grains of Wheat.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — A lecture was given last evening before the members of St. Paul's church Young Men's Guild, entitled 'A Trip to London." The address in all but one respect was most exact; that one respect was that the lecturer strayed from the true state of things in order that he might raise a laugh at the Cockney's expense.

Now, Mr. Editor, is it right for young men to be stuffed with such things? Does it tend to cultivate a patriotic sentiment on the part of the coming generation, to the Motherland? It is very noticeable that Canadians generally forget that their ancestors were all emigrants from the "dear old country." Had it not been for the fighting material of the British armies, Canada would long ago have been absorbed by the States.

In Australia, it is said that the old country is looked upon in a very different light, but here in Canada the Englishman, and the old countryman generally, is made fun of, both on the stage and on the public platforms, as well as on the street.

In conclusion Mr. Editor, I might remark, that if a man cannot raise a laugh, except by ridiculing the Motherland, which ridicule is swallowed by the Canadians, as the worm is swallowed by the sucker, then that man ought not to attempt to raise a laugh.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space,

Believe me,

A TRUE COCKNEY.

Though the Examiner is not in a position to judge of the reason of the criticism of our correspondent, yet his letter his printed as a matter of justice and as a vindication of the Englishman's inalienable right to grumble.

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1903.

MR. STRATTON IN THE BOX.

The three chief figures in the celebrated Gamey inquiry—Mr. Gamey himself, Frank Sullivan, and Hon. J. R. Stratton, have now told their stories, and the investigation is now approaching a finish. Mr. Stratton was in the box for seven hours, and although subjected to a most rigid cross-examination by Mr. Blake, he stood the ordeal well. At times there was a good deal of thrusting and parrying between the leading counsel for the prosecution and the witness and the spectators were treated to a keen contest of wit, which they thoroughly enjoyed.

In every essential particular, the Provincial Secretary denied Mr. Gamey's story.

An attempt was made by Mr. Blake to go into contributions to campaign funds, but this is not to be permitted by the judges, save between the months of August and March last, and only to the extent that it may have any bearing on the trial. This investigation is to be conducted in camera and it is not probable the general public will ever derive any information therefrom.—Brantford Expositor.

PARTY CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

(Galt Reformer.)

The Mail and Empire is quite indignant because the Royal Commission refused to allow Mr. Blake, Gamey's counsel, to go on a fishing expedition as to the expenditure of the Liberal campaign fund during the last Provincial election. The chief Tory organ, with characteristic unfairness, charges that it is the Government which has balked the enquiry, fearing an investigation into the disposition of the fund.

Of course the charge is untrue. The Government had nothing whatever to do with the decision reached by the Commission. That was a point upon which their Lordships themselves decided, uninfluenced except by the feeling that it was unfair to permit such a widening of the scope of the Commission unless the disposition of the campaign funds of both parties were made the subject of an enquiry. This the Mail and the Tories are not advocating very strenuously.

Undoubtedly a fund for legitimate expenses in the conduct of an election is absolutely necessary. Neither party can hire halls, distribute literature and convey speakers to different parts of the constituencies without money. But, as the Mail says, "there are campaign funds and campaign funds." A trite remark, truly. But at once the organ proceeds to state, unsupported by any proof, that the Liberal fund was raised illegitimately and employed corruptly. The Mail's charge is no more true than Gamey's charges, and its statement will receive no more credence than the Manitoulin man's story.

The Mail refers to the fact that at a recent meeting of the National Liberal Federation held in London, England, a national Liberal election fund was decided upon, and it was determined that "this fund should be mainly supported by small subscriptions by the rank and file of the party, in every constituency." This course the Mail approves of, and in so doing it unconsciously endorses the method employed in raising the Liberal campaign funds in Canada. It is well known that the Tory managers can always appeal successfully to the wealthy manufactureres and rich corporations for contributions. Such an appeal was made for the provincial elections last May, and the response was such that a fund variously estimated at from $90,000 to $125,000 was raised. The Liberals have no such resources. Indeed the corporations at the last election were avowedly antagonistic to the Ontario Government, for the obvious reason that the administration had imposed a tax on their excessive earnings.

The large fund the Conservative party had avilable for use at the elections in May was undoubtedly the cause of much corrupting of the constituencies, as the protests and subsequent unseating of a number of Tory members amply proves.

The Liberals of Ontario would court an enquiry into the employment of campaign funds of both parties, knowing well that in comparison with the corrupt use to which much of the Conservative fund was put, the legitimate outlay by the former would redound to their credit.

THE PERSONALTY TAX.

In Montreal the personality tax has been abandoned in favour of a business tax which is 10 per cent. of the rental value of the property occupied. In Winnipeg there is a similar method of assessment employed, with the exception that the assessor is given the option of substituting a tax of 3 cents per square foot of the floor space occupied. The idea of the latter provision is to prevent wholesale merchants, who usually do business on back streets, from having an advantage over retail merchants.

In Montreal, in addition to the ordinary business tax, there are a good many special taxes, intended to meet cases where large businesses are carried on in comparatively inexpensive premises. This form of special taxation, however, appears to be very objectionable. It would be better to provide for the differences which must exist between the taxation powers of various businesses by enabling a municipality to impose, in certain cases, a higher percentage say than 10 per cent., and go even as high as 25 per cent., if necessary.

Upon the whole, however, the proposal to substitute a business tax for the personality tax, is meeting with great favour, and there is little doubt this feature of the new Assessment Law will pass the Ontario Legislature without much opposition.

THE CURATIVE VALUE OF PURE FRESH AIR.

Diseased Lungs Call for Pure Air as a Diseased Stomach Demands Pure Food.

In these days when consumption seems to be gaining such an insidious hold on the land, it is very necessary that every attention be given the question of one's health. And it is not the people of the large cities who are the more careless in this regard. The people of the country are very often indifferent, and the following from the Toronto Star is very timely:

"At the age of fifteen a city boy looks weak alongside a farm boy of the same age. At forty the city man looks weak alongside the farmer of the same age. But at sixty the city man is very often more active and vigourous than the farmer who is his equal in years. It is said that the farmer wears himself out physically with hard work, and it may be so, but surely the healthy, open-air life of the agriculturist should give him the advantage even in old age over the pent-up city man, who works as assiduously as the farmer, although his work is not physically severe.

"Perhaps the explanation of it is largely found in this, that city houses are, as a rule, better ventilated than farm houses. The city man who works indoors gets to know how absolutely necessary fresh air is to health. He must have fresh air entering his office, and at night he must have fresh air in his bedroom. Too often the farmer makes no study of the question. He is in the open air all day, and at night he shuts himself up in a bedroom, making of his house a hiding place for the night. The terrible disease consumption is, no doubt, often caused in healthy country places by the stuffy confinement in which farmers and their families sleep. Plenty of people in the city sleep in impure air, their houses being closed as tight as possible, so that in the morning their lungs greedily draw in the good air to be had outdoors. But it is usually forced on the attention of city people that whenever possible they should sleep in a room with a partly opened window.

"When farm houses are well ventilated and fitted out with bathtubs for habitual use, sickness should be almost unknown in agricultural districts."

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, 2Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

An Awful Death.

Toronto, May 7.—Fatally scalded, Frederick LeRoy was yesterday found by fellow-workmen struggling out of a vat of boiling water at the Swansea Bolt Works. His loud, agonized cries attracted the attention of the other employes, who quickly took him out of the water and administered what aid they could to relieve his awful suffering.

LeRoy was stripped of his clothing and his body wrapped in cotton batting, soaked in oil. At an early hour this morning he was reported to be in an exceedingly critical condition, with no hope held out for recovery.

LeRoy is 21 years of age, and has been in the employ of the company for only three months. He lives with his parents at 21 Soraurен avenue.

Miss Lillie Howson, of Campbellford was a guest at the residence of Mr. W. R. Howson, for Sunday.

The induction of the new Presbyterian minister, Rev. Geo. A. McLennan, formerly of Jarvis, took took place in the auditorium of the Presbyterian church, on Thursday afternoon, April 30th. Rev. Mr. McLennan has been pastor of the Jarvis Presbyterian church for the past 11 years and comes to Norwood very highly recommended. The ministers present at the induction were Rev. W. Bennett and Rev. Dr. Torrance, Peterborough, Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Keene; Rev. Mr. Atkinson, Warsaw; Rev. Mr. Campbell, Havelock; Rev. Mr. Goodwill, Cordova Mines; Rev. Mr. Thompson, Hastings, and Rev. Mr. McFarlane, Warkworth.

The service was opened by Rev. Mr Goodwill, of Cordova, in the usual way, with prayer, singing and reading of the Scriptures. He then preached a sermon from the text, Matt. 13, 44, "The Hidden Treasure." Some people though not seeking after conviction found it, giving Paul as an example; it was possible not to seek after religion and yet find it, but those who truly searched for it surely found it. After the sermon Rev. Mr. Thompson, Moderator for the Session, put the usual questions to the new minister, which were answered promptly. Rev. Mr. McLennan was then introduced to the ministers of the Presbytery, who came forward and welcomed him into his new field of labour. Rev. Camp, of Havelock, addressed the minister, pointing out his duty towards his congregation, after which Rev. Mr. McFarlane gave a very spirited address to the people, showing them their duty towards their minister. After the service was closed Rev. Mr. McDonald of Keene, and Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood, introduced the minister to the congregation. In the evening tea was served from 6 to 8. Attendance was not large owing the inclemency of the weather. The rest of the evening was spent in addresses, interspersed by special music rendered by the choir. Those on the platform were Rev. McKee-McLennan, English clergyman, Norwood; Rev. Hawkings, of Baptist church, Norwood; Rev. Potter, Peterborough; Rev. Thompson, Hastings; Rev. McDonald, Keene; Rev. G. A. McLennan. The evening was closed by singing the Doxology.

On Wednesday evening the home of Mr. Wm. McKay, Belmont street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when his youngest daughter, Miss Lily, was united in marriage to Mr. Herbert Webster, second son of Mr. Wm. Webster, of Asphodel. The bride was attended by Miss Stuart, of Belmont, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Frank Webster. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a dainty dejeuner. The young couple intend residing in Asphodel.

On Tuesday morning St. Paul's church, Norwood, was the scene of a pretty and fashionable wedding, when Mr. P. F. McNulty, the popular reeve of Asphodel, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Miss Elizabeth Kelly, eldest daughter of Mr. David Kelly, Dummer. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary Kelly, while the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Patrick McNulty. The bride wore a gown of white silk and wore the conventional veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of lilies and smilax. The bridesmaid's dress was of blue silk poplin, trimmed with white silk and applique. Rev. Father McNulty, brother of the groom, officiated, assisted by Rev. Fathers Conway and McGuire. The service was of purely choral. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride, where they partook of a dainty wedding breakfast. The newly married couple left on the 12 o'clock train for Montreal.

Mr. W. Hampton, of Parksbeg, Manitoba, is here at present. Mr. J. Davidson is purchasing a car load of cattle for him to take back with him.

THE PREMIER'S BILL.

Lengthy Discussion on the Water Power Measure.

ANDREW PATTULLO'S PLAN.

Commission to Regulate Transmission—Hon. Mr. Harcourt Throws Some New Light on the Celebrated Centre Bruce "Saw-Off"—Natural Gas in Essex—Tributes to Dr. Bridgland.

Toronto, May 8.—The death of Dr. Bridgland, M.P.P., for Muskoka, was the subject of touching references in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, both leaders paying tribute to the worth of the late member. The Speaker said he had directed that a wreath he sent to Bracebridge, to be laid on the coffin of the late member.

Premier's Bill Approved.

In moving the second reading of his bill, the Premier said there had been some agitation in the press and on the platform on the question of the Government placing within the reach of the manufacturers of Ontario the electrical energy stored at Niagara Falls. Three franchises had been granted, each providing for a development of from 100,000 to 125,000 horse-power, but the bill was proposed to enable municipalities either singly or jointly, to embark in the enterprise. It was proposed to put them in the position of installing their own plant, and building transmission works in order that they might place electrical energy within the reach of their own people. The municipalities are empowered to appoint three commissioners to report on the scheme, as to the cost of the work, the expenses of maintenance, the productive capacity of the works, the probable demand for power, the cost to consumers, the amount of power in use, the proportion of contribution by municipalities, the desirability of the undertaking, time required to complete the works and the extension of existing works to other municipalities, and in the event of any of the commissioners being favorable to the undertaking the municipalities are empowered to submit a bylaw to the ratepayers. In the event of the passage of the bylaw by the various municipalities, the bill provides that a board of commissioners shall be appointed to carry out the work.

If any of the municipalities vote against the proposal it is provided that the remaining municipalities may go ahead, providing it is shown to the satisfaction of the Chief Justice of Ontario that the acquisition and construction of the works so modified shall not have the effect of increasing the liability for the cost of the work more than ten per cent beyond the amount assented to by the ratepayers.

Mr. Ross said the principles of the bill were very simple, but the chief difficulty would be the working out of the scheme by the municipalities. The question would arise whether the municipalities desire sites at Niagara Falls for their own use. The report of the Park Commissioners, which was laid on the table a few days ago, dealt with the available sites remaining at Niagara Falls for power plants.

Mr. Whitney said that the members of the Opposition had been unable to lay hands on the report.

Mr. Ross, continuing, said there were still four sites equally as good as the ones already granted. The estimated cost of transmission was $3,600 a mile and the cost of maintenance $185 a mile.

Mr. Whitney's Speech.

Mr. Whitney said the members were face to face with the problem without having seen the report of the Park Commissioners, and without a practical explanation of the bill by its promoter. The House would like to have understood what they might expect would be the benefits to accrue from the carrying out of the proposition. It appeared to the speaker that the Government had brought themselves to accept the principle rather than adopt the scheme proposed by the Opposition, which was that the Government should spare enough time to devise a scheme for the utilization of the forces of nature for the benefit of the whole people. He was unable, in the absence of any information, to speak in regard to the water power that was still available, and there was no explanation of the way it was proposed the proposition would work out. The best way to deal with the question would be for the Government to be the controlling or central authority.

He considered one defect of the bill to be that it proposes to carry out the scheme against the will of one or more of the municipalities, which may enter into the arrangement and then back out.

Mr. Carscallen (Hamilton) asked if the bill applied to other powers than Niagara Falls, and the Premier replied that it did.

Mr. Carscallen believed that the bill would lead municipalities into all sorts of difficulties. He would rather give municipalities special privileges than pass a general bill. This was fraught with danger to the municipalities.

Mr. Hoyle said the general principle of the bill was a principle which the municipalities had been asking for. The municipalities have a right to demand the privilege of generating their own electrical energy.

Mr. Morrison was in accord with the principle of the bill.

Mr. Pattullo's Speech.

Mr. Pattullo, though not quite in accord with the leader of the Government on this matter, thought that the bill was one which should not be dealt with in a party spirit at all. The bill had been in their hands for some time, and had been discussed in the press to a great extent. The press discussion, however, had been too much of an emotional character, considering especially that the question was a business one. He read from the annual report of the Toronto Board of Trade for 1900. That board's Electrical Committee's report on the use of electrical energy stated that the total power likely then to be used in Toronto was 17,000 horse-power. The public were apt to form exaggerated ideas along such lines as this, and in the matter of the cost of developing electrical energy. He quoted these things in order to bring the House to a rational consideration of the proposal. He did not believe that the average cost of producing steam power in Woodstock was more than $10 or $12 per horse-power, and the town was not likely to use more than 1,000 horse-power for many years to come. Similar figures might be found applicable to many other municipalities. He stood in the House as an advocate of municipal ownership. In his own town they had applied the principle. But he was not an advocate of Governments going into trading or into industries outside of their own functions.

The leading industries of Toronto could not afford to use the new power. They needed their present plants for heating. The door was being opened, he feared, to a most insidious system of municipal bonuses by offering cheap or free power to industries. He believed that there was a way by which we could avoid the dangers ahead of municipalities under the provisions of the bill. The bill was drawn especially to apply to Niagara Falls. It seemed to him that the true plan would be to have that power developed and transmitted under a commission of three or five appointed by the Government. They should have authority to transmit power to Toronto and the other towns and cities that would use it. They could issue bonds guaranteed by the Government. They would buy the power from the company that would provide it cheapest, having the reserve authority to develop it if they could obtain the power upon satisfactory terms. He objected to the Government developing energy at Niagara Falls, because they would be called upon to do the same thing in every other direction. He did not believe any Government in the Province would ever undertake the development of power.

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt.

Dr. Nesbitt said he came back to the original proposition for the Government to generate the power and deliver it to the municipalities, but would accept the principle of giving the municipalities the power to develop power, on the ground that half a loaf is better than no bread. By giving away our valuable water privileges, you are going to handicap the people of the Province of Ontario for all time to come. A Government that gave away concessions to private corporations was not protecting the people as it should do. He charged that the Government had given away the most valuable concessions at Niagara Falls.

The bill was then read a second time and sent to the Municipal Committee.

The Centre Bruce Saw-Off.

On motion to go into supply, Mr. Clark (Centre Bruce) opened a discussion on the proposed saw-off of the Centre Bruce protest. He read correspondence which passed between Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Acting Premier, while Mr. Ross was in England, Mr. Bristol, the Conservative lawyer, and Mr. R. A. Grant, the Liberal lawyer.

In the letter of June 25, Mr. Harcourt said: "I am in receipt of your letter of June 25, enclosing copy of letter from Mr. Grant. The agreement was entered into, must be carried out, and I will at once so state to Mr. Grant." He repeated the same determination in subsequent letters, but notwithstanding this the protest against Centre Bruce had not been dropped. On Sept. 16, Premier Ross wrote Mr. Bristol saying he would see Mr. R. A. Grant and discuss the case of Centre Bruce with him. He said that as the difficulty had occurred in his absence, he was not familiar with the circumstances, and could not express an opinion without further information. Mr. Clark said he believed Mr. Harcourt had done everything in his power to carry out the agreement entered into, short of resigning. The Premier, however, stood with those who opposed his colleague in this and went into Centre Bruce because he thought he would reap a political advantage.

Mr. Harcourt Explains.

Mr. Harcourt, in reply, said he was compelled to allude to a personal matter much against his own desire. He had not one fact to conceal, nothing to suppress in this matter. Therefore he would give a brief account of the facts.

On June 24 he attended the meeting referred to. There were possibly seven or eight in the room. That was the first meeting he attended. The two Toronto members had already attended more than one meeting at which discussion upon the matter in question took place. Every other person in that room knew more about the local conditions in the constituency than he did. The conference lasted only a few minutes. The question came up whether they could get rid of the list of protests which they had before them, involving some twenty odd seats. Mr. Grant immediately said that they might undertake to do it, but they could not accomplish it. It was one thing 'to arrange the Centre Bruce matter and another thing to carry it out. The petition had been filed directly at the instance of the local Liberals, and party feeling ran too high to stop it.

"What was the agreement that was entered into?" Mr. Harcourt asked. "It was conditional at the most, not an absolute agreement. The condition was that, if the local interests would allow, there would be no protest in this case." The agreement was accepted by the two members from Toronto, on the condition that the local irritation could be overcome. Only a few hours passed by before Mr. Grant in writing notified Mr. Bristol that he was utterly unable to carry out the agreement. There were fourteen other seats in which Conservatives might have entered protests, and thus have made right this apparent wrong. They had tried to make it a point that he had considered it was all important that his riding of Monck should not be protested. There was not, humanly speaking, one chance in a million of their carrying that riding. That county was never supposed to have been put in the balance against Centre Bruce.

Mr. Clark said that the whole list on one side was set off against the opposite list.

Mr. Harcourt, continuing, said that the member for Centre Bruce knew nothing of the matter except from hearsay. He had not been present at any of the meetings. He had, however, surely answered himself by saying that Centre Bruce was not set-off against Monck.

He did not let the matter rest there, however. He saw Dr. Stewart himself, and made a personal appeal to him to carry out the agreement and asked his colleagues to make a personal appeal to him, and they were met by the same reply. It was impossible to allay the party strife in the riding.

Messrs. Foy, Stratton, Nesbitt, St. John and Whitney also spoke and the subject was dropped.

Essex Natural Gas.

Dr. J. O. Reaume (North Essex) raised the question of the natural gas in Essex County, and after reviewing the history of the case charged the Government with disastrous delay in stopping the export to Michigan.

Mr. J. A. Auld (South Essex) said the Ontario Government had done more to stop the gas export in eight months than the Government at Ottawa, Liberal and Conservative, had done in as many years. The permit had been granted by the Conservative Government at Ottawa years ago.

About 11 o'clock the House went into supply and passed $920,915 for maintenance of public institutions.

Hon. Mr. Latchford promised to get a report on the damage by bush fires in North Hastings, near Bancroft.

A number of bills were read a first time and the House adjourned.

A Bit of Scotland in Canada.

At a point 145 miles north of Toronto on the Grand Trunk Railway System is reached one of the most magnificent districts in the Highlands of Ontario known as the Lake of Bays District. The region comprises a series of connected lakes, over which large steamers are navigated. What greatly adds to the Lake of Bays value as a health-giving and sportsman's resort is the unmatched purity of the air one breathes upon its heights. The visitor forgets his ills under its reviving influence in less than a week, and sees life's problems in a smoother light, enjoying the good things in this life which Nature and Providence have prepared for him. Its bracing morning breeze which rivals the celebrated atmosphere of Pike's Peak, Col., impart new lung power and fresh vitality.

Transvaal Loan Passed.

London, May 7.—In moving in the House of Commons yesterday a formal resolution guaranteeing the Transvaal loan of $175,000,000, Colonial Secretary Chamberlain delivered a lengthy, optimistic speech on the future of the new South African colonies. He explained that it had been decided to purchase all the existing railways, which would absorb $65,000,000 of the new loan, and $25,000,000 more will be expended as quickly as possible on the development of railways; $12,500,000 would be spent on land settlement, and $10,000,000 on public works. The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Ritchie, declined to reveal the rate of interest in advance of the issuing of the prospectus. After some debate the resolution was agreed to.

POLICE COURT.

A Serious Charge of Perjury Against Two Men.

At the Police Court this morning, before Police Magistrate Dumble, James H. and John Freeman, of Bobcaygeon, were charged with perjury. TThe facts of the case were that in court the accused swore to the effect that a certain receipt, dated the 1st of June, 1892, had been signed by one William Freeman, while in reality it had not. Alleged perjury was committed during an action in which Wm. McCamus was the plaintiff, and the accused the defendants.

The Police Magistrate remanded the case for a week.

THE RED KNIGHTS' ENTERTAINMENT.

A Long Programme was Heartily Endorsed.

Perhaps on the whole the good work which the Salvation Army is daily doing, is not given its full due. However, that may be, the fact that the army has done excellent work in the past, is doing excellent work at the present time, and probably will do excellent work in the future, is unquestionable.

Last evening the "Red Knights," the forming of which was conceived by Miss Booth, gave a most excellent musical entertainment in the Salvation Army barracks, at which there were about six hundred present.

Although purely musical the subsequent programme will fully illustrate the spirit of the meeting.

Lieut.-Colonel Pugmire, leader of the Red Knights, presided.

The programme, which was very heartily appreciated by all present, was as follows:

Part song, God is calling the Prodigal... The Red Knights.
Violin solo..... Ensign Arnold.
Vocal solo, I want to Go There..... Capt. Russell.
'Way over Yonder on the Hill Top..... Male Quartette Red Knights.
Cornet solo..... Staff-Capt. Morris.
Part song, Sweet and Low..... The Red Knights.
Violin solo..... Adjt. Griffin.
Cornet solo..... Staff-Capt. Morris.
Selection by local S. A. band.....
Vocal solo, Fallen by the Wayside..... Capt. Russell.
Hark! There comes a Whisper..... Male Quartette.

The meeting closed with a reading from the Bible by Lt.-Col. Pugmire.

The meeting was a most successful one, and it was a late hour before the very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

A BAR BANQUET TO MR. E. B. STONE

Held Last Night in the Crown Hotel.

Mr. John Green Occupied the Chair—Many Expressions of Regret Were Made.

Mr. E. B. Stone, who is leaving town to enter upon the practice of his profession in London, was last night tendered a farewell banquet by the Law Society of Peterborough. The affair was held in the Crown Hotel, and there was a good representation of the members of the bar in attendance. Altogether a very pleasant evening was spent, and many eulogistic references were made to Mr. Stone and best wishes were expressed for his future success.

The chair was occupied by Mr. John Green, president of the Peterborough Law Association. To his right sat the guest of the evening, Mr. Stone and Mr. R. R. Hall, and to his left sat Mr. George Edmison, and Mr. B. Morrow, Registrar. The vice-chair was occupied by Mr. A. P. Poussette, K.C., with Police Magistrate Dumble, and Mr. John Moloney, clerk of the High Court of Justice, to his right, and Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards and Mayor Roger to his left. After the toast of the King had been duly honoured Mr. Poussette proposed the toast of "Our Guest." In doing so he paid a warm tribute to Mr. Stone's ability as a barrister, his personality, and his citizenship. He expressed sincere regret at Mr. Stone's departure.

The toast was responded to first by singing, "For He's a Jolly, Good Fellow," and then by Mr. Stone, who, in a happy speech, said that he hoped to continue in his profession, as well as adding another to the one he had practiced all his life. He expressed his sorrow at parting from his colleagues, and all with whom he had associated in the practice of his profession. He thanked the members present for their kindness, sympathy, and for their expressions of goodwill.

Colonel E. B. Edwards proposed the health of the Bench, and in his speech referred to the guest in very flattering terms.

Mr. D. W. Dumble responded and said that instead of referring to the Bench he would like to say a few words with reference to the departure of his friend. He took occasion to say that the relationship between him, as Police Magistrate, and the guest of honour was one of the greatest harmony, and he joined with the others in wishing Mr. Stone prosperity in his new home.

Mr. George Edmison in a few well chosen remarks referred to the warm friendship that existed between the guest of the evening and himself for the past 20 years. He joined in wishing Mr. Stone every success.

Mr. R. M. Donnistoun in proposing the toast of Municipal Institutions, spoke of Mr. Stone's many amiable qualities and his ability as a lawyer.

Mayor Roger and Alderman D. O'Connell replied both expressing the belief that Peterborough losing a good citizen.

Mr. F. D. Kerr proposed the toast of the County Officials, and Messrs. John Moloney nd R. E. Wood responded.

Chairman Green closed the toast list with a sweeping eulogistic reference to Mr. Stone and assured him that the legal fraternity of Peterborough regretted the fact that he was leaving town.

Mr. Stone and family leave town Saturday morning taking with them the heartiest good wishes of a wide circle of friends. Mr. Stone has been a citizen of Peterborough for eighteen years, and during that term of residence has occupied a prominent position in legal circles and has discharged the general duties of citizenship in a way to make his departure represent the loss of a good citizen. The Examiner joins with the many friends Mr. Stone leaves behind him in wishing him the largest degree of prosperity and happiness in his new home.

MR. H. R. H. KENNER'S INTERESTING ADDRESS.

Young Men's Guild at St. Paul's Church Organize a Baseball Club.

There was a large attendance of members at a meeting at the Young Men's Guild of St. Paul's church, which was held in the Guild Room last night.

The regular business routine was run off, during which it was decided that the Guild have a baseball club. In view of this the following officers were elected.

Hon. Pres. — Rev. Dr. Torrance.
Pres.—Rev. J. A. Wilson.
Captain—Mr. A. Gillespie.
Manager—Mr. H. R. H. Kenner.
Executive Committee — Messrs. J. H. Connall, A. Laing, and A. P. McLean.

On the conclusion of the transaction of the business affairs of the Guild, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was called upon by the President, Mr. J. H. Connal, to deliver his address, entitled "A Trip to London."

Mr. Kenner commenced his discourse by vividly describing the sea voyage from the time of the liner's weighing anchor and leaving the wooded coasts of Canada, until the arrival of the ship at an English port. The speaker varied occasionally the pronunciation of names of certain places, which, to an Englishman's ear is worse than to hear the production of discordant passages on the violin. However, beyond that, Mr. Kenner's address was a most interesting and accurate one. In speaking of London's enormous size, and the vastness of its population, Mr. Kenner remarked that it was a city in which there were more Scotchmen than in Edinburgh, more Irishmen than in Dublin; more Jews than in Jerusalem; and Roman Catholics than in Rome. He dwelt at some length on the magnificent sights to be seen, such as St. Paul's Westminster Abbey, the British Museum, the Tower, London Bridge, and many other world-famed places of interest. Mr. Kenner remarked that the Parliament Buildings together with Westminster Hall, covered an area of over eight acres, and had a frontage along the Thames of about 1000 feet.

The speaker gave a very interesting account of the Coronation procession of King Edward VII, which he viewed personally last year.

At the conclusion of the address Rev. Dr. Torrance rose to move a vote of thanks to Mr. Kenner for his very interesting address. He incidentally remarked that he had visited most of the places spoken of. The motion was seconded by Mr. W. Madill, amid the hearty and enthusiastic clapping of hands.

The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the doxology.

"Work and Play."

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the Highlands of Ontario, about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. This district is composed of lakes and rivers innumerable and is situate 1,000 feet above sea level. Good fishing and hunting are assured. Ample hotel accommodation at all points on the lakes is provided to suit the purses of everyone. Excellent transportation service.

Copies of handsome descriptive literature relating to this country, can be had free by applying to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G. T.R., Toronto.

KNOWN IN PETERBOROUGH.

A Visitor to Stony Lake and the A. C. A. Camp.

The gentleman referred to in the subjoined paragraphs from the New York Mercantile and Financial Times was a visitor to the A.C.A. camp, when it was pitched at Stony Lake in 1883. He is well known to many in Peterborough, especially those of the aquatic guild, who will be pleased to learn of his promotion:—

The action of Mayor Low in appointing Mr. Robert J. Wilkin a Justice of the Court of Special Sessions Brooklyn affords hearty satisfaction, the selection being regarded as an excellent one.

Mr. Wilkins is too well and too favourably known to require any extended introduction at our hands. For a considerable time he has occupied a prominent position at the Brooklyn and is known as a lawyer of sound ability and experience, who has had an unusually successful and creditable career.

He has acted for some time as Superintendent of the Children's Society of Brooklyn, and in that capacity has rendered able and efficient service, contributing in no small degree to the success of that important and useful organization.

Of his qualifications for the position to which he has been appointed there can be no question. His knowledge and experience as a lawyer will prove of great advantage to him in administering the affairs of the office.

In fact, the appointment from any point of view, is an admirable one, and the wisdom which prompted the same cannot be too highly commended, the more especially as Mr. Wilkin is a conspicuous member of just the class of men it is to the interest of the people to have in important judicial offices.

Over 10,000 rolls of the lowest priced Papers in Peterborough—grounded colours, at 4 and 5 cents; golds at 5, 6, 7, 8 and 10c; French stripes, satins and silk effects at 10, 12c and 15c a roll, at Sallsbury's. Also Window Blinds with Hartshorn roller, complete, 23c.

PORT HOPE CANAL ASSOCIATION OBJECTS

To the Remarks of Chief Engineer Rogers of the Trent Valley Canal.

At a meeting of the Port Hope Canal Association, in Port Hope on Wednesday evening, Dr. Powers, the President, occupied the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. H. H. Barrott made a short address in which he said that he had been in Toronto and heard Mr. Rogers, Government Engineer, deliver a lecture on "The Waterways of Canada," and when he came to the Trent Valley Canal he ignored Port Hope entirely. Many of Mr. Rogers' remarks would lead the engineers of Toronto to believe that the route from Trenton to Rice Lake had been determined.

Dr. R. A. Corbett pointed out several disadvantages of the Trenton route, one of the principal ones being that the Canal would have to cross the railway track five separate times. Then the lake is subject to great variation. It has been known to drop 22 inches and at Trenton they have 7 feet of water, so with this drop of 22 inches taken off it would leave them 5 ft., 2 in., and they purpose dropping a six foot canal into this.

Mr. Clark reported that the Committee appointed at the last meeting had prepared a folder, the copy of which could be found on the table.

Messrs. J. F. Clark, H. Barrett, R. A. Mulholland, Dr. L. B. Powers, Dr. R. A. Corbett and Mayor White were appointed a Committee to meet Engineer McLeod and give him all information. It was also decided to invite the Hon. Mr. Blair to come to Port Hope and inspect the Port Hope route.

It was moved, seconded and carried that Mr. Barrett be requested to write the Hon. Mr. Blair, explaining the nature of Mr. Rogers' address and point out the unfairness of his remarks to Port Hope.

The meeting then adjourned.

A Morning Run.

Here's a morning programme that will put life into a sluggish liver, give you a clear eye, a fresh skin, harden your muscles and make you feel like a new man: Rise at 6 a.m. Take a cold sponge bath. Put on your sweater and take a five mile wheel in the country or the park. Get your lungs full of fresh air, and your ears full of nature's music and your head full of healthy thoughts—nothing like a wheel for that. Then when you get home have a good rub down with a coarse towel, make your skin glow. After that you will feel like breakfast. There is no better beginning for the beat of a summer day than that course. Just try it.

Is Your Piano in Tune?

G. T. PACIFIC R. BILL

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson and Mr. Hays Appear in Support.

IN THE RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

President and Manager of the Grand Trunk Railway Explain Measure—Support to Be Asked From Government to Coincide With That Received by C.P.R.—Preference to Canadian Ports.

Ottawa, May 8.—The long-expected Grand Trunk Pacific Bill came before the Railway Committee yesterday. This bill says nothing of subsidies. That matter, if it comes up, will be dealt with separately.

The big committee-room was packed to the doors. A map of the proposed route filled a large part of the wall behind Chairman Hyman. It showed a line running from Quebec to North Bay, thence north of Lake Nepigon to Winnipeg, thence through Edmonton to the Rockies and the Coast, through Peace or Pine River Pass, a dotted line showing that the route had been deflected so as to run through northerly of Ontario and Quebec, instead of dipping down to North Bay. It will pass not far south of Lake Abittibi. Connection is to be made with Old Ontario by the Temiskaming Railway.

A preliminary skirmish was fought over the map. It was objected that it did not show other lines distinctly, that it was not clear enough, that it was not big enough.

Leighton McCarthy, M.P., opened the case, by arguing that there is congestion of freight in the west, and that the development of Canada is hampered.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson.

"This system is promoted," said Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, "under the sponsorship of the Grand Trunk. The company has gone out for more railway facilities. Duty and interest call upon the Grand Trunk to meet the demand. It has immense advantages in its geographical and strategical position, its magnificent road and equipment its terminals, its valuable connections, unequalled elements of strength."

He goes on to give emphatic assurance that the Grand Trunk will carry the project through.

Mr. Blair, Minister of Railways, said that misapprehension was cleared up.

Sir Charles is asserted to have said to the Grand Trunk shareholders that the Grand Trunk is not committed to profit, and will give it only moral support unless Government assistance is forthcoming.

Sir Charles answers that he must speak with reserve as to that. This question of public aid would come up later. He had assured Grand Trunk shareholders that it was their policy not to go into speculative enterprises. He did refer to assistance from the Government, and he expected this enterprise would receive the same aid as the C.P.R. and others had done.

Here followed a long heckling, and Sir Charles finally said he believed there is business awaiting a railway going into that country, and that preference would be given to Canadian ports.

"Is the Grand Trunk prepared to act without a bonus?" he was asked.

Sir Rivers Wilson—That is a point on which I must be excessively guarded.

Mr. Pringle—We must be excessively guarded, too.

General Manager Hays.

General Manager Hays said—"The Grand Trunk wants to give preference to Canadian ports, but the Canadian ports have no facilities. The Grand Trunk can, in sixty-eight hours, flood the terminals at Montreal and Quebec, and the Intercolonial cannot handle one-third of the Grand Trunk freight. The question is not, Will the Grand Trunk use your ports? but will your ports provide facilities for all we can deliver?"

In answer to other questions, Mr. Hays said the Grand Trunk would do for Canadian ocean terminals all it was doing for Maine, and they were ready to begin work at once as soon as surveys were completed at six or a dozen points. The road would be finished in not less than one year and not more than five.

BRITAIN'S WARNING.

Will Maintain Pre-Eminence in the Persian Gulf.

FOREIGN SECRETARY SPEAKS.

No Other Power Will Be Allowed to Establish a Naval Base or Fortified Port—His Remarks Meets Generally With Approval—Sixty Bulgarians Killed by Turks in Sharp Battle.

London, May 7.—Foreign Secretary Lansdowne has proclaimed a British Monroe doctrine in the Persian Gulf, and has practically notified the competing powers that any attempt on their part to establish a naval base or fortified post in those waters means war with Great Britain.

"I say without hesitation," said the Foreign Secretary, dealing with the subject in the House of Lords last evening, "that we should regard the establishment of a naval base or a fortified port in the Persian Gulf by any other power as a very grave menace to British interests, and we should certainly resist it with all the means at our disposal."

Lord Lansdowne's attitude in this matter generally meets with approval, although the answers thereto of the other powers interested in the Gulf are awaited with some anxiety.

An Engagement at Van-Itza.

Salonica, May 7.—An engagement is reported to have occurred at the village of Van-Itza between Turkish troops and a Bulgarian band, in which sixty Bulgarians, including their leader, Deltzeff, were killed, while the Turks had four men killed and three wounded. Thirty houses in Van-Itza were burned. A Bulgarian band, led by Petroff, has been routed at Krapestza. Seven of the Bulgarians were killed.

A number of dynamite bombs were captured here, and martial law was proclaimed in Salonica Tuesday.

The battleships Sandegna and Francesco Morosini, the cruiser Carlo Alberto, and the torpedo cruiser Calat Fimi of the Italian navy have arrived.

Bulgaria Warned.

Constantinople, May 7.—The situation in Turkish official circles against Bulgaria is constantly growing more acute, and the Government of that Principality has been formally notified, in rigorous language, that the Porte holds it responsible for the outrages arising from the freedom of action which the Macedonian agitators living in Bulgaria have been allowed.

It is reported that the Porte has decided to mobilize the whole of the Second and Third Army Corps, stationed at Adrianople and Salonica, respectively.

Is Turkish Consul Murdered?

Vienna, May 7.—An unconfirmed rumor is current here that Albanians have murdered the Turkish general of the Uskub District.

Assassination in Morocco.

Madrid, May 7.—A despatch to The Imparcial from Melilla, Morocco, says it is rumored there that the pretender has been assassinated in his camp at Zelonan.

Damage About $10,000.

Montreal, May 7.—Damage estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000 was the result of a fire in Longue Pointe Tuesday night. The fire was in a wooden frame building on the grounds of the Montreal Locomotive and Machine Company.

Emperor Leaves Rome.

Rome, May 7.—Emperor William lunched with the Queen Mother, and left Rome yesterday afternoon. There was a brilliant scene at the railroad station when His Majesty departed.

SWEPT TO DEATH.

Captain of Str. Gloriana and Fourteen of His Crew Drowned in Sight and Hearing of Land.

Canso, N.S., May 7—The American fishing schooner Gloriana, Capt. George Stoddart of Gloucester, Mass., ran ashore on Thrump Cape Breakers at Dover Tuesday night, and 15 of the crew were drowned, out of a total of 18. The survivors were brought to Canso yesterday afternoon, and are being cared for by the American Consul. The names of the survivors are as follows:

Richard, Eugene Leblanc and Frank Nickerson.

The vessel struck the breakers at 12 o'clock. An attempt was made to escape in the dories, but they were smashed as soon as they were launched. The vessel drifted into the shore. Leblanc, Nickerson and Richard jumped from the jib-boom on to a rock. The vessel then turned side on to the rocks. The seas were washing over her, and washed several of the crew overboard. Their cries could be heard, but there was no possible way to save them. They were seen clinging to the rigging till daylight. The vessel then went to pieces, and 15 fishermen went to the bottom. The names of the drowned are not obtainable at present.

Alphonse Caron Investigates Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Gives the Public the Result in Plain, Straightforward Language.

Alphonse Caron, editor of the Echo, published at Montmagny, Que., has earned the reputation of going to the root of things, getting the whole truth concerning the matter in hand and then setting it forth in plain language no matter who it helps or hurts.

The statements of such men are always worth reading and none more so than the following. It appeared in the Echo a short time ago.

"Do you know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?

"I (the undersigned) know them as the best thing for Dyspepsia. Every person suffering from this terrible malady ought to use them as I have and I am sure he would be satisfied."

ALPHONSE CARON,

Mr. Caron's experience should benefit a large number of people. No disease is more prevalent in Canada than Dyspepsia, none more dangerous, discomforting and dispiriting, none that saps the energy and vigour of people to such an extent. Mr. Caron tells of a sure cure.

Boiler Exploded; One Hurt.

Comber, May 7.—During the noon hour yesterday one of the boilers in Petit Bros. mill, about four miles from here, exploded. Three of the employes were sitting near the boiler eating their dinner when the boiler left its bed, but only one was injured. Herb Manly, a boy 14 years old, was seriously, but not fatally injured.

May Have Her Children.

Buffalo, May 7.—Mrs. Burdick will get the custody of her children, according to the ruling of Surrogate Marcus yesterday.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

English Manners.

An English innkeeper was found in bed one morning with his throat badly cut. "Why did you do it?" they asked. He replied: "For amusement. I had nothing else to do."

This chimes in curiously with an old French epigram on English manners and customs:

Here lies Sir John Plompouding of the Grange,
Who hung himself one morning for a change.

THE B. C. SCANDAL.

Hon. Mr. Wells Denies in Toto the Story Told by Taylor.

Victoria, B.C., May 8.—At the inquiry into the South Kootenay land scandal yesterday Wells denied the statement of Taylor in toto. He alleged that Taylor had long been acting in the C.P.R. interests. He said that Taylor had telegraphed to Eberts suggesting the change of the lands in question from British Columbia Southern to Columbia and Western, and Eberts replied "impossible." He said Taylor had come to him with propositions that a company of twenty shares was being formed to acquire the lands, one share to go to Wells. He said Taylor urged him to deliver the grants.

James Baker, organizer for the Western Federation of Miners, gave evidence before the Labor Commission regarding the aims and objects of that union. He said most of the men held Socialistic views.

The West Lorne Collision.

St. Thomas, May 8.—The adjourned inquest into the West Lorne collision on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad, which happened April 29, killing three men, was resumed yesterday at West Lorne. Five witnesses were examined, employes of the road. They were unanimous in the opinion that had the road been equipped with semaphore signals the collision would not have occurred. The inquest was again adjourned until to-day.

The Final Stages of Locomotor Ataxia

Are Absolute Helplessness, Loss of all Power and Complete Paralysis—Prevented and Cured by

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Locomotor Ataxia is a form of paralysis which is becoming frightfully common these days, because of the nerve-exhausting habits of the present age.

Probably you have seen victims of this ailment walking with a jerking motion and putting their feet down in an awkward manner, and wondered what ailed them. It was locomotor ataxia, or paralysis of the nerves and muscles which control motion.

There is a peculiar numbness of the feet and legs, an uncertain feeling when you start to walk, when you go up or down stairs or around corners. The limbs no longer obey the commands of the brain, the soles of the feet seem to have lost their feeling and you feel as though you might topple over or move backward instead of going ahead.

The final stages of locomotor ataxia are absolute helplessness, loss of all power and complete paralysis of the nervous system.

The time to begin treatment is when the first symptoms of nervous exhaustion become apparent. When you find that you do not sleep well, start up suddenly, have difficulty in concentrating your thoughts, suffer from headaches, indigestion and irritability, it is time to take prompt action to restore the vitality of the blood and nerves. For this purpose there is no more satisfactory treatment than Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Nervous diseases never get well of themselves, nor can they be cured in a few days, but Dr. Chase's Nerve Food assists Nature in restoring vitality to wasted nerves, acts in accordance with Nature's laws, and is certain to do you good, because it forms new rich blood, and nerve cells. A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

"No, it would not be fair. I can safely say that I shall never be guilty to that injustice," laughed Dolores.

Lola was busily engaged in pulling the petals from a rose. A faint flush came to her face. She did not look at Dolores as she was speaking, but went on hastily:

"For my own part, I do not believe in second marriages. I think that a man or woman who marries again, shows but little affection or respect for the memory of the one he or she has lost."

"I do not agree with you, Lola," said Lady Rhysworth, "Of course, if one loses the first love of youth, and all that is brightest and best in life dies at the same time, a second marriage is merely contracted for convenience. Take a man who marries some girl whom he loves with the only love worth having. Suppose she dies, leaving him many little children; he must marry again, so that they may have some one to look after them; but, naturally, he would not love the second wife as he did the first. So it seems to me, there are many cases in which people are compelled to marry again."

"It may be so. But I would not be a second wife—I would not marry a widower," said Lola. She spoke with some little vehemence, and the rose petals fell in a shower over the grass. "You yourself, Dolores," she continued, "with that child to love you and to love—would you ever marry again?"

"How can I say? I have never even thought of it. You forget, Lola, when you speak to me in that fashion, how recently my husband has died. Such an idea has never occurred to me."

"If I were in your place, I should never marry. You have all for which people marry—rank and money."

"Is that all? Is there no love in the case?" asked Dolores.

"You married for love," replied Lola: "and, according to your own theory, you cannot do that twice."

Lady Rhysworth made no reply.

"If I were you," continued Lola, enthusiastically, "I should take care to enjoy myself. I should go to London always for the season; I would be a queen in society: I would rule my little world royally; I would accept all the homage offered me, but take care that my heart was never touched. I would enjoy life to the utmost, but I should never marry again. Your life would be spoiled by a second marriage."

"That is hardly a fair way of looking at it," said Dolores, "I would certainly never live that life."

A dark look came over Lola's beautiful face. She was silent for some little time, but by no means baffled.

"Have I told you my news, Doloret?" she asked. "I talk so quickly, I cannot remember everything I say."

"I do not remember any particular news," answered Lady Rhysworth. "Have you any?"

"Yes; that energetic young wanderer of mine, Sir Karl, is coming home. He will be here in a few weeks."

There was no change in the fair face of Dolores, no wish, no anxious look. She was calm and pale.

"Yours?" she said quietly. "Why do you call him yours?"

"He is mine after a fashion," replied Lola. "Do you think, if I were nothing to him and he were nothing to me, that we should correspond regularly with each other? If you knew all that passed between us on the evening before he went away, you would not ask me why I call him mine."

In her heart of hearts Lady Rhysworth did not believe Lola. How could she when she remembered what Sir Karl had said to her? She made no reply, but gazed thoughtfully at the beautiful agitated face before her.

"Why are you looking at me?" asked Lola. "Do you not believe me? Ah, Dolores, it will be an evil day for any one who comes between Sir Karl and myself—an evil day and an evil hour!"

"You are talking nonsense," said Lady Rhysworth.

"I hope I am," replied Lola. "But there is no chance of any such thing; I need not fear."

CHAPTER XIII.

Sir Karl was in Italy when he read the news of the sudden death of Lord Rhysworth, and understood that the woman he loved was free. His first feeling was one of sorrowful regret. He had always esteemed and liked the master of Deeping Hurst, and it seemed sad that he should die so soon after his marriage with a girl whom he loved so dearly. His second thought was that Dolores was free. More than that he could not realize; he would not pursue the subject. The woman he loved was mourning the loss of her husband, and she should have his respectful sympathy. No letter of condolence that Dolores received expressed greater kindness than Sir Karl's. He told her that no one felt more sincerely sorry than himself that a good man had been so suddenly taken away. Not a word more did he say. While her head was bent in bitter sorrow he would not remind her of the past. It was to him as though she were in a sanctuary where no profane thoughts must follow her.

During all these long months he had heard continually from Lola. He did not answer each letter; he merely wrote when politeness required it. He never liked to think about the little scene that had taken place between himself and Lola; the glamour of her rich, dark beauty, the passion in her face and voice, the intense love for him expressed in her whole demeanor had impressed him as was only natural, and he had in some measure been thrown off his guard. Recalling the scene now, her conduct appeared to him bold and unmaidenly. He could not but regret also the solemn pledge of friendship that had been almost wrung from him. It had been given originally against his better judgment, and it was against his better judgment now that the friendship continued.

Sir Karl had decided what his plans should be. He would finish his Continental tour; he would not return to England until Lord Rhysworth had been dead at least fifteen months; but when he did go, he would do his best to win the only woman he loved on earth.

It was the fact of Sir Karl's continued absence, almost more than any other, which gave Lola such hope. She knew so little of his character that she said to herself, if he had really loved Dolores, he would have returned post-haste when he knew that she was free; he would not have allowed a whole year to elapse before he came home. Surely it was a sign that he was not in love with Lady Rhysworth. She determined to make matters clear to Dolores by dropping hints to her that she considered Sir Karl belonged to herself. This she had done frequently, though they were all vague, mysterious hints, unsubstantial as the hopes they rested on. She had gone over to Deeping Hurst on that bright morning because she han received a note from Sir Karl. She had written, asking him, if he returned by way of Genoa, to execute some trifling commission for her; and he had replied, saying that he should take quite another route, but hoped to be back in England in a few weeks. By return post she wrote to remind him of his promise that he would see her before any one else on his arrival. Sir Karl tore that letter into shreds; if he kept his promise, Lola would not gain any advantage by it.

Sir Karl had not given the date of his return, nor could Lola guess exactly when it would be. She was watching for it impatiently. At last she thought of an ingenious device. She persuaded one of madame's servants to go over to Scarsdale on some pretext, and while there to ascertain the precise day that Sir Karl was expected home. It was cleverly managed. Her messenger told her that he was to return on the third of July; and, from the moment Lola heard the news until he stood before her, those words never left her—"The third of July." On that day all her sorrows were to end, and the Paradise on earth for which she had been waiting was to begin.

The third of July had come at last; and when Lola rose in the morning and opened her window, letting in the balmy air, her heart beat with happiness. Well might the birds sing joyously, well might the green earth look its fairest; he was coming who would make all things bright to her. She resolved, lest she should miss him, not to leave home that day at least. He might come in the morning, at noon, or at night; but, let him come when he would, she must be there. She would not for all the treasures on earth miss the first look into his face, the first sound of his voice. She had longed for his presence all these months, and now she was to see him.

In vain, during that lovely, sunlit day, did Madame de Ferras beg that Lola would either drive out or walk out with her; the girl was resolute; she would not have risked missing Sir Karl to have been made a queen. She could not plead headache, for she looked so well and happy. All that she could answer was—

"I am not inclined to go out today, mamma. Will you excuse me?"

"There is no fear," she said to herself; "he could never hesitate between Lady Rhysworth and myself—no man could. Setting aside the fact that I love him, and that my great love must win some return, he could never prefer her to me."

Madame de Ferras guessed a little of the truth when she saw her daughter's face suddenly grow deathly pale. It was at the sound of carriage-wheels, followed by a loud peal at the hall bell.

"Who can that be?" cried madame.

Lola had said something in a vague way about Sir Karl's return, but had not told her the date.

"Surely," said madame, "it cannot be Sir Karl?"

One glance at Lola was a revelation to her. NoR she could see why her daughter had refused one love after another, why, in the very springtide of her loveliness, she had cared apparently for no one; it was all because she loved Sir Karl. Madame felt a thrill of terror. What if Sir Karl did not return that love?"

Before she had time to say more, before she had recovered from her surprise, or Lola from her emotion, the young baronet was announced. He came in, looking handsomer than ever. The warm suns of France and Italy had bronzed his face, and he was altogether greatly improved. Madame de Ferras, as she looked at him, owned that it was no wonder her daughter was infatuated with him; but Sir Karl and madame herself were both startled when Lola went forward to greet him. They had never seen anything like her face then, and probably never would again—the mingled pleasure and pain, the happiness, the expectation, the fear.

She could not speak to him; but she went forward with outstretched hands. Madame watched the whole scene with tremulous anxiety. She saw that her daughter loved Sir Karl, but she was by no means so sure of the state of his feelings. She saw nothing but simple pleasure in his face—there was no light of love in the frank blue eyes.

"I am very pleased," he said, "to see you once more, madame, and you, Miss de Ferras."

There was no rapture in his voice or manner. He looked, as he said, pleased, and nothing more.

Little by little the color came to Lola's face again and words to her lips.

"I cannot tell you how pleased I am to see you, Sir Karl," she replied. "You must stay for dinner—it will be ready in ten minutes."

"Yes, do, Sir Karl," said Madame. "It will be like old times to have you with us again."

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, May 8th, 9.45 a. m. — Eagerness to subscribe for transvaal loan has given better tone to London. Transvaal loan subscribed 20 times. Crop report continues favourable. Herald says R.I. takes over Frisco, giving for each $100 Frisco $60, five per cent. ten year collateral trust bonds at par and $40 R.I. common equal to $87 a share. No truth in rumor of Atchison bond issue. Atchison in demand in loan crowd. Banks gained since Friday $650,000.

DOW, JONES & CO.

Demand sterling last night closed 488.05 to 10. Some talk yesterday afternoon of probability of some gold going direct to London by Saturday's steamer. This seems impossible in opinion best foreign exchange experts. We look for narrow trader's market with possible rally on better London cables and covering of shorts.

M & M.

New York, May 8th—Brokers report little business in stocks outside professional. London not doing much. We do not look for any radical fluctuations in foreign exchange. Think talk of a moderate favourable statement may be later used by traders clique to work up prices again to effect better selling prices.

M. & M.

Messrs. Haight & Freese, Stock Brokers, submit the following:—

New York, May 8. — The $175,000,000 Transvaal developing loan has been subscribed for over twenty times over at least. British investors might turn their attention to some of predigested securities. The R.I., San. Fran. deal is completed. San Fran. common is taken for 60 per cent. of R.I. 5 per cent. and 60 per cent. R.I. common. Positively no truth in report that Beerwind party has been selling Atch. Insiders have been buying. Specialties, B.R.T., Erie, Atch and A.C.P. are good to take on. Penna is cheap.

PORT HOPE AFTER PLAYERS.

A despatch from Cornwall says:—A Port Hope scout was in Cornwall on Monday in search of players. A visit was paid to the Stormont Cotton Company's mill in search of the popular Jim Kervin, who played with Oshawa last year, and whose ability, Port Hope think, would further their position in the race for the C.L.A. senior championship.

The forbidden fruit James refused to partake of, and a tour was made to the Lally Company's lacrosse establishment, where the celebrated "injun" player, John White, is employed as a lacrosse stringer. Both players refused point blank to sign. Tempting offers were made but without success, and each player gave it out to be thoroughly understood that they would play with Cornwall this season. The scout took the train for Ottawa, returning to Cornwall last night. It is understood he was successful in obtaining the signatures of some of the Capital bunch.

CANOEING.

It is reported that a very amusing canoeing accident occurred at the river the other afternoon. Two enthusiasts of that noble sport in trying to upset a friend were forcibly ejected from their canoe into the somewhat cool water. They are being hourly showered by their friends friends for the temperature of the water on that particular occasion.

Wednesday evening the Trent Valley Canoe Club had an outing which was largely attended and an enjoyable evening resulted. The Club had some five or six races, the most laughable being an upset race which was highly appreciated by all. This evening there will be another outing and as a couple of fast canoeists are in town at present they have challenged the Trent Valley Club to mile race. This was accepted, and as the Club have some fast paddlers, this race should be a good one. All interested are requested to be at the boathouse early so as to have the race started in good time.

The course of race is from Ashburnham wharf to pier and back. The race is to start at 7.30 sharp. As the lock has been changed on the Club House door all rack holders can procure a new key from the secretary at Sanderson's jewellery store. Don't fail to see the race.

CRICKET.

All members of last year's Colts Cricket Club, are requested to turn out to practice to-morrow afternoon at the oval.

TENNIS.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. wishing to join the Tennis Club for the coming season, are requested to meet at the Association Rooms this Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

FOOTBALL.

There will be a practice of the Y. M.C.A. football team this evening. All members are urgently requested to be present.

There will be a football practice this evening.

BASEBALL.

At a meeting of representatives of of the baseball clubs of the town the schedule was drawn up and every arrangement made for the season's work. Only three Clubs will be in league—the Pullmans, Excelsiors and Auburns. The schedule is as follows:—

May 16—Excelsiors vs. Auburns.
May 23—Pullmans vs. Excelsiors.
May 30—Auburns vs. Pullmans.
June 6—Excelsiors vs. Auburns.
June 13—Pullmans vs. Excelsiors.
June 20—Auburns vs. Pullmans.
June 27—Excelsiors vs. Auburns.
July 4—Pullmans vs. Excelsiors.
July 11—Auburns vs. Pullmans.
July 18—Excelsiors vs. Auburns.
July 25—Pullmans vs. Excelsiors.
August 1—Auburns vs. Pullmans.

The Young Shamrocks of the Murray street Separate School, defeated the Senior Victorias Tuesday evening by a score of 12—7. The teams were as follows:—

Shamrocks—Catcher, G. McFaddon; pitchers, W. Cahill and H. Quinlan; 1st base, W. Cahill and H. Quinlan; 2nd base, W. Clancy; 3rd base, R. Lynch; short stop, A. Coughlin; left field, F. Guerin; centre field, J. Devlin; right field, E. Coughlin.

Victorias — Catcher, W. O'Brien; pitcher, F. Hickey; 1st base, A. Mann; 2nd base, F. Cressman; 3rd base, M. O'Brien; short stop, M. Cameron; left field, E. Weller; centre field, G. Cummings; right field, R. McKnight.

There was an exciting game of baseball played in the Separate School grounds last night. It was between the II nine of the Separte School and the News Boys. Pete Clancy, better known as "Kipher," made the star hit of the evening, scoring a home run. The boys played very well considering their experience and no doubt was the best game played yet this year. The score was 24 to 14, in favour of the Separate School.

THE INQUEST CONCLUDED.

The Jury's Verdict Is Culpable Neglect of Railroad Company.

St. Thomas, May 4.—The inquest into the L. E. & D. R. R. collision at West Lorne was concluded yesterday. The evidence of the crew of the colliding train and the despatcher at Ridgetown showed that the rules of the road were differently interpreted by the employes. The jury returned this verdict: "That Thomas Luton, John McNeil and John Edgar, on April 29, at West Lorne, came to their deaths as a result of a rear-end collision between two trains on the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railroad; that the said collision was caused by the culpable neglect of the said railroad company in not adopting a proper system as to the running of trains, and of not furnishing and supplying to their train men proper rules so intelligible to their employes that no misunderstanding could arise as to the duties of their train men; we recommend that semaphores be forthwith constructed on the said railroad at proper distances from the station."

Ogilvie Elevator Burned.

Winnipeg, May 9.—Minnedosa was visited by a serious conflagration yesterday afternoon. Fire broke out in a grain warehouse owned by Mr. John Wake, and spread to the large elevator of the Ogilvie Milling Company. Both buildings were burned together with about 30,000 bushels of wheat. A number of residences north of the track were also badly scorched. The total loss will be about $50,000.

A SHOCK TO CANADA

Terribly Sudden Death of the Hon. Justice Mills.

BURSTING OF A BLOOD-VESSEL

Passed Away While Sitting Quietly With His Family—Attended Supreme Court on Friday Afternoon and Death Occurred at 10.30 O'clock p.m. —Distinguished Jurist and Parliamentarian.

Ottawa, May 9.—Hon. David Mills, Justice of the Supreme Court, died suddenly last night at his residence here. He was sitting quietly with his family at home, and death overtook him before medical aid arrived. The doctor thinks that it was the bursting of a blood vessel that caused death.

Mr. Justice Mills was to all appearance in the best of health. He had never given reason to suppose that anything was amiss with him. Yesterday afternoon he was, as usual, on the Supreme Court Bench hearing appeals, and when the court closed left for home. His sudden illness caused the family to send for Drs. Kidd and Robertson, but before they arrived all was over.

HON. DAVID MILLS.

A Devoted Wife.

The late Mr. Justice Mills was of a gentle and benevolent disposition and was much beloved by his fellow-Judges on the Bench, and all with whom he came in contact. During his term as Minister of Justice he was a careful and conscientious administrator, and made a point of carefully looking into every case that came before him. Of him it might truly be said that in all his acts "justice was tempered with mercy."

It is scarcely more than a year ago that Mrs. Mills came down from London to live with him in his handsome residence on Concession street which her husband had prepared. They were thoroughly devoted to each other, and no man was more domestic in his tastes than the deceased Judge. Although of an advanced age, his step was so elastic and his disposition so buoyant that several years of happy life might have been anticipated for him. But the grim reaper intervened, and the man who was above all others looked upon as the sound lawyer and the impartial Judge has gone to his last reward.

A Man of Many Parts.

Mr. Justice Mills was a man of many parts. As a statesman — for that word better fits his place in public life than the word politician —as a constitutional lawyer, as a journalist, as a writer of graceful verses, and as a Judge, he was equally at home, and his views, wherever advanced, were listened to with the utmost respect.

The author of several brochures on political subjects, Mr. Mills likewise wrote extensively on public questions for the magazines and newspapers, and he was for five years subsequent to 1882 editor-in-chief of The London Advertiser. Many beautiful poetical pieces also emanated from his pen.

In religion, Mr. Mills was a Methodist. He married in December, 1860, Miss M. J. Brown.

THE NEW NAVAL SCHEME.

Earl of Selborne Says New Principle Is Making Its Way.

London, May 9.—In the course of a discussion in the House of Lords yesterday of the new system of the education of naval officers, the Earl of Selborne, First Lord of the Admiralty, replying to the Earl of Glasgow, said he could present very strong reports on the admirable effect of a similar scheme in the United States, and he could also quote very strong adverse opinions. The United States navy was divided, as was the British; on this point, but it was his personal opinion that there had been steady change in the reports the Admiralty had been receiving regarding the navy, in which the American scheme was working. The first reports were almost all unfavorable and at present each report was more favorable than the last. It was not incidental coincidence that two such navies carried out such changes and that France was now discussing the same principle.

An Airship That Flies.

Paris, May 9.—An airship constructed for the Lebauly Bros. made a highly successful trip yesterday under pilot Juehmes and Engineer Rey. The start was made from St. Martin. The ship passed over a number of suburban towns. At Nantes it made a circle around the cathedral spire. After further evolutions it returned to the point of departure and descended without accident. The distance covered was 37 kilometers in one hour 36 minutes, against Santos Dumont's record for the Deutsch prize of 11½ kilometers

PORT HOPE CITIZENS STILL ENERGETIC.

They are Accompanying the Surveyor Over the Route.

Port Hope Guide.

The gentlemen who went over the proposed route of the canal with Mr. Macleod, report that good progress was made yesterday. The outlet to Rice Lake, by Kidd's Corners, seems to be the only practicable one, and from the swamp south of Kidd's, the engineer, who by the way appears determined to know every foot of the country, is trying now to find a possible cutting through the hill west of Whitehead, and if successful will shorten the canal about 2 1-2 miles and will get a course almost in a direct line to Port Hope. Messrs. Mulholland, Long, J. A. Brown, and Purser, are looking over the ground with the engineer to-day, who expects to be here for two or three days longer doing this location work before any regular surveying is commenced.

A DASTARDLY TRICK NEAR BELLEVILLE.

Kathleen Hope Struck by a Stone Hurled Through a Car Window.

Belleville Ontario.

Kathleen Hope, the little daughter of Sheriff Hope, was the victim of a cowardly and despicable act on Wednesday night. She was coming up in the train with her father from Deseronto and was lying asleep with her head on the window sill of the car. About two miles east of this city a stone came crashing through the window and struck her in the face. Her nose was cut open and her face was filled with little particles of the broken glass.

The fact of her being asleep was the only reason that her eyesight was saved. Her eyelids were cut by the glass. A physician was called as soon as the train reached the city and the little girl's injuries were attended to.

Sheriff Hope has notified the G.T. R. and it is likely the company will place a detective on the case. No punishment is too severe for a coward who will hurl a missile through a train window and it is hoped the guilty party will be apprehended and made an example of.

It is said there have been a number of cases of parties throwing stones at passenger trains coming from the east and west but Wednesday night was the first injury that has resulted.

"Work and Play."

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the Highlands of Ontario, about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. This district is composed of lakes and rivers innumerable and is situate 1,000 feet above sea level. Good fishing and hunting are assured. Ample hotel accommodation at all points on the lakes is provided to suit the purses of everyone. Excellent transportation service.

Copies of handsome descriptive literature relating to this country, can be had free by applying to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G. T.R., Toronto.

County Councillor's Views.

Mr. T. M. Hunter, County Councillor, was in town yesterday and reports that the spring seeding is almost finished. He says that it has been a fine spring and that farm operations have been carried on very successfully. Mr. Hunter says that the sugar factory is an assured reality and that farmers are beginning to see that there is a handsome profit in growing sugar beets. Mr. Hunter thinks that it will be only a matter of a few years until sugar beet raising is one of the most important branches of farm industry.

The winter wheat is presenting a most promising appearance. The meadows are looking well, and the new clover came through the winter especially well—and is as good a "catch," although our informant did not say so, as some eligible but obdurate bachelors.

LAID AT REST.

Funeral of the Unfortunate Master Noyes.

The funeral of the late Waren J. Noyes, the 12-year-old boy who met his death as a result of being struck by a G.T.R. engine, took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, where interment took place. The general sympathy that was felt towards the bereaved family was to some extent at least shown by the many handsome floral rememberances that were sent by the friends of the deceased child and the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Noyes. Amongst the floral designs that surrounded the coffin were a wreath from Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall, a cross and bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. Peter G. Hess, an anchor from the President and office staff of the Canadian Cordage Company, star and wreath from the employees of the Canadian Cordage Company, cut flowers and bouquet from playmates, bouquet from Mrs. Succee and Mrs. Jackson, bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. Allen, bouquet from Mr. Archambault.

Universal sympathy was expressed for Mr. and Mrs. Noyes, who only some months ago suffered the loss by death of a daughter. Mr. Noyes is in the employ of the Canadian Cordage Company.

NO. 4 COMPANY "AT HOME."

On Monday evening next No. 4 Company will give an "At Home" which all members of the Company are requested to attend. The Examiner has been informed that an excellent programme has been arranged, which includes both instrumental and vocal selections.

It is mainly owing to the energetic efforts of the non-com., assisted by the commissioned officers of the company, that the social evening has been arranged.

This plan of thus drawing together all the members of a company is an excellent one. No company can become perfect if the men are total strangers to each other, there is then no feeling of confidence. This plan of holding an "At Home" seems to be a very pleasant way of overcoming this difficulty and is one to be highly commended. The patronage of the company officers and the announcement of Col. Miller to attend, if possible, should be sufficient guarantee for a very pleasant evening.

All men who have not heard of this before are requested to accept this as an invitation and to attend on Monday evening next in the Crown Hotel at eight o'clock.

Mr. Thomas' Work.

Mr. J. Parker Thomas, the new assessment commissioner of Belleville, has been putting into effect his sound theories in assessment. The amount is increased $205,501, yet the land taxes are decreased. It is done in this sensible fashion: Incomes have been increased $85,300; personal property $189,700; poll tax $576. Mr. Thomas is certainly working on right lines in placing the burden of taxation equitably on those who have the property or its equivalent—large incomes. It certainly is very unjust to tax a labouring man earning small wages nearly as high as a man whose income is ten times greater. The poor man usually asks no favours but the wealthy do and they generally are successful in getthem.—Marmora Herald.

You won't harden or shrink woolens with Sunlight Soap. The purity of the oils and fats and the absence of free alkali prevent that. 28

School Girls

Young girls at this period of life, or their mothers, are earnestly invited to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice; all such letters are strictly confidential; she has guided in a motherly way hundreds of young women; and her advice is freely and cheerfully given.

School days are danger days for American girls.

Often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality. Sometimes it is never recovered.

Perhaps they are not over-careful about keeping their feet dry; through carelessness in this respect the monthly sickness is usually rendered very severe.

Then begin ailments which should be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, a tendency to avoid the society of others, are symptoms all indicating that woman's arch-enemy is at hand.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped many a young girl over this critical period. With it they have gone through their trials with courage and safety. With its proper use the young girl is safe from the peculiar dangers of school years and prepared for hearty womanhood.

A Young Chicago Girl "Studied Too Hard."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to thank you for the help and benefit I have received through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills. When I was about seventeen years old I suddenly seemed to lose my usual good health and vitality. Father said I studied too hard, but the doctor thought different and prescribed tonics, which I took by the quart without relief. Reading one day in the paper of Mrs. Pinkham's great cures, and finding the symptoms described answered mine, I decided I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. I did not say a word to the doctor; I bought it myself, and took it according to directions regularly for two months, and I found that I gradually improved, and that all pains left me, and I was my old self once more.—LILLIE E. SINCLAIR, 17 E. 22d St., Chicago Ill."

"Miss Pratt Unable to Attend School."

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months.

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the one sure remedy to be relied upon at this important period in a young girl's life.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

ELECTRIC POWER DEVELOPMENT.

The Legislature spent a profitable afternoon discussing the Premier's bill empowering municipalities to engage in the development, electric transmission and sale of waterpower. The bill is an important departure in the direction of localising authority and freeing municipalities from the control of the Legislature. There is much to be said in favour of such general provisions, as they obviate the necessity of a great amount of private legislation. There is, on the other hand, a danger of injudicious enterprise on the part of municipalities, a danger pointed out in the course of the discussion. The optimist is always with us, and while we should be thankful for his inspiring influence, we must remember that he is not always a safe guide. Every municipality, however small, cherishes the hope of growing into a great industrial or commercial metropolis. The possibilities of growth through the development of a waterpower may doom large and tempt the otherwise cautious taxpayers into unfortunate entanglements. But the bill, although giving general powers, surrounds the municipalities with all the safeguards that could be incorporated in private legislation. The practicability of every scheme must be attested by the report of a commission composed of specialists of eminence in hydraulic and electric engineering as well as in business affairs. Safeguards are ample against attempting mechanical or commercial impossibilities, and nothing more could be provided by the present system of requiring special permissive legislation in each case.

The advantages of a general permissive law are many. The municipalities conveniently situated for combining their efforts and interests in a single power scheme can complete their negotiations in perfect freedom, without any restraining uncertainty, as to the attitude of the Legislature towards their subsequent applications. It will not be possible for any private interest to defeat a municipal scheme by loading it with plausible but obstructive restriction in the Private Bills Committee. That committee, where every municipal project is weighed in the balance, is an interesting study. Members have their ways and fancies. One will seem to hold a brief for every private corporation that makes its appearance. His ways will be so set against the municipality and in favour of the private corporation that his attitude on every bill can be told in advance. Another will favour every extension of municipal authority, while a third will be inseparably tied to rules and precedents. The fixed views of some members, the frequently large proportion of absentees, the hasty fate of many bills at the close of the session, and the risk of failure through informality in proceedings, are considerations that tell against the requirement of special legislation and strengthen the case in favour of a general permissive law. The act permits municipalities, singly or in combination, to develop power for municipal or private consumption. The requirement that the business be entrusted in each case to a commission of men with special qualifications is one of the most important safeguards. This legislation is destined to play an important part in the industrial development of the Province. One immediate effect will be a quickening of public interest in the waterpower abundantly distributed throughout Ontario, and a general disinclination to allow it to pass under private or corporate control.—Globe.

The Belleville Ontario says:—Mr. Stratton's upright, straightforward and downright evidence, and his high ringing notes of denial, have been in striking contrast to what lots of people expected or desired

BAER AGAIN.

President Baer of the Reading railroad, who became so prominent in connection with the anthracite coal strike, is again before the public gaze. At the time of the strike he complacently declared that there was nothing to arbitrate, and that the welfare of the miners was safe with those to whom God had entrusted it—in other words, with himself and his fellow operators. He seems to cherish somewhat similar views, despite the lessons President has attempted to teach him.

The great anthracite trust of which Mr. Baer is president, has control of most of the existing anthracite coal lands in the United States, and also of all the railways reaching them, by which the trust holds control of the whole situation, and makes independent coal mining impossible. An attempt is now being made to enforce the provisions of the Interstate Commerce act against the trust. It has been before the commission for some time, and its report says the climax was reached a few days ago when Mr. Baer took the stand to defy the court and all enemies to the coal trust. The New York Herald thus reports the proceedings:—

Baer admitted many things which his subordinates have hitherto declined to admit, and apparently gloried in his fancied securities from legal interference. With a smile of satisfaction he told the details of the trust's plan to thwart the scheme to build an independent railroad, declared unhesitatingly that he was opposed to competition in transportation, and would use his best efforts to prevent it, and, to the astonishment of even his own council, said with a shake of his head and a glance at the commissioners, that if a new company should build even a siding into a colliery which he now taps, he would buy the colliery if necessary to prevent the aggression upon his own business. That is business, he declared. Those who build more railways than the traffic can support,—and just now he averred there are more railways than traffic—are dreamers and idealists, and he, he asserted is a business man. During the hour and a half that Mr. Baer was on the stand, he dominated the court room. He was indifferent to the interruptions of his own council, and of Mr. Shearn, and, in fact, the consideration of the commission. Repeatedly he left the witness chair, and with finger pointed at the opposing council or the members of the commission, talked at great length and with deep fervor, regardless of the questions that had been asked. Twice he rebuked his own lawyer, former Judge D. D. Campbell of Philadelphia, for attempting to interrupt him. He wished it understood that he was not to be interrupted. He was master of the situation, but not every moment of himself. The attacks which had been made on him by Mr. Shearn, coupled with the persistent scathings he had been subject to by the press of the entire country, had thoroughly aroused him, and he gave full vent to his feelings. His voice was heard far down the outer corridor, and no effort was made to stem the torrent of words. He, in other respects his testimony was extraordinary. He freely admitted the entire dominance of the anthracite by the trust. He further said: "If a rival company to-day were to build a switch into a colliery which we ship from, I'd buy the colliery if necessary to get the traffic." He defied the commission to proceed against the trust under the Sherman Act. At one stage of the proceedings, he stepped in front of the commissioners, his eyes glaring and his arms uplifted, and in loud tones declared:—

"I have seen enough of doubtful administration of the law, and if we are sinners against any law that you or your friends can enforce, go into the proper forum, and try your hand. We will be there.

"I am getting tired of some of your friends assuming a virtue superior to the rest of us and trying to make out that the business men of this country are a gang of conspirators trying to evade the laws of this country. We have as much respect for the law as your client or the people condemning us."

The Reading President has certainly the courage of his convictions. He has a vanderbiltian disregard of the public and a sublime belief in the devine right of trusts to wax fat at the expense of the entire people. It is doubtful if he will ever be induced to change his views—he is too old to learn.

PETERBOROUGH OLD BOYS.

They are Preparing for Their Home Coming.

The following are two of the songs of the Peterborough Old Boys. Llewellyn Morrison is the author:

"GOING HOME."

Peterborough "Boys" are we from every line of trade,
Finance, farm and factory—a resolute brigade;
On a common level with our dues and carriage paid;
Going home with songs and rejoicing.

CHORUS:

Hurrah! Hurrah! we're going home to-day!
Hurrah! Hurrah! we're happy on the way!
Not a care and not a fear. Why shouldn't we be gay?
Going home with songs and rejoicing.

There, as merry school-boys, some of us learned A, B, C;
Others came in manhood with their future still in fee;
Now from Life's great 'Varsity we come with our degree:
Going home with songs and rejoicing.

When we reach the country where no mendicants molest,
And are safely shelter'd in some regal place of rest—
Older boys and younger ones will be their very best:
Going home with songs and rejoicing.

Some have journey'd o'er the earth, so beautiful and fair,
Prais'd the fragrant loveliness and breath'd the balmy air;
But our home-land County hath delights beyond compare:
Going home with songs and rejoicing.

"HOMING."

When the vernal days are done
And the sultry summer sun
Its languor o'er the mortal brings,
Then a shady, cool retreat
From the torrid glare and heat
Hath health and healing 'neath its wings.

REFRAIN:

We've been roaming far and wide,
Now we're homing with the tide;
We are singing glad and free;
We are keeping jubilee.

On this home-returning day
Tears and wail ar far away,—
We laugh at weariness and woe;
Friends and comrades by our side,—
Hope, the watchword, love, the guide;
Our lives with gladness overflow.

They who can may conjure gloom,
We will sing of birth and bloom,
Of hills and valleys, shores and isles;
While the echoes all prolong
Music, laughter, shout and song
And life's not measured by its miles.

So, where Burleigh's waters wake
Choral hymns for Stony Lake
And joy doth in each bosom reign,—
Mid the mental after-glow
Of the golden long ago,
We blend our voices in the strain.

MR. A. W. WRIGHT'S POSITION

Hamilton Times.

The Mail and Empire affects indignation because of the general public disgust at Alex. Wright's Buffalo scandal-mongering, and whines that he is assailed, because he "sought to find out the truth" about stories of election crookedness. That story won't go. Mr. Wright made no effort to inquire of Mr. O'Beirne of Stratford, and other reputable citizens of Canada whether the story of the Buffalo crook was true before the libellous yarn was sent abroad. Such a story ought to have more than the support of Mr. Wright's thief-friend to warrant its publication. Even the Woodstock Express, which has a very warm feeling for the Tory cause feels impelled to say:

"Those who know Mr. O'Beirne will be glad to accept his denial without question. Indeed the attempt to implicate Mr. O'Beirne in Nelson's story was one of its weak features. Men who are hired to go into constituencies, and work corruption, do not, as a general thing, take newspaper editors or reporters into their confidence. The character of their work savours of darkness, and darkness must characterize their methods. The associates of such men during an election campaign are not the prominent men of the party in the riding."

Mr. Wright, were he as thoroughly candid and honourable as the Mail seeks to paint him, ought to have thought of that before having any part in such a scandal.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and told him to use it freely, and if not satisfied after using it he need not pay a cent for it," says C. P. Rayder, of Pattens Mills, N.Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string, and handed me a dollar saying 'Give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me.'" For sale by all druggists.

CANADIAN PACIFIC.

It is probable that Canadian Pacific Railway will increase its common stock from $35,000,000 to $100,000,000 giving stockholders the right to subscribe for the new stock on terms which will net them a fair profit. The new money will probably be applied to the building of extensions and it is likely that there will also be an issue of other securities to finance the steamship deal.

The issue of new stock with rights is expected to determine the dividend and it is now stated that an increase in the rate next fall is unlikely. Stockholders will be given some rights in connection with the new stock issue, but such other securities as may be issued will in all probability be sold on terms more favourable to the company than if all the money were to be raised through sale of five per cent. common stock at par. Rights on $15,000,000, it is reasoned, will be regarded as a fairly handsome privilege.

The "Soo," which is controlled by the Canadian Pacific, has recently been lending as much as $4,000,000 in Wall street.—Wall Street News.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

DAN CROSVENOR SAYS:

"Pe-ru-na is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy—I am as Well as Ever."

HON. DAN. A. GROSVENOR, OF THE FAMOUS OHIO FAMILY.

Hon. Dan. A. Grosvenor, Deputy Auditor for the War Department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy."

DAN. A. GROSVENOR.

In a recent letter he says:

"I consider Peruna really more meritorious than I did when I wrote you last. I receive numerous letters from acquaintances all over the country asking me if my certificate is genuine. I invariably answer, yes."—Dan. A. Grosvenor.

A County Commissioner's Letter.

Hon. John Williams, County Commissioner, of 517 West Second street, Duluth, Minn., says the following in regard to Peruna:

"As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."—John Williams.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. H. W. Ogden, Congressman from Louisiana, in a letter written at Washington, D. C., says the following of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy:

"I can conscientiously recommend your Peruna as a fine tonic and all around good medicine to those who are in need of a catarrh remedy. It has been commended to me by people who have used it, as a remedy particularly effective in the cure of catarrh. For those who need a good catarrh medicine I know of nothing better."

W. B. Griffith, Comsan, Texas, writes: "I suffered with chronic catarrh for many years. I took Peruna and it completely cured me. I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world for catarrh. My general health is much improved by its use, as I am much stronger than I have been for years."—W. B. Griffith.

A Congressman's Letter.

Congressman H. Bowen, Ruskin, Tazewell county, Va., writes:

"I can cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy, Peruna, to any one who is suffering with catarrh, and who is in need of a permanent and effective cure."—H. Bowen.

Mr. Fred. D. Scott, Larue, Ohio, Right Guard of Hiram Foot Ball Team, writes: "As a specific for lung trouble I place Peruna at the head. I have used it myself for colds and catarrh of the bowels and it is a splendid remedy. It restores vitality, increases bodily strength and makes a sick person well in a short time. I give Peruna my hearty indorsement." Fred. D. Scott.

Gen. Ira C. Abbott, 903 M street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am fully convinced that your remedy is an excellent tonic. Many of my friends have used it with the most beneficial results for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."—Ira C. Abbott.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2536 Pe[illegible]:

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Minneapolis, Minn.

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Results That Astonished Relatives and Friends.

Miss Barbara M. Stanfold, a Victim of Anaemia, Imperfect Circulation and Debility is Cured by

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND.

In the month of May, it is an absolute necessity that the body should be furnished with a richer and purer supply of blood for the establishment of a health that can successfully cope with the enervating effects of hot summer weather. Poor blood in May produces listless, ambitionless, sleepless and sallow-faced men and women, who quickly become victims of some organic disease that ends life.

Intelligent people recognize the necessity of cleansing and fortifying the system in May by using Paine's Celery Compound, which speedily removes all poisons from the system, gives to the thin, watery blood a larger proportion of red corpuscles, and arouses all the organs of the body to healthy action. Paine's Celery Compound does a work for victims of impure, watery and stagnant blood that commands the attention of the most eminent medical men in the world. Miss Barbara M. Stanfold, Hamilton, Ont., says:—

"For over a year my health was in bad condition, and I became very weak and much depressed in spirits. My troubles arose from poor and watery blood and imperfect circulation. My appetite was almost gone, and I was afflicted with insomnia. After several doctors had done all they could for me, I was weaker than when they first began to treat me, and my family became anxious about my condition. A neighbour advised my mother to have me use Paine's Celery Compound. Before I finished the second bottle, my appetite was better. I felt stronger and could sleep soundly five or six hours each night. I had so much faith in the wonderful compound that I continued with it until I was perfectly cured. To-day, after using six bottles, I am as well and strong as ever before. I thank you with all my heart for such a medicine; it saved my life when other medicines failed. All my friends are astonished at my happy cure."

Had a Painful Operation.

An Extreme Case of Nervousness and Female Weakness—Was Pale and Weak and Fainted Often—Doctors Failed to Help Her.

There is scarcely a limit to the sufferings which women endure when their nervous systems become run down and give way beneath the burdens which they are forced to bear. There are ills peculiar to women, which in nine cases out of ten are the result of a low state of vitality and a depletion of nerve force. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food cures women of their ills, irregularities and weaknesses by thoroughly restoring the vigor of the nerves.

Mrs. BENJ. HATFIELD.

Every woman will read with interest the following letter from a lady who has been cured of a serious illness by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. She says the testimonials she reads are not half strong enough.

Mrs. Benjamin Hatfield, Hillyard street, St. John, N.B., writes:—"For three years I was a sufferer from extreme nervousness and female weakness. I was pale and weak, had no appetite, and would sometimes faint two or three times a day. I underwent a very painful operation, and for seven weeks I was under the doctor's care, but he seemed unable to help me. Despairing of recovery, I took the advice of a friend, who told me that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food would build me up and make me strong and well again. After four months' use of this preparation I found myself greatly improved, but continued the treatment for one year, using in all sixteen boxes. I have been blessed with a young daughter now, and believe that I am as strong and well as ever in my life. As a result, I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has performed a complete and thorough cure in my case, and I am healthier and fleshier than I have been for years. The testimonials I see are not half strong enough. I tell my friends and neighbors about it, and many of them join me in pronouncing Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most effective restorative obtainable. Desiring that other sufferers may benefit by my happy experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, I willingly give you permission to use this testimonial."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Is an up-to-date remedy of most extraordinary merit. It has proven itself the most effective nerve restorative of the age. It is certain to benefit anyone who uses it, because it forms new red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve force. It is especially efficacious in the cure of female ills and weaknesses.

50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.
To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box of his remedies.

☞ We will forfeit $500.00 if this testimonial is not genuine.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Sir Wilfrid Answers Question About Eastern Extension Telegraph Company.

Ottawa, May 9.—On the orders of the day being called Mr. R. L. Borden asked what liability Canada would incur from recent action of Australian Commonwealth in making concessions to Eastern Extension Telegraph Co.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said before Australia was federated New South Wales agreed to hand over all business in perpetuity to the Eastern Extension Company. The Canadian Government protested, and after the Commonwealth was established the agreement was replaced by a ten years' arrangement covering the whole of Australia. The Canadian Government considered this was a breach of the agreement under which the cable was laid, and had entered a protest with the Commonwealth, taking the ground that a ten years' agreement would firmly establish the monopoly of the Eastern Extension Company.

During the discussion of estimates for telegraph lines, Mr. Fielding made some explanations as to the Marconi system. He said Marconi had expected to have systems in working order by this time, but owing to temporary hitch it was not yet commercially successful, though its scientific success had been demonstrated. He expected to made it commercially successful at an early day. He was as hopeful as ever and the Government shared his hopefulness.

The House adjourned at 10.45 p. m.

THE ASSEMBLY.

A Quiet Day Devoted by the Members to Advancing Bills—A Good Roads Bill Knocked Out.

Toronto, May 9.—In the Legislature yesterday these bills were read a first time:

Mr. Gibson—To amend the Ontario Insurance Act.

Mr. Lackner—To incorporate the College of St. Jerome, Berlin.

Mr. Duff—An Act entitled the Hospital Compensation Act.

Mr. Auld—To amend the Street Railway Act.

Questions Answered.

In reply to Mr. Smyth, Premier Ross said there was no correspondence between members of the Government and John T. Linklater between June 1, 1899, and Jan. 1, 1903.

Second Readings.

Mr. Sutherland's bill, to amend the public highways act by giving the supervision of the work to the county councils instead of the Commissioner of Public Works, was defeated on a division, he having declined to withdraw it at the request of the Premier, who said he would bring down a bill next week to improve the act.

Dr. Barr moved the second reading of his bill to amend the assessment bill, which provides that township councils may pass bylaws to have the assessment made every two years. In many townships there was practically no change from year to year and a yearly assessment was unnecessary.

Mr. Gibson had no objection to the bill going to the committee, but he thought the inconvenience of having the assessment taken once a year would be offset by the convenience of having the assessment oftener.

Mr. Lachner's bill to amend the municipal act provides for the appointment of commissioners to look after the sewage system. His bill to amend the municipal waterworks act provides that the commissioners hold office for two years. The same principle applies to his bill to amend the municipal light and heat act. The bills were read a second time.

Dr. Barr moved the second reading of his bill to amend the high school act to provide for the election of trustees by ballot. The Minister of Education did not notice any great demand for the change, but the bill went on to the Legislation Committee.

Private Bills.

These private bills passed their second reading: Respecting the Lindsay Public Library (Fox); respecting the city of London (Beck); respecting St. Paul's Church, Dunnville (Harcourt); respecting the village of Hanover (Truax); respecting the Art Museum of Toronto (Foy); to change the boundaries of the town of Berlin (Lackner); respecting the Elgin Loan and Savings Co. (Pattullo); to confirm bylaw 597 of the town of Niagara Falls (Gross); respecting the Lake Superior Power Co. and certain other companies (Conmee); respecting the village of Fenelon Falls (Carnegie); respecting the municipality of Shuniah (Conmee); respecting the International Transit Co. (Conmee); respecting the St. Thomas Street Railway (Macdairmid).

Papers Ordered by the House.

The House passed an order for a return of copies of awards made by the arbitrators between the Dominion and the provinces since the date of the last return, and a statement of the account between Ontario and the Dominion from Dec. 31, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1902, as settled by the counsel for the province and the Dominion; also, that papers, reports and correspondence with respect to limit in the township of Rutherford and unsurveyed lands adjacent, sold to Shannon in 1902, from the year 1883, and subsequent thereto, be laid before the Public Accounts Committee, with power to enquire into the same as fully as in the case of accounts for 1902.

A GUARANTEED CURE

For all Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned druggists are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettingill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, the only remedy in the world that positively cures all troubles arising from weak or diseased kidneys.

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after the use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing cures. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money."

Farmers Will Lose $40,000.

Edrans, Man., May 9.—Surrounded by a wall of fire on three sides, the village of Edrans Thursday night presented a scene of appalling grandeur. The sky was livid with flames. For a mile the bush surrounding the town was a stretch of fire, lighting up the village almost as bright as a noonday sun. The loss to the farmers burned out will amount to $40,000. The fire is under control and the village is safe though the fire still burns in the bush.

C. P. R. NOT IN IT.

Witness Before B.C. Bribery Committee Protects the Railway People.

Victoria, B. C., May 9.—The following is the Hon. Mr. Wells' statement before the committee yesterday: "In connection with my evidence as to the conversation I had with W. J. Taylor in Montreal in November, 1901, wherein he informed me of a projected syndicate or company to take over the Columbia and Western lands in Kootenay, and offered me a one-twentieth share therein, equivalent to 30,000 acres, I desire to convey the impression that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, or Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, were not in any way parties to Mr. Taylor's proposal to me or that I believed then, or believe now that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy or the Canadian Pacific Railway Company were privy to any schemes to acquire or use these lands for corrupt or improper purposes."

Several of the leading officials of Miners Union gave evidence that they had been obliged to live at Ladysmith in order to continue work at extension, going 13 miles daily to and from the mine.

RAN OFF THE TRACK.

Engine, Coach and Freight Cars in the Ditch Near Palmerston.

Palmerston, May 9.—A wreck occurred on the G. T. R. four miles north of here yesterday morning. The mixed train, which leaves Durham at 8 a.m., left the track. The engine, a passenger coach and three freight cars were derailed. One of the crew was injured, but not seriously. The auxiliary reached here yesterday afternoon to clear the wreck. The engine and passenger coach are badly damaged. Traffic was delayed on the line for several hours.

Dr. Bridgland's Funeral.

Bracebridge, May 9.—The funeral of the late member for Muskoka, Doctor Samuel Bridgland, took place here yesterday. The Legislature was represented by Messrs. Davis and Latchford from the Government side, and Messrs. St. John and Willoughby from the Opposition. Messrs. Tudhope and Carr, members for East Simcoe and Parry Sound, were also present. The House of Commons was represented by Mr. Bennett, M. P. for East Simcoe, and G. D. Grant, M.P. for North Ontario. Delegations from Toronto, Huntsville, Parry Sound, Gravenhurst, Newmarket, Orillia, North Bay and Pembroke, as well as all parts of Muskoka district, came to pay their last respects. The funeral was the largest ever held in the district.

Work of an Incendiary.

Brantford, May 9.—The barns of the Mohawk Institute, two miles south-east of the city, were destroyed by fire Thursday night. There were fourteen cows and five horses burned and a quantity of hay and agricultural implements. The fire was the work of an incendiary.

We Will Pay $1,000

For a Disease Germ that Powley's Liquified Ozone Cannot Kill

This offer is open to any physician or any scientist anywhere. We make it to convince all—beyond any question—that Ozone does kill germs and all germs.

It kills Them with Oxygen

Liquified Oxygen—a tonic to you—the very source of vitality.

Ozone carries oxygen in staple form into the blood; and the blood conveys it to every membrane and tissue. There is not a known germ that can live in it.

Ozone is the only germ killer that one dares take internally. It forms the only way to kill germs in the body without destroying the tissues too. It directly destroys the cause of all germ troubles, and there is no other way to do it.

The reason is this: All germs are vegetable, and oxygen, the very life of an animal, is deadly to vegetable matter.

No Drugs In It

We pledge you that Powley's Liquified Ozone has no drug of any kind in it—no alcohol. It is not only harmless, but it is a tonic—the greatest tonic that nature ever made. Oxygen is life.

Ozone is the discovery of a German Chemist who spent 20 years in learning how to liquify oxygen—how to get oxygen in staple form into the blood. Ozone is the result, and we spend 14 days in making every bottle of it. The result is a liquid that can reach every germ in the body, and cure at once and forever the cause of every germ disease.

Germ Diseases

These are some of the known germ diseases, and these diseases are never cured by drugs. Medicine may stimulate, palliate, act as a tonic to aid Nature to overcome the germs; but those results are indirect and uncertain. In some of these diseases medicine does not succeed once in a hundred times, Ozone always succeeds, because it directly attacks the cause, and the results are inevitable.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Stone and family left this morning for London, where they will in future reside.

Rev. Dr. Torrance goes to Toronto this afternoon to supply the pulpit of Bloor street Presbyterian church to-morrow.

Mr. Wm. Miller, Peterborough, was in town yesterday. He had with his wife been spending the winter in Southern California. Mrs. Miller is not in good health and we regret to learn that she is still very unwell.—Port Hope Guide.

In the reports of the results of the examination at the School of Practical Science, Toronto, appear the names of several Peterborough young men. Mr. Norman Cameron has been successful in passing his second year examination as civil engineer, and Messrs. Hamilton and Reid Munro, have been successful in passing their first and second year examinations, respectively, in mechanical and electrical engineering. Mr. Reid Munro is to be congratulated on carrying off honours.

A JOURNALISTIC CHANGE.

Mr. E. S. Clarry Transfers his Activities From the Sanctum to the Stock Exchange.

Mr. E. S. Clarry, city editor of the Examiner, has received a very favourable offer to enter upon another business, and has thereupon accepted a partnership in the firm of McMillan & McGuire, stock brokers, Toronto, who have opened a branch office in Peterborough, with whose local management Mr. Clarry will hereafter be associated. The above firm are the Canadian agents of Cowan & Company, well known members of the New York stock exchange, in regard to whose establishment in Peterborough, further notice will appear in these columns.

Mr. Clarry, who will enter upon his duties in the next few days, will be a valued aid in the operations of the firm in Peterborough, where, by reason of his prominent connection with the Examiner, and his necessary contact with the public, he is as widely as he is favourably known, not only with the public and solid business element of the town, but in the circles of legitimate sports, with which he has had a very active and creditable association, and in which he enjoys a large degree of confidence and popularity. Mr. Clarry has been a valued member of the Examiner staff for four years, and if he applies the same industry and attention to business in his new sphere he bids fair to meet with the large measure of success which the Examiner, as well as his very wide circle of friends, cordially wish he may achieve.—Ed. Examiner.

NEWS NUGGETS.

THE CHURCHES.

ALL SAINT'S CHURCH.

Rev. J. Cooper Robinson, M.A., of Japan, will preach Sunday evening and Rev. W. L. Armitage will preach in the morning, the first of a series of sermons on "The Place of Prayer in the Christian's Life." Rev. Mr. Robinson will give an illustrated lecture on Japan, Monday evening. A collection will be taken.

In the Bible Class Rev. Mr. Armitage will begin the study of "Bible Characters." To-morrow the subject will be "Abraham."

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe will conduct both services as usual to-morrow. Evening subject, "A Wonderful Dream." The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the close of the morning service. All are welcome.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST.

At the Murray street Baptist church the pastor, Rev. J. Bastow, will preach at both services. The morning's address will be upon "Peter's Temptation and Fall," while in the evening the discourse will be upon "The Christian Slave." All are welcome.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

To-morrow will be anniversary day at St. Paul's church, and special services will be held both morning and evening. Rev. W. G. Wallace, M.A., B.D., of the Bloor street Presbyterian church, Toronto, will preach at 11 a.m. and again at 7 p.m. Special music will be rendered and a large special collection is asked for. Sabbath school and Bible classes will be held at 3 p.m., as usual.

ST. PAUL'S MISSION.

Owing to the absence of Rev. Dr. Torrance, who goes to supply Rev. W. W. Wallace's pulpit in Toronto, tomorrow, Rev. J. A. Wilson will preach both morning and evening in the Mission church, corner of Wolfe and Reid streets.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

The Rev. J. Cooper Robinson, M. A., missionary on furlough from Japan, will preach at the morning service. In the evening the Rector will preach on Heb. vi, 2, "The doctrine of the laying on of hands." The candidates for confirmation, and the unconfirmed, are especially invited to be present. Confirmation classes will be held every Monday at 4.30 p. m., and Thursday at 8 p.m. The Bishop expects to be at St. Luke's for confirmation on Friday, June 26.

A missionary meeting will be held at All Saints' church on Monday at 8, when Rev. J. C. Robinson will give an address on his work in Japan, illustrated by lime-light views. The congregation of St. Luke's is requested to attend this meeting.

A VERY EXCELLENT MUSICAL EVENING

Given in St. John's Sunday School Last Night.

Mr. and Mrs. Killin-Keough Contributors to the Programme—Pleasant Social Evening Spent.

No greater encouragement could have been given to the public maiden effort of the Girls' Guild of St. John's church last night, than was afforded by the presence of the large audience which attended the pleasant social given in the Sunday school of their church. The chief feature of the evening was the singing, which was good and honest, distinguished by a large volume of tone of a quality much more refined than one would have expected in such an auditorium.

Among the contributors to the programme should be specially mentioned the operatic artists, Mr. and Mrs. Killin-Keough who, accompanied by Miss Brown, sang in their usual excellent manner, and with a spirit that showed genuine love for their work. Mr. J. F. Lawrence showed great confidence in his work, which was heartily, not to say enthusiastically applauded.

The opening selection was an instrumental duet by the Misses Bradburn and Graham, and was most creditably rendered. In the next number, a vocal duet by Miss Sherwood and Mr. J. Browne, the singing showed the utmost confidence, and was well received. The next selection was a vocal solo by Mr. Lawrence. This afforded a good example of the care taken, as the singer might easily have stumbled in the very difficult passages which the piece contained.

After an intermission of about ten minutes the second part of the programme was opened with a clarionet solo by Mr. Halley. This composition, of a simple construction in its harmony, and of a popular order in regard to its melody, was worked up to a really impressive climax. The next number was a very excellent duet, sung by Mr. and Mrs. Killin-Keough, entitled, "I heard a Voice on the Tranquil Night." One can hardly describe the number in words. It was beyond doubt from a local point of view far and away the best item on the programme, and as such received the very hearty endorsement of the audience. In answer to a recall Mr. and Mrs. Killin-Keough sang "The Old Canoe," perhaps one of their most impressive and "taking" duets. The instrumental duet by the Misses English was given with accuracy and finish. Another solo by Mr. Lawrence was well received. This selection throughout was uniformly musical in regard to tone quality, and was distinguished by much refinement of shading. An instrumental solo by Miss Mulholland evoked great applause.

Mrs. Killin-Keough brought the excellent musical programme to a close with a vocal solo entitled "The Song that my Heart's a-Singing." This was given in the same manner as has previously been displayed by the singer, and was received in the enthusiastic way which always concludes her selections.

At the close of this part of the evening's enjoyment a heart vote of thanks, proposed by Rev. J. C. Davidson, was tendered the several contributors to the programme.

The rest of the evening was spent in a very pleasant and sociable manner, during which time refreshments were served.

Mrs. Morrow's Chorus Class.

There will be an extra rehearsal of Mrs. Morrow's chorus class next week on Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall. It is imperative that all the members be on hand as some new choruses are to be taken up, and and every one should make an effort to be present on Monday evening at half past seven o'clock. The regular rehearsals will be held every Monday and Wednesday evening until further notice and all members must be present. 3d

A Ready Reference Map of the Town of Peterborough and Ashburnham.

May be seen in Mr. F. J. Bell's Division Court Office, Water street, where any measurements may be obtained for the following purposes: Measurements for areas, and descriptions for conveyancing, according to registered plans in the Registry Office, all in plain figures in feet. If sub-divisions are to be made areas can be calculated. In cases of assessments for sidewalks, sewers, etc., measurements can be taken from the map. In cases of sale and purchase the areas can be taken from maps. I am sure that lawyers and the general public will find it a convenience to refer to the map and save trouble and expense. G. W. Ranney. 4d

Leaving Lakefield.

Mr. W. A. Evans, who has been the esteemed principal of the Public School in Lakefield, for the past eleven years, leaves early next week to assume control of one of the Public Schools in Barrie. His impending departure is viewed with great regret by all citizens of Lakefield to whom his eminent qualities of head and heart have greatly endeared him. He was greatly liked also by the scholars of the school and by all who have held office on the School Board. Under his able management the school has progressed most favourably. The citizens of Barrie are to be congratulated on obtaining such an excellent addition to their educational ranks, as Mr. Evans will undoubtedly prove to be.—Lakefield News.

A Bit of Scotland in Canada.

At a point 145 miles north of Toronto on the Grand Trunk Railway System is reached one of the most magnificent districts in the Highlands of Ontario known as the Lake of Bays District. The region comprises a series of connected lakes, over which large steamers are navigated. What greatly adds to the Lake of Bays value as a health-giving and sportsman's resort is the unmatched purity of the air one breathes upon its heights. The visitor forgets his ills under its reviving influence in less than a week, and sees life's problems in a smoother light, enjoying the good things in this life which Nature and Providence have prepared for him. Its bracing morning breeze which rivals the celebrated atmosphere of Pike's Peak, Col., imparts new lung power and fresh vitality.

Will Probably Visit Peterborough in August.

It has been announced that His Worship Mayor Roger has received word that the Governor-General's Foot Guards, an Ottawa Regiment, intend visiting Peterborough. It is stated that they will leave Ottawa on Saturday evening, August 1st and remain in town until Monday night. On receiving this intimation Mayor Roger telegraphed the Foot Guards to the effect that Peterborough would give them a hearty welcome.

THE RINK COMPANY ELECTED OFFICERS.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson is President and A. H. Stratton Vice-President.

The newly elected Board of Directors of the Peterborough Hockey Club Company was held last night when the following officers were elected:

President—W. A. Sanderson.
Vice-President—A. H. Stratton.
Secretary—H. R. H. Kenner.
Treasurer—James Hamilton.
The above officers will constitute the sub-committee of the Board.

Wheeling Home to Lunch.

Just why so many people crowd into steamy, stuffy, restaurants to eat lunch these hot days is not quite apparent. Nearly every person down town has an hour or more at noon to lunch. If it were only worked out most people would find that with the aid of a bicycle they could go home at noon, enjoy a lunch of home construction, and have a pleasant ride and a breath of air going and coming. Suppose you live a mile and a half or so out, it will require at the outside twelve or fifteen minutes to go home. Your lunch is laid in a cool, quiet, dining room, and the beauty of it is that you get just what you want, and get it in comfort. You have half an hour for a light lunch and a rest, and then fifteen minutes to get back to work. Besides, you've been an hour away from dust and turmoil of the downtown streets.

HINT TO THE BOARD OF HEALTH

A Correspondent Deals With Milkmen's and Bakers' Tickets as a Source of Infection.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—In your "Generally Speaking" column—which by the way is one of the most interesting in the Examiner—you frequently castigate the Board of Health for shortcomings, and also give commendation occasionally. It is well known that milkmen and bakers make their rounds from house to house, delivering their wares, and frequently have communication with houses that contain contagious diseases. These dealers in many cases, supply tickets, which are purchased by house-holders at so many for a dollar. The tickets are used over and over again. They become dirty—in many cases actually filthy—and Heaven only knows what contagion they have been exposed to. It is the habit of some housewives and maids (doubtless through lack of thought) to drop the ticket into milk pitcher and place it at the door, to await the milkman's call. That lacteal fluid will doubtless be infected if the conditions are favourable, and sickness will appear. Should not these gentlemen be requested to burn tickets after being used? One baker in this town has, within the last few months, had his house placarded twice—with scarlet fever and diphtheria cards, and danger certainly exists from our milkmen and bakers.

"PREVENTION."

Peterborough, May 9th, 1903.

Upholstered With Hammocks.

The imposing facade of J. J. Turner & Sons' establishment, George street, is almost literally tapestred with a brilliant display of hammocks of different styles. Hot weather and hammock luxury go together and no place supplies a better chance to be suited in quality, style or price. These hammocks of great variety of design and finish, are imported direct from the Philadelphia manufacturers. In your hunt for hammocks go to J. J. Turner & Sons', George street.

Plant Your Garden.

Mr. A. Blade, of the West-end Greenhouses, (at the residence of G. M. Roger) has ready a very fine collection of hardy seedlings and bedding-out plants. This is the time for planting your garden and flower-beds; and the West-end Greenhouses can be depended upon for exercising the utmost care to have everything pure and dependable. Parties having baskets, hanging pots and vases to fill will confer a favour by sending their orders in early for filling. Telephone 21b., to A. Blade, Manager.

WHERE DID THE COCKNEY COME FROM?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir, — My attention has been called to an article in your Friday's issue which, in justice to myself, calls for some comment.

I shall deal gently with the writer, who styles himself "A True Cockney," on account of his extreme youth.

In his complaint he says "that the lecturer strayed from the true state of things in order that he might raise a laugh at the Cockney's expense." I deny the allegation, and—well, you know the rest.

That you may be a judge yourself, I shall quote the paragraphs to which he raises such a puerile objection: "It is a welcome relief to step ashore. If you would appear English, drop your Americanisms. Do not speak of going 'down' but 'up' to London. To speak of a railway car or conductor, would betray you at once; speak rather of a railway-carriage, and of a guard. You no longer have baggage, but luggage. It would be quite colonial to mention a freight train or freight shed; say, rather, a goods' train, and a goods' station. You do not take the elevator, but the lift. Horse trams and electric trams for horse cars and electric cars."

Is there anything in the above paragraph to "raise a laugh at the Cockney's expense"? If there be, and my Cockney friend says there is, he must be humorous in the extreme. I merely pointed out the fact, and a useful one to the tourist, that there are certain expressions used in England which are not customary here; and that a traveller who does not wish to appear colonial—although that is no disgrace—had better know and use those expressions. "When in Rome, do as the Romans do." I was so observant of this maxim, that in London I even dropped my h's and signed myself, "R. Kenner."

The other paragraph which to Cockney's finely attuned ear "is worse than to hear the production of discordant passages on the violin," is as follows:

"I shall never forget my initiation into the mysteries of the English Knights of the Razor. You sit bolt upright in a straight back chair, and let your head hang back any old place. The barber then lathers you and begins. His main object seems to be to scrape as much off your face with one stroke as possible. If the handle should break it would simply mean a total disability claim in your accident insurance policy. After this is over, you get up, wash and dry your face yourself. The 'artist' then squirts some perfumed decotion out of a syphon, over you, brushes your head and stands ready to receive a tip. You pay the house twopence or twopence half-penny, and the barber a penny or more, depending how thankful you are to have escaped from his clutches."

Now, Mr. Editor, I maintain that the foregoing paragraph is not a departure from the true state of affairs "to raise a laugh at the Cockney's expense." I have given a true description of an English shave. I would advise my Cockney friend, who was never shaved in England, as he still has the down of youth upon his chin, to take a razor with him, should he ever go back to "dear old England." Everyone who has travelled in England or on the Continent knows that there are no tonsorial artists there; they are mere amateur scrapers.

I should like to know where the Cockney came from. I was born in England myself and went to school there. I do not think he can say the same. I should also like to know, Mr. Editor, whether you allowed my Cockney friend to read the proof of your note appended to his letter. There you will find a common Cockneyism "his printed" which I think would not have escaped your eye.

In conclusion let me say that I did not ridicule the English as he states; said nothing about Cockneys nor Cockneyism, though that would be an interesting theme. He may be a "True Cockney," though I doubt whether he ever heard the sound of Bow-Bells. That he is a true Englishman I deny, or he would not have used me so unfairly in his letter and he would not have been ashamed to sign his name.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
I remain yours, an Englishman,
H. R. H. KENNER.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

COMPLAINTS reach the Examiner respecting the unsatisfactory supply of light for domestic purposes. The complainants assert that an apparently fluctuating current produces fitful, irregular, intermittent light, which is very unsatisfactory. While this is perhaps a commercial matter of supply and demand, between the parties concerned, it is a matter of municipal concern, since the electric light company holds its franchise under the municipal corporation. There must be some defect in mechanical equipment or management that produces the result complained of, for the supply of water in the river is constant. Whatever the cause it should be remedied. Persons who pay for a satisfactory supply of light expect to get it at all times, and it does not seem that the terms oft he contract are complied with if the light is comparatively useless. A housewife would register a vigorous protest with her grocer if he supplied her with, say, a baking powder which would sometimes make good cake or biscuit, but contained portions that were so inert and useless, as to spoil her batch, spoil her temper, spoil her reputation as a cook, and generate grumbling in her husband, that is, if there can be found husbands outside of the sacred cycle of the honeymoon, who would so far forget themselves as to complain of the food supplied their lordships. A new contract is proposed by the town respecting municipal lighting, and the authorities should do the business connected with it on business principles, which will be the most satisfactory to both parties in the end. So far as possible the rights of the ratepayers should be safeguarded in reference to domestic light supply.

THE LADIES — that is, ladies ambitious to be in the fashionable swim —are taking to agriculture, and are preparing to raise a crop of corn. High heeled shoes are the vogue again and we see many ladies parading the streets with a sort of "heathen Chinee" wobble that suggests "where the shoe pinches." High heels, associated with tight-fitting boots, which some ladies have sometimes been known to wear, are a fruitful source of corns, bunions, ingrowing nails and snappy tempers. Of course if fashion decrees high heels, up go the heels. Such heels are quite chic, and very becoming to a French daseuse, but it goes without saying that they must be very uncomfortable, as they are certainly bad for the feet. But no matter, they are fashionable, and what fashion says goes, with a charming indifference to consequences.

• • •

AN IMPORTANT MATTER is referred to by our correspondent, "Prevention," whose timely and important letter appears elsewhere in this issue, respecting the possible and probable communication of contagion by means of cardboard milk and bread tickets. The absorbent nature of the material of which these tickets are composed favours the deposit of disease germs, when such exist as they do if conditions are right, in most insidious form in connection with diphtheria or scarlet fever. The matter dealt with by the correspondent deserves the attention of the Board of Health, whose zeal on health matters, seems by the way, to be of the malarial variety, subject to intermittent manifestations. Eternal vigilance is the price of good sanitary conditions, and the question of paper bread and milk tickets has been very opportunely brought to the attention of the health authorities. Fortunately the remedy or the best possible approximation to, a remedy is easy. Bread, milk and other tickets are now made of aluminum. These are non-absorbent, and besides can be thoroughly cleansed and sterilized from time to time by a little carbolized hot water or other simple means.

THE CITY FATHERS are apostatising in the matter of street construction. A few years ago permanent improvement was the watchword, and several streets were built in a workman-like manner, and their excellent condition now affords double proof—proof of the wisdom of doing such work well, and of the excellence of the work as well. Now the town authorities seem to be relapsing into the old slip-shod methods of half-measures — tinkering streets with gravel, which is likely to disappear in the mud after one season. Brock street, between Bethune and Aylmer streets, has been gravelled, and the probability is that the heavy traffic from Fitzgerald and Company's adjacent coal and wood yard will speedily put the gravel out of sight, and incorporate it with the native mud. The use of gravel on town streets, except as a make-shift of the most temporary variety, will be regarded as contrary to all accepted principles of sound road construction. No where else, perhaps, is permanent construction so naturally and inevitably indicated as in the building of roads. The council is rightly adopting permanent pavements, and the same principle should be applied to the streets. A first-class pavement flanking a rough, muddy, ill-made street, is an inconsistency. We have a stone crusher, a steam roller, a general good equipment of road-making machinery, and abundance of material at hand, and there is no excuse for spending large sums in street repairs, which from the nature of things, will not be permanent. "What is worth doing, is worth doing well," applies par excellence to road-making. Where is the sense of employing at high salaries a competent engineer and street commissioner to superintend a style of street work, that the most "experienced" pathmaster in the remotest back township could do?

Slater Shoe Advertising

Selling the first pair

Short talks by the Slater Shoe ad. man, No. 2.

Advertising may induce a man or woman to buy the first pair of "Slater Shoes" but if that first pair be a failure no amount of advertising will induce the disappointed wearer to buy a second pair.

If every man and woman in Canada bought a pair of "Slater Shoes" through advertising and ceased wearing—or buying them after the first purchase, the entire Canadian market for "Slater Shoes" would be exhausted in less than two years.

Yet the sales of "Slater Shoes" have gone on increasing for many years.

The same people have been buying the "Slater Shoe" year after year and constant advertising is making new wearers every season 'proving that it is as good a shoe as its makers claim it to be.

THE BULGARIAN QUESTION.

Turkey Appears to Have a Free Hand—France Is Apprehensive.

London, May 8.—The British Government's attitude in the Balkan crisis may be summed up as being one of passive indifference. Although chiefly responsible for bringing Bulgaria into existence, Great Britain never undertook the preservation of Bulgaria's interests, but she is pledged to maintain the integrity of the Ottoman Empire. The British Foreign Office also understands that neither Russia nor Austria intend to interfere, unless some unseen issue becomes involved. Thus Turkey appears to have a clear hand.

As Paris Views It.

Paris, May 8. — The situation throughout the Balkans causes serious apprehension here, but the French Foreign Office says the conditions are not regarded as being critical and are considered to be largely the result of Turkish intrigues. Meantime it is the intention of the Government here to send a French naval division to Salonica as a measure of precaution, and in order to be prepared for a possible spread of the disorder.

Germany Supports Russia.

Berlin, May 8.—The German Government continues to steadily support the Russian policy at Constantinople. The German Foreign Office does not regard the Balkan situation as serious.

Turkish Troops Mustering.

Constantinople, May 8.—The mustering of Turkish troops continues in Macedonia and Albania, where soon 165 battalions will be distributed.

After Ten Hours' Fight.

Melilla, Morocco, May 8.—The rebels have defeated the Imperial forces, after a ten hours' fight, near Fez, and have captured the positions held by the Sultan's troops. Both sides lost heavily.

HERE'S THE TRUTH.

Alphonse Caron Investigates Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Gives the Public the Result in Plain, Straightforward Language.

Alphonse Caron, editor of the Echo, published at Montmagny, Que., has earned the reputation of going to the root of things, getting the whole truth concerning the matter in hand and then setting it forth in plain language no matter who it helps or hurts.

The statements of such men are always worth reading and none more so than the following. It appeared in the Echo a short time ago.

"Do you know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?

"I (the undersigned) know them as the best thing for Dyspepsia. Every person suffering from this terrible malady ought to use them as I have and I am sure he would be satisfied."

ALPHONSE CARON,

Mr. Caron's experience should benefit a large number of people. No disease is more prevalent in Canada than Dyspepsia, none more dangerous, discomforting and dispiriting, none that saps the energy and vigour of people to such an extent. Mr. Caron tells of a sure cure.

Murdered for His Money.

Winnipeg, May 8.—Dewitt C. Kinsey, an old man of 61 years of age, one of the pioneers of this city, was found in his room at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, his head in a pool of blood, dead. There was every reason to believe that the old man, who is known to be possessed of considerable money, was murdered. The police are investigating the affair.

To The Hague.

Washington, May 8. — Venezuelan protocols submitting the question of preferential treatment to The Hague tribunal and also protocols for the mixed commission at Caracas, were signed at the British Embassy shortly before 7 p.m. yesterday, by Minister Bowen, Ambassador Herbert, Minister Sternburg, and Ambassador Mayor Des Planches.

MAY SOON END.

Sir Wm. Mulock and Hon. Wm. Prefontaine Confer With the Leaders in the Montreal Strike.

Montreal, Que., May 8.—Sir William Mulock and Hon. Mr. Prefontaine, who reached here last evening from Ottawa, with a view to confer with the shippers and longshoremen, and if possible bring about a settlement, have been closeted with both parties up to midnight, and so far the result is unknown.

At 1 o'clock a.m., Sir William Mulock gave out a statement to the effect that he had made certain propositions to the shippers, which they would consider to-day. If they are accepted, the Postmaster-General will then submit them to the men. The impression generally prevails that to-morrow will see the end of the strike. Sir William would not indicate the nature of his propositions to the shipping men.

THE TRANSVAAL LOAN.

Twenty Times More Cash Offered Than Can Be Handled.

London, May 8.—The issue of the prospectus of the Transvaal loan was awaited with the greatest interest in financial circles here, and there was a scene of considerable excitement at the Bank of England yesterday, where thousands of people congregated hours before it was finally given out that the prospectus announced the issue of $150,000,000 of the $175,000,000 authorized, and that the price would be at par, with interest at 3 per cent. The loan is redeemable in 1953. A sinking fund of 1 per cent. will be applied to the purchase of stock when below par. The Government of the Transvaal reserves the right to pay off stock at any time after May 1, 1923, subject to six months' notice. The instalments on stock are payable as follows: Three per cent. on application, 7 per cent. May 22, and the balance to be distributed from June to December. The instalments may be paid in full May 22, under a discount of 2 per cent. The list closes on or before May 12.

It was understood late yesterday afternoon that the loan had been subscribed for twenty times.

GREATLY ALARMED.

By a Persistent Cough, but Permanently Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. H. P. Burbage, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., has been troubled for four or five years with a continuous cough, which he says "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first stages of consumption." Mr. Burbage, having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised, concluded to try it. "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the 25 cent kind was permanently cured. Sold by all druggists.

Dominion Parliament.

Ottawa, May 8.—The House was occupied nearly all yesterday afternoon considering Mr. Blair's bill, consolidating the Railway Act, and appointing a Railway Commission. Progress was very slow. Mr. Kemp asked whether express companies were to be included, and Mr. Maclean suggested that the Railway Commission might deal with express companies, telegraph and telephone lines. Mr. Blair declined to discuss the question at this stage, and the bill was laid over. The House then went into Supply. The House adjourned at 12.30 o'clock.

20 Years of Itching Piles.

Mr. Alex. McLaughlin, Bowmanville, Ont., writes that for twenty years he suffered terribly from itching piles. Seven years ago he asked a druggist for the best cure for piles and was told to use Dr. Chase's Ointment. He continued this treatment until entirely cured and as he has never had any return of his old trouble considers his cure permanent and remarkable and remarkable on account of the length of time he suffered.

THE STRIKE GOES ON

Terms of Settlement Proposed in Montreal Rejected.

SIR. WM. MULOCK'S EFFORTS.

Left No Stone Unturned to Secure a Settlement of Longshoremen's Great Strike—Men Feel That They Should All Be Guaranteed Employment—Ministers Address 2,000 of the Strikers.

Montreal, May 9.—Sir Wm. Mulock and Hon. Mr. Prefontaine have failed to bring about a settlement of the troubles between the striking longshoremen and the Montreal shippers. The Ministers have left no stone unturned to accomplish the object of their mission.

After consulting all day the shippers informed the Ministers that they would go so far as to give the preference of all vacancies to old men. This was probably meant for union men, but they absolutely refused to recognize anything like the International Union.

Last evening the 2,000 strikers had a meeting to discuss the situation and the Minister of Marine, Postmaster-General and Mr. Bickerdike delivered speeches. The Ministers spoke from the point of view of the country, but they would offer no advice as to the men's acceptance or rejection. Mr. Bickerdike, M.P., went further and told the men to go to work. Vice-president O'Neill of the union spoke calmly, and asked the men to consider their own situation as well as that of their families, which they did by a unanimous refusal to accept the proposed terms. Consequently the strike is still on.

Sir Wm. Mulock announced at 12.30 that he will return to Ottawa at once, leaving the strike unsettled. He says that the men ask that the independent labor bureau be abolished and not used to secure non-union laborers after the union will have returned to work. The shippers refuse and they also refuse to allow the men to wear union buttons. The men have at least dropped the claim for recognition of the union, but say they will make no further concessions.

WHOLE COUNTRY TIED UP.

Eleven Thousand Employes of the State Railways in Australia Struck at Midnight Friday.

Melbourne, May 9.—The railroad strike commenced at midnight. Demonstrations previously occurred in front of the newspaper offices and troops were sent to patrol the streets. Otherwise the city is quiet. All the State railways are tied up.

The dispute between the Government and the railroad employes is regarding the right of the latter to affiliate with the Victoria Trades Hall, the headquarters of trades unionism in this colony. The employes of the railroads are practically civil servants, and the Government claims that in case of a strike in other trades affiliated with the Trades Hall the railroad men would be obliged to strike in sympathy and, therefore, the Government has notified the railroad men that unless they withdrew from the Trades Hall before May 12 they would be dismissed.

The Engineers Association replied that unless the Government withdrew its notification before 5 o'clock last evening they would strike at midnight and leave their locomotives wherever they happened to be. The Government had guaranteed double wages for two months to non-strikers, and notified the men that they will lose their pensions if they strike. About 11,000 railroad men are involved in the dispute.

Italian Striker Shot Dead.

Greenwich, Conn., May 9.—An Italian striker was shot to death by one of his fellow countrymen in a riot here yesterday. A contractor's gang was excavating for a residence when twenty Italian strikers induced all but one to quit. Angered by his refusal, the strikers set upon him with clubs and stones. The man was driven slowly backward until he reached a pile of lumber. There he made a stand and drew a revolver. The strikers continued to advance and he fired. One of the assailants was hit in the stomach and died shortly afterwards. The strikers scattered, but six were arrested, together with the man who did the shooting.

Nothing to Arbitrate.

Ottawa, May 9.—Sir William Mulock was waited upon some time ago by a delegation from the trackmen of the Canada Atlantic Railway, asking him to intervene in the strike now going on between themselves and the company. Sir William wrote the company offering the assistance of the Department of Labor. In reply the manager of the Canada Atlantic writes to the Minister that there is nothing to arbitrate.

Children's Kidneys.

Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets are the Most Successful Treatment for the Kidney Weakness of Children.

Mothers know what distress and anxiety they have when the little ones cannot retain their water properly or have any trouble with their kidneys.

For the weakness of the kidneys, bladder or urinary organs of children, Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets, which are the prescription of the eminent specialist, Dr. Zina Pitcher, are the most effectual remedy known to science.

Mrs. W. M. Glover, Pearl street, Brockville, Ont., says: "One of my children that had been suffering from sluggish kidneys read about Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets, and procured a bottle. They removed the whole difficulty promptly. That depressing pain over the kidneys stopped, dizziness and headaches ceased, and there was a general invigourating of the system. There is no question regarding the merits of those tablets for the back and kidneys. We have great confidence in them and recommend them highly."

Dr. Pitcher's Backache-Kidney Tablets are 50 cents a box at all druggists. The Dr. Zina Pitcher Company, Toronto.

Sick Headache

If troubled with this distressing ailment, watch for the first indication of an attack; as soon as you feel it coming on take three of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the attack may be warded off.

Mr. Geo. E. Wright, of New London, New York, says: "For several years my wife was troubled with what physicians called sick headache of a very severe character. She doctored with several eminent physicians and at a great expense, only to grow worse until she was unable to do any kind of work. About a year ago she began taking Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and today weighs more than she ever did before and is real well." He has since recommended these Tablets to several of his neighbors, who are enthusiastic in their praise of the remedy. Sold by druggists at 25c. per box.

Corticelli SPOOL SILK

A Golden Heart

BY BERTHA M. CLAY

Author of "The Gypsy's Daughter," "Another Woman's Husband," "A Heart's Bitterness," "A Mad Love," "A Heart's Idol," "Gladys Greye," Etc.

But he had intended to go over to Deeping Hurst that night, and he hesitated. It was still broad daylight yet. If he remained here he would not have time to go.

Lola looked at him imploringly.

"Surely," she said, "you could never think of leaving us to-night; it would be too unkind."

"I did not come prepared to stay," he answered, still half hesitatingly. "I have been traveling all night and all day, and my dress is unsuited for ladies' company."

"We will excuse all that," returned Lola, quickly. "There is no need even to mention it. Let me ring and order your horses to be taken to the stables. You will not refuse me, I am sure!"

"It is very kind of you, but—"

"'But me no buts!'" laughed Lola. "Now you must consent. I have heard you say that a line from Shakespeare would reconcile you to anything."

He laughed, and with the laugh yielded. It was pleasant to be welcomed so warmly by those two graceful women, to be made to feel that he had brought brightness and happiness with him, to know that their delight at seeing him was perfectly genuine. It was more like coming home than going to Scarsdale would be; so he yielded to the temptation or the impulse, and remained.

Madame, noting her daughter's delight, felt her heart sink. She could see that Sir Karl did not care for her except as a friend; and it dawned upon her that an unfortunate love affair would be the one thing in this world which would be most baneful to Lola.

They had a pleasant dinner. Madame ordered some of her choicest wines to be brought; the viands were recherche, the fruit was delicious. Afterward all three repaired to the drawing-room. The long windows opened on to the lawn, the turf of which was smooth as velvet. The room itself was filled with the perfume of odorous flowers and sweet with the breath of the summer wind.

Madame went to her couch. She was sure Sir Karl would excuse her, but the day had been warm and she was tired. The fact was her heart ached for her daughter; and if a tete-a-tete after a long absence could be useful to Lola, she should have it.

"If I should forget myself, Sir Karl, and fall asleep," she said, "you will forgive me. Assure me beforehand of your pardon, and I shall be satisfied."

"I can have no greater pleasure than to see madame comfortable," returned Sir Karl, and in a few minutes he saw by the closed eyelids that virtually he was alone with Lola.

She made some half-laughing apology for her mother; but Sir Karl would not allow that one was needed.

"It is warm here," she said. "Let us go on to the lawn. I should like to talk to you after your long absence."

That was just what he did not want her to do, but he did not like to tell her so. There was nothing for it but for him to follow her on to the lawn. Then he wished he had taken a chair; for, though the action was quite natural for her, she held out her hand for his arm. He gave it to her with a low bow, and they went off together toward the lime trees. All around was still; there was no sound save the sweet one of falling water. It was the very night for poetry and love.

"Sir Karl," said Lola, "tell me whether you think our friendship has prospered. Are you pleased with the results of it?"

"I cannot but be well pleased and grateful too," he replied. "Your letters have been a great source of pleasure to me. I must thank you for them. Owing to them, I feel as though I had not been far away from home—you have kept me so constantly au courant with all that has happened."

"I am very glad that you are pleased with them. Tell me one thing more. Do you care more for my friendship than you did? Would you feel reluctant to lose it now?"

"Most certainly I should," he answered. "I should be more than reluctant—I should be grieved. But why should there be any fear of such a thing?"

"I hope there is not," she said. "I was merely wondering, if you were to lose my friendship, whether you would feel it acutely."

"We may be friends always," he responded. "I do not see anything to prevent it."

"You were wrong in one respect," said Lola, raising her bright, beautiful face. "You anticipated finding me married on your return. See how true I have been to your friendship."

"Your marriage need not have impaired it," he replied. "If, however, you had married some one who objected to it, your clear duty would have been to put an end to it."

His thoughts hardly went with his words. He was wondering how Dolores looked with a widow's cap on her fair hair, whether she would be pleased to see him, how she would greet him, what her first words would be; and the emotion of the girl by his side, escaped him.

She walked on in silence. At length she spoke. This was to have been a day of supreme happiness to her, and it did not seem to her as though it had fulfilled its promise.

"Is that all you have to say to me?" she asked, slowly.

He looked down at her with a smile.

"Have I left anything unsaid which I ought to have said?"

"You must be the best judge of that, Sir Karl," she replied. "I am pleased indeed to see you, and hope you are equally delighted to see me."

"I have assured you of that," he said gravely.

"You seem distrait and preoccupied, Sir Karl—as though your thoughts were hardly here."

"Then I am ashamed of myself," he answered, "that would be unpardonable. The fact is," he added, in a lower tone, "my mind is full of one great hope, and I am afraid that I lose myself thinking of it."

Her heart gave one passionate throb; no doubt came to her as to what the great hope was that filled his mind; it must be the winning of her love; the very fact of his mentioning it proved it. She bowed her head in silence; the words were unutterably sweet to her. Why did he not say more? Surely he would! But he also was silent for some moments.

"Some day," he said then, "I will tell you, as we are friends, more of this great hope of mine. Now I must go, for it is growing late; and Scarsdale is some little distance from here."

"Must you go?" she asked, with the least pressure of her hand on his arm. "I wish you could remain one hour longer. This is, above all others, the night for a beautiful walk."

Who knew its beauty and its dangers better than he did?

"Do not wake madame," he said, "bid her good-by for me."

"Shall I add that you will soon come again?" she inquired.

"Yes. I shall be busily engaged for the next few days; but I will ride over as soon as I can."

"I shall miss the pleasure of writing to you," she said; and the way in which she clung to his arm was almost caressing.

"I shall be here to listen to all your pleasant little gossip," he replied. "Speaking is better than writing."

"I could write more than I can say," she said, a flush on her face, her eyes averted.

He made no reply to that, but said "Good-night" to her gravely.

When the moon rose an hour later, its beam fell upon a beautiful figure lying, with its robes of amber silk and black lace, upon the dry, dewless turf, and upon a white, despairing face, raised to the sky, while the silence of the night was broken by the sobs of a woman, who cried:

"Give me his love, O Heaven, or I shall die!"

CHAPTER XIV.

Sir Karl gave a deep sign of relief when he found himself driving home in the bright moonlight to Scarsdale. He had dreaded the interview with Lola, and now it was over. He had forgotten all about his promise to go to Beaulieu first on his return to England; he would never have remembered it but for the coaxing little letter which brought it all to his mind. Then he knew that he must keep his promise, and guard himself from peril, as well as he could. However, it was over now; and he thought he had done a wise and diplomatic thing in telling Lola of his "one great hope." That she should imagine that hope applied to herself never occurred to him; he thought he had let her see that his affections were fixed elsewhere.

Now he could visit Lady Rhysworth with a light heart; by noon to-morrow he should see her.

That one thought was enough for him—"by noon to-morrow." He did not know what he should say to her, or what the result would be—whether she would be pleased or not to see him, whether he should ultimately win her; he thought only of those few words—he should be with her "by noon to-morrow."

Early the next morning he started for Deeping Hurst. He had not forgotten that Dolores had a little daughter, and he took with him some marvelous toys which he had brought home for the child. He felt sure that the way to Dolores' heart would now be through her little daughter. So he rode on, his heart filled with happy thoughts until he reached his destination. He asked the servant who answered his summons if Lady Rhysworth was at home. He remembered that he had never seen her as Lady Rhysworth; nor had he seen her in her new home. He recalled his parting from her. What would his meeting with her be like?

The domestics at Deeping Hurst had forgotten him; he had seldom been there. When the servant asked him what name he should give, Sir Karl replied that he should prefer not to give his name, as Lady Rhysworth did not expect him. He was shown into the drawing room, where he saw many traces of her ladyship's presence. The piano was opened, and one of her favorite songs stood on it; a dainty lace handkerchief was on the table, and a little white glove in a filagree basket; a book lay open, as though she had just put it down, and a jeweled fan near it. They were little tokens, all of them, but they meant so much to him. He took the little white glove; it should never go back to the filagree basket again.

That which struck him most in the room was a lifelike portrait of Lord Rhysworth, painted by one of the greatest of living artists. Sir Karl stood for some little time looking at it; he felt sorry for his rival's death, so sorry that if any wish of his could have brought him back to life he would have uttered it. He felt only reverence and pity for the man who had enjoyed his happiness so short a time.

"If ever the wish of my heart is realized," he said, "his child shall be as dear to me as my own."

When the drawing-room door opened, Sir Karl looked up with a sudden, startled glance. He trembled for the moment when his eyes should first fall upon the face he loved so well.

What Sir Karl saw when the door opened was a picture that he never forgot. Dolores had gained so much in beauty. He had left her a slender girl, with the promise of magnificent womanhood, which was now fulfilled. There was a deeper sheen on the golden hair, a deeper light in the lovely violet eyes; the face wore an expression of sweet content—not the content of indifference, but of thought—and the graceful figure was fully developed. She stood for a few seconds in irresolute silence, not recognizing in the bronzed, bearded man before her handsome Sir Karl. Then into her eyes came a sudden soft light, as of recognition, over the face spread a faint, beautiful blush, and the next moment the two white hands were hastily extended in earnest greeting.

"Sir Karl," she cried — and the sound of her voice was as sweetest music to him—"I am pleased to see you. Welcome home!"

To him, who had hungered and thirsted for a sight of her face, it was like reaching the gates of Paradise. He could not speak; his face, bronzed at it was, grew colorless; his heart beat so fast and loud that he was afraid she must hear it; his breath came in quick gasps, and he held the white hands as though he would never let them go.

"Do you know what a shipwrecked mariner feels when he safely reaches land?" he said at last in a low, hoarse voice.

"I can imagine," she replied; "but I have never been shipwrecked."

"I have been," he cried; "I and my whole life were wrecked when I left you. Now I touch land once more! How well you are looking, Lady Rhysworth!" The name seemed to pass his lips with difficulty. "I believe you have grown—you seem to be taller than you were, and are more beautiful than ever."

She drew one hand from his clasp, and held up a pretty white finger in warning.

"You must not flatter me, Sir Karl," she said, smiling.

"It is not flattery, it is truth," he answered, looking at her tenderly. "Since I left you, I have seen no one half so fair. In my dreams, I have gone over this meeting a hundred times. I have dreamed that I should meet you out of doors, by the river, in the old church, everywhere and anywhere; but one thing is quite certain—since the moment I parted from you in madness and despair, I have thought of nothing but the hour of my return."

"If you have called to pay me a sensible visit, Sir Karl," she said, laughingly, "you must talk to me in a sensible manner. I am afraid neither France nor Italy has improved you. You never talked such nonsense as this to me before!"

"My dearest Lady Rhysworth, I never had the chance. If ever a man wished to talk what you kindly call 'nonsense,' but did not dare to do so, I was that man. I have suffered more than any one can tell from constant, cruel expression."

"You must admit that you are making up for it now," she said, with a smile; "and you have not lost much time in beginning. Did you return last evening?"

"Yes; it was late in the afternoon."

"And I am the first old friend whom you have seen?" she inquired.

Burdock Blood Bitters

CURED THEM.

It is well-known to all that bad blood is the direct cause of all skin diseases and it is necessary for the blood to be cleansed before the eruptions will disappear. For this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters as the thousands of testimonials we have on hand will testify.

Mr. Willard Thompson, McNeill's Mills, P.E.I., writes us as follows: "I wish to state to you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Some time ago my blood got out of order and many boils appeared on my neck, legs and arms. They were so painful that I could not sleep at night. After having tried many different remedies without any success, I finally decided, on the advice of a friend, to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Before I had quite used two bottles the boils had completely disappeared, and I wish to emphasize the fact that I think Burdock Blood Bitters the best blood purifier on the market to-day."

CRASH!!

Goes the crockery and the waitress will probably be called clumsy and careless. Her plea of sudden dizziness is not allowed. "What right has she to be dizzy?" they ask. Women who are suffering from diseases peculiarly feminine are liable to sudden dizziness and faintness, and it is only by curing the womanly diseases to which they are subject that dizziness and other ills can be entirely relieved.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures irregularity, dries disagreeable, weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. When these conditions are cured, backache, headache, dizziness, etc., are also cured.

"I suffered for twelve years with female trouble," writes Mrs. Milton Grimes, of Adair, Adair Co., Iowa, "which brought on other diseases—heart trouble, Bright's disease, and at times would be nearly paralyzed. Had neuralgia of stomach. I can freely say your medicines (nine bottles in all, five of 'Favorite Prescription,' four of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets), have cured me. I can work with comfort now, but before I would be tired all the time and have a dizzy headache, and my nerves would be all unstrung so I could not sleep. Now I can sleep and do a big day's work, something I had not done for over eleven years before."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Political Economists.

While great fortunes and great industries have almost invariably been created by uneducated men, parvenus unembarrassed with learning, who taught themselves what they found necessary to know, we find, on the other hand, that those men who have made commercial science, political economy, their study have not shown any success in business and have remained theorists. Most political economists have had to live on their pen. Mr. Cobden went bankrupt in business. It is true that Ricardo was well off, but he was a stockbroker by trade, and with him political economy was only a hobby, not a serious result. It is strange how few business men of the first rank have a good word to say of political economy.

The following despatches have been received by E. M. Poussett & Co.:—

New York, May 8th, 9.45 a. m. — Serious situation develops in China. Announcement of the R.I. merger expected to-day or Monday. Weeks currency movement shows banks gained $3,081,000. Best informed exchange houses think large gold shipments improbable as Europe does not seem to need any gold.

DOW, JONES & CO.

London closed dull for our stocks with prices about parity. We look for dull traders market to-day with traders evening up over the holidays. The weeks cash movement would indicate that we may expect a fairly good statement and we amy get some rally on it. Foreign houses do not seem to take the Manchurian situation seriously and think it will be settled. Best judges do not look for large gold shipments at present.

New York, May 9th, 2.05 a. m. — Traders have sold good many stocks around the room and are now waiting for the bank statement. In some quarters this expected to make favourable showing with a large decrease in loans and a gain in cash to produce a fairly good increase in surplus. From what we hear from those who make a specialty of collecting these returns to make preliminary estimates we do not think loans have been decreased to the extent generally expected and for this reason do not look for anything like a brillian tstatement, but rather a negative one. French cables say French Government contemplates a reduction in import duty on wheat there of 3 francs. There is nothing official on this as yet.

FINANCIAL NEWS.

The recent somewhat sensational advance in Delaware & Hudson draws attention to the policy which that company follows of using a part of its surplus earnings in buying up its own stock in the open market, and then cancelling it. Delaware & Hudson is probably the only railway in the country that follows such an ultra-conservative policy. As a result the capital stock of the company is gradually but constantly decreasing. In 1889 the Delaware & Hudson established a sinking fund of five cents per ton of coal mined for the liquidation of securities of the company not otherwise provided for by sinking fund and during the last three years the amounts so created have been employed in the purchase and cancellation of stock. In 1899 the outstanding capital stock of the company amounted to $35,000,000. The total outstanding shortly after the opening of the current year was $34,907,100. It is understood that during the last few months the company has made some heavy purchases of its stock in the open, and that at present the outstanding capital stock does not amount to much over $34,000,000.

The indications are that Secretary Shaw will "make good" on his refunding scheme. At the time of the announcement of the bond conversion plan there were many skeptical persons who believed that Secretary Shaw would receive little or no response to his offer to refund the 3 and 4 per cents into 2 per cents. In the first month, however, Secretary has been able to refund $58,000,000, and it seems likely the entire $100,000,000 will be converted. Through this refunding a part of the treasury's surplus has been placed in circulation. The chief result of Secretary Shaw's refunding scheme, however, will be to expand the national bank circulation. Already bank note circulation has increased $10,000,000 and it is believed that the increase will amount to fully $30,000,000 before the close of the year. This increase in the circulating medium should result in easing the usual autumn money strain.

THE LATEST NEWS OF LOCAL SPORT.

First Outing of the T. V. Canoe Club.

Young Ladies' Baseball Match—Other News of Sport.

The baseball fever appears to have struck Peterborough very severely this summer, and the city league promises to provide something interesting for lovers of baseball in town. It was thought that a league might have been formed comprising the three Peterborough teams, Havelock and Lindsay. However, arrangements to that effect could not be brought about, and the Havelock and Lindsay teams will have to be contented with exhibition matches. Mr. Bob Hay has been appointed Secretary-Treasurer of the League, and it is expected that the receipts of the games will total up to a considerable amount by the end of the year. The teams will likely play all their matches on the Separate school grounds.

* * * *

It has been officially stated that there will be no grand stand erected on the Nicholls oval this year, so that any means for the Athletics collecting a gate at their lacrosse matches will likely prove a failure. The T.A.S. team is more fortunately situated in having handsome grounds centrally situated.

GOLF.

A match will be played at the Peterborough Golf Club Links on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, between Lindsay Golf Club and the second team of the Peterborough Golf Club. This is the first foreign match of the seaso. and will likely be closely contested.

* * * *

On the local golf links yesterday Mr. R. M. Hamilton defeated Mr. S. Ray by two holes.

CANOEING.

The Trent Valley Canoe Club its first outing on the Little Lake last evening. There were about 25 canoes on the water, while on land the event was watched by a large and appreciative company. The race was between Messrs. Bert. Stock and Norman Bell, and two others. The two former had a great advantage over their opponents who had never paddled together before. To make up a second event Messrs. Bell and Beauregard paddled a single canoe race over the course, after exchanging canoes, Bell winning easily.

LACROSSE.

Poor old Cornwall, how her team has been harried this season, Oshawa first, Montreal next, and the Port Hope and St. Kitts all after the wearers of the blue and grey. But Oshawa got the pick of the flock. They got Donald Cameron. A well known Toronto player yesterday echoed the cry, "Look out for Oshawa. That man Cameron is a whole host in himself," said the Rosedale player. "If he had been on the team the day we played in Cornwall we would never have beaten them in the world." That's a pretty high compliment to come from a Toronto player.—Port Hope Guide.

FOOTBALL.

Never was such enthusiasm displayed over football in this vicinity as was seen at the first turnout practice on Friday night last, and also on Tuesday night. Since the league has been formed every effort is being made to get into shape a team which will do credit to the town, and safely defend its honour in football circles. Omemee comes to Millbrook for the first game of the series on Saturday, May 16th. In the meantime the boys have no time to lose in getting into shape for that date. There is an excellent club of men to choose from, and every prospect that Millbrook will, if proper practice is had, put an A 1 team in the field.—Millbrook Reporter.

BASEBALL.

THE LADIES' MATCH.

A very interesting, not to say amusing baseball match was played yesterday afternoon in a field in the west end of the town. The two contesting teams were the I.F.E.'s and R.T.C.D.'s, and the score was 12 to 19 in favour of the latter team. No one outside the club is supposed to know what the letters stand for but the Examiner representative learned that I.F.E. stands for "Ireland for Ever. The press was implored not to publish names as the mammas of some of the players would be vexed if they knew that the objects of the maternal interests had been playing baseball.

LAWN BOWLING.

There was a large number of players at the Bowling Rink last night, and the following games were played:

R Kerr,	H Armstrong,
C Wright,	W O'Brien,
D H Moore,	G K Martin,
W E Talbot, sk.15	R Sturgeon, sk.10
J McIntyre,	S T Medd,

A Weddell, sk...12.	O Laplante, sk.13
L Potvin,	J McFadden,
F Dixon,	J Maude,
W F Johnson,	Dr Greer,
W G Ferguson, sk	E W Cox, sk

The game between A. Weddell and O. Laplante was a tie at the fourteenth and but Laplante went up 3 during the next end.

At the conclusion of the above game the following rinks played:

R J Cotterell,	W O'Brien,
Dr Wightman,	R Sturgeon,
D H Moore,	W E Talbot,
R Kerr, sk.....9	G H Giroux, sk.....6

MISCELLANEOUS.

QUAKER OATS VS. CANAL.

Last evening on the P. A. A. A. grounds a large crowd gathered to witness the tug of war between these teams. Both sides were confident and the contest was close. The conditions were best two out of three. The Quakers won in two straights after a fierce battle and amid great excitement. The best of feeling prevailed and hearty cheers were given for the losing team, who had put up such a great fight. A pleasant feature was the large attendance of the ladies. It is understood that negotiations are on foot for the two teams to fight their battles over again on Victoria Day and as the Canal team propose dieting on Quaker Oats till next meeting, an even closer and more exciting contest may be looked for as they will be in splendid condition.

A PORCUPINE VISITS THE HAUNTS OF MAN.

Boys Exhibit Their Capture at the Examiner Office.

While Jack Eastwood, second son of Mr. Vincent Eastwood, and a number of his friends, were playing on Aylmer street, between Edinburgh and Antrim, they came across a full grown porcupine which they chased up a tree and finally captured. The boys brought the animal to the Examiner office to convince the staff of the truth of their capture. It is secure in a good sized box, but will be taken to the woods and given its freedom, which the Almighty intended it should have.

REV. MARY BAKER EDDY'S FINE GIFT.

Her Contribution to a New Christian Science Church.

Through the generous gift of the Rev. Mary Baker Eddy, the Christian Scientists of Concord, N. H., are to have one of the finest church structures in the Granite State. The plans for this edifice were presented at a largely attended church meeting to-night, and work will begin upon the new structure in th enear future. The gift of Mrs. Eddy includes the desirable lot of land now occupied by Christian Science Hall in the heart of the city at the corner of State and School streets, and is without doubt one of the finest locations in Concord for a church building.

In addition to the gift of this choice location, Mrs. Eddy presents to the church a cash donation of $100,000, making her total present represent the sum of $120,000.

In the fall of 1897 Mrs. Eddy purchased the property opposite the High School and adjoining the State Capital, and after remodelling the mansion into a hall and reading room at a total outlay of $20,000, she presented Christian Science Hall and grounds to the local members for their use.

The church will be built of the same beautiful Concord granite, of which the National Library Building in Washington, is constructed. The architecture will be gothic .. 1 in proportion and outline it will be in keeping with modern ideas of a church building. It is intended that the pews of the church shall seat 1,000.

Since the congregation has already outgrown the accommodations of Christian Science Hall, building operations will be begun at an early date. The citizens of Concord regard Mr. Eddy's generosity with favour, and are greatly pleased that another splendid building is to be added to the edifices of the Capitol City.—Com.

OTTAWA CITY DEVASTATED.

1,000 People Homeless in the Dominion Capital.

THE SUPPOSED INCENDIARY.

The District Burned Over Was Part of That Section Which Suffered in the Great Fire of 1900—Primrose Hill and Monks of St. Jean Baptiste Again Guarded City's Heart.

Ottawa, May 11.—As a result of a fierce blaze in Ottawa yesterday afternoon one thousand families have been rendered homeless. The flames swept an area in the city estimated at from seventy-five to one hundred acres. The loss is estimated to be something over half a million dollars, almost wholly insured. The property destroyed consists of residences and ten million feet of lumber. Nearly three hundred buildings were consumed. The flames had control of the city for six hours, owing to the water main bursting. Montreal was appealed to. The militia forces were out. The fire began at 3.30 and was extinguished at 9.30.

This city yesterday had an experience rivalling that of the great fire of April, 1900. The whole of the west end of the city known as Mount Sherwood and Rochesterville, was swept by the flames. The blaze started at 3.30 and was extinguished at 9.30. Hundreds of wagons carrying the household goods of the inhabitants streamed eastward all afternoon and late into the night.

The Forty-third Rifles and Governor-General's Foot Guards were called out to aid in keeping order.

An Incendiary Suspect.

There are rumors of incendiarism, and John White is in the police cells in connection with the fire. He was sent to the penitentiary by Chancellor Boyd in January, 1895, for incendiarism, and released on ticket of leave in October, 1901. He is said to have a craze on the subject of fires, and is suspected of habit of ringing false alarms.

The first premonition of danger was a fire in a hay-pressing factary near Union Station about noon. This caused a good deal of alarm in a district which has been twice swept by fire, but was placed under control after burning a factory and several thousand dollars' worth of lumber. A second alarm was sounded about 3.30, and the flames burst out in the heart of the lumber district. The fire began in J. R. Booth's lumber piles near Oliver's furniture factory and spread with lightning rapidity. Immediately after the fire broke out the pumping main burst and left the firemen helpless for two hours. The district lies in a hollow below a rocky bluff, which affords a the height. But a high wind was partial protection to the houses on blowing from the west, and even the dwellers on the high land were afraid that the fire would mount up and sweep the whole city to the eastward.

A Danger Averted.

The church and monastery of St. Jean Baptiste stand on the bluff, and the Dominican Fathers were seen removing their books and other property. Even the house on Concession street where the body of Judge Mills lies was supposed to be in danger. Pictures and other articles were removed from it. The possibility of having to remove the body was considered. But the danger in this region was averted by the wind veering round to the south and thenceforth the fire was confined to the lower level. Here it had its own way, and by the time the water was obtained again, houses were being consumed in blocks and streets.

The firemen fought hard to keep the flames from crossing Division street, which lies at the foot of the cliff, and were successful. The fire, however, swept along from south to north, following the opposite direction from the fire of several years ago.

Confusion and Panic.

The wildest confusion and panic prevailed. Furniture was flung out of houses. Everything on wheels was called into requisition, and the stream of traffic filled all the streets going eastward for hours. Men and women carried bundles in their arms. Household furniture was piled upon vacant lots in places that were supposed to be out of danger, and sometimes the family would be seen seated on the chairs and sofas. One man finding that a trench had been dug near his house, threw his furniture into it and covered it with earth. Another was driving a load of furniture when shouts from spectators warned him that the stuff was on fire. Four men who managed to get a wagon, but no horses, took hold of the shafts and moved their property out of danger.

The boundaries of the fire may be described generally as the Canada Atlantic tracks on the south, Richmond road on the north, First avenue on the west and the west side of Division street on the east.

It is about three-quarters of a mile long and a quarter of a mile broad.

Buildings Worth $1,500 Each.

It contains about 300 houses, mostly substantial brick houses, rebuilt after the last fire. They were inhabited chiefly by a good class of mechanics, especially railway men, and the average value of the dwelling houses would be placed at $1,500.

The houses were largely occupied by people who had bought them on the instalment plan. These would be insured up to the amount of the mortgage, but in many cases the purchaser would lose all his savings.

There is an ordinance forbidding the erection of wooden houses in this district, yet it is constantly endangered by piles of lumber. There is a great deal of angry discussion on the fact that people are compelled to go to the expense of building substantial houses while their protection is wholly destroyed by liability to fires from lumber.

Some remarkable escapes are recorded. One was Warnock's wheat mill, on Wellington street. Three houses right in the midst of the fire-swept region escaped without a particle of damage, except one broken window. They were the houses of George Ross, 66 Rochester street; William Ranstead, Elm street, both employed in the buildings, and Mrs. McKechnie, corner Somerset and Preston streets.

Union Station Threatened.

The Union Station was for a long time considered to be in danger, but escaped, although many piles of lumber in the vicinity were burned.

There are supposed to be about one thousand families homeless. Some are finding refuge in other houses. Others are camping on the public parks and commons.

At 6 o'clock a telegram was sent to Montreal asking for aid, and at 8.25 a special had left Montreal carrying three engines and twenty-five men. By the time they arrived the advance of the fire had been checked, but the whole district was covered with flames for hours afterwards. The willingness of all parties to help was very noticeable. The militia rendered excellent service, and the firemen were freely aided by citizens.

The Dominican Fathers rendered a great deal of assistance in the work of removing furniture from danger. The loss is estimated at half a million. $350,000 for houses and contents, and $150,000 for lumber. J. R. Booth & Co. are the chief losers on the lumber.

Area of Sixty Acres.

The Assessment Commissioners estimates area of burned district at sixty acres. This is considered rather low. His estimates of his houses burned and families homeless are also lower than those given above.

Not until 9.30 o'clock was there any assurance that the Chaudiere flats would be saved. Across Wellington street the northern terminus of the fire were piles of lumber surrounding the C.P.R. depot, and leading down to Booth's mills. There were no casualties, but several persons seriously ill had to be hurriedly removed, and one, an Italian, died shortly after.

Chief Powell says that the police suspect White of starting the first fire in the hay sheds, but that he did not start the big fire, as he was under surveillance by a detective all afternoon.

Record of Last Fire.

On April, 26, 1900, "The Great Fire at Ottawa" occurred. As the reports of that day said: "The fire fiend and the wind which consorted together, and began their frolic at 11 o'clock in the morning." Before midnight of April 26, 1900, half of Ottawa was in ashes, $18,000,000 had gone up in smoke, 16,000 persons were rendered homeless, and 8,000 workers were without a job.

Toronto Man Suffers.

Toronto, May 11.—D. Cumming of 124 Peter street last night received a telegram from his family in Ottawa, telling him that the household was totally destroyed. This is the second time Mr. Cumming has lost his property, he having been in the fire of 1900. His house in Ottawa was at the corner of Spruce and Preston streets, and in the centre of the fire-swept districts.

Will Not Change Plan.

This telegram was sent last night:

Toronto, May 10, 1903.

To His Worship the Mayor of Ottawa:

The Governor-General and Lady Minto are greatly distressed to hear of the serious fire which is raging in Ottawa.

Will you kindly express their sincere sympathy with the sufferers and telegraph full particulars here.

Major Maude,
Governor-General's secretary.

Two Burned to Death.

Buffalo, May 11.—Herman M. Bleasdell of North Collins, 63 years old, a former Assemblyman, after whom the town of Bleasdell, N. Y., is named, and his wife were so badly burned in a fire, which destroyed their home, early yesterday, that both of them are dead. An adopted son was the only other occupant of the house at the time the explosion occurred, and was slightly burned. The explosion was caused by escaping gas becoming ignited.

$1,000 a Month to Go on Stage.

London, May 11.—It is said that Marion Hutchinson, daughter of Medical Health Officer Hutchinson, whose experiences in connection with the Burdick case in Buffalo gave her much unsought notoriety and won for her much sympathy, has been offered $1,000 a month by E. F. Proctor, a theatrical manager of New York city. As Miss Hutchinson at present has a suit for $100,000 damages pending against the Buffalo authorities for false arrest, she has declined the tempting proposition, for the present, at any rate.

William Beck Was Lost.

Toronto, May 11.—A report reached Toronto Saturday of the death of William Beck, near Port Burwell. Beck was engineer of the tug Snow Storm, which left here last week for Parry Sound. It is supposed the missing man fell overboard on Friday morning about 5 o'clock.

STRIKES AND PROSPERITY.

The number of strikes now taking place, seems, at first blush, strangely inconsistent with the prosperity, which is generally conceded to be prevailing. A strike for higher wages is generally associated in the public mind with the pressure of hard times.

Really, however, the phenomena of an era of strikes coincident with a period of prosperity is not unnatural under present conditions. The perfection to which the organization of labour has reached, is the explanation of it.

To the average employee who belongs to no labour organization a period of prosperity is, paradoxically, a period of hard times. Prosperity comes on gradually. The manufacturer, the merchant, the capitalist, who have their eye on the market, and their finger on the pulse of commerce, are the first to detect its coming. They are in a position to take advantage of it. The first symptom is a rise in the price of commodities for the purpose of securing increased profit. There is not a simultaneous increase in the scale of wages. The average wage-earner plods along on the same stipend, paying meanwhile a fraction more on the price of nearly everything he consumes. As prices continue to rise he becomes vaguely aware that his income is not going as far as it used to. He hears talk of prosperity on every hand, and endeavours to believe that he is participating in it. By the time that he becomes impressed with the fact that he ought to make a kick for higher wages, the tide of prosperity has, perhaps, begun to ebb. It is useless then for him to ask for an increase of pay. Employers make the falling market an excuse for reducing wages rather than for raising them. The employee is fortunate if he does not get less pay than before; and may feel thankful if, later, he does not lose his employment as a consequence of the decrease in production which accompanies commercial depression.

That is the case of unorganized labour. With organized labour the case is different. Organized labour has experts watching the commercial barometer as keenly as the manufacturer, the merchant and the capitalist. They are swift to detect the first faint rises in the prices of commodities. They calculate mathematically how these increases effect the purchasing power of the dollar. They know when it is necessary for the men in particular trades to receive an advance in wages in order to maintain the balance between income and the cost of living. Then they issue their orders for a demand to be served on employers for an increase of pay, and, if the demand is not complied with, they decree a strike. Often the strike is ordered before the average workman has discovered for himself any appreciable shrinkage in the purchasing power of his income. But he obeys his leader, and since in a period of industrial activity, employers cannot afford to have their enterprises tied up, the strike has the most favourable prospects for a successful termination. The labour organizations take cognizance of industrial and commercial conditions outside of their own country. International action is often taken. The unions in Canada have the benefit of the expert knowledge of the unions in the United States; and hence the appearance of the American organizer is often the first signal that Canadian workmen have that the upward tendency of prices makes a movement for higher wages expedient.

The number of strikes that are happening during the present period of prosperity, is not, therefore, a condition which should cause surprise or, necessarily be an occasion of alarm. It is simply an organized and scientific movement on the part of labour to secure its share of the general abundance, a share which it would otherwise probably fail to secure. There are of course some unreasonable strikes, both in prosperity and in depression; but, generally speaking, the strike of to-day has its origin in a study of economic conditions, of which the average workingman, if left to himself would fail to appreciate the significance until too late to take advantage of them.

THE NEW TAX BILL.

The following condensation of the features of the new municipal assessment law gives the gist of the bill which was intrpduced in the Legislature Tuesday by Premier Ross:

'Land, as defined in the bill, is to include all buildings and machinery on the territory assessed, excepting only the rolling stock of railways. Hence the poles wires, etc., of telephone companies, power companies, and the like, are included in the denomination "land," whether they are on private property or on the highway.

All real property is to be assessed at its actual value, and though buildings and plant are to be treated as part of the land, they and the site they occupy are to be valued separately in the assessment roll.

From taxes on personality. These, other than income, it proposes to abolish. In lieu of the personal property basis, the commissioners would broaden the income basis. According to this plan there would be three classes of taxable persons—first, those in business; second, those following other callings, as professional men; third, those deriving their income from investments. A person of the first class would be assessed for the amount of the annual value (the rental) of the premises in which his business is carried on. This annual or rental value is to be 7 per cent. of the assessed actual value. Thus on premises whose actual value is $100,000 the rental would be $7,000, and if the rate were 20 mills on the dollar the "business tax" in that case would be $140. For mercantile taxpayers the change from an assessment on their stock to an assessment on their rental would mean a great lightening of their burdens. Professional men and such are likewise to be assessed on the value of the land occupied by them, and in addition upon so much of their professional income as exceeds $4,000. The business and professional taxes thus refer to income indirectly.

Then comes the tax referring directly to income. From it all incomes not exceeding $1,000 are to be exempt. The amount at present exempt is $700. Subject to the direct income tax are all persons who do not occupy the land on which they carry on the employment that yields their salary, and all persons deriving income from investments. Besides the taxes on land, and those directly and indirectly upon income, there is to be a house tax, and this is to be paid by every head of a family whose dwelling is not exempt or is not also the office in which his taxed profession is carried on.

The basis of the house tax assessment is to be the annual or rental value, which is to be from 5 to 7 1-2 per cent., as may by municipal bylaw be established. But there is an exemption limit, varying with the population. Thus in Toronto all houses whose rental value is not above $245 would be exempt.

Provision is made for taxing special franchises. A special franchise is shortly defined as a right granted to make use of highways for the purpose of supplying water, light, power, telephonic, or other service. For the purpose of assessing these franchises it is proposed to create a provincial Board of Tax Commissioners, made up of three persons. The franchise or privilege is to be assessed separately from the tangible property of the company. A feature of the bill deserving of notice is its making the exemption of private schools conditional upon their complying with regulations prescribed by the Governor-in-Council."

In Peterborough, all houses, the rental value of which is not above $175 per annum, would be exempt under the house tax exemption.

THE ATLANTIC STEAMSHIP COMBINE.

The Morgan Merger not What it was Hoped or Feared.

The Atlantic Steamship Combine is turning out to be a disappointing feature, so far as its promises of improved services are concerned. Instead of the larger and swifter boats, which Mr. Schwab, on behalf of the Morgan combine, assured the public that they would have provided, the vessels of that line are causing great alarm and disatisfaction owing to the protracted voyages they are making. One, the "Southwark," was condemned by the passengers as "unfit for a voyage," she took nearly double the ordinary time in crossing the Atlantic. Another, the "St. Louis," was equally slow and the passengers were highly indignant at "the reckless management that would send such a crippled vessel loaded with human freight to cross the Atlantic in winter." While there are such magnificent steamers as those of the Allan line and others that visit this it is amazing that passengers can be induced to patronize such old tubs as Morgan Atlantic Steamship Combine has secured.—Insurance and Finance Chronicle.

A Sucker.

The Bobcaygeon Independent.—Master Lloyd Hamilton promises to be one of the leading fishermen of the lakes. As a jigger of suckers he has few rivals, and when Lloyd gets to work on the dam with his hook and bamboo, the air gets thick with suckers. Saturday being a free day from school, Lloyd was at the dam giving a few lessons in the art of jigging to his younger brother Thorne. Zip went the string through the rushing waters and flop would fall a sucker on the pier. Zip went the line again and—say! boys! shouted Lloyd, I've got a whale. Thorne rushed to the assistance of his big brother—Lloyd stands full three feet in his socks—and together they pulled. Don't excite yourself cautioned the veteran Lloyd. Hang to him he yelled, and bring him into the eddy. Now, up with him. The pole bent like a hoop, and up he came. It was the largest sucker of the season. The weight was exactly four pounds, length 22 1-2 inches, and girth 12 1-2 inches.

Fear of the Future.

Most people who dread the future are victims of some terrible disease. Mrs. W. Francis, 204 Colborne street, 2Kingston, was in a bad state with kidney disease. She had severe pains in the back and legs, was gradually losing flesh, and felt a dread of the future. A friend recommended Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and the result was a complete cure. There is no medicine so reliable, none so certain to produce a thorough cure. One pill a dose; 25c a box.

TWO HUNDRED SLAIN

Reported Destruction of a Moslem Mosque at Kinpruli.

THE OUTRAGES AT MONASTIR

Stoutsheff, a Ringleader of Bulgarian Revolutionary Committee, Perished With Five of His Accomplices—Turkish Government Apologizes to the Bulgarian Diplomatic Agent.

Vienna, May 11.—A mosque at Kinpriul, in which 200 Moslems had assembled, was, according to a despatch to Die Zeitung from Sofia, Bulgaria, blown up with dynamite on May 2. The worshipers were buried in the ruins. The perpetrator of the outrage, a man named Poppow, committed suicide by shooting.

Six Revolutionaries Perish.

Washington, May 11.—The Turkish Minister to the United States has received the following:

On the 6th of May, the Bulgarian revolutionists attempted to commit, at Monastir, anarchistic outrages analagous to these perpetrated at Salonica. Thanks to efficacious measures, taken by the Imperial authorities, however, they have been unable to put their designs into execution. Stoutsheff, one of the ringleaders of the Bulgarian revolutionary committee, perished, with five of his accomplices, in the Village of Fraishna (Florina.)

Powers Not Pressing.

Constantinople, May 11.—It is denied here that the powers have lodged claims for damages resulting from the Salonica outrages.

The Turkish Government has apologized to the Bulgarian diplomatic agent here for the domiciliary visits made by the police of Constantinople last week, when about 60 Bulgarians were arrested, and when the papers of the Secretary of the Bulgarian Diplomatic Agency were seized, at his residence. The agent threatened to leave Constantinople, unless satisfied this action was given.

The statement that the Porte has required Austria and Italy to withdraw their warships from Salonica has been confirmed.

Mischief Makers Responsible.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The Foreign Office here strongly deprecates the excitement concerning Manchuria. It believes mischief makers are responsible for the reports and says the arrival of troops at New Chwang was due to the retirement of troops from Moukden Province southward instead of northward. The troops depart by sea. The other alleged warlike preparations of Russia are ridiculed.

Russians Get Out Again.

Pekin, May 11.—The official at New Chwang who sent Saturday's news reports of Russia's alleged action at New Chwang and elsewhere in Manchuria, telegraphed yesterday that the occupation of the forts at the north of the Liao River was temporary, and that the Russians have now withdrawn. Official circles at Pekin are mystified. Their subordinates at New Chwang have not reported the re-occupation of that place.

Chinese Urged To Revolt.

Shanghai, May 11.—As a result of patriotic meetings, called because of the situation in Manchuria, the viceroys and Governors have telegraphed the Grand Council at Pekin, urging the Chinese Government to resist foreign aggression.

Great Alarm at Tetuan.

Gibraltar, May 11.—Advices received here from Morocco say the Benider tribe, which is in open revolt, is again threatening Tetuan. The tribesmen are encamped on the outskirts of the town and Mulai Arafi, the Sultan's uncle, had left Tetuan to attack them. Great alarm again prevails at Tetuan, whence urgent requests for help have been sent out.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

Passenger Trains Crash Together While Travelling at High Speed.

Syracuse, N.Y., May 11.—A special to The Post-Standard from Malone says: A head-on collision occurred at Nelson Lake on the Mohawk & Malone Railroad at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Two passenger trains traveling at a high rate crashed into each other and five persons are reported killed.

Several of the passengers are reported injured, but so far as ascertained none of them were killed or fatally injured. Mail Clerk Best is in a precarious condition. He will be brought to Malone

SALE OF A LAND GRANT.

Canadian Northern Disposes of 2,000,000 Acres For $19,000,000.

Winnipeg, May 11.—A despatch from St. Paul confirms the purchase by Col. A. D. Davidson of Duluth, Minn., and associates, of the entire land grant of the Canadian Northern Railway, exceeding three million acres, the consideration being twelve million dollars. Mr. Mann when seen last night said the report was substantially correct.

Among the parties interested are: Col. A. B. Davidson, A. D. McRae and Geo. C. Howe, Duluth; A. R. Davidson, Little Falls, Minn.; D. P. McDonald, Fort Qu'Appelle, N.W.T.; A. J. Adamson, Rosthern, N.W.T.; F. C. Kenaston, George F. Piper, W. D. Douglass, Minneapolis, Minn.

The Manitoba & Saskatchewan Valley Land Co., Limited, with a capital of five million dollars, will be organized at once, with offices in Canada, the United States and England, for the purpose of colonization and settlement.

What Mr. Mann Says.

Mr. D. D. Mann, Vice-President of the Canadian Northern Railway, when informed of this despatch last night, said that it was substantially correct. There was some inaccuracy about the number of acres, and also about the price, and he could not tell from memory exactly what these details were, but the despatch was correct in substance. He stated that it was an interesting fact that Col. Davidson and two-thirds of his associates were old Canadians, and he expected that fully 40 per cent of the colonists whom the company would locate would also be former Canadians who had resolved to return. The conditions of the sale required the bona fide settlement of these lands, and he expected an enormous influx of settlers within the next few years. The lands which have been sold are in Manitoba and the Northwest.

WILL OF SIR OLIVER MOWAT.

All Manuscripts to Be Destroyed—Details of Property.

Toronto, May 11.—The will of the late Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Oliver MoWat, was filed for probate Saturday. The value of the estate is $105,840.79, $64,476.18 being in personalty and $40,864.66 in realty.

The real estate consists of Nos. 67 and 69 Front street, Toronto, $27,000; No. 241 West Wellington street, $2,500; Nos. 415 and 417 Manning avenue, $5,000; town lots, Stayner, $300; lots in Portage la Ptairie, $190; and property in Manitoba, $5,760.

The estate is divided among the five children of the deceased. The son Arthur gets three-twelfths, also the daughter Edith. The two married daughters and the son Frederick receive eacg two-twelfths of the estate.

The executors and executrix are Frederick Mowat, Arthur and Miss Mowat. Several bequests of a special nature are made, one directing that a family Bible go to the oldest son. A number of paintings, including the portrait presented by the Liberal members of the sixth Parliament of Ontario in 1890, to his eldest son, Frederick. The letter books containing letters received and sent, and all manuscripts are to be destroyed, with the exception of those marked for preservation.

The will is dated Sept. 10, 1902, and witnessed by James Maclennan and Thomas Lynch.

A NEW JUDGE.

Mr. Teetzel, a Hamilton Man, to Succeed Mr. Justice Lount.

Ottawa, May 11.—Mr. J. V. Teetzel, K.C., of Hamilton, has been appointed to the High Court of Ontario, Common Pleas Division, in place of the late Mr. Justice Lount. Mr. Teetzel has had a most creditable career both as a student and at the Bar. As a graduate he took a distinguished course, winning a scholarship, and by reason of his high standing having eighteen months thrown off his time as a student. He was thus allowed to be called to the Bar at the expiration of three and a half years, as against five years, the regulation period. He has always practised in Hamilton, where he has acquired a large clientele and taken a prominent part in the legal work of that district.

Peruvian Markets Closed.

Lima, Peru, May 11.—Owing to the discovery of bubonic plague at Callao, the chief port of Peru, six miles from here, the principal markets of Lima have been closed and the shops have been transferred to neighboring squares.

Liberal Organizer Resigns.

Toronto, May 11.—Alexander Smith, for ten years chief organizer of the Liberal party for the Dominion, has resigned his position, and will begin the practice of law in Ottawa as soon as he can be relieved of his duties here.

Drowned in Red River.

Winnipeg, May 11.—James Barclay, aged 15 years, of Hudson Bay drug department, was drowned in Red River Saturday night.

Sour Stomach.

When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, sour stomach is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let five hours elapse between meals, and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the sour stomach may be avoided.

SPRING TONIC.

As the Spring time approaches every person requires a GOOD TONIC and BLOOD PURIFIER.

MADILL SARSAPARILLA COMPOUND
Tonic and Blood Purifier

This Preparation acts on the liver and kidneys, invigorates the digestive organs and removes that tired languid feeling.

MAY SETTLE TO-DAY.

Meeting at Montreal Sunday Night Agrees on Terms.

PERMIT UNION BUTTONS.

Shipping Men and Strike Leaders Draw Up Basis of Agreement to Be Submitted to the Strikers—Independent Labor Bureau to Be Abolished—Sir William Mulock's Efforts Serve a Purpose.

Montreal, May 11.—The big longshoremen's strike was practically settled late last night at a conference of the strike leaders and the shipping men. The basis of settlement was drawn up to be submitted to the strikers at 9 a.m. to-day. It is fully expected they will accept, and in this event shippers will agree. Following is the basis of settlement:

Basis of Settlement.

Union or non-union men not to be discriminated against by foremen.

The right of the men to wear union buttons.

Workmen molesting others to be discharged, whether union or non-union.

Employers retain right to employ men according to merit.

Union leaders not to be permitted to visit men while working.

Old employes to receive first consideration.

Representatives of the men to have the right to submit their grievances before the teamsters' committee.

Increased scale of wages agreed upon previously agreement to begin year of 1908.

Abolition of independent labor bureau.

The Ionian and the Lake Erie entered port this afternoon.

The Bavarian left port Saturday, and the Canada yesterday, both having full cargoes.

Sir William Mulock's Efforts.

While Sir Wm. Mulock's visit to Montreal did not result in an immediate settlement, it was generally admitted to-day that his influence has counted for peace, and that the settlement when it c.. come, as come it must before very long, will be in a large measure the result of the Minister's work during his stay in Montreal. It is unfortunate that attempts should have been made to drag politics into such a serious and delicate matter, affecting the welfare of the whole Dominion. The Minister of Labor has even been represented as departing from the role of a mediator in order to take sides in the controversy. He has been represented as siding with and encouraging the strikers during the course of his address at the men's meeting. This is an entire misrepresentation of the facts. His address to the men was marked by the utmost fairness and impartiality.

Trouble in New York Settled.

New York, May 11.—The announcement was made yesterday that a settlement of the war between the Amalgamated Association of Carpenters and the Brotherhood, which caused 6,000 carpenters to stop work, is near. The Brotherhood has decided to make application for membership in the United Board of Building Trades, of which the Amalgamated Association is a member, and thus allow the united organizations to bring about peace.

Strikers Return to Work.

Shamokin, Pa., May 11.—The 300 striking men and boys employed at the Royal Oak Colliery of the Llewellyn Coal Company, at a mass meeting Saturday, decided to return to work on Monday and submit their demands to the Conciliation Committee. The mine has been idle since Tuesday.

Engines Derailed.

Melbourne, Victoria, May 11.—Railroad strike reports show that the railroad lines have been tampered with, causing the derailing of engines.

A strong force of police is held in readiness for eventualities. The street car service has been greatly augmented.

A PLOT FRUSTRATED.

Infernal Machine Discovered on Cunard Pier in New York.

New York, May 11.—In a plain pine box about the size of a small trunk an ingenious infernal machine containing one hundred pounds of dynamite was found on the pier of the Cunard Line Saturday afternoon, less than hour before the steamer Umbria sailed for Liverpool. According to Superintendent George E. Murray of the department of combustibles the prompt discovery and the immediate immersion of the box in the water at the end of the pier by the detectives who found it was all that prevented the explosion of the dynamite and the destruction of the pier, with the many persons who had gathered to sail or bid friends and relatives good-bye. The black powder fuse leading to the detonating medium was found to be scorched, showing that it had been ignited. A second's delay in the extinction of the fuse would have meant the explosion of the whole charge.

The find was made as the result of an alleged Mafia letter to Commissioner Greene of the Police Department.

Energetic Burglar Caught.

Winnipeg, Man., May 11.—The mystery of the Winnipeg burglaries that has well nigh driven the local detective department to distraction and kept citizens in a state of terror for the past two months has been solved. Saturday night about 8 o'clock the police arrested Robert Hamilton, and, on searching his trunk, a lot of the stolen goods were found.

"Poet of the Sierras" Passes.

Oakland, Cal., May 11.—Joaquin Miller, the "Poet of the Sierras," died here suddenly last night.

Strenuous Society Life.

Dorothy—Six luncheons in one week! Did your gowns hold out?

Isabel—Yes, indeed. But I hadn't any conversation for the last two days. —Puck.

In the course of a century an acre of constantly cultivated land loses no less than 12,000 pounds of alkalis.

Bismarck and Grant.

Sidney Whitman in his "Personal Reminiscences of Prince Bismarck" says:

"Bismarck's intimate friendship with Motley, the historian, is well known. He was also particularly attached to George Bancroft, so that when it became a question of Bancroft being recalled from his post of United States minister at Berlin Bismarck wrote specially to his friend Motley and begged him to intercede with the president to allow Bancroft to remain, and he did remain.

"Bismarck told me that when General Grant came to Berlin he accompanied him to see one of the reviews at the Tempelhofer feld. Grant was not well that day, and they had to drive out in a closed carriage. Grant looked downcast and told Bismarck that it worried him to think that he was to meet the Prussian soldiers sitting cuddled up in a carriage like any ordinary civilian. 'Never you mind that, General Grant,' Bismarck said. 'You may sit here hidden from view, but our soldiers are well aware what sort of fighting man is in this closed carriage.'"

A Parable Impeached.

The parable of the wise man who built his house upon a rock and of the other man who built on the sands was uttered before the "house with modern improvements" had made its appearance or modern sanitary science had been evolved. A rock foundation is unimpeachable for stability, but it may be very bad when it comes to a matter of drainage, whether it be for the disposal of sewage or of surface or ground water. A cellar excavated in the rock is usually a wet cellar, because the water leeches through the crevices and seams in the rock, and it is both difficult and expensive to trench and drain properly about the walls of a building in a medium so hard to excavate. To be sure, if the rock drops away quickly on a sharp grade this difficulty may be altogether a minor one. A good gravel soil is one of the best to build upon in respect both to drainage and to the stability of the house, and compact sand, if not subject to the action of running water, is a most excellent foundation and a thoroughly good medium.

An Easy One.

"What supports the sun in the heavens?" asked the country schoolteacher.

"Why, its beams, of course" replied a precocious youngster.

Extremes Extremely Uncomfortable.

"What does comfortable circumstances mean?"

"Why, you're 'comfortable' when you're neither poor nor rich."

Sincerity is the basis of all true friendship. Without sincerity it is like a ship without ballast.

Married, Not Engaged.

"They are going to be married? Why, I didn't know they were engaged." "Well, you see, there are so many engagements broken nowadays, that they thought they wouldn't get engaged—just simply married."—Sydney Town and Country Journal.

A HORSE IN BATTLE

HOW HE FEELS WHEN IN THE MIDST OF A FIERCE ONSLAUGHT.

A Writer of Horse Stories Describes the Experiences of an Arab Charger In the Ranks of Stuart's Cavalry—The Gallop to Battle.

Probably no one will ever know just how a horse feels when going into battle. There is no way of finding out. So it is likely that no one will dispute the correctness of the description which Sewell Ford gives in "Horses Nine," published by Scribners.

The horse in question is Pasha, a half blood Arab hunter that has been pressed into service in Stuart's Black Horse cavalry. The story runs:

Early the next morning Pasha was awakened by the distant growl of heavy guns. By daylight he was on the move, thousands of other horses with him. Nearer and nearer they rode to the place where the guns were growling. Sometimes they were on roads, sometimes they crossed fields, and again they plunged into the woods where the low branches struck one's eyes and scratched one's flanks. At last they broke clear of the trees to come suddenly upon such a scene as Pasha had never before witnessed.

Far across the open field he could see troop on troop of horses coming toward him. They seemed to be pouring over the crest of a low hill, as if driven onward by some unseen force behind. Instantly Pasha heard, rising from the throats of thousands of riders on either side and behind him, that fierce, wild yell which he had come to know meant the approach of trouble. High and shrill and menacing it rang as it was taken up and repeated by those in the rear. Next the bugles began to sound, and in quick obedience the horses formed in line just on the edge of the woods, a line which stretched and stretched on either flank until one could hardly see where it ended.

From the distant line came no answering cry, but Pasha could hear the bugles blowing, and he could see the fronts massing. Then came the order to charge at a gallop. This set Pasha to tugging eagerly at the bit, but for what reason he did not know. He knew only that he was part of a great and solid line of men and horses sweeping furiously across a field toward that other line which he had seen pouring over the hill crest.

He could scarcely see at all now. The thousands of hoofs had raised a cloud of dust that not only enveloped the on rushing line, but rolled before it. Nor could Pasha hear anything save the thunderous thud of many feet. Even the shrieking of the shells was drowned. But for the restraining bit Pasha would have leaped forward and cleared the line. Never had he been so stirred. The inherited memory of countless desert raids made by his Arab ancestors was doing its work. For what seemed a long time this continued, and then in the midst of the blind and frenzied race there loomed out of the thick air, as if it had appeared by magic, the opposing line.

Pasha caught a glimpse of something which seemed like a heaving wall of tossing heads and of foam whitened necks and shoulders. Here and there gleamed red, distended nostrils and straining eyes. Bending above was another wall—a wall of dusty blue coats, of grim faces and of dust powdered hats. Bristling above all was a threatening crest of waving blades.

What would happen when the lines met? Almost before the query was thought there came the answer. With an earth jarring crash they came together. The lines wavered back from the shock of impact, and then the whole struggle appeared to Pasha to center about him. Of course this was not so. But it was a fact that the most conspicuous figure in either line had been that of the cream white charger in the very center of the Black Horse regiment.

How Not to Get Old.

Once upon a time a young man who had a dread of growing old and having to give up the pleasures of youth preached the doctrine of good companionship and jolly living.

"Eat, drink and be merry," he said. "Seek gay companions and let wine and song keep your blood in motion, and you will never know what it is to be old."

He followed his own counsel and died in his youth.

Moral.—Devotion to appetite prevents a man from growing old.

CARRARA QUARRIES.

How the Men Set About to Lower the Fragments of Marble.

As soon as a great fragment of marble detached by the blast has stopped rolling it is more or less roughly squared into a block weighing, say, forty tons.

Then the men set about getting it down. Along certain lines of descent offering the least resistance to a body descending by force of gravitation a succession of stout posts has been firmly driven into the loose stones and marble waste. The men by means of crowbars and screw jacks raise the block on to a soaped skid of hard beech wood, of which they have several at hand. Before doing this they secure the block by means of three long three to five inch hempen cables, with which they take turns around the posts and pay out sufficient rope only to allow of the ponderous mass sliding over the soaped skids by its own weight and the angle of the incline, but not to allow of its gaining too much momentum.

During this descent, besides the men tailing on to the ropes, two or more men are seated on the block. A man following closely in its wake hands them up the skid just passed over, which they resoap and hand down to a man, who keeps just in front of the moving mass, to put down in its path and so provide a continuous slipway. This last mentioned worker has the most perilous task. If one of the cables part at a critical moment or if a mistake be made in paying out or slackening them, he must inevitably be crushed.

It is a fine sight to see the men at the last pinch, near the railhead, hand levering the marble over rollers on to the truck. At this stage all hands are yelling like demons at their work, but the moment their burden is safely entrained every man flings down his tool, and all bolt for the osteria, or wineshop.

Cannel Coal and "Jet."

Cannel coal is a variety of bituminous coal which burns with great freedom, the flame of it affording considerable light. It was called "candle coal" by the English people who first used it, as it often served as a substitute for candles. The name became corrupted to "cannel" and has so remained. It is more compact than ordinary bituminous coal, and it can be wrought in a lathe and polished. A certain variety of it found in Yorkshire, England, is manufactured into a kind of jewelry known as jet.

Still a Victim.

"By the way, how is Featherly getting on with his pretty wife—the woman with the drooping eyelashes?"

"Yes, Featherly used to say he was the victim of her drooping eyelashes before they were married; now he is the drooping victim of her tongue lashes."

Clothes and the Man.

"What a mistake it is to judge men by their clothes."

"I know it. There is a self made millionaire in this town who dresses just as well and with as much taste as any of the clerks in his establishment."

A Ready Reference Map of the Town of Peterborough and Ashburnham.

May be seen in Mr. F. J. Bell's Division Court Office, Water street, where any measurements may be obtained for the following purposes: Measurements for areas, and descriptions for conveyancing, according to registered plans in the Registry Office, all in plain figures in feet. If sub-divisions are to be made areas can be calculated. In cases of assessments for sidewalks, sewers, etc., measurements can be taken from the map. In cases of sale and purchase the areas can be taken from maps. I am sure that lawyers and the general public will find it a convenience to refer to the map and save trouble and expense. G. W. Exit the Scorcher.

The day of the scorching record-breaker is over. People ride the bicycle to-day because it is a sensible, exhilarating exercise, and because it saves time. It is the easiest and most economical means of locomotion we have. The person who rides to business can select the prettiest route, the quiet street; the mind is not distracted and possibly irritated at the beginning of the day by coming down town in a jostling, crowded street car. That is why the scorching faddist has given place to people of sense who ride for reason. And the reasonable man or woman can find plenty of reason for riding a bicycle.

MILITARY CHANGES.

The last number of the Canadian Gazette contains the following military orders :—

Cobourg Company Garrison Artillery—Capt. E. A. MacNachtan resigns his commission and is permitted to retain rank of captain on retirement. Lieut. J. G. Battell resigns his commission.

46th Durham Regiment—To be lieutenant colonel, and to command the regiment, Major H. A. Ward, vice Lieut.-Col. J. Hughes, transferred to the reserve of officers. Lieut. H. Reid is seconded, having received an appointment in the West African Frontier Force.

MR. JOS. PERRIN PASSES AWAY.

Died at Bailliesboro on Sunday Morning.

The many friends of Mr. Harry Perrin, who for the last three years has been in the employ of Mr. R. Neill, of town, but who left about three weeks back for Lindsay, will be grieved to hear of the sad death of his father, Mr. Joseph Perrin, which took place yesterday at Bailliesboro.

The deceased was a father-in-law to Mr. J. T. C. Laing, of town, and was 48 years of age. He was well known in Peterborough and resided for many years in the Township of Monaghan. The late Mr. Laing leaves a wife and two children, the second of which is Miss Mabel Perrin. The deceased had been ailing for about four weeks and succumbed to the effects of heart trouble.

The funeral will take place at ten o'clock to-morrow morning.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

Mrs. E. Pollock of Philadelphia, is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Barclay, George street.

The "Lesekraenzchen" will meet at the residence of Mrs. Perry, Stewart street, to-morrow at 4.30 p.m.

Mr. Fred Weir, manager of the Metropolitan Soap Company, of Toronto, was in town over Sunday.

Miss Viola Bottrell, who has been residing in town for some time, left to-day for her home in Bowmanville.

Mrs. Robert Hamilton of Welland, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dawson, Bonacord street. She is accompanied by her little boy.

The many friends of Mr. L. L. Bain will be surprised to learn that he has returned to his home in Montreal. Before leaving, some of his friends entertained him on Saturday night at McCallum's restaurant.

A correspondent says that Mr. F. A. McDiarmid, barrister, of Fenelon Falls, was highly complimented on the able manner in which he presented the Fenelon Falls bill to the Committee on Private Bills in the Legislature. The members of the committee commented on his tact and business ability.

Mr. H. W. S. Armstrong, of Toronto, engineer for the construction work of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway, arrived last evening, accompanied by his assistant, Mr. Chas. Hertzberg, and Mr. H. J. Wickham, barrister. We understand that Mr. Armstrong will take up his residence in Lindsay for the summer.—Lindsay Post.

The many Peterborough friends of Mr. P. Gillespie, former Principal of the West Ward School, will be pleased to hear of his success at the Toronto School of Practical Science. Mr. Gillespie has taken honours in the Civil Engineering course, each year of the three spent in the above institution. He had the additional honour of being selected by his classmates this year to represent them in the publication of "Torontonensis" that famous "year book" of the Toronto University and affiliated colleges.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Were Held Yesterday Both Morning and Evening.

The sixty-eighth anniversay of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church was very successfully celebrated yesterday. At both services there were overflowing congregations and the services were inspiring and earnest and the music special and of a high order.

In the morning in presence of a very large congregation the service was conducted by Rev. D. McTavish, M. A., D. L. C., of Toronto, who delivered a very excellent address. The preacher took for his text 1st Corinthians, iii; 21-23: — "Therefore let no man glory in men, for all things are Your's; whether Paul or Apollos or Cephas or the world, or life or death, or things present or things to come; all are your's; and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's."

The preacher prefaced his remarks by saying that although the Apostle said "For all things are your's," he did not mean it as a license to self-indulgence, for he continues "And ye are Christ's. Neither is the counsel for a few, privileged persons; it is for all Christian believers. But, continued the preacher, we have the privilege of all things for ourselves, they are also for the use of our fellow men. The poet, the artist, the musician has his gift in order that he may serve his fellowmen. The apostle continues by saying that all resources are ours. We have upon us a responsibility to influence every life. Among other things death is also ours. Although death springs from its ambush and strikes us, yet it is the angel who lifts the curtain to usher us into the paradise of God.

Although they have all these innumerable possessions, said the preacher, Christians grumble and are discontented.

In conclusion Rev. Mr. McTavish said that if we wish to surrender our bodies to Christ we must surrender our whole bodies as they have been bought by Him.

During the offertory the choir sang the anthem "From Every Earthly pleasure," by List-Shelley.

Rev. Mr. McTavish brought the service to a close with the benediction.

In the evening a large congregation also attended divine service which was special in its character, and particular mention should be given to the musical portion. A quartette, consisting of Mrs. Kerr, Miss Pedlar, and Messrs. McAdams and Morgan, sang, "Saviour, when Night Involves the Sky," with great success. Miss Pedlar's solo, entitled, "Calvary," was well rendered. The sermon, which was preached by Rev. Dr. McTavish, of Toronto, was a very practical one, and one which went to the hearts of all who were present. Wagner's "Come unto Me," by the choir, was excellently sung. After the benediction the choir sang "The Festival March," by Stark." This was well rendered and deserves high praise, as the singers were, uncompanied. Mr. Lough's playing deserves special mention as also does the manner in which the choir acquitted themselves.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—St. Luke's Men's Guild meets to-night at eight o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

—Piano tuning promptly attended to. Satisfaction guaranteed. A. F. Hoover. 'Phone 199.

—Recruits for No. 8 Comapany will be able to receive their uniforms at the armouries to-morrow night.

—The fire brigade was called out out this morning to a chimney fire at Mr. Ben Yelland's house, 169 Murray street.

—The parks have all been opened for the summer. Jackson Park in particular looks very beautiful and is well worth a visit.

—At the Police Court this morning before Jas. Stevenson, Esq., J.P., a man was charged with vagrancy. He was given three months imprisonment.

—Mr. Herb Fallis, one of Peterborough's most popular journeyman blacksmiths, has been offered a situation by Mr. J. G. Stewart, V.S., of Brantford.

—The party who took a gentleman's Easy Bicycle, from the north side of the Y.M.C.A. building on Friday evening is requested to return the same at once.

—The railing to the Hunter street bridge is lying in the water. Considering the number of people who daily lean upon it while watching the enthusiastic anglers catching suckers there need be little wonder.

—Rev. J. Cooper Robinson, returned missionary from Japan, will give an illustrated lecture on that country this evening in All Saint's church. Rev. Mr. Robinson is an excellent preacher and the lecture should be a most interesting one.

—The eyes of cement dealers and walk contractors will now be turned in the direction of Orillia. The property owners of that town last Monday carried a bylaw to borrow $25,000 for the construction of seven miles of granolithic pavement, and it is proposed to expend the whole amount this summer.

—Miss Mary Robson will lead the Y.P.S.C.E. meeting at St. Paul's church, this evening. After the consideration of the topic, "The Story of Zacobeus," a social evening will be spent. All young people are invited. Teachers' study class at 7.15 o'clock.

—The police department has purchased a double barrelled gun with which they allege all dogs not wearing this season's tag will be shot in future. There is also a quantity of ammunition in the Chief's private office. In the station are three air guns, which were once the property of youths, and one may expect to see the police force sally forth, armed as if on a Somaliland (some alley land) expedition. No less than ten summonses have been issued for persons who have as yet not purchased their dog licenses.

HAVELOCK.

On Monday, May 4th, 1903, Eva Jane Manley, wife of Mr. Edward Fife, passed away after a brief illness, at the age of 27 years. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. William Manley, Douro, near Lakefield, and was married to Mr. Robert Fife, son of Mr. Sylvester Fife, of Otonabee, in September, 1902. The young couple took residence in Havelock. Interment took place at Fife's cemetery, Otonabee.

SUPPOSED DEATH BY DROWNING.

The Boy's Body has not yet Been Recovered.

The news of a tragic fatality comes in from No. 3 dam, which is situated three miles from Nassau, and seven from Peterborough. The information obtained is to the following effect :—

On Saturday afternoon a young boy by the name of Lennox, was fishing with a net on No. 3 dam, when, it is supposed, he accidentally fell in the water and was carried down by the current. The net, which was found on the dam, alone remains to tell the tale, for not a vestage of his body has been since seen.

The young boy is the eldest son of Mrs. Lennox, who is a widow with seven children, six of whom are boys, and who keeps a boarding house, situated near the dam, for Mr. Edward Wade. As the lad did not turn up for his tea on Saturday evening, a search was made and the net found.

Mrs. Lennox has a sister in Norwood.

OBITUARY.

The Late Frederick Edwards Died at His Home on Water Street.

To-day in the person of Frederick Edwards, there passed away a veritable and venerable landmark in the history of this county, one who became a resident when to settle was to dispute every inch of ground with the stubborn forest trees and the wolves and bears. Mr. Edwards passed away at his late residence, 762 Water street, at the patriarchal age of 84 years and 9 months. He was a native of Wiltshire, England, and in 1831, when 13 years of age, came to Canada with the family of his father, who settled in the 2nd concession of Dummer township. Here Mr. Edwards grew to manhood, and was familiar with all the hardships and perils and excitements of the early settlers' life — the fight with the forest being varied with frequent fights with bears and wolves. In those days there were no corner shops in Dummer, no highways leading to Peterborough, from which the remotest settlers had to carry by blazed and tortuous routes through the woods, their household supplies. Here Mr. Edwards lived until 1869 when he retired from farming and came to reside in the township of Douro, near Peterborough. Last year year he removed to 762 Water street, where the infirmities of advanced age taking the form of heart failure closed the chapter of a long and honoured life.

The deceased gentleman was a model citizen, in all respects, a good neighbour and enjoyed universal respect in whatever place he resided. In religion he was a staunch Methodist and attended divine service regularily to almost the last days of his life. He was also a staunch Liberal in politics.

Mr. Edwards served his country at the time of the Maskenzie rising, and about a year or two ago he and Mr. James Wasson were the only two local survivors were photographed together, and the picture is now among the treasurers of the Victoria Museum, Inverlea Park.

In 1842—Feb. 2nd—Mr. Edwards was united in marriage to Miss Snelgrove, and the happy couple had the pleasure of celebrating their golden and diamond weddings with their children and grand children all about them. To their marriage were born eight children, all of whom survive except Mrs. W. G. Yelland. Including seven children, 20 grand children and 15 great grand children, Mr. Edwards leaves behind forty-three direct descendants. The surviving children are Joseph, who resides on the Dummer homestead, Mark, Mrs. John Anderson, Samuel and Henry, Douro, Robert, of Sarnia, and Mrs. John Booth, Peterborough.

In Mr. Edwards' death the community loses one of those stalwarts of the early days of the country, the very bone and sinew of its population, who wrought much and endured much that howling wilderness should be replaced by thriving homesteads, fields of waving corn, and that, so to speak, the wilderness might blossom as the rose.

The funeral of Mr. Edwards takes place on Wednesday, May 13th, from the family residence, 762 Water street, to the Warsaw cemetery.

NOTORIOUS THIEVES ARE WANTED.

Mysterious Disappearance of a Banker —Foul Play Suspected.

The Chief of Police has received communication from General Superintendent of Police of Chicago, asking him to look out for men answering to the following descriptions, who are either wanted for robbery or who are missing :—

George Man, 22 years, about 5 feet 8 inches, 135 pounds, light chestnut hair, florid complexion, dark blue eyes, two two front upper teeth gold capped. When last seen had on a dark brown striped suit and a black stiff hat.

Also, Gabriel Ecklund, a Scandinavian-American, 20 years, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches, 140 pounds, slim build, light hair and complexion, blue eyes, pimply face. When last seen he wore a sack suit and a black fedora hat.

They may be found in the company of William Laffin, 23 years, 5 feet 8 or 9 inches, dark hair, large, wide face; high cheek bones, very freckled; a fresh razor cut on right arm. He wore a dark sack coat and vest, gray striped pants and soft gray hat with a flat top.

Mann and Ecklund are wanted on the charge of robbery, committed April 25, 1903, Otto Haffell complainant; amount stolen, $20. They are also badly wanted on several other cases of robbery. Laffin is not wanted.

One hundred dollars reward is also offered for a man of the following description, who is at present "missing" :

American, 35 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches tall, dark brown hair, brown moustache, beard shaven off, thick heavy lips, round full face, scar on lip, high forehead, usually well dressed, wore block suit, slight brown check, is a banker by occupation at Winnebago City, Minn., and was last seen at the Plankenton House, Milwaukee, Wis., on April 25th, 1903. On account of overwork may have collapsed mentally or he may have been foully dealt with.

The above reward is offered by E. E. Secor, Buffalo Centre, Iowa, and the Faribault County Bank, Winnebago City, Minn., to the first person giving information as to the missing man's whereabouts. Address all information to Francis O'Neill, General Superintendent of Police, Chicago.

A TEMISCAMINGUE SETTLER VISITS TOWN.

Mr. Wm. Vass Tells Something Good About the New District.

A Splendid Field for Settlement—Good Land and Good Prospects.

Mr. Wm. Vass, a well known Peterborough young man, has just returned from Temiscamingue where he has been for the past eight months. Mr. Vass speaks in enthusiastic terms of the prospects of that country. He has been in and around New Liskeard during his stay in the new country, and has had a splendid opportunity to learn of the conditions and prospects that prevail there. He states that there is a great rush of settlers into the district about New Liskeard and that there is excellent land for all. He claims that a settler can go in and make money from the first day he lays his foot on his claim. This can be done by cutting the spruce which is most plentiful throughout the district. There is a large market for this kind of wood. The land is excellent farm land and can be had at very reasonable rates. He says that New Liskeard is a thriving young town, with a bright future. When the railway strikes that place there will be a wonderful boom. Mr. Vass intends returning to New Liskeard in the course of a few weeks. He thinks that it is the place for young men.

Mrs. Morrow's Chorus Class.

There will be an extra rehearsal of Mrs. Morrow's chorus class next week on Monday evening in the Y. M. C. A. hall. It is imperative that all the members be on hand as some new choruses are to be taken up, and and every one should make an effort to be present on Monday evening at half past seven o'clock. The regular rehearsals will be held every Monday and Wednesday evening until further notice and all members must be present. 3d

PETERBOROUGH'S MODERN STORE.

In the Front Rank of Housefurnishers.

It is always the case that some particular firm stands out prominently as a peer in their district. This is the position of this store exactly in regard to Housefurnishings. Ours is not the only store trading in Carpets, Oilcloths, Curtains, Window Shades, Draperies, etc., but here it is that these things are found at their best at all times—in quality and quantity, assortment and distinctiveness—yes, and price. No one department of our business has more painstaking care than our Carpet Stock; and the fruit of our care is at your service. The immense floor space devoted to this department is stocked from end to end with goods noted for their magnificence—new patterns, harmonious colourings, immense variety and close figured prices. In all our long business history never did these conditions hold so strongly as they do to-day. We have anticipated shoppers' wants, and invite every one—the people of Peterborough, and the crowds who come from the surrounding district to do their shopping here, to visit this peer of Housefurnishing stores.

FIRST IN CARPETS

There is no doubting our supremacy in Carpets. Five minutes' observation of the wonderful range of Carpets on our second floor supplies indisputable evidence. It is a remarkable gathering of floor coverings from the most noted of the world's manufacturers. Years of experience and closest study of the tastes of the best shoppers, which our trade furnishes as no other does, enable us to present an array of Carpet stock that has no near parallel in any house in this district.

FIRST IN CURTAINS

This season has been a busy one in our Curtain Section, and buyers have broken into many of the lines. Those that are left are splendid values, but limited in number. We have made the price for may that will be sure to defy all competitors. Come and see them.

SILVER WEDDING

Anniversary Celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Jones, 193 Park street, celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding on Wednesday evening last. There were many beautiful and costly presents, showing the good wishes of their many friends. A very pleasant evening was spent after which a sumptuous wedding supper was served by Mr. Hooper.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH.

In Memory of the Late Mrs. E. M. Poussett.

At the morning service yesterday, the Rector made touching reference to the death of Mrs. E. M. Poussett. He testified to the excellent qualities of her character and the nobility of her soul. Of her it could be said that she was a child of the church. She was baptized, confirmed and married in St. Luke's; she was actively engaged in every good work in connection with the church, and had been a member of many church societies. She exemplified in her life that type of character that the Anglican church endeavours to train and to produce. Her kindness of heart and her bright disposition, made people the happier for it. The Rector asked the congregation to remember in their prayers the bereaved husband and sisters. The hymns of both services were expressive of Resurrection topics, and of assurance of meeting again and were sung with reference to Mrs. Poussett's death.

Rev. J. Cooper Robinson preached at the morning service and made earnest appeals for men and money in support of the missionary cause.

At the evening service the Rector preached on the doctrine of the laying on of hands. He proved from the Holy Scriptures the apostolic practice of confirmation, and the gift of the Holy Ghost in confirmation to the prayerful, heart-prepared candidate. Next Sunday he will continue his subject of confirmation.

"Work and Play."

The biggest summer resort within easy reach of civilization is what is commonly termed Muskoka, a district in the Highlands of Ontario, about 100 miles north of Toronto, including an immense tract of country bordering on the Georgian Bay. This district is composed of lakes and rivers innumerable and is situate 1,000 feet above sea level. Good fishing and hunting are assured. Ample hotel accommodation at all points on the lakes is provided to suit the purses of everyone. Excellent transportation service.

Copies of handsome descriptive literature relating to this country, can be had free by applying to J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G. T. R., Toronto.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.

Rev. Mr. Wallace, of Toronto, Officiates.

Two Excellent Sermons Yesterday—Special Music.

The anniversary services in connection with St. Paul's Presbyterian church were held yesterday when special sermons were preached both morning and evening by Rev. W. G. Wallace, M. A., B. D., of Bloor street Presbyterian church, Toronto. There were large congregations on both occasions and the music was of a special nature. The reverend gentleman's discourses were most interesting and were delivered in an eloquent and forcible manner.

In the morning Rev. Mr. Wallace took for his text Psalm 95; 6,—"O, Come, let us worship and bow down; let us kneel before the Lord our Maker."

The preacher made an eloquent appeal to his hearers to worship God. He explained explicitly what our attitude towards God should be. We should seek God as suppliants. He then went on to show why we should present our homage before the eternal God. We worship God because of what He is; because He is worthy of our worship, because He is the creator of the universe. Not because he made material things alone, but because He made man, and the reverend gentleman claimed that the making of man is one of the greatest miracles that God ever performed. The greatest reason why we should worship God, however, is because He is our Redeemer. Up until the time of God's giving His Son that we might be saved, we were simply adoring Him. Now, however, every power of our being is brought into play and not only feel that we should worship God, but we want to worship Him. God is a spirit, therefore we should worship Him in spirit. But we must not worship God in spirit alone. The speaker was in sympathy with external forms of worship to a certain extent, providing of course, they were really unaccompanied by the spiritual worship of God. He was far from the opinion that any form of ritualism, however, could take the place of spiritualism. The external forms that he thought should accompany spiritual worship, were the building of churches, the use of organs, which were essential, he might say, to the worship of God. He held that those who had given up going to church and depended upon worshipping God in spirit alone, had failed. Inside of three generations, there would be no worship of God in a family.

IN THE EVENING.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Wallace took for his text Joshua 14, 10 — "Now, therefore give me this mountain, whereof the Lord spake in that da; for thou heardest in that day how the Annkims were there, and that the cities were great and fenced; if so be the Lord will be with me, then I shall be able to drive them out as the Lord said."

Rev. Mr. Wallace first touched upon the fearless character of Joshua and Caleb, and then made an appeal to his hearers, particularly to young people, to be strong in their efforts to work for Christ. He contended we should not do certain things simply because they are easy to do. He thought that no young man should have an easy time. It is the essence of good manhood to ask for something hard to do. He urged his hearers to obey the call that is made to them.

The musical portion of the services were contributed to in the morning by a vocal selection very excellently rendered by Miss White, and in the evening Mr. Lawrence was heard to good advantage in the solo, "The Better Land."

THE CHURCHES.

CHARLOTTE STREET CHURCH.

That the services of the Charlotte street church are of surpassing interest, are clearly shown by the large and increasing attendance. Last evening the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, preached an excellent discourse founded on Dan. ii, 45, the theme being Nebuchadnezzer's dream.
